U.S. PREPARES FOR CHRISTMAS ISLAND BLASTS

Anti-Spy Screen Thrown About Nuclear Tests

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — An anti-spy unit has been established within the task force which will supervise forthcoming nuclear tests in the Pacific.

The Defense Department declines to specify how large the unit is, to define its exact function or, indeed, to confirm its existence.

However, available and unclassified organization listings show the unit is headed by an assistant chief of staff of Joint Task Force 8 and that it is part of an intelligence and security branch.

Any counter-intelligence organization usually has this over-all mission: "Destroying the effectiveness of inimical foreign intelligence activities and protection of information against espionage, personnel against subversion and installations and material against sabotage."

The locale for the test series, scheduled to start within the next week or so unless Russia agrees to a cheat-proof test-ban treaty, provides some advantages in counter-intelligence.

Christmas Island is in a remote area 1,300 miles south of Honolulu. Isolated Johnston Island is 900 miles southwest of Hawaii.

The primary danger from Soviet intelligence efforts exists in other quarters.

First, there is the possibility of reconnaissance by Russian submarines or "fishing boats." To meet some of this threat, the United States has announced two danger zones, one in the Christmas Island area, the other around Johnston Island.

Warships and planes will patrol the zones during times of testing to warn merchant ships or planes. It is to be presumed a substantial anti-submarine and aircraft search will be maintained.

The next possibility for spying exists in another quarter, which probably offers counter-intelligence a more serious challenge.

Espionage agents make some of their most intensive efforts among personnel working on secret projects who may leave their jobs temporarily or permanently. Special attention is paid to personnel, military or civilian, who talk carelessly or who may bear grudges which can be exploited.

One of the missions of counter-intelligence men is to locate espionage agents in debarkation ports, to learn whether agents attempt to contact returned workers and military personnel and to stop relay of information.

36 IMPORTANT WORDS

Senate to Open Transit Finance Hearing Tuesday

By WILLIAM BROOM
I.P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Thirty-six words in the President's message on transportation have opened the door to a solution of Los Angeles County transit ills.

Translating the words into action will be started when Senate hearings on urban mass transportation legislation start Tuesday.

While the 36 words apply specifically to Los Angeles, they also hold out hope to other cities, and they also could take pressure off the federal budget by opening up private sources of financing to urban transit systems.

The 36 words are—

"There may, however, be some highly specialized situations in which alternative programs, for example, loan guaranties under stringent conditions, would be better suited to particular needs and the Congress may, therefore, wish to consider such alternatives."

* * * *

UNTIL THOSE WORDS were squeezed into the message almost single-handedly by persistent Sen. Clair Engle, D., Calif., the chief antidote for transit ills seemed to be a federal program of loans and grants.

While loans and grants are the heart of the administration's program, the loan guaranty proposal introduced by Engle provides quick funding for those cities whose transit ills are too severe to wait in line for partial help from the federal government.

At the hearings starting Tuesday, the administration's bill and Engle's bill will be considered simultaneously. The senator looks forward to having his bill included in the omnibus bill which will be reported out.

"They fit together," he said. "The difference is this. The President has recommended $500 million over a three-year period. These will be on direct grants, and in some instances, loans.

* * * *

"MY BILL PROVIDES for guaranteed loans—that is, that local agencies will finance the project themselves. But the federal government will step in behind those where they think they're good. Under strict conditions, the federal government will guarantee those bonds so that they will sell at a low enough interest rate on the market. My plan offers alternative financing."

Low interest and non-taxable bonds are what Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority needs to make its $288 million plan work. Engle concedes that the guaranteed loan plan is "programmed to apply to Los Angeles itself specifically and perhaps to Pittsburgh. "But it would help rapid transit financing throughout the nation eventually, he contends.

The 36 words which make it possible for the Senate to include guaranteed loans under the umbrella of the administration bill were not added to the presidential

Thousands Join Sunrise Rites

Thousands of local worshipers attended sunrise services throughout the Long Beach-Los Angeles area this morning commemorating the Resurrection.

The U.S. Navy's sunrise service was scheduled for 6:30 a.m. at the Navy landing, at the foot of Magnolia Avenue. Chaplain Malcolm A. Carpenter was to give the sermon from a floating barge on which a 20-foot cross has been erected.

Capt. F. W. Silk planned to attend the service in a gig near the barge, along with Mayor Edwin Wade and other civic officials. The public was invited and local boatowners were encouraged to tie up near the barge.

A one-hour sunrise service began at 5 a.m. at Forest Lawn Mortuary, Cypress, in the forecourt of the Church of Our Fathers. Dr. Roy L. Smith, noted Methodist writer, was the principal speaker.

The 42nd annual Hollywood Bowl service began at 5 a.m.

SIGNS OF HIS SUFFERING— No. 8

The Resurrection

Now upon the first day of the week, while it was yet dark, came Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome to the sepulchre with sweet spices that they might anoint Him.

And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre. And they entered in and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

But they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment, and they were afraid.

And he saith unto them, "Be not afraid; ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified. He is not here; He is risen. Behold the place where they laid Him.

"Go quickly and tell His disciples and Peter that He is risen from the dead and that He goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see Him."

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy, and did run to bring the disciples word.

Then arose Peter and ran into the sepulchre, and stooping down, he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed, wondering in himself at that which was come to pass.

Now when Jesus was risen He appeared first to Mary Magdalene, who knew not that it was Jesus. Jesus saith unto her, "Woman, why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou?"

She, supposing Him to be the gardener, saith unto Him, "Sir, if thou have borne Him hence, tell me where thou hast laid Him, and I will take Him away."

Then Jesus saith unto her, "Mary!"

And she turned and saith unto Him, "Master!"

After that He appeared in another form unto two of them as they walked into the country.

Afterward, He appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and He spake unto them, saying: "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you.

"And, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."
Amen.

Music Festival to Open Here Wednesday Night

By GEORGE ERES

The Long Beach Music Festival, beginning Wednesday night in Municipal Auditorium, marks opening of a month-long series of music, drama and writers' conference activities in the city.

The Music Festival, second annual event sponsored by the Long Beach Music Council, composed of music, professional, civic, church and labor organizations, will feature 11 events continuing through May 6.

The Drama Day program, sponsored by the Council of the Living Theater, organization of Long Beach theatrical groups, will be held May 5 at Long Beach State College.

The Writers' Conference, fourth annual event of its kind sponsored by the General Adult Division of Long Beach City College will be held May 17-19 in the Lafayette Hotel.

Air Force Salute to Fair Kills Two

Jet Crashes, Fires Homes Near Seattle

Bodies of Couple Found in Ashes; Luck Saves Others

SEATTLE (AP) — An aerial salute to the Seattle World's Fair ended in tragedy Saturday when an Air Force F102 jet fighter plane crashed in a residential area north of Seattle, killing two civilians.

The jet fighter was one of 24 Air Force and Navy planes which flew over the fairgrounds at noon to mark the start of the six-month exposition. The others returned safely to their home bases.

The plane's pilot, Capt. Joseph Wildt, Cincinnati, parachuted into Lake Washington and was picked up by a private boat. He was reported to have minor facial scratches.

* * * *

REPORTS indicated the pilot had completed a second pass over the fairgrounds when he encountered difficulty with the plane. He reported his trouble on the radio, then sent out a distress signal and ejected himself.

Police said the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, both in their 60's, were recovered from the demolished home in the Montlake Terrace area. The house was destroyed by fire, along with the neighboring home of A. F. Retka. The five-member Retka family was on vacation.

* * * *

OFFICERS SAID the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Andrews and the Robert Jinneman family were damaged. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews and the six members of the Jinneman family escaped.

Anita Moran, 15, was admitted to a hospital suffering from shock. The owner of an ambulance firm that took the girl to the hospital, Angelo Massagnetti, 42, was treated for smoke inhalation.

The pilot was taken to a hospital at Sand Point Naval Air Station, on the shore of Lake Washington, and then

CDC Withholds Its Endorsement From Appelgate

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

The 39th Assembly District California Democratic Council (CDC) rebuffed Assembly candidate Dr. Kenneth W. Appelgate in a "no endorsement" decision Saturday which may reverberate through the state as an opening salvo to clean up the image of CDC.

Leader of the no-endorsement maneuver was William J. Peake, a candidate who withdrew from the race in favor of Bert B. Bond, only remaining opposition to Appelgate for the Democratic nomination. Peake withdrew too late, however to have his name taken off the June 5 ballot.

Bond served notice last Thursday he did not want CDC's endorsement because of what he considered its extreme left positions on a number of issues.

* * * *

WHILE PEAKE'S SUCCESS in blocking an Appelgate endorsement would support his own choice, Bond, Peake told the 63 endorsing convention delegates Saturday in the Lafayette Hotel that his motive was to kill off the leftish image of the CDC, specifically the impact of Long Beach Young Democrats, headed by Kenneth Campbell.

"The candidate," said Peake, "is in strong consort with this club. I only judge him (Appelgate) by those who surround him." He then noted that the club had brought ridicule to CDC by its resolutions to unilaterally stop nuclear testing, abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee, oppose President Kennedy's fall-out-shelter program and admit Red China to the U.N. He asked whether the CDC image would be the image of Ken Campbell or the image of John F. Kennedy and Pat Brown.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH THE YOUNG Democrats stood firm for Appelgate's endorsement, Appelgate himself made it clear in his remarks before the convention that his interest "is in good, active Democrats who want to adhere to the national and state administrations. In seeking the CDC endorsement I commit myself unequivocally to successful prosecution of the programs of J. F. Kennedy and Governor Brown."

In voting no endorsement, the convention—dominated by the 25 votes of the Democratic Women's Study

Oil Man Admits Shell Parley

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Oil company executive Charles S. Jones said Saturday he was the "high Republican" who met with gubernatorial candidate Joseph Shell to ask Shell to support Richard M. Nixon should Nixon win the GOP nomination.

Jones, chairman of the board of Richfield Oil Co., said the aura of mystery that was reported to surround the meeting did not exist.

A meeting was arranged April 8 after Shell called upon him in January to ask if he (Jones) would support him in the general election should Shell win the Republican nomination from the former vice president.

Palm Springs Plane Crash Takes 4 Lives

PALM SPRINGS (UPI) — Four Californians were killed late Saturday when a small private plane — apparently trying to avoid an in-flight collision—crashed and burned about a half-mile behind a row of homes near Palm Springs Airport.

Dead were the pilot, Dr. J. Remwick of Sacramento and his passengers, Kenneth Holtkamp, 26, 11060 Wright St., Lynwood; Craig Jourdannair, 23, Monterey Park; and William Steinmetz, 23, South Gate.

Witnesses said the light aircraft appeared to make a sharp turn to avoid another plane in the same landing pattern, went into a stall, crashed and burst into flames.

Authorities said Remwick and his wife had come to this resort from Sacramento Saturday. They said the three Southern Californians killed in the crash had gone up with him for a short sightseeing flight over the area.

L.A.C. Says:

What Do We Want?

The people of this country had better take a good look at what is happening to our traditional freedoms if they hope to preserve them. Only the past week we read the story of how an Arkansas farmer had his farm seized and sold by the government at a fraction of its value. His crime? He planted more rice than the government told him he could plant on his own farm. He did not want price guarantees or subsidies. But he did want to raise as much as his efforts and land would produce—and take a chance on making a profit.

President Kennedy apparently won a great personal victory when the steel companies backed down from a price increase of 3.5 per cent to cover their 12 per cent costs of labor since the last general price increase. It was a popular victory spurred by one of the most demagogic tirades against private enterprise ever heard. Now that its effect has quieted down it is well that the American people consider just what they want as their form of government and economy.

The alternative to our free enterprise system is socialism or fascism. In either case, it would mean complete government control of prices—wages—rents and interest rates. It would mean political control over every segment of our economy. Instead of the system of competition under which we have prospered, we would substitute a system whereby political leaders would decide each development effecting production and living standards.

Labor may think it would be immune to such regulation because of its political power. But in dealing with a government that is made up of so-called intellectuals who honestly believe they know what is best for all the people—control of labor's wages and working arrangements is as inevitable as their control over management. There is no way to actually control prices without controlling wages—and all other segments of the economy.

The time may come when inflation caused by vast governmental spending and increased costs of production will make this necessary. But in approving the President's angry tirade against one industry—while he was silent about labor cost increases that brought about the crisis —one is losing sight of the vast power over free enterprise this popular victory placed in his hands.

It should be remembered this was a personal victory. It was not by act of Congress or any court. It was an appeal to mass support for an executive action contrary to all principals of representative government. Threats were made that defense orders would go to others — income tax investigations were threatened. All the elements of a totalitarian government were used to bring the "culprits" in line. It was to stop an industry from raising prices to meet payroll costs so profits could be assured.

Because of his attractive personality and appeal to many segments of our society, Mr. Kennedy is a dangerous man. We do not question his honesty or sincerity in believing he and the small group that surrounds him know what is best for all the people. But we do question that they know what is best—or that such vast power over our economy should be given to people—with no record of achievement of business success of their own.

We still have a Congress and our courts to decide these issues. But much of their power was transferred to an individual — when he forced the steel companies to bend to his will. Where will this personal power be used next to bypass the safeguards set out in our Constitution? How long will it take to build up a force that will, in effect, abolish all these safeguards? It has happened in other countries. Before it happens here the people better give some consideration to just what do they want.—LAC.

25 Hauled to Jail in Race Row

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—Police literally dragged 25 young Negroes off to jail here Saturday for staging a sit-down at City Hall to protest the fatal shooting of a Negro night club owner by a city policeman.

Leaders of the Albany integrationist movement said the arrests might touch off more anti-segregation demonstrations in this racially troubled city.

* * * *

SATURDAY, Assistant Police Chief Leslie Summerford said the Negroes "just came up to the front of City Hall and lay down." He said they were carried to jail after refusing to get up from the sidewalk.

Transit Act Hearing Due on Tuesday message until a few days before it was completed.

* * * *

SEN. ENGLE encountered massive resistance to the proposal from the Treasury Department and the Budget Bureau. The chief complaint was that transit bonds would compete in the money market against bond issues by the treasury.

With MTA and bankers supplying the technical arguments, Engle was able to obtain Treasury and Budget Bureau concurrence. But it came about only after six White House meetings and several hot sessions in the senator's office.

A telephone call at a key moment by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to President Kennedy also played a role. In response, the President sent down word to those drafting the message to include loan guaranties "if possible," but he stopped short of requesting it.

* * * *

TREASURY resistance melted after assurances were given that the amount of bonds sold would be limited, that they would be marketed during periods when no treasury issues were in sight, and that treasury would get a chance to pass on financial surveys on feasibility for repayment.

First Music Fete Event Wednesday

Opening with the Secondary Schools Festival Concert of the Long Beach Unified School District Wednesday, the program closes with the Festival Concert of American Music by the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra assisted by the Schola Cantorum May 6 in Municipal Auditorium.

"The two programs represent the full circle of musical activity starting with the first musical experiences in the schools through to the combined professional and nonprofessional make up of the symphony orchestra," said Dr. Gerald Daniel, assistant dean, Long Beach City College, and chairman of the Music Council's Festival Committee. "Continuity of this musical activity is seen in the personnel of the orchestra. More than a third of the players in the symphony are former players in the district's school orchestras and, in addition, many of the players are teachers of music of the school system."

* * * *

COOPERATING groups in the festival initiate and are responsible for the individual programs. For the most part, work of promoting the festival is a volunteer effort. Expenses incurred in staging the promotional activity of the festival were defrayed through an allocation of funds by the City Council, contributions by The Independent, Press-Telegram and donation of billboard space by Foster & Kleiser.

Lauris Jones is president of the Long Beach Music Council. Heading promotion is William Boyd, of the Chamber of Commerce.

Wife Stabs Man Fatally, Tells of Death Struggle

By GEORGE ROBESON

An argument between a husband and wife that began last Monday ended Saturday night in violent death for the husband as he washed dishes in their Long Beach apartment.

William James Barnes, 38, died on the kitchen floor of his apartment at 920 E. Sixth St. with a deep knife wound in his back.

Police said his wife, Dorothy, also 38, admitted stabbing him in a struggle in which, she said, he tried to drown her in the kitchen sink.

* * * *

MRS. BARNES gave this account of the moments that lead to death, according to police:

Her husband was washing dishes. They were arguing. "I don't know what it was about," Mrs. Barnes said. "Part of it was money, I guess. But we started fussing with each other last Monday."

As they stood at the sink, Barnes grabbed his wife's hair and forced her backward over the sink, submerging her head in the dishwater. He released her a moment later, saying, "I guess I shouldn't have done that, huh?"

Mrs. Barnes struggled with him, pulling his hair, and he dunked her head in the sink again.

* * * *

Officers said Mrs. Barnes spent about 20 minutes attempting to clean blood from the floor before she called police.

Barnes' body still wore an apron when police arrived.

He was employed by Scott Radio Supply. His wife is employed by General Telephone Co., police said. Part of their domestic quarrels involved the division of family income, detectives said.

Investigating detectives Frank Welch and Errol Greenleaf said Mrs. Barnes would be booked for investigation of murder until the District Attorney's office either issues a criminal complaint against her or rejects one.

* * * *

NEIGHBORS in the apartment building described Mr. and Mrs. Barnes as "a nice, quiet couple." One resident of the building, however, said he heard "a man's voice, shouting as if he were enraged" about the time of the stabbing shortly before 7 p.m.

The Barnes apartment was tastefully furnished. On one end table in the living room were several pieces of Lenten devotional literature, one of them open to mark a place.

"I'm supposed to go to church tomorrow," Mrs. Barnes told detectives. "Can I make a phone call? I want to tell them if I won't be able to go."

Easter Auto Break

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The highway safety bureau Saturday issued an order to police not to tag any vehicles parked in front of, or near churches today, regardless of violation of signs.

Lakewood Opens Week-Long Annual Pan American Fete

Lakewood will honor Panama and the other nations of Latin America this week in the community's 16th annual Pan American Festival.

Opening event of the week-long celebration will be an El Comienzo (beginning) luncheon Monday noon at Hody's Restaurant.

Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli will be principal speaker at the luncheon, sponsored by the Greater Lakewood Chamber of Commerce. Master of ceremonies will be Fred SanChez, City of Lakewood-appointed ambassador of good will to the Latin American Consular Association of Los Angeles.

The consular representatives will be guests of honor at the luncheon, along with Miss Nitzia Elizabeth Anguizola, festival queen, and Miss Pamelia Lustig, Pan-Am hostess.

Other highlights of the festival will include a Jaycee-sponsored fair and carnival Thursday through Sunday, an Exchange of Flags ceremony Saturday afternoon at the Lakewood High School stadium and a Lions Club-sponsored Pan American ball Saturday evening.

Capping the week-long festivities will be a 1½-hour televised parade next Sunday afternoon.

Judy Out of Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — Judy Garland was released Saturday from Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital after a week there under treatment for exhaustion.

GEORGE C. KRAHL, who lives about a block and a half from where the plane hit, said:

"The first thing we noticed was a tremendous boom like a sonic boom. Then everything vibrated and there was a tremendous burst of red-hot blaze. Right after the crash there was a tremendous amount of debris flying all over the neighborhood. Some of the neighbors have broken windows.

Capt. Wildt suffered an in-flight power loss, the McChord Air Force Base information office said. It gave this account:

Capt. Wildt guided his plane toward Lake Washington and tried to ditch it in the water, to avoid hitting a residential area. He ejected himself when his plane was only 1,000 feet above the water.

* * * *

EYEWITNESSES on the ground confirmed Capt. Wildt's version and said he made a "valiant effort" to get his plane down in the water, the McChord spokesman said.

Excited crowds hailed the beginning of the Century 21 Exposition unaware that the jet had crashed.

Twelve thousand early arrivals crowded into Memorial Stadium to watch the opening festivities and hear President Kennedy in a telephoned message hail the opening of the first world's fair in 22 years.

"What we show was achieved with great effort in the field of science, technology and industry," the President said.

"These accomplishments are a bridge to carry us competently toward the 21st Century.

"Many nations have sent exhibits and will send their people. We welcome them. This exemplifies the spirit of peace and cooperation with which we approach the decades ahead . . . May we open not only a great world's fair, but may we open an era of peace and understanding among all mankind."

* * * *

SECRETARY of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, the administration's chief delegate to the fair, declared it "symbolizes our faith in the future of this country and the world."

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., a prime mover in assuring federal help for the exposition said: "Science never has known a better showcase. Never has science had so much to show.' '

The oratory over the celebrating began.

Servicemen fired a 21-gun salute. Boat whistles, sirens and church bells added to the din. Gas balloons dotted the sky. A 538-bell carillon rang out from the Space Needle. Motorboats raced around the lagoon of the stadium with flags and pretty girls.

FIRST VISITORS to Seattle World's Fair on opening day Saturday ride Electricabs to tour fair grounds.

FIRST AT FAIR

Chicagoan No. 1 Past Every Gate

SEATTLE (AP) — Thirty years of mild frustration ended triumphantly Saturday for Al Carter of Chicago when he was the first visitor to the Seattle World's Fair.

Carter said he tried to be No. 1 customer at Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition in 1933 but lost out to a woman.

Carter arrived at the fair's south gate at 3 p.m. Friday and talked the gatekeeper into letting him step inside.

Then he visited all the other gates and collected affidavits from the gatekeepers that Al Carter, Chicago musician, was first in line. Then he went back to the east gate to await the noon opening Saturday.

Two Seattle boys, Paul Taylor and Gary Storm, were second and third, respectively. Carter told them he'd swear to that.

FOR FREEWAY DERELICTS

Sun to Energize Radio Callboxes

I.P-T Los Angeles Bureau

The sun, which continues to lure hundreds of thousands of new residents to Southern California, is—appropriately enough—about to be used to help residents who get stuck on the freeways.

Eighty radio callboxes, activated by solar energy, will be installed on freeways near downtown Los Angeles as part of a pilot program this summer, according to Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

The boxes, developed by Hoffman Electronics Corp., will be on a 24-hour hookup with the Los Angeles Police Department's communcations center.

* * * *

A MOTORIST having car trouble or involved in an accident can go to one of the callboxes, push a red button on the box and transmit a signal to the police radio center. The center will dispatch an officer to the scene.

"When the officer arrives, he will be able to summon other emergency vehicles by use of other buttons in the callbox," Hahn explained.

In the pilot program, the callboxes will be placed at quarter-mile intervals, Hahn said. Twelve will be installed on Harbor Freeway between the Civic Center interchange and Olympic Boulevard. There will be 50 on Hollywood Freeway from the interchange to Highland Avenue, 14 on Santa Ana Freeway from the interchange with the San Bernardino Freeway, and four on San Bernardino Freeway between the Santa Ana and Golden State freeways.

"RAYS FROM the sun will provide the energy for the signals," Hahn said, "and there will be no wires."

Hahn said Robert B. Bradford, director of the State Department of Public Works, advised him that the test system should be in operation this summer. The state will assume the cost of installing and maintaining the callboxes, he said.

Resurrection Celebrated by Millions

By the Associated Press

"He is risen."

In song and prayer, the words spoken 20 centuries ago echoed around the world today in Christian celebration of the Resurrection.

The bells of Rome's 500 churches, muffled until midnight, rang out the glory of Easter.

* * * *

IN SILENCE, too, the faith was kept as sign-language services were conducted for deaf congregations.

A joy of color lent emphasis to the white lily symbol of the day. Gaily decorated eggs, bunnies and chicks filled children s baskets. Finery awaited the Easter parades.

For most of the United States, the Weather Bureau forecast a sunny and mild day, except for a band of showers across the middle of the nation and some rain on the northeast coast.

* * * *

EASTER penetrated the Iron Curtain, carrying its hope of life everlasting into Orthodox and Baptist churches in Moscow.

The commemoration of Christ's sacrifice on the cross brought thousands of pilgrims to Jerusalem, tens of thousands of visitors to the Vatican in Rome and millions of the faithful to special services throughout the world.

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—Nearly 1,000 peace demonstrators marched five miles along Wilshire Boulevard Saturday protesting nuclear weapons tests and urging world disarmament.

The March began at Hancock Park and wound up in a rally at the MacArthur Park bandstand.

Most of the marchers carried placards protesting the scheduled resumption of U.S. nuclear tests. Other signs read: "Turn Toward Peace."

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Kennedy, Wife Will Visit Mexico

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President and Mrs. Kennedy will visit Mexico June 29 to July 1, the Palm Beach White House announced Saturday.

Chief executives traditionally visit Mexico and Canada, the two countries that border the United States, and the Kennedys traveled to Ottawa last May. A trip to Mexico was announced last year while Kennedy was winding up his Christmas-New Year vacation in Palm Beach.

Argentine Civil War Averted

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido, supported by tough cavalry Gen. Enrique Rauch and a column of tanks, gained the upper hand over ultimatum-bearing Argentine military chiefs Saturday just as civil war seemed to be exploding.

The Diminutive president imposed a truce while insurgent armor stormed into the outskirts of Buenos Aires and probed machine gun and artillery emplacements of army commander Gen. Raul Poggi in the heart of the capital.

The crisis, the nearest Argentina has come to serious blood-letting since dictator Juan Peron was routed seven years ago, burgeoned when Gen. Rauch unexpectedly launched an insurrection against the army high command Friday night from Camp de Mayo, Argentina's most important military camp, 30 miles outside the capital.

The insurrection snowballed and surprised Gen. Poggi, key leader in deposing and imprisoning President Arturo Frondizi on March 29 Guido is Frondizi's military-picked successor, and Rauch's actions apparently meant that Poggi had lost out as a power in Argentine politics.

Centaur Fizzles on Pad

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—An attempt to launch America's revolutionary hydrogen-powered Centaur rocket, on its maiden flight, failed Saturday when a giant Atlas booster that was to have carried it aloft fizzled on its launching pad.

Scientists saidthere was no immediate indication what caused the booster failure, but the Atlas-Centaur combination itself remained standing firmly upright on its pad and apparently suffered little if any damage.

Rocket May Form Ice Cloud

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A giant Saturn booster this week will hurl 95 tons of water 65 miles into the sky to form what scientists believe will be the highest and largest ice cloud since the world began. The cloud, if launch day Wednesday is clear at Cape Canaveral, may be visible for scores and perhaps hundreds of miles.

Gardy Assumes Salan Post

ORAN (AP)—Ex-Gen. Paul Gardy, Secret Army commander in western Algeria, said Saturday he has assumed Raoul Salan's post as chief of the terrorist organization. Gardy made the announcement in an emotion-packed pirate radio broadcast appealing to French settlers to continue fighting. Salan was arrested last week.

Hunt Plane, 6 Aboard

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A fleet of airplanes combed the desert wastelands of Western Utah and Nevada Saturday for a private plane missing with six Californians aboard, including three women and two children.

The plane was piloted by Al Hoffman of the Fresno branch of Pacific Oil Seed, Inc. With him were his wife, Amelia; their two sons, Tom, 12, and Bruce 11; Mrs. Carl Claasen, wife of the president of Pacific Oil Seed, with headquarters in Woodland, and Claasen's sister-in-law, Mrs. Connie Moore of Walnut Creek.

CDC Rebuffs Appelgate, Candidacy

Club—also flouted the appeals of the party's 1956 congressional candidate, Raymond C. Simpson, and former Assembly candidate Tom Griffin.

* * * *

DR. APPELGATE said after adjournment that the charges against Young Democrats were on national and international issues. "The problems of this district are of immediate and utmost concern to me. Linking those positions to my candidacy is preposterous . . . I'm a member of the Democratic State Central Committee and don't represent the Young Democrats."

* * * *

AT ABOUT the same time Saturday, CDC got another "image" treatment from Ronald D. Hager, president and chairman of the CDC in the 32nd (old 18th) Congressional District (Long Beach-Lakewood-Signal Hill).

Hager passed along word that Demo congressional candidate W. Bud deCannis also had served notice he does not want a CDC endorsement "because of certain aspects of the program of CDC with which I cannot fully concur."

DeCannis said as long as right or left extremists remain in CDC he would rather stay out, along with his supporters.

* * * *

THE SURPRISE came in Hager's agreement:

"While I am sorry that certain individuals both locally and in the state have caused CDC to fall into disrepute by actions and stands which have been used by the Republican opposition in an unfair smear-type campaign, I, at present, agree with Mr. DeCannis and Mr. Bond in their not seeking the endorsement of CDC councils.

"I feel that the stands and actions taken by past state CDC conventions are definitely not the positions of most clearly thinking, truly loyal Democrats."

Hager also cited what he considered to be the extreme right pole in CDC, the recently defecting group of Democrats led by Kenneth and Sheila LaTourette.

Hager included both left and right in his closing suggestion "that no Democratic candidate would be wise to seek or accept the endorsement of any of the CDC councils in this congressional district so long as such individuals are in active participation therein."

SAN PEDRO ROMANCE

Grandma Flies to Pakistan Bridal

Easter means adventure and marriage to Mrs. Louise Schaffmit, San Pedro grandmother who spent nearly 20 years as a secretary at the Long Beach Naval Shipyards.

She leaves today for Pakistan to marry a doctor she has never seen.

Mrs. Schaffmit, of 875 29th St., began corresponding with Pakisan army medical officer Col. Jamual un Din of Lahore two years ago. They were "introduced," she said, by mutual friends in the Philippines.

Her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Howizon of Wilmington today will escort Mrs. Schaffmit to her plane.

She plans to make several stops en route and is scheduled to arrive in Lahore April 28.

After her marriage, Col. un Din will take her to his summer home in the Pakistan mountains and introduce her to his six children—all of whom practice law or medicine.

Mrs. Schaffmit is the daughter of the late Kansas congressman, Arnold Miller.

She said she and her husband-to-be have many common interests including literature, writing and the desire to help others.

Executive's Kin Held as Steel Firm Thief

A photographer and a laborer, both unemployed, were booked Saturday by Long Beach police for the Friday night burglary of a steel company office.

One of the suspects, laborer Ronald Lee Maberry, 19, of 3569 Kallin Ave., was arrested by employes of Hiram's Market, 6235 E. Spring St., Saturday as he attempted to pass a check for $217.63 which police said was one of several checks stolen Friday from the Crow Steel Co. Inc., 3111 E. Willow St.

Officers said Maberry admitted the burglary.

The other suspect, implicated by Maberry, was identified as David Butler Crow, 21, of 6152 Pageantry St. Police said Crow is the stepson of the steel firm's co-owner. He was arrested at a motel at 1777 Cherry Ave.

Several other checks taken in the burglary were in Crow's possession when he was arrested, officers said.

The suspects had cashed stolen company checks at four other Long Beach stores between the time of the burglary Friday night and their arrest Saturday, according to police.

Executive Tells Meet With Shell

basic interest had always been in the Republican Party and I would do everything I could to help the party after the primary, and that I would certainly support him if he won."

"I asked him if Mr. Nixon were the nominee, would he support Mr. Nixon in the finals," Jones said. "He said he would do so in every way possible with only one reservation — that he could not continue to make five speeches a day for Mr. Nixon as he was doing for himself."

Jones said his first effort to meet with Shell was not completed because of Shell's being out of the city. He said they met finally Sunday evening, April 8, in Jones' room at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

MTA, Union Slate New Talks Monday

Metropolitan Transit Authority representatives will meet again with union negotiators Monday to continue talks on a new contract while 2,700 bus and streetcar operators are prevented by court injunction from striking.

The MTA officials will meet with Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen officials in the AFL-CIO Los Angeles County Labor Federation offices.

The union is prohibited by a Superior Court injunction from striking through the remainder of April.

Drivers rejected the last MTA contract offer although negotiators urged them to accept it. The rejection was based mainly on the company's refusal to grant six days annual sick leave and a lunch break after five hours of work.

Girl Killed in Cliff Fall

Easter vacation fun ended in tragedy Saturday for a 15-year-old Pomona girl who plunged 85 feet to her death from a cliff at Dana Point.

Orange County Sheriff's deputies said the girl, Loretta Louise Young, was returning to a beach camp with her boy friend around 4:40 p.m. and decided to take a short cut.

When she failed to return to the camp, the boy friend, Joe David Yancey, 16, of Ontario, and the girl's father, Elmer W. Young, went looking for her. They spotted her from the cliff, lying on a rocky beach.

BRITAIN DELIVERS THE TITTERS

Deadpan English Austerity of Wit Enlivened by Unconscious Howlers

Editor's note — there goes the Englishman. Not a bad chap, really. And sensible. He gave the world much of its law, its government. But sometimes it's hard not to laugh at him. For the Englishman can be silly. Very, very silly, if you don't think so, read on. And try to keep a straight face.

By RONALD THOMSON

LONDON (AP)—The notice on the door of the city hall in Kent was brief and to the point — "The evening of clairvoyance on Tuesday has been canceled owing to unforeseen circumstances."

If you live in England, you get used to things like this.

There is a man around somewhere who believes railroad coaches should be boiled — yes, boiled — at each station to prevent the spread of dandruff.

West Wickham fire station is situated in a road which is blocked at both ends.

The chief clerk of a London borough council posted a memorandum saying: "Owing to the shortage of staff, officials are advised to take advantage of their typists between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock."

* * * *

THE ENGLISH love laughing at themselves, but now and again they wonder why it's so easy. A lot of very silly things seem to happen here.

The weekly magazine "New Statesman" has been compiling a record of such oddities over the years and recently published a collection of them.

One of the great classics is an order issued by the British Admiralty dealing with the storage of torpedo warheads:

"It is necessary for technical reasons that these warheads should be stored with the top at the bottom, and the bottom at the top. In order that there may be no doubt as to which is the bottom and and which is the top for storage purposes, it will be seen that the bottom of each warhead has been labeled with the word 'top.' "

* * * *

DEADPAN announcements in newspapers provide some of the best fun. From the seaside resort of Margate came this one:

"The council has adopted a new slogan, 'there's life in the Margate air,' which is now being stamped on envelopes containing reminders that annual cemetery fees are due."

In the north of England one paper reported:

"Corned beef was sent to a Bridgend school canteen. Teachers sniffed it and did not like the smell. The canteen manageress sniffed it and pronounced it satisfactory. The town sanitary inspector sniffed it and approved it. The town medical officer sniffed it and declared it good, then ordered it to be destroyed because too many people had sniffed it."

A PROFOUND mystery occurred in the town of Bath.

"On Saturday," said a local paper, "The Stanley Engineering Company held its outing to Southsea. Owing to pressure of work none of the staff was able to go. However, a most enjoyable time was had by all."

The church column in another newspaper announced: "the minister intends to preach a series of sermons on the seven deadly sins, omitting lust."

Letters to the editor often produce significant thoughts. The Newcastle Journal printed the following advice from a reader:

"In view of the great expense and difficulty involved in firing rockets at the moon, I suggest that future attempts should be made when the moon is full. There would be a better chance of hitting this larger target than hitting the thin crescent present at the time of the latest Russian attempt."

* * * *

A PLAINITIVE note came in a letter to the magazine Reveille:

"My wife has a habit of peeling potatoes in bed. I feel this is unnecessary and unhygienic, but how can I stop her?"

The editors declined to hazard a guess.

Marital differences naturally are to the fore in this collection of strange English fancies.

The Law Society reports that a man who instituted divorce proceedings later withdrew the application "in case his wife got to hear about it."

JUDGE TEMPLE Morris granted a divorce to a woman at Swansea Assizes, saying her husband wrote her a letter "which should not have been sent to a dog."

The element of violence always adds to the interest.

In the divorce court in London, Justice Karminski ruled that a wife who threw "almost every form of domestic utensil" at her husband was not cruel because on nearly every occasion she missed.

Another judge was quoted as saying:

"A man who beats his wife should do it according to the Bible, as a service of love, not in temper. A reasonably sized stick would be all right for the job, but it is a pity that the defendant lost his temper and used an iron bar."

* * * *

OFFICIALDOM is never out of the fray for long. Says the mayor of Lincoln:

"There is no housing shortage in the town. This is just a rumor put about by people who have nowhere to live."

And a government employment bureau went on record as follows:

"Until recently the admission of foreign workers was confined to female applicants. This restriction has been relaxed and we have extended our activities accordingly. The term 'girl' now stands for any type of applicant regardless of sex."

U.S., Japan to Launch 3 Sounding Rockets in Space-Exploring Project

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Japan next week will launch the first of three sounding rockets in a joint program of scientific space exploration.

An American Nike - Cajun rocket will be fired from the Wallops Island, Va., station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration April 24, according to present plans.

The rocket will carry independently developed Japanese and U.S. devices for measuring electron temperature and density in the ionosphere. According to U.S. scientists, the Japanese device is the faster and more efficient of the two.

* * * *

THE IONOSPHERE is the electrified region of the upper atmosphere, starting at about 40 miles, which reflects some radio frequencies and so makes long distance communication possible. A sounding rocket is a probe that goes to high altitudes and then falls bask without going into orbit.

The Japanese device, called a radio-frequency resonance probe, consists primarily of a gold-coated sphere about half an inch in diameter on a two-foot boom extending from the side of the rocket.

When a variable radio frequency voltage is applied to it, the device records the frequency at which radio signals no longer are reflected from the ionosphere.

* * * *

THE NIKE-CAJUN also will carry aloft a Langmuir Probe, an American device for studying the ionosphere.

According to Robert Bourbeau, head of the planetary ionospheres branch of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, the Japanese experiment may permit space scientists in the future to use just one instrument to measure both electron density and temperature simultaneously and at a faster rate than heretofore possible.

The Japanese have been working on their experiment for nearly three years.

Huge Tanker Sailing for Persian Gulf

The world's largest tanker, the 940-foot SS Manhattan, is scheduled to leave port at 5 a.m. today for the Persian Gulf.

Thousands of persons went to the harbor to see the vessel. Pierpoint Landing's cruise boat Star carried 5652 people free in 37 trips to Pier E where the tanker was tied up.

The tanker brought a world-record load of 750,000 barrels of oil to the Richfield Supertanker Terminal.

K's Reconfirmation by Soviet Expected

By ROBERT J. KORENGOLD

MOSCOW (UPI) — The newly-elected Supreme Soviet—the U.S.S.R.'s equivalent of a national parliament—meets for the first time on Monday for the expected rubber-stamp reconfirmation of Nikita Khrushchev as premier.

Since the job of the 1,429 delegates is not to legislate, but to approve policies of national leaders, the chief interest in the meeting lies in anticipation of a major speech on foreign and domestic polic by Khrushchev.

The Supreme Soviet, elected on March 18, will formally name the chief of state of the U.S.S.R., probably the current president, Leonid Brezhnev. Top items on the agenda are ritualistic approval of the new government, president and the Supreme Soviet's own ruling presidium.

* * * *

NO DRAMATIC changes in Soviet leadership are expected, although it was at the last similar meeting, in March, 1958, that Khrushchev unexpectedly replaced Marshal Nikolai Bulganin as premier. Khrushchev was at that time First Secretary of the Communist Party and has since held both these top Soviet positions.

Surprises always are possible.

But the highest government shuffles expected are the possible ousting of Culture Minister Ekaterina Furtseva and the downgrading of Deputy Premier Nikolai Ignatov. Both were dropped last autumn from the Communist Party's ruling presidium.

* * * *

FORMER SOVIET President Kliment Voroshilov, who was linked with an anti-party group last autumn, may lose his place on the Supreme Soviet presidium.

Khrushchev is expected to speak on major East-West issues and in particular, probably will be highly critical of American plans to resume atmospheric nuclear testing.

He probably will use the occasion to boast of Soviet achievements in space.

DOMESTICALLY, the Supreme Soviet may endorse new legislation aimed at easing divorce procedures.

The first business of the body will be to name the presidium and its chairman, who in effect is president and chief of state.

Then Khrushchev, as chairman of the Council of Ministers, or premier, will hand in the resignation of the government. Barring any startling developments, he and other principal Soviet leaders will be renominated to their jobs and unanimously reconfirmed.

Medal for Urey

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nobel Prize winner Dr. Harold C. Urey of the University of California Saturday was named winner of the J. Lawrence Smith medal by the National Academy of Sciences for his investigations of the chemical analyses of meteorites.

California Congressman Denies Knowing Texas Suspect Swindler

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Harlan Hagen, D-Calif., Saturday denied he knew Billy Sol Estes, Texas agriculture promoter, who has been indicted on federal fraud charges.

Hagen's name was linked to Estes in a series of letters introduced Friday in Dallas by Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson at a hearing for Estes. One of them, signed "Bill," suggested Estes might want to contribute $218.76 to Hagen to pay printing costs for 25,000 copies of a speech entitled "Promoting and Protecting the American Way of Life in Agriculture," written by Dr. James T. Ralph, former assistant U.S. agriculture secretary.

* * * *

"LAST YEAR, a request which I assumed came from Dr. Ralph came to me," Hagen said, "to put a speech in the congressional record for purposes of distribution to interested farm groups.

The California Democrat said that, at various times, people in his office talked to the Department of Agriculture on the matter, but he said he had no direct contact on the request. Hagen said he paid for the cost of printing the speech, an expense of $218.76, and later was reimbursed.

LESS BOUNCE PER OUNCE

Machine Takes Rubber from Bad Checks

CHECKING ON CHECKS . . . Closed circuit TV cameras help speed information.

By JOHN RONSON

An average of 300 bad checks a month are passed in Long Beach, according to police officials here, and countywide somebody gets stuck every five seconds.

There wasn't a lot that could be done about it before. A merchant had to make the agonizing decision: "Shall I take a chance on accepting on the probability that it's good, or turn down the check and possibly antagonize a potentially good customer?"

You could get stuck even with "good" identification. The identification may be good but the check rubber or stolen.

* * * *

REPORTEDLY the first outfit to do something about building a better bad-check trap is Telecredit, Inc., which offers relief to victims of bum checks which last year totaled a reported $7 million in the county.

Telecredit, Inc., of Los Angeles, the brainchild of Robert Goldman and Ron Katz has been in business for about four and one-half months. But for about two years before operations started Goldman, 36, and Katz, 25, were busy doing the preliminary work.

Utilizing an exclusive computer process, an IBM RAMAC 305 data processing system which has been fed millions of pieces of information, Telecredit gives a client information about a check by telephone in four seconds or less.

* * * *

TELECREDIT'S basis of information is the 8.5 million California drivers' licenses; information on known bad check passers collected from police departments and information which the machine itself generates on the basis of continuing data furnished.

To speed response, Telecredit uses a closed circuit television network to get information to and from the computer.

Telecredit officials say more than 50,000 bad check artists are operating in California and only one out of 10 bad checks are reported to police.

* * * *

IN THE less than six months the service has been offered, more than 600 business concerns in the retail trade have subscribed at a cost of about 20 cents a query, according to Don Hageman, sales manager. He estimates some 150,000 calls from clients have been answered.

"We estimate we've saved subscribers upward of $65,000 in bad checks so far," he said.

"In one case we assisted police in recovering $56,000 worth of stolen checks. A man attempting to cash a check rushed from the store when our clients called us for a check on the check. The customer left the check and his identification in his hurry. Police were informed and were on tap when a woman came in later and said 'My husband left a check and his identification here by mistake.' Police questioned her and as a result rounded up three men and the stolen checks—except for 11 that had already been cashed."

* * * *

THE COMPANY was reportedly started with about $400 and now is estimated as worth about $2 million. Stocks which originally sold over the counter at $1 a share now are $10 a share.

The operation at first was limited to Los Angeles County, now is expanding into Orange County and soon plans to begin taking the rubber out of checks in San Diego and San Francisco.

Petitions for City Parking Districts Slated to Go Before Council Shortly

Petitions for the creation of Long Beach's first parking district will be on their way through the City Council within two weeks.

Beginning on a small scale with two offstreet parking lots, the district will serve the busy Belmont Shore area along E. Second Street between Quincy and Bay Shore Avenues.

Already on file at City Clerk Margaret Heartwell's office, the petitions bear the signatures of some 65 owners representing 60.7 per cent of the total assessed valuation and 53.8 per cent of the land area in the proposed district.

* * * *

THEIR presentation to the council is being delayed temporarily while officials check the authenticity of signatures. All except one have been verified, Mrs. Heartwell said.

The district is a joint project of the city and the Belmont Shore Business Association. Members of the association circulated the petitions for many months.

More recently an informal petition calling on the city to expedite the parking program was circulated in the area—after the official petition was filed.

George Deukmejian, chairman of the association's parking district committee, said the action called for in the second petition is "untimely" in view of the legal procedures for formation of the district.

* * * *

AMONG the early steps in the proceedings will be a public hearing before the City Council.

The district is being formed under 1951 state legislation making possible the sale of bonds to be financed from parking meter revenue in the area and from a possible tax levy on property within the district. City officials have agreed to allot $4,000 annually for the first three years, these funds to come from earlier accruals of meter revenue.

* * * *

CITY PLANS provide for initial purchase and development of two sizable lots, one south of Second Street between Granada and Argonne Avenues, the other north of Second between Corona and Nieto. Eventually at least five additional lots may be developed.

The parking district was recommended two years ago by Wilbur Smith & Associates, consultants employed by the city.

Under the consultants' plan, meters will be installed in the lots and the daily meter operation will be extended to 8 p.m. The first two lots, each with a 41-car capacity, were estimated to cost $310,000. A tentative schedule calls for three more lots by 1965 and two additional by 1970.

Beach Combing

With Malcolm Epley

NEW ORLEANS—The editor's national meeting here ended on a merry note with Comedian Bob Hope jabbing good naturedly at John F. Kennedy, Dwight Eisenhower and others in what seemed to me to be one of the old ski-nose's best appearances. Time seems not to bother him (or his gag-writers) though some snide observers in the audience, themselves gray around the temples, claimed they detected dye in the reddish tinge of the comedian's hair.

His cracks at Kennedy were fairly sharp. Speaking of the steel price business, he said: "We are glad to see the President can win a war, even if it's against us." He said the steel firms had learned the meaning of Big John.

Of Kennedy family ramblings, he said they made the Roosevelt family look like shut-ins. "They're like the Strategic Air Command — always have something in the air."

Hope noted that he had kidded five presidents, and to make it non-partisan, remarked that Eisenhower had spent eight years in a sand trap. He added that Ike, no longer president, will find out who can beat him in golf.

I'LL be interested, when I get home, to see how the above reads in cold type. Printed reports of spoken wise cracks often seem flat to me. Stories of the Gridiron Club meetings in Washington, for instance, seem pretty ridiculous, yet I suppose they're rollicking affairs with plenty of sharp humor in the hall.

Most comedians have an audience that's eager to laugh and some special fans that will lead off every time. Laughter is infectious and even a poor joke can be funny if everybody roars.

Anyhow, I'd say Hope's appearance was a great success in the laugh dept. with what supposedly was a sophisticated audience.

Incidentally, he reminded me that he used to represent the I, P-T in the Christmas parties the papers sponsored for several seasons at Veterans Hospital and sent his greetings to Ken Chilcote, our man who arranged those affairs.

AS is required of all convention visitors everywhere, I spent some time shopping in New Orleans downtown stores. It was Good Friday and the streets and shops were crowded, with a near 50 per cent of Negroes among the shoppers. Everybody seemed to have money to spend and was happy spending it.

For convention visitors, cities should provide plenty of merchandise that is distinctive of the particular community. It always seems unsound economics to me to buy things elsewhere that I can buy at home from the merchants who pay Long Beach taxes and advertise in the paper that provides my living expenses. I look for items that are distinctive to take home as gifts, and they're usually hard to find.

In the end, I buy a few knick-knacks with the name of the city or some local feature shown on them and let it go at that. I've been known to stop in L. B. on my way home from the airport and pick up an item or two, the recipient at home never knowing where it came from.

WHILE everything else in this strongly Catholic community seemed to be open on most of Good Friday, the famed International Mart was closed. I walked over there on instructions from my L.B. Harbor Dept. friends to see it but couldn't get into the shops. The corridors were open and there was a group of disappointed Boy Scouts hiking around in there. From what I could see, it looks impressive enough, and no doubt offers a pattern for an international trade center we're talking about for Long Beach.

Public Schools Observance Set

By ROBERT WILCOX
Education Editor

Preparation of thousands of exhibits is under way for the 43rd observance of Public Schools Week in the 77 Long Beach Unified District schools.

The event will start April 30 and continue through May 4 with open houses scheduled at all schools from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday of that week.

The schedule follows: Monday, April 30, City College; Tuesday, May 1, elementary schools; Wednesday, May 2, senior high schools; Thursday, May 3, junior high schools.

* * * *

SUPT. DOUGLAS A. NEWCOMB has extended a special invitation to adults to visit the schools during the regular school day to watch them in operation.

Newcomb emphasized that all adults—not just those with children in school—are being urged to come to the schools during the week. Special invitations, he said, are being sent to business and industrial leaders throughout the district.

A citizens' committee headed by Orlo R. Peugh is helping with planning for the annual program. John Lepich heads the school committee.

* * * *

HIGHLIGHTING the college event April 30 will be a vocational arts exhibit at the Business and Technology Division of Long Beach City College. About 1,000 entries from the junior and senior high schools are expected.

On May 1 all grade schools will close at 2 p.m. to make final prepartions for the expected avalanche of evening visitors. The May 2 senior high exhibits will range from atomic fission demonstrations to college mathematics displays. Many of the May 3 junior high exhibits will center around "America's Heritage of Freedom."

Theme for the observance is "The Public School—America's Heritage and Strength."

World War I Vets

Veterans of World War I, Barracks 154, and the Auxiliary will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Veterans Memorial Building, 241 W. Broadway.

Seismograph on Moon Is Space Shot Objective

To Radio Back Data on Quakes

By CHARLES RIDGWAY

Seismology, a pretty shaky but down to earth business up to now, will play a predominant role in space research this week.

Many of the nation's leading seismologists predict the landing of a seismograph on the moon as a part of the imminent Ranger 4 spaceshot, will prove once and for all that the moon isn't made of green cheese.

The earthquake experts, gathering at the University of Southern California during the past week for the annual convention of the Geological Society of America, agreed the moon probe will be an earthquaking event for them.

* * * *

SCIENTISTS expect to land a tiny, California-built seismograph on the moon to radio back information on moonquakes and meteor collisions with the moon.

Dr. Jack Oliver of Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory and one of the principal speakers at the convention, said:

"We expect the seismograph to tell us much about the physical make-up of the moon, its origin, and whether it has a liquid core and a crust like the earth."

* * * *

METEOR impacts on the moon, impossible to detect from earth observation, will register on the graph and tell scientist how heavy meteor traffic will be for space explorers. Moonquakes, or lack of them, will enable geologists to compare rock formations of the moon with those on earth.

Oliver is one of many scientists at the Lamont observatory and at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory who, with the help of many sub-

L. B. Courts Hold Open House May 1 to Observe Law Day—U.S.A.

Tuesday, May 1, is Law Day, U.S.A.—the American answer to the noisy Communist May Day display of military power.

Courts throughout the nation, including those in Long Beach, will observe open house, to enable residents to view and hear a quiet display of justice.

Law Day objectives are:

To foster a deeper respect for law by teaching how laws serve all citizens.

To encourage responsible citizenship by demonstrating that individual rights and freedoms involve individual obligations.

To emphasize the basic values of the rule of law in the United States as contrasted with the rule of force under comunism.

* * * *

FOR THESE purposes, an estimated 1,000 Long Beach high school students will visit the Long Beach County Building, 415 W. Ocean Blvd., April 30, May 1 and May 2.

Attorney guides will take the students on one-hour tours, during which they will watch court proceedings, meet judges, district attorneys and clerks, and be allowed to ask as many questions as they wish.

The official Law Day program will be held in the County Building May 1 from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

* * * *

LOCAL JUDGES and public officials will welcome all visitors.

Attorneys will be guides for tours of the courthouse.

Three half-hour mock trials will take place simultaneously, with lawyers serving not only as attorneys but also as witnesses, judges and bailiffs.

Long Beach Lawyers Wives Club will serve coffee and cookies in the sixth-floor cafeteria.

The local observance is sponsored by Long Beach Bar Association, under direction by President James J. Baker and Law Day committee chairman Sterling S. Clayton. Superior Judge Joe Raycraft and Municipal Judge Charles T. Smith are the committee's court advisors.

EDITORIAL

He Is With Us Today—Now!

(EDITOR'S NOTE: It is an Easter tradition of this page to invite a local minister to be our guest editorialist. The writer of this year's Easter Editorial is Reuben L. Anderson, Minister of the First Christian Church.)

By REV. REUBEN L. ANDERSON

NO HONEST, open-minded, unprejudiced reader of the New Testament could miss the central truth involved in the declarations concerning the bodily resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth. The Gospel writers devote much time and space to the birth, life and teachings of Jesus. They affirm His unique coming, catch a fleeting glimpse of His boyhood, and then focus special attention upon three eventful years of His thirties. Here was no ordinary life.

Truly, this is God walking among men; yet doing so in the flesh of man. This is the Creator of all the universe choosing to live for a time upon our Earth that men might have the privilege of seeing "God manifest in the flesh." Here was an outstandingly divine demonstration! Of Him it was recorded "He went about doing good." Many were the manifestations of His compassionate heart. Nothing seemed impossible, if by so doing He could bring men to see the possibilties of a better way of life by living in harmony with the plan of God. "Never man so spake" was the report brought by those sent out to trap Him in His speech. The amazement of His hearers is recorded by the phrase "they were astonished at His teaching: for He taught them as one having authority"! In pondering the revolutionary characteristics of His life and doctrine they had extreme difficulty in harmonizing the fact that He was so much like them—and yet so much different too. In answering His invitation — "come, follow me" — the disciples experienced a tremendous challenge to come up higher, to walk the road of greater achievement, to be better than they had even dreamed could be possible. How the world hungers today for more such demonstrations by committed men!

BUT THE READER MISSES the whole point of this remarkable life if he fails to see how it all points to the final and most remarkable proof of His power and love. In simple clear statements of undeniable facts the "slow to believe" disciples record for all history that men took this prince of all men and nailed Him to a cross on a rugged hill just outside Jerusalem. The tender love of the women and bleeding hearts of His disciples were overwhelmed with the truth that He really was dead. How could this be? For three days they agonize in unbelief as His body lay in a sealed and guarded tomb. And then it happened! They see Him again! At first they could not believe their eyes. Could it really be true? And yet, He gave every proof possible to the physical senses of man that He was alive again. Yes, these are the affirmations of men who staked their very lives on the declaration of His triumph over the grave. They could have preached His wonderful life for years to come, and have never been molested. It was when they declared His resurrection that the authorities resisted. This they would not accept. This many in the world today still refuse to admit. But, this is what the gospel writers declare!

FOLLOWING CLOSE UPON, in fact a very integral part of, the declarations of His resurrection is the affirmation of His living presence! For a period of 40 days He made numerous appearances to convince the minds and hearts of His followers that He is actually alive—living in more complete reality than during the period of His confinement to the fleshly body. He wanted them to understand that life for man is not limited to the flesh of his body. During His teaching ministry He had laid the foundation for this revelation by many predictions concerning His death and resurrection. To be sure, they had not understood, at that time. Now the light is dawning upon them. Now He is with them always! Time is no factor when dealing with the reality of life—life as God has planned it for His children. Now Peter, James and John can more fully apreciate the presence of Elijah and Moses with Jesus on the mount. "God is not the God of the dead, but of the living"! This is what the world should hear and accept. This is the unmistakable voice of Easter. Now we can be sure that we have not been deprived of anything good by not having lived during His short advent in the flesh. He is with us today—now!

JESUS' RESURRECTION IS NOT only an outstanding fact of history but it also contains the guarantee of our resurrection. He was "the first fruit of them that sleep," but we belong to that wonderful company of those who shall rise again at His appearing. When death claims our mortal body we surrender gladly because we are confident we shall be raised again to a better and fuller life. Because of Jesus the best is yet to be. God's Word underscores the promise of eternal life for all who will permit Jesus to direct their lives here. And what a gracious director is He! Today the compelling desire of our heart is to keep our eyes upon Him. We do not wish to be confused by the tantalizing appeals of that which is only temporary. Our hearts yearn for that which lasts for always. This we know is found only in Him who gave reason for Easter hopes. "Because I live, ye shall live" is His unswerving promise to all who will "keep my commandments." May His triumph over death and His invitation to Life move you to complete surrender today, and to life eternal for always!

Henry Ford Set an Example Steel Industry Could Follow

WASHINGTON—Roger Blough and U. S. Steel executives should read the testimony of the late Henry Ford, founder of the Ford Motor Co. on the question of whether profits or prices should come first.

The elder Ford, a game old boy who once challenged me to a foot race at the age of 80, built up the Ford empire on the policy of paying the highest possible wages and making the lowest priced car.

But the Dodge brothers, who were among the original Ford stockholders, did not like this. They were the forerunners of U.S. Steel; wanted more profits, not lower prices. So they brought suit against Ford for a dividend cut. Here is Henry Ford's defense:

"Let me say right here that I do not believe that we should make such an awful profit on our cars; a reasonable profit is right, but not too much. So it has been my policy to force the price of the car down as fast production would permit and give the benefits to users and laborers with the resulting, surprisingly enormous benefits to ourselves."

But the Dodge brothers branded this corporate mismanagement. They cross-examined Ford as follows:

LAWYER STEVENSON (for Dodge); Now, I will ask you again, do you still think that those profits (Ford profits) were awful profits?

FORD: We don't seem to be able to keep the profits down.

LAWYER STEVENSON: Are you trying to keep profits down? What is the Ford Motor Co. organized for except profits, will you tell me, Mr. Ford?

FORD: Organized to do as much good as we can, everywhere, for everybody concerned—to make money and use it, give employment, and send out the car where people can use it—and incidentally to make money.

LAWYER STEVENSON: Incidentally, make money?

FORD: Yes, sir.

LAWYER STEVENSON: But your controlling feature is to employ a great army of men at high wages, to reduce the selling price of your car so a lot of people can buy it at a cheap price and give everybody a car that wants one.

FORD: If you give all that, the money will fall into your hands; you can't get out of it.

NOTE—Ford left a larger estate than Roger Blough is apt to leave.

LONG BEFORE President Kennedy introduced his Alliance for Progress, a group of churchmen who model themselves after the early Christians began an assault on ignorance and poverty in Latin America.

They are the Salesians of Don Bosco, youngest major order of the Roman Catholic Church, who have built hundreds of orphanages, boys towns, trade schools, and agricultural schools to help the peon children.

The latest move in the Salesians' chosen task of rescuing underprivileged children is the establishment of a New Boy (benefactors of youth) fund.

This has been set up by Father Peter Lappin, a witty Irish-American who has just returned from a year on the "poverty front" in South America.

Congress a Young Man's Game?

By I.P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—As retirements continue to mount, it is apparent that Congress is becoming a young man's game.

Twenty-eight members of the House of Representatives have announced they won't be back next year, and at least half are quitting because they can't keep up with the physical pace.

Ranks of octogenarians are almost depleted. Four in the 80-year-old class who have announced they will not seek re-election are Brent Spence of Kentucky, 87; Clare Hoffman of Michigan, 85; John Taber of New York, 81; and Noah Mason of Illinois, 80. That leaves Clarence Cannon of Missouri, 83, and Thomas J. O'Brien of Illinois, 80, as the only octogenarians left.

One of those who announced the physical pace is too much is Rep. Iris Blitch of Georgia. Vigorous and middle-aged, she said she won't be back next year.

It's not the debate and worry about national issues that wear down a congressman. It's the incessant demands and mail from constituents, many of whom regard him as a kind of city councilman who solves pressing personal problems like garbage pickup.

Unless Congress provides an administrative assistant for congressmen to handle the detail work, the toll of older and wiser heads will continue to mount.

THE STORY about President Kennedy's adventures aboard PT Boat 109 has been sold to the movies. The producer had an awful time trying to find an actor to play the part of Kennedy. Finally, he thought he had one and telephoned the happy news to the author.

"I've got Jeff Hunter," he said triumphantly.

"Who's he?" asked the writer.

"Oh," replied the producer, "he played Christ in 'King of Kings'."

"Good heavens," said the author, "you can't have a man play Christ in one movie and Kennedy in his next. Get someone else."

The producer thought it over, sorrowfully agreed, and began anew the search for someone to impersonate the President.

THE LINCOLN Memorial is being dolled up with special lights for foreign dignitaries. Credit for the idea goes to Nigeria's Prime Minister Tafawa Balewa. Mrs. Dean Rusk explained that the memorial was lighted inside to throw special dramatic emphasis on the statue of Lincoln. Balewa replied that the memorial to so great an American should be more visible at night.

As a result the State Department Office of Protocol arranged to have portable lights put up. When state dinners are held, a signal is flashed and the building bathed in light to give a diplomatically satisfactory impression.

She promptly demanded a quorum call to roust the members out of their hiding places and onto the House floor.

Answer or Not, ACVL Judges Quizee's Anti-Red Quotient

SEVERAL LONG BEACH candidates of both Republican and Democratic parties have refused to answer the 13-item questionnaire of the Anti-Communism Voters League (ACVL).

This means that their "awareness of the Communist menace" and the "strength of their will to win" will be gauged and published by ACVL's executive board on the basis of material which has been published about them.

HOUSER

Executive director of ACVL is former Republican Rep. Donald L. Jackson of Santa Monica, a former member of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, undoubtedly a good American but one whose political philosophy is right wing oriented. Now Democrats, long butted by Jackson, and moderate or liberal Republicans are invited to submit their anti-Red convictions to Jackson's executive board for their determination of "best qualified."

This sensitive undertaking would frustrate a Solomon. ACVL does not pose as a Solomon, admits its questionnaire is not flawless, says it does not question any candidate's loyalty or patriotism, will not label any candidates, but thinks its questions are non-controversial.

ACVL SAYS ITS executive board is comprised of members of both major parties. Besides Jackson there are Herbert Sturdy, Fritz Burns, Z. Wayne Griffin, Y. Frank Freeman, Rev. Sterling Candow, Henry Salvatori (League president), Willard Keith, Eugene W. Biscailuz, L. Dale Coffman, Frank Tang, George D. Bjurman, James K. La Fleur, Randolph Scott and Joseph J. Cummins.

ACVL may think its quiz is non-controversial but the Democratic State Central Committee, through Southern California chairman Eugene Wyman, says the League's aim is to "advance the candidacies of John Birchers and other ultra right-wingers," that the questions "could have been written by Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society."

Despite ACVL's literature, Jackson admitted recently that not all the questions are free of controversy. This seems to be understatement.

The whole project seems to be "back up and then charge" or "this won't hurt, but watch out." No party is to be favored, ACVL says, and yet its constant references to no-win policies and cold war failure sounds like a tape recording of Barry Goldwater.

One "non-controversial," wife-beating question requires a stand against the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution if you want to get ACVL's blessing.

ANOTHER QUESTION refers to "our repeated setbacks at the hands of Communist imperialism." Republican or Democrat, a favorable answer here requires that you imply an attack against prevous administrations of your party. Okay, some may want to do it, but the quiz is not "non-controversial."

Another "right" answer puts the candidate on record for outlawing the Communist party, with penalties for membership. This very matter is the subject of Republican Assemblyman Louis Francis' current initiative petition which he seeks to put before all California voters in November.

Also required for a good score is unqualified support for HUAC. Most may condone every aspect of HUAC but the matter remains a controversial one about which patriots still debate.

ACVL has as much right to its testing system as do other quiz makers such as Americans for Democratic Action, Americans for Constitutional Action or the League of Women Voters. Each may be of value in terms of the weight any given voter may give the particular field of his interest.

BUT THE recommendation here is also to weigh the special interest and loaded question so that there is fair reason to forgive a candidate who chooses not to curry the favor of any group aiming at single-shot suasion.

'Drumming Out' of Marine Hit

EDITOR:

I can't forbear offering a rebuttal to the letter of Mr. Ell in the Public Forum.

The procedure of the "drummed out" young Marine was highly irregular. I understand that this archaic tradition has long since fallen into disuse along with the time-honored, but nonetheless sadistic, custom of whipping through the fleet" in which the offender was lashed to the stern (or bow) of a boat and was beaten with a "cat" while it was rowed around the vessels at anchor for all to see and profit by. The offender usually died.

* * * *

IN MY nearly five years in the Army during and after the Korean conflict, I never heard of the carrying out of any of these rather crude, inhuman punishments, yet we had our quota of court martials entailing either bad conduct or dishonorable discharge upon completion of a prison term. The Army, as well as the other services, took the accepted position of civil society — that a man's debt was paid when he came out of prison and that was enough.

* * * *

THE FACTS in this particular case seem to indicate that a young man of 18 made a serious mistake for which he was imprisoned for two years and given a bad conduct discharge. What did it prove to add the final insult of the "drumming out"? The boy at 20 still hadn't reached voting or legal age when all this had happened. What horrible treason against his comrades rated this last slap in the mouth?

Any attempt to justify this act as the "way" of the service is nonsense. My old buddies from the First Cavalry Division would have had a pretty good laugh over the empty stupidity and arrogance of this episode and 10 years ago wouldn't have believed it still happened.

Languages in the News

By Charles F. Berlitz
and Robert Strumpen-Darrie

Our word "Easter" comes from Old German mythology, in which the Spring Goddess is named "Ostara." The modern German designation of Ostern (OHS-tehrn) also derives from it.

However, in most European languages, the word 'Easter" resembles the Hebrew word Pesach or Pesah which designates the Feast of Passover. In French, it is Paques (Pahk), in Italian; Pasqua (PAHS-kwah), in Spanish; Pascuas (PAHS-kwahs), in Portuguese; Pascoa (PAHZH-kwah), in Dutch; Pasen (PAH-sen), in Swedish; Pask (Pohsk), in Russian; Pasxa (PAHS-khah).

In some of the other European languages it is: Husvet (HOOSH-vet) in Hungarian, Wielkanoc (V'YEHL-kah-nohts) in Polish, Velikonoce (VEH-lee-koh-noh-tzeh), in Czech.

The complete Spanish expression for Easter is Pascuas Floridas (PAHS-kwahs Floh-REE-dahs), the second word meaning "flowery." It is so called to differentiate Easter from Christmas, which in Spanish is Pascuas de Navidad.

The state of Florida gets its name, not from the flowers that were there, but because Ponce de Leon (POHN-theh deh Leh-OHN) discovered it on Easter Sunday—Pascuas Floridas—in 1513. 4-22

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Kennedy Focused on Steel, Geneva

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI, — President Kennedy made two major "peace" moves last week.

The first was on the home front. It concerned the basic steel industry which hurriedly backed away from a $6-a-ton price increase after he turned the full pressure of the government against it.

But in holding out the olive branch to steel and other big business, the President made this solemn reservation: The public interest must be preserved, and labor and management must always consider that, particularly in basic industries.

HIS OTHER OVERTURE was an attempt to break the East-West deadlock at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference with a plan to cut the world's arms about two-thirds in six years and some day replace all armies with a United Nations peace force.

Russia reacted coldly, saying Kennedy had added nothing especially new to his original U.N. proposal. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev continued to hold out for complete disarmament in four years but with no fool-proof, on-the-spot inspection system. This is the core of the East-West stalemate.

With a nationally televised press conference as his forum, the President told steel leaders—and inferentially all big business—that he harbored them no ill will, now that the price hike "mistake" had been corrected.

HE SAID HIS MAIN concern when he ordered punitive counter-measures was an inflationary spiral that would damage economic stability for business as a whole.

That goal, he emphasized, depends upon the cooperation of labor, management and the government.

Republican congressional leaders, silent for the most part during the price crisis, accused Kennedy of "an unprecedented display of naked political power" akin to state police methods. They charged he had imperiled basic American rights, had gone far beyond the law, and had perhaps won a temporary political victory "at the cost of doing violence to the fundamental precepts of a free society."

EVERETT DIRKSEN

Among those signing the document were Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., House GOP leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind., and the GOP national chairman, Rep. William E. Miller, N. Y. They asserted that this issue had been raised: Should the President use the enormous powers of the federal government to blackjack any segment of our free economy into line with his personal judgment without regard to law?"

"We," they added, "condone nothing in the actions Congressional Democrats saw an election bonus nomic judgment without massive retaliation by the federal government."

Congressional Democrats saw an election bonus from the President's victory and asked where the Republicans were when he was "fighting to preserve the public interest."

Despite Soviet reaction to the three-stag American disarmament plan, the President himself would have a constructive influence on the Geneva negotiators. He said it was their heavy responsibility to lay the foundation for world peace.

BUT HE SAW NO SIGN of Russian willingness to accept one major element of disarmament—a nuclear test-ban treaty. U. S. above-ground tests are scheduled to be resumed this week. Russia thratened to bolt the conference if they are not postponed. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean retorted that the United States "had learned its lesson" when Russia broke the voluntary test-ban moratorium last fall.

The House, meantime, passed and sent to the Senate a record peacetime $47.8 billion defense appropriation. This does not include more billions to be spent on nuclear development, arms aid to other countries, and military construction overseas. The members were not thinking in terms of disarmament but how best to secure the U. S. lead in space-age weaponry.

The President at his press conference also called Berlin "a very dangerous area where the temperature has been lowered (by the Russians) but which could blow up at any time."

EXPLORATORY TALKS on the crisis were begun here by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the new Soviet ambassador, Anatoly F. Dobrynin. Kennedy acknowledged that a touchy Western issue in the discussions was just how much authority should be given Communist East Germany in any international access authority over Allied routes through Red territory to West Berlin. West German newspapers criticized what they said were dangerous American concessions.

In other news spheres, Congress recessed for Easter. The Kennedys flew to Palm Beach to spend the Easter season. Congress sent the White House a $32 million program to encourage growth of educational television. Byron R. White, 44, of Colorado, was sworn in as the 93rd justice to sit on the Supreme Court bench. He became the tribunal's youngest member.

G. MENNEN WILLIAMS

The Air Force chose eight potential astronauts to begin space voyage training. It also declared combat ready its first squadron of underground Titan intercontinental missiles at Denver.

The Army suspended Maj. Arch E. Roberts, onetime aide of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, for making an unauthorized speech before the Daughters of the American Revolution here.

Roberts accused a former congressman, Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, of having a Communist background. Yorty called the statement "irresponsible" and said the Army had acted rightly.

Roberts also questioned the loyalty of former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, who was out of the country. The Army said Roberts had been suspended pending investigation.

$50 Million 'Hole' Value Doubted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A San Diego geologist doubts the value of the $50 million Project Mohole, a plan to examine the earth's mantle by drilling through the surface of the earth under the sea.

Robert S. Dietz, a geologist of the Navy Electronics Laboratory, San Diego, told an audience at the University of Southern California that the same type of rock under the ocean is available in the coastal mountain ranges of California.

Peninsula Drain Meeting Booked

City and county officials will collaborate this week in a move to assure Alamitos Bay Peninsula residents that a forthcoming storm-drain project won't hamper their normal activities during the peak of the beach season.

A neighborhood meeting to explain the working schedules and methods is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Bay Shore Branch Library, Bay Shore Avenue and Second Street. It will be open to the public.

Although construction will be started immediately on a pump station on the shore adjacent to Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, installation of drains on the narrow peninsula and along the beach will be prohibited between June 1 and Sept. 16, Deputy City Engineer J. E. McGinnis announced.

* * * *

ONE OF THE drainage lines to be delayed until autumn will extend along Ocean Boulevard on the peninsula from the pumping plant east to 65th Place. Other installations postponed will be in 58th, 62nd and 65th Places.

Belmont Shore segments of the drainage lines will be installed earlier. McGinnis noted that access in this area is less restricted than on the peninsula.

The pump-station site was moved 750 feet to the southeast following protests from 2,000 property owners in 1960. The original location was on the Alamitos Bay beach at the foot of First Street.

* * * *

REPRESENTATIVES of the contractors, Elco Corp. and James S. White, will attend the Friday meeting, along with McGinnis and County Flood Control District officials.

Plans for the $938,367 project were drawn by the city. Financing will come from county storm-drain-bond funds.

PUC Studies Special Navy Bus Service

A proposed new bus service for Navy families will be considered by the State Public Utilities Commission Monday in conjunction with a request for a rate increase by Terminal Island Transit Co.

Testimony on both applications will be heard beginning at 10 a.m. in the Veterans Memorial Building, Broadway and Cedar Avenue, Examiner Clinton S. Abernathy announced Saturday.

* * * *

THE BUS COMPANY is asking for a 60-day trial of direct service between the Terminal Island Naval Station and the Navy's housing project north of Pacific Coast Highway and west of Santa Fe Avenue. Two round trips daily would be provided.

The route hearing will precede testimony on the company's petition for an increase in fares from 20 cents cash or three tokens for 50 cents to 25 cents cash or five tokens for one dollar for both the present route and the one proposed.

FIRST TIME IN 30 YEARS

Grand York Rite Meet Opens Here on Monday

For the first time in 30 years, the Grand York Rite Sessions will be in Long Beach.

Coming from all parts of California, 2,500 members of the Grand York Rite Bodies — Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons; Grand Council, Royal and Select Masters and Grand Commandery, Knights Templar —are converging on Long Beach for the five-day sessions to open Monday in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Ninth Street and Elm Avenue.

Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, headed by Grand High Priest Allan S. Mason of Fresno, will meet Monday and Tuesday.

Grand Council, Royal and Select Masters, headed by Grand Master Irvin B. Beckham of Los Angeles, will meet Wednesday.

Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, headed by Grand Commander Marion E. Pedlar of Sacramento, will meet Thursday and Friday.

Highlight of the sessions, so far as the public is concerned, will be a Knights Templar street parade at 2 p.m. Thursday. In black uniforms, black chapeaux with white plumes, and carrying swords, the Knights will assemble at Broadway and Linden Avenue, and march south on Linden Avenue to First Street, east on First Street to Atlantic Avenue, south on Atlantic Avenue to Ocean Boulevard, west on Ocean to Long Beach Boulevard and south on Long Beach to Municipal Auditorium. The Knights Templar band from Los Angeles will play.

Festivities will include a Grand Chapter banquet and entertainment at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the International ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel. Grand Council banquet and entertainment at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the International Ballroom and a Grand Commandery banquet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the International Ballroom. All will be informal.

John B. Nye, 4321 Clark Ave., past presiding officer of local bodies, is general chairman of the Grand York Rite Sessions executive committee. Serving with him are Dr. G. Aubrey Thomas, vice chairman; Harvey A. Barr, treasurer; George F. Roberts, secretary.

Moss Hart Comedy Set at Magnolia

"Once in a Lifetime," the Moss Hart-George Kauffman satirical comedy on theatrical foibles, opens Thursday in Magnolia Theater, 2400 Magnolia Ave.

Directed by John R. Williams, the cast features Jerry Anderson, Dawn Bender, Gordon Elliott, Ann Leverett, Danaelia Hill, Carl Yates, Arnold Rosenfeld, Harriett Seekins, Paul Teschke and Vi Coulter. Others in the cast are Ric Larson, Michele Murphy, Benny Stevenson, Diana Cummins, Margi Watson, Gerald Billard, William Cataline, Irleen Carl, Hal Thompson, Rosemary Kundis and Lora Andrich.

"Once in a Lifetime" was the first of a long list of Hart-Kauffman successful collaborations and set a trend on Broadway. The show will play at the Magnolia Thursdays through Sundays for four weeks.

Former Librarian Castagna Slated to Give Lecture

Edwin Castagna, former Long Beach city librarian, will deliver the fourth annual Bertrand Smith Sr. Lecture on Books at 8 p.m. Friday in Los Altos Branch Library, 5614 Britton Drive.

Castagna, now director of the Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore, promised to describe some of his explorations for books in the Chesapeake Bay area. Title of his lecture is "Wilder than the West?"

The annual lecture is sponsored by the Public Library under an endowment from Smith, well-known Long Beach bookman. Admission is free.

100 Teams in YMCA Campaign

Organization of 500 citizen volunteers into 100 campaign teams has reached the final phase, according to Roland E. Robbins, teams chairman of the Long Beach YMCA's $1.196 million "Buildings for Youth" drive, slated to open here May 10.

The campaign quota has been set to provide the following, according to Norbert Dean, president of the local YMCA:

1. A family type YMCA center for the booming Los Altos-East Long Beach area.
2. An all-purpose type gymnasium for the Lakewood branch Y.
3. Complete the expansion and renovation of both the North Long Beach and Downtown Y branches.

Meanwhile, Bruce E. Gates of the National Council of YMCAs, director of the "Buildings for Youth" drive, praised the work of the campaign public relations committee, which is headed by Harry Krusz.

Krusz's committee includes Dr. Thomas J. Clark, Bill George, Ray Gillingham, James C. Gordon, John Sarver and Harvey Waggoner. The group already has produced campaign brochures and has set up a schedule of campaign meetings and report lucheons as well as providing liaison with local churches and organizations backing the YMCA fund drive.

Missile Program Vet Meet Topic

The Nike Zeus Missile program will be discussed at the dinner meeting of the Long Beach Chapter of the Military Order of the World Wars Wednesday in Allen Center.

Major Benjamin Feldmeier, of Fort MacArthur, will be the speaker, according to Major Newton L. McLaughlin, chapter commander.

CC Adult Lectures to Resume

Interrupted for Easter week, three continuing Long Beach City College General Adult Division lecture series will resume Monday. Two new programs will open on Wednesday. The schedule:

THE BUSINESS WEEK

JFK-Big Steel 'Peace' Leaves Industry Uneasy

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The boiling battle between government and the steel industry simmered down last week. But businessmen remained gun-shy.

The armistice began Tuesday night when Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., called on President Kennedy. It was just a week since Blough had made another call to tell him of a $6-a-ton steel price increase.

The only word that came out of the second meeting was that it was "cordial and useful."

Then on Wednesday, Kennedy, who had used the government's biggest torpedoes to force the steel companies to back down on a price increase, displayed a conciliatory attitude.

* * * *

"THIS ADMINISTRATION harbors no ill will against any individual, corporation or segment of the American economy," he told his news conference.

The President indicated there would be no punitive action against the steel companies. Nevertheless, a federal grand jury in New York City went ahead with its investigation of steel pricing, and Sen. Estes Kefauver's Senate antitrust subcommittee showered the 12 biggest steel firms with subpoenaes for their records.

Kennedy denied that the government was setting prices and said its interest was in preventing an inflationary spiral. And he said he felt his actions in rolling back the price increase would be of assistance in getting passage of tax credit legislation intended to help industry modernize.

H. Ladd Plumley, president-elect of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said he believed that "business and the public were surprised and shocked at some of the governmental reactions" to the price increase and that the battle had "an increasingly disquieting effect" among businessmen and investors.

* * * *

FRANK MAGEE, chairman of Aluminum Co. of America, predicted that the steel price controversy will have no effect on aluminum prices or pricing policies.

Republic Steel Corp., No. 3 producer, reported first quarter earnings of $15,623,356, or 99 cents a share, on sales of $314,016,883, substantially higher than a year ago—during the depth of the recession—but sharply lower than in 1960 and 1959. President T. F. Patton said a comparison with the 1959 first quarter "shows the erosion of our position since the time of our last general price increase in 1958."

Steel production suffered one of its sharpest drops in more than a year last week when output was 2,244,000 tons, off 5 per cent from the previous week. It was expected to continue to drop because inventory building ended when labor peace was achieved.

* * * *

HEAVY PRODUCTION in the automobile industry was a factor in maintaining steel at as good a level as it is. An estimated 148,000 passenger cars were turned out last week, the year's best record.

Car sales moved at a swift pace in the first 10 days of April, when dealers disposed of 190,494 American-made vehicles. This was an increase of 48 per cent over the like period of 1961.

Chrysler Corp., earliest of the automakers to report first quarter earnings, showed a profit of $1.3 million on sales of $498 million compared with a loss of $21.9 million on sales of $432 million in the comparable 1961 quarter.

* * * *

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS: A substantial improvement in a U.S. balance of payments deficit was registered in the first three months of this year. The government said the annual deficit rate dropped from $6 billion in the 1962 fourth quarter to $2.5 billion.

The annual rate of personal income increased to $435.3 billion in March, representing a gain of $2 billion over February and $28 billion over March 1961. The Commerce Department attributed most of the gain to higher wages and salaries.

Private housing starts in March climbed to an annual rate of 1,409,000 units, a gain of 23 per cent over February which made up most of the loss during a slack winter.

* * * *

NEW ORDERS received by durable goods factories in March declined to $15.5 billion from $16.1 billion in February. This brought orders to the lowest point since last July.

Stockholders approved a proposed merger of American and Eastern Airlines. Trans World Airlines protested to the Civil Aeronautics Board, which planned to start a hearing on the combination May 10.

Briefly around the business scene: The Bell System plans to spend $2.8 billion on construction this year, the most ever spent by a company in a single year . . . Wholesale food prices dropped to the lowest level in two years . . . Chairman James M. Symes of the Pennsylvania Railroad predicted a proposed merger with the New York Central would be completed by mid-1963 . . . The House antitrust subcommittee cleared a bill which would strip General Motors and Ford of their auto-financing businesses.

Allow Delay in Ham-Watering Appeal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chief Justice Earl Warren has allowed the Agriculture Department time to appeal a lower court decision that would permit Armour & Co. and other meat packers to resume "watering" hams without labeling them "imitations."

AT FAIR

Ford Auto Has 4 Front Wheels

SEATTLE (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. is exhibiting an automobile with four front wheels at the Seattle World's Fair.

Ford engineers said the six-wheel design is expected to enhance tracking, traction and braking efficiency.

Ford said the vehicle, especially designed for the fair, will also feature a travel programming computer which would permit the driver to see his location on a map as he drives.

Desegregation No Enrollment Factor

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Archdiocese of New Orleans has released figures indicating there will be no major drop in enrollment at Roman Catholic schools in spite of desegregation next fall.

The Archdiocese said 73,514 students had already enrolled at the 152 schools for next term and with later enrollment the figure could easily top the current total of 74,306.

ST. NAZAIRE, France (AP)—Workmen have laid the keel for the 23,000-ton Israel passenger liner Shalom, which is expected to be completed late in 1963. The ship is designed to carry 1,071 passengers between Haifa and New York.

Bees Invade Columbus, Ga.

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Thousands of bees invaded downtown Columbus, sending pedestrians scurrying for shelter. The city found a willing rescuer in beekeeper W. C. Townson who lured the buzzing squadron into a sugar coated beehive.

"They usually cost about $5 or $7," said Townson. "It's pretty good to get them for nothing."

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Smoldering Load Taken Out of Ship

Scrap metal was unloaded from the smoldering Panamanian freighter Severn River Saturday at Pier D, Berth 31.

The Coast Guard kept an eye on the operation while the off-loading was in progress. Streams of water were poured into the ship's hold.

Smoke began pouring from the Severn River's hold April 10 when she entered Los Angeles Harbor for bunkering before going on to Japan. She was to have sailed the same day but the smoldering fire kept her in port.

ELECTRONIC MONITOR

Hospital Installs New Equipment

A nine-bed intensive care unit will be in operation by May 15 at Pacific Hospital of Long Beach (formerly Long Beach Osteopathic) at Magnolia Avenue and Hill Street.

Electronic monitoring equipment, costing $19,500, will keep tab on critically ill patients assigned to the unit.

* * * *

SPECIALLY trained nurses, by flicking a switch in the unit's glass -walled nursing station, can tune in any patient's pulse, respiration, temperature, blood pressure, heart action or brain wave performance. Only those nurses trained for intensive care will be allowed in the unit.

Dr. Orville Hastings heads the hospital's five-physician intensive care committee, which will assign patients elsewhere in 200-bed hospital to the special ward.

Only the critically ill will be allowed in the unit, David Lawrence, hospital administrator, said. Visitors occasionally will be admitted for five minutes at a time. A special waiting room outside the unit has been prepared for relatives.

* * * *

EMERGENCY trays and drugs will be kept in the unit. Always nearby will be electric stimulators for the heart, mechanical respirators and an artificial kidney.

Lawrence estimates that a patient will remain in the intensive care unit an average of three days. As soon as a patient improves, he will be transferred to a regular room. Brain surgery patients will go directly from the operating room to the intensive care unit.

The new unit is on the second floor, in the surgical west wing area.

Nazi Hess Prisoner 21 Years

BERLIN (AP)—Rudolf Hess, once Adolf Hitler's deputy, will be 68 next Thursday. It will be his 21st year in the hands of Hitler's enemies. He flew to Scotland in May, 1941, and was taken captive.

Hess is one of the three persons in Berlin still living under the joint rule of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France. The others are Albert Speer, Hitler's munitions minister and Baldur von Schirach, his youth leader.

All have been confined since 1946 in Spandau prison, a gloomy red brick structure on Berlin's outskirts.

Hess is serving a life term. The other two were sentenced to 20 years by the Nuernberg war crimes tribunal.

* * * *

EACH OF the four powers keeps a small permanent staff at Spandau. Every month, troops belonging to one of the four assume the bulk of the guard duty. This is the American month. The British take over May 1.

The three prisoners spend their time reading and gardening. They are allowed one 30-minute visit a month, but Hess does not receive visitors. At least this was the situation six years ago. Allied authorities now refuse any information on the prisoners.

It costs more than $60,000 a year to maintain the prison.

Seismograph Moon-Landing Is Aim

contractors, have been preparing the seismological packages for this and future space probes.

While JPL has been busy in Pasadena with the balsa-covered globe that will go into this week's Ranger rocket, Oliver's associates in Palisades, N.Y., have been getting together more complicated instruments for future "soft landings" on the moon.

* * * *

THE RANGER 4 package is designed to withstand an impact of 3,000 times the force of earth's gravity.

It consists of a seismograph only about five inches square, an amplifier, batteries and radio encased in a 12-inch steel ball and surrounded by a layer of balsa wood.

When the ball stops bounding on the moon, assuming a successful shot, it will right itself, automatically extend its antenna, blow out a protective layer of oil between the globe and the instruments and begin sending back the vital data.

* * * *

"WE WON'T be able to pin a name on the material which makes up the moon, such as limestone or granite," says Oliver, "but we will learn its density, variety of materials and other characteristics."

He and fellow free-world seismologists, once limited to tracking down the location and causes of nature-born earthquakes, also have a second important role in the atomic age — detecting nuclear explosions behind the Iron Curtain.

"It's easy to detect disturbances," said Oliver, "but so far, there is no way to identify which ones are earthquakes and which are man-made."

* * * *

THE RECENT Russian 50-megaton nuclear blast, Oliver reports, released about the same amount of energy as our biggest earthquakes generate, but without other evidences, such as nuclear fall out, it would be impossible to distinguish the nuclear blast from an earthquake.

Every shake of the earth, no matter how small, is a challenge to seismologists.

Oliver reported, for the first time at the SC meeting, on one of the more unusual shakes which occurred June 6, 1961. He described it as the greatest "storm of tremors" on record.

The tremors (microseisms) came in 27-second waves and were recorded by seismographs around the world for eight hours and by the supersensitive instruments at the Lamont observatory for two days.

* * * *

OLIVER'S theory on the cause, whch set the earth's surface undulating like ripples from a pebble in a stream, is that a violent hurricane in the South Atlantic Ocean generated waves which slapped the African coast in the Gulf of Guinea and set off the microseisms.

A second theory is that tremors were set off by the movement of a huge mass of molten material beneath the South Atlantic which finally resulted in a volcano erupting on the tiny island of Tristan da Cunha on Aug. 6, 1961.

During the weeks that followed, an enormous plug of red-hot rock was pushed up from the center of the island to a height of nearly 500 feet.

* * * *

OLIVER, director of earthquake research at the New York observatory, said the microseisms he detected would have gone unnoticed up to ten years ago.

Safety Cartoonist Hurt in Smashup

CHESTER, Conn. (AP)—C. D. Batchelor, whose 1,000th highway safety cartoon in the "Inviting the Undertaker" series appeared in the New York Daily News last week, was injured along with his wife in a car-truck collision Saturday.

The 74-year-old cartoonist, a resident of nearby Deep River, and his wife, Allegra, were reported in fair condition at Middlesex Memorial Hospital in Middletown.

Batchelor's sports car struck a bakery truck driven by Henry J. Marosz, 22, of Middletown, state police said.

Mrs. Batchelor suffered fractures of the wrist and pelvis and a collapsed lung, the hospital reported. Batchelor suffered lacerations of the face and scalp.

'Black Eagle,' 65, Held in Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Col. Hubert Julian, oldtime aviator who dubbed himself the "Black Eagle of Harlem," was held for questioning by U.N. authorities Saturday.

A U.N. spokesman said they sought to learn whether Julian, now 65, is subject to U. N. Security Council resolutions banning mercenaries and political or military advisers from Katanga. He is acting as Katanga's roving ambassador-at-large.

* * * *

EARLY IN his career, Julian gained fame by joining the Ethiopian Air Force in the war against Italy. He took command of Ethiopian tribesmen in 1935 and was promoted to colonel. But later that year he resigned his command, saying his authority was not respected.

Born in the West Indies but a naturalized American, Julian returned to the United States, asserting he was disgusted with Ethiopia and hoped for an Italian victory.

In 1936, he announced he had adopted Italy as his country and changed his name to Huberto Juliano. His middle name, Fauntleroy, he changed to Fauntleroyana.

But as World War II opened in 1940, he sailed to Finland to offer his services to the Finnish air force. A year later he went to Ottowa in an attempt to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. Finally, when the United States entered the war, he joined the U. S. Army as a private.

* * * *

AFTER THE WAR, Julian was connected with reports of arms sales in Guatemala during uprisings there in 1954. He denied he had anything to do with arms shipments.

When he arrived here, he carried no documents but had about $300 in cash, which was confiscated.

The U. N. spokesman denied Katanga officials' claims that he had large sums of U. S. dollars with him on his arrival.

6,000 Vets Ignore Tax Exemptions

Almost 6,000 Long Beach veterans are neglecting to claim their exemption from $1,000 of city property assessed valuation, City Assessor J. R. Cole reported Saturday.

Only 17,000 of the 23,000 application forms mailed out by the city have been returned, Cole said.

The deadline for filing is May 7. Veterans who received the application forms may file by mail. Those applying for the first time must do so in person. Separate claims must be filed with the city and county assessing offices to qualify for both exemptions.

Cartoonist Dies

MONTEREY (UPI)—Robert Winsor McCay, Pacific Grove, former editorial cartoonist and illustrator, died Saturday following a brief illness. He was 65.

Russell Winner in 9.6 as Striders Dominant

By JOHN DIXON

The Southern California Striders, perpetual National AAU champions, were form Saturday as they dominated an all-star quadrangular track and field meet at Long Beach City College.

Chuck Coker's tested and true gladiators won eight events, Occidental captured three, L.B. City College was first in one, L.B. State was blanked and guests competitors won two.

It was no surprise that the best races were the sprints.

But the times, and the winners, were big surprises.

Tim Russell of City College, best of the Southland's JC dashers, proved he can run with the big leaguers, also, by winning the 100 wire-to-wire against the outstanding roster of the season.

RUSSELL

After three false starts, Red Guyer got the speedsters off and running. Russell was doing most of the running. He led by nearly two yards after 10, maintained most of the advantage throughout, and pulled away slightly near the tape to win by two yards.

His time was 9.6. Strider Johnny Gilbert was next in 9.7, Strider Doug Smith was another step behind in 9.8 and State's Jim Richardson was fourth, also in 9.8.

"That was the best start I've ever had," Russell puffed. "I wasn't looking around, but I knew I had the race."

* * * *

SOME OF the other racers thought Russell's start was too good to be true.

After two too-quick starts, the 220 field got away together. Smith took command at 100 yards, clinched it at 175 and lost half his edge in the last 20 when he "just didn't have it."

JOHNNY ON SPOT

I, P-T track editor John Dixon did double-duty Saturday. He covered both the morning Long Beach quadrangle meet and the afternoon USC-Oregon meet.

Smith's time was a sizzling 20.6, Russell was two and one-half yards to the rear in 20.9, Richardson was third in 21.1, Gilbert fourth in 21.4, and the co-favored Ralph Turner of the Striders, who ran a windy 20.3 recently, was out of the money.

* * * *

OTHER HOT marks on the hot day were Strider Mike Larrabee's 47.7 440, Strider Dickie Howard's comeback 23.5 low hurdles, the 237-4 javelin fling by Larry Stuart of Santa Ana College, and Strider Ron Morris' 14-10 pole vault.

CAUGHT IN A DUCK BLIND

1st Dual Loss in 29 Years

By JOHN DIXON

The longest title reign in the history of sports ended at 3:11 p.m. Saturday.

Oregon's track and field team defeated USC, 75-56.

The Trojans hadn't been beaten since Caltech scored a wartime win in 1945. The Troys hadn't lost to a college team in peacetime since Stanford won by three points in 1933.

Saturday in the Coliseum Oregon's ground gulpers took the lead in the fifth event and never looked back — except for a chuckle or two.

When Bill Tarr won the low hurdles at 3:11, the Ducks had accumulated the necessary 66 points. USC had only 51. The small turnout of 12,393 gave the Oregons a standing ovation. The end of the slaughter was delayed 10 minutes while the Webfoots posed for victory pictures, and no one blamed them a bit.

* * * *

TROJAN coach Jess Hill called Oregon "one of the finest dual meet teams I've ever seen. We don't like to lose," he added in good coach fashion, "but it's no disgrace to lose to a great team like this."

Oregon coach Bill Bowerman called his team "a fighting club." The biggest surprise, Bowerman said, came in the second event, the javelin, when the Ducks began to accumulate surprise points.

"I knew Les Tipton would throw well," Bowerman said, "but I thought USC's Jan Sikorsky would throw better. After that, things seemed to break our way."

* * * *

EVENT BY event, the end of the dynasty came about like this:

Shotput—USC took first (Dallas Long, 63-3) and third to lead 6-3.

Javelin — Tipton's lifetime best throw (238-4½) gave Oregon first and third, an unexpected four points and a 9-9 tie.

Mile — Dyrol Burleson (coasting 4:14.2) gave Oregon an inevitable sweep and an 18-9 lead.

440 — Rex Cawley (47.7) gave USC an inevitable sweep and an 18-18 tie.

100 — Harry Jerome (9.6) got off to an Armin Hary start and crushed Trojan sprint upset hopes. Oregon led, 23-22.

Broad jump — Oregon's Jerry Close broad jumped a foot farther than ever before (25-1) to lead a 1-2 finish and give the Ducks a 31-23 lead.

High hurdles — USC had a chance to catch up with Bob Pierce and Brian Polkinghorne, but Pierce pulled up and Polkinghorne ran second. Oregon led, 37-26.

Discus — USC got its first come-through effort of the humid afternoon when Jim Wade (170-3½) beat two tough Ducks, but Dallas Long failed to break through. Oregon led, 41-31.

880 — Dyrol Burleson (1:49.5) led another Oregon sweep. Trojan Warren Farlow made a strong catch-up try

Angels Stung

Podres Sharp

By ROSS NEWHAN

The Angels have no tractors or dollars for Mr. Castro, but they would sure like to ship a couple of Havana exports back where they originated.

The pitching of Camilo Pascual and a two-run homer by Zoilo Versalles Saturday night made the Seraphs wish JFK's embargo had been put in effect a few year's sooner.

They were the keys to a 5-2 Minnesota Twins' victory before 12,240 paying fans and 1,553 ladies. It was the Angels second straight defeat and the second in a row for Ken McBride (1-2).

* * * *

ONCE AGAIN, McBride could sue for non-support as the Angels managed only six hits off the Siameses' brilliant righthander. Last year, Ken lost 12 games when the Angels scored two or less runs. In his lone victory this season, he had to pitch a shutout as his teeammates were scoring a meager run.

ANGEL OF DAY

BILLY MORAN singled to run his consecutive-game batting streak to seven as Angels bowed to Twins.

McBride allowed 10 hits in eight innings before coming out for a pinch-hitter. The Twins then climbed on Tom Morgan for two insurance markers in the ninth.

* * * *

VERSALLES' homer in the eighth, his second against the Angels this season, lifted the Twins from a 2-1 deficit and lifted the goat horns from his head. A half-inning earlier he had committed a two-base throwing error as the Angels were scoring their lone runs. This did not enhance relations with his Cuban brethren on the mound.

McBride and Pascual, the only pitchers to hurl shutouts at Wrigley Field last year and both shooting for their second blanks of the young season, matched goose eggs through the first five frames.

* * * *

THE ANGELS' ace retired the side without a hit only in the fourth while Pascual, victor in three of five decisions with the Seraphs last year, allowed only a first-inning infield single by Billy Moran and a fifth-frame safety by Bobby Rodgers. In between,

MILWAUKEE—Johnny Podres was given ideal conditions to cure a stiff neck Saturday as he pitched the Dodgers to a 4-1 win over Milwaukee.

For one, Podres did not have to strain his neck to look at base runners. Only twice, in the second and fourth innings, were there two Braves on base at the same time. In the second inning, this was only a temporary condition as Joe Adcock, who had singled, was out at third on Mack Jones' single.

Jones again was the troublemaker in the fourth, his single scoring Eddie Mathews after an infield hit and a walk. Thereafter, Podres spaced three singles, for a total of seven, in going the route for the first time since Aug. 12. He had made 10 incomplete starts.

DODGER OF THE DAY

FRANK HOWARD

Singled, doubled and drove in two runs in 4-1 win over Braves.

The stiffness in Podres' neck and shoulders may have been caused in his first two starts when he was surrounded by runners. He had yielded 15 hits and nine runs in his first 13 innings. Saturday he made only 101 pitches, the least by a Dodger this year.

* * * *

WITH PODRES showing the form that made him an 18-game winner last year, the Dodgers ended a streak of three one-run victories and evened their record against lefthanders at 3-3.

Loser Bob Hendley permitted all the Dodger runs and seven hits in seven-plus innings. In his last two outings against the Dodgers he had pitched complete-game victories and allowed a total of 11 hits and four runs.

Tommy Davis and Frank Howard, the two righthanders who must produce if the Dodgers are to live up to their role of favorites, were the

Ortiz Batters Brown, Lifts Crown After 3 Years Wait

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Old age and Carlos Ortiz finally caught up with lightweight champion Joe Brown Saturday as the young New Yorker wrested the world crown from the 35-year-old veteran of 115 ring engagements.

Ortiz won a unanimous 15-round decision.

A crowd of more than 7,000 in the Las Vegas Convention Center, and a national television audience looked on with astonishment as the 25-year-old bull from the Bronx completely outclassed the old bones of fighting.

Brown had ruled the 135-pound division for 5½ years, and Ortiz had claimed that the champion had been ducking him for the past three.

The champion went into the ring the favorite at odds of 8-5, but Ortiz from the opening bell showed that this was a mistake.

At the end of the 15th, with old Joe dripping blood from a slit in the corner of his left eye and hopelessly beaten, the brash New Yorker was jumping with glee in his corner. Ortiz knew he had the title sewed up.

Most ringsiders gave Brown only one round, the fourth, and even that might have been called even.

Ortiz did just what he had promised before the fight. He stayed on top of Brown all the way, seldom letting the hard-hitting champion get set to throw a lethal punch with either hand.

Ortiz, scoring consistently with a popping left jab as his main weapon, slit open Brown's eye in the first round. It bled throughout the evening, and while it may not have hurt the old fellow, it didn't do him any good.

Ortiz came up with a slight cut in the corner of his right eye in the sixth, but it was a minor wound.

There were no knockdowns, but in the 12th Brown landed on the seat of his pants as he either slipped or was caught off balance by a short right to the head.

Referee Frankie Van of Los Angeles scored it 74-60, judge Dave Zenoff of Las Vegas had it 74-66, and judge Bud Traynor of Reno called it 74-58, all for Ortiz.

This was the 41st bout for Ortiz, a native of Puerto Rico.

And this was the unprecedented 12th title defense for old Joe — and for the first time, he failed.

Pokey Bar Flashes to Record, Top $ Horse

By MAC McGUIRE

Hugh Huntley's Pokey Bar set a new world record for 440 yards Saturday as he raced to a head victory in the ninth running of the $22,000 Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Racing Association Derby at Los Alamitos Race Course before 12,463 fans.

The head victory over Western Stables' Alamitos Bar in 21.6 second for the 440 yards earned the tall chestnut $11,000 and made him the richest quarter horse of all time. The purse upped his earnings to $132,797, passing the $128,901 record set last year by Tonto Bars Hank before he retired to stud.

The time broke the world record of 21.7 seconds set at this track by Vandy's Flash when he won the Los Alamitos Championship in May of 1960.

Pokey Bar was bet down to 1-2 favoritism and paid his supporters $3.00, $2.40 and $2.20. Alamitos Bar was second and Magnolia Bar third.

But the spectre which in previous derbies has haunted all but two favorites dogged Pokey Bar virtually to the wire.

First he drifted out at the start and Alamitos Bar and Magnolia Bar took command while the usually straight-running Pokey Bar wandered to the outside in third spot.

Then Alamitos Bar whipped Magnolia Bar, but Pokey was straightened out by

The Easter Parade

Easter eggs—in three baskets:

BASKET NO. 1—BASEBALL.

"I have often wished I could have had enough education to have been a sports editor. Now that I have read your column and found out what you fellows have to go through to get your information, I don't think I will envy you anymore. The only solution to beat the Chavez Ravine traffic would be a helicopter. Also, the Dodgers can't stand cool air like the Angels' eskimo team. That cold weather sure can separate the men from the boys." (signed) John B. Jones, 1741 Gundry.

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

(So can the traffic. I wish I could have had enough education to weather it.)

"I don't see what you're griping about Chavez Ravine traffic for. I went to the Angel game Wednesday night and had no trouble at all." (signed) Earl Smithers, Downey.

(Do you think, possibly, a crowd of 6,000 as opposed to a mob of 50,000 made a teeny-weeny bit of difference, Smitty?"

"Concurring in your description of the traffic mess at Dodger Stadium, I wish to add some remarks of my own as to the generosity of Walter O'Malley toward senior citizens. If you are not a senior citizen when you start out for the game, you will be before you are parked and seated in High Heaven. After waiting from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Sunday to even get into the grounds, I was directed to the general admission lot, which is NINE floors up. They would not accept my ticket there and I was directed to FOUR more gates until I found I was on the extreme opposite side of the park where my ticket was good. Thank you, Mr. O'Malley, but no more!" (signed) William Breslin, 6385 Lemon Ave.

(I wound up a senior citizen myself last Saturday night, Bill, thanks in a major part to attendants who mis-directed the people in front of me like they did you.)

"That foul ball Lederer caught must have bounced off your head. What else would have made you say Drysdale will win 20 games? Drysdale will never hit 20 until Bavasi sends him to Spokane so he can get his noggin deflated. How about wagering a $20 hat that he doesn't win 20 games?" (signed) James Corley, 1937—252nd Street, Lomita.

(I might as well add you to my list, too, James. Barring injury, I'm convinced Drysdale is a 20-game winner this year.)

"What! No predictions on the Angels this year? Last year, you stated it might be the final day of the season when the Angels won their 30th game. How about giving us another scoop this year?" (signed) Bill Wallace, 4428 Carfax Ave., Lakewood.

(The Angels will win their 30th game BEFORE the final day of the season. Satisfied, smartie?)

BASKET NO. 2—BASKETBALL.

"A recent Laker game proved my point that they're the best in the NBA. Playing without Baylor and West, they defeated the defending division champ St. Louis Hawks. Maybe if LaRusso and Selvy join the Marines?" (signed) Dick Plattenberger, 3030 Chatwin Ave.

(Since that was written before the playoffs, I'm taking unfair advantage of you. Anyway, who'd you say was the best in the NBA, Richard?)

"In retort to a letter by E. R. Perkins against Elgin Baylor, I'd like to comment that Elg is in only his second pro season and has a game average like old Mr. Perkins says of 38 points. If Perkins checked the accomplishments of other players he listed by the time they were in their sophomore season, I'm sure Perkins would find Elg far ahead of the field." (signed) John Hermansen, 11322 Dale St., Garden Grove.

(Don't look now, John, but this is Elg's FIFTH pro season. However, the guy's too great to be knocked.)

"Having read E. R. Perkins' criticism of Elgin Baylor, I wonder if he saw some of the Laker-Celtic playoff games? Since Elgin got 61 points at Boston, I wonder if he can now be mentioned with such greats as Kurland, Groza and Beard?" (signed) Mike Woodward, 149½ LaVerne Ave.

(Is there a cow in Texas, boy?)

BASKET NO. 3—BOXING.

"Your boxing column was well done. Most sports contests include brutality, yet there is little public clamor for outlawing them. In football, for example, we know that a lineman has no qualms when he knees a halfback in the groin. It's a sad commentary when critics will blast one sport, then hypocritically approve another equally brutal one." (signed) Bill Gooch, 214 N. Mayo, Compton.

(You, Bill, sadly, were one of the few to get my point.)

"I must go along with moral theologians in any dispute relative to morality of modern boxing. Boxing has too many Basilios and Fullmers, and not enough Gene Tunneys." (signed) Charles Johnson, Sports Editor, Los Angeles Tidings.

(On the other hand, football has too many Nomellinis and Richters, and not enough Norm Van Brocklins.)

"There are times when the boat is hull down on the horizon and you are just getting to the dock. Your defense of boxing was one of those occasions." (signed) G. R. Burke, 1041 Orizaba.

(I not only don't know what you're talking about, but I also disagree.)

McLish Baffles Colts

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Colts, bewildered by aging Cal McLish's breaking stuff for six innings, lost their first ever before their home fans and their third straight to the Philadephia Phillies Saturday night, 3-1.

The Colts, who swept their opening series from the Chicago Cubs, couldn't damage the 37-year old righthander until they managed their only run in the seventh. McLish, who gave up six hits through 7⅓ innings, tired toward the end and needed relief help from Jack Baldschun.

Pirates, Cards Breeze Along

Friend's 3rd; 9th for Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The undefeated Pittsburgh Pirates nailed down their ninth victory Saturday in a 8-4 triumph over the winless New York Mets.

It left Pittsburgh only one victory away from tying the modern National League record of 10 straight wins at the outset of the season. It was New York's eighth loss.

In a hectic seventh inning New York catcher Hobie Landrith was carried from the field on a stretcher after getting hit on the head with a bat and Pittsburgh pitcher Bob Friend suffered a hand injury when hit by a line drive.

Landrith, hit by the swinging bat of Bob Skinner, was taken to a hospital with a head cut. Friend's injury was not believed serious.

Friend, who gave up two runs on eight hits, notched his third victory with no defeats.

* * * *

PITTSBURGH grabbed a run in the second inning and New York came back with two in the fourth. The Pirates got two more in the fourth and led the rest of the way.

Reds Fall to Giants' Rally, 8-6

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Harvey Kuenn doubled in the tying run in the eighth inning and scored the winning run on a single by Manuel Mota to give the San Francisco Giants a comeback 8-6 victory Saturday over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Reds led, 6-1, after a three-run home run by Vada Pinson into the right field bleachers in the fourth inning, but in the sixth the Giants got two runs back on a homer by Ed Bailey into the same sector.

In the seventh the Giants loaded the bases with two out against Red starter Bob Purkey. Jim Brosnan relieved Purkey and Felipe Alou greeted him with a single to center for two more runs.

Then in the eighth inning Jim Davenport led off with a double and, after two were out, Kuenn delivered his double just above Pinson's outstretched glove against the center field fence.

Long Beach City College took their third straight Easter Tournament crown with a 5-1 victory over El Camino Saturday at Blair Field.

The Vikings have compiled an 11-1 record in the annual Easter affair and have won 11 of their last 12 tournament games. LBCC now owns a 15-5 record this season.

BILL GAYNOR
Big Day at Bat

Bill Gaynor's bat supplied the Vikings with three runs as he collected a pair of singles and a 365-foot home run.

Righthander Jerry Hylton went the distance for the victory, scattering seven hits and fanning eight.

THE EX-POLY star allowed just two hits through the first six innings. He lost his shutout in the seventh frame when a walk and Bob Brown's double supplied the Warriors with their lone tally.

America's Vim Bests Gretel in Trial Race

SYDNEY (AP)—The American yacht Vim defeated Gretel, Australia's challenger for the America's Cup, in an unofficial 12-mile race in Sydney Harbor Saturday.

Vim led all the way by about two minutes in the trial, which was run in light winds.

Orioles' Duo Hurls Shutout at Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rookie Art Quirk and reliefer West Stock of Baltimore put together a 7-hit shutout Saturday as the Orioles handed the Washington Senators their fifth straight defeat, 3-0.

Johnny Temple drove in the game's only runs with a single in the third and a double in the seventh.

Quirk, making his first major league start, retired because of a finger blister after 5⅓ innings. Stock permitted a base runner each inning, but nobody got as far as second base. Claude Osteen was the loser.

The Senators left seven on base in the first four innings, and in three straight innings starting with the sixth were cut down by double plays.

Simmons Twirls 3-Hitter

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Veteran lefty Curt Simmons, picked up by St. Louis for almost nothing two years ago, pitched the unbeaten Cardinals to their seventh victory Saturday with a masterful three-hit 8-0 shutout over the Chicago Cubs.

It was the second straight route-going victory for the 32-year-old former Philadelphia Phillie whiz kid, both over the hapless Cubs, now 1-8 this season.

The Redbirds' 7-0 getaway matches the club record set in 1899. But the Cards are three short of the modern National League mark.

Bill White, extending his hitting streak to seven games, slammed a solo home run off Cub starter Glen Hobbie in the first inning.

* * * *

SIMMONS himself, a 3-for-3 hitter in his first victory over the Cubs, delivered at bat again this time. His two-run single with the bases loaded in the sixth made it 5-0 and high lighted a six-run sixth.

The Cardinals signed Simmons as a free agent in 1960. His contract cost the Cards only the nominal $1 fee, plus the cost of a phone call, in which Curt assured Solly Hemus — then Redbird manager—his arm was still sound.

Blanchard's 3-Run Homer Nets Ford, Yanks 3-1 Win

NEW YORK (AP)—John Blanchard's three-run homer and Whitey Ford's six-hit pitching gave the New York Yankees a 3-1 victory over Cleveland Saturday, the 19th straight game the Indians have lost at Yankee Stadium since May 12, 1960.

Blanchard hit his homer into the lower stands in left field off Barry Latman in the first inning after Bobby Richardson and Mickey Mantle had walked.

Gene Green smashed a 420-foot homer into the left field bleachers in the fifth inning. It was the 14th blow hit into those seats in the history of Yankee Stadium.

Ford, a 25-game winner in 1961, won his first of the season after two no-decision starts.

* * * *

MANAGER Mel McGaha, striving desperately to break the Indians' long stadium losing string in their first appearance of the year, used five pitchers.

Luis Arroyo came on to pitch the ninth inning after Ford had allowed six hits in the first eight.

CHICAGO (AP)—Jerry Lumpe's two-run homer in the seventh cracked a 6-6 tie and helped the Kansas City A's to a 9-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday, tumbling the Pale Hose out of the American League lead.

The A's 12-hit attack also included a two-run homer in the third by Norm Siebern, who Friday night clouted a three-run homer in a 7-4 A's triumph over the Chisox.

Chicago's Early Wynn, 42, making his fist start since last July 22, lasted four innings and left trailing 4-1.

EX-TIGER PILOT NORMAN DEAD

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Bill Norman, whose professional baseball career as a manager, player, scout and coach covered more than 30 years, died here Saturday shortly after suffering a heart attack.

The St. Louis native, whose career as a major league manager with Detroit lasted only a few months, was 51. At the time of his death he was a scout for the Chicago White Sox.

Bosox Jump On Lary, 4-3

BOSTON (AP)—Boston enjoyed a rare four-run outburst against Detroit's Frank Lary and held on for a 4-3 victory Saturday in celebration of Fenway Park's 50th anniversary.

The Red Sox landed on tough Tiger Lary for all their runs and five of their eight hits in the third inning.

Righthander Don Schwall shook off his sophomore "slump," surviving a two-run homer by Al Kaline in the fourth and a solo belt by Norm Cash in the eighth.

Rookie Dick Radatz, the 6-6 240-pounder, used his lightning fast ball to slam the door on the Tigers in ninth-inning relief for the Sox.

Man to Man

BRATKOWSKI

By JERRY WYNN

A winter-frustrated golfer from Danville, Ill., flew into Southern California the other day. He played four rounds in three days with time out to visit the Rams office and sign a contract for the 1962 season.

Zeke Bratkowski, you see, not only is the No. 1 quarterback on the Rams, but also the No. 2 golfer in the National Football League.

"What do you mean No. 2," he demanded. "I won the league golf tournament two years in a row."

You forget, Zeke, a fellow named John Brodie, who didn't play in the league tourney.

"Who's he?"

What have you been doing during the off-season?

"I have a job as a sales representative for a Cadillac-Oldsmobile agency. I've played some basketball and volleyball, and at home I like to read and enjoy my three children. That and oiling and shining my golf clubs."

Has the football bug begun to bite?

"It's funny, a player always is happy when the season is over, and always anxious for the next season to start. I guess it was less than a month after the Christmas holiday I began to think of football and next season, I'm really looking forward to it now."

During those cold winter nights at home, did you do any reflecting on the misfortunes of the Rams last season?

"Yes, and it always boiled down to the same thing. There were only two games—the 49ers there and the Lions here—that we really deserved to lose. The rest of them were all close, and games we might have won. If the ball had bounced our way, we could have been in the thick of the race."

What about next season?

"I really believe we'll be much improved. We started to move the ball very well in the middle of last season, and our offensive line came along fast. We have a good defensive team that should get better."

Is there anything wrong with the team's morale?

"Not that I know of. This was the finest group of guys I have ever played with. When you have 38 men on any team, you are bound to have problems. But I don't know of any dissension."

Have you any personal goal in 1962?

"There's only one that counts in this game, the won and loss record. Personal statistics don't mean a thing unless the team wins."

Which team do you think got the best of the Plum for Ninowski trade, the Browns or the Lions?

"I know Ninowski very well, and I was kind of shocked that the Lions let him go. I figured they finished in second place and their quarterbacks did a terrific job."

Do you think Plum had a legitimate beef against Paul Brown for not allowing him to call audibles as well as sending in all the plays?

"It's hard to argue against the success Brown has had with the Browns. I like to call audibles and think it is valuable for a quarterback to be able to counteract a defense in that way."

Do you think Ed Brown will help the Steelers?

"It was a good break for Eddie to be traded from the Bears, and I'm sure he's going to help the Steelers. And watch out for that club. They're really tough on defense."

Are you still happy over the trade that sent you from the Bears to the Rams last season?

"Definitely. I like the Rams and I like it here. In fact, I'd like to move here permanently if I can talk my wife into it. We will live here this summer and I hope to start looking for a home and a job. What's it like in Long Beach?"

Weather is fine and golf is terrific, Zeke. But, beware. Every season is open season on Ram quarterbacks.

HEART OF ANGEL ATTACK STRANGELY SILENT

Thomas Fights Worst Slump

By ROSS NEWHAN

There was not much concern when Lee Thomas got only two hits in his last 16 Cactus League at-bats. He had pounded 22 in his first 65 and, after all, wasn't he still hitting line drives and wouldn't they start to fall once the bell sounded in Chicago?

"Yes," came the reply of those who had seen larruping Lee belt 24 home runs, drive in 70 and compile a .285 average after joining the Angels from New York on May 10 of last year.

Manager Bill Rigney felt the answer was yes, also, but he nodded less optimistically—noticing a "hitch" that had developed in the smooth Thomas swing.

When the bell did sound, it tolled the beginning of the "worst start I've ever had."

Through eight games the 26-year-old lefthander, considered the heart of the Angels' attack, could stroke only two singles, a double and home run in 35 trips to the plate. He was still hitting line drives, but they were falling only into the waiting gloves of opposition infielders and outfielders.

A spirited performer, Thomas copes with the slump ("I prefer to call it a bad start and not a slump") the only way he knows how—with an outburst of anger. Following a popup, his plastic helmet flies splintering against the dugout wall, a towel is kicked, the glove is grabbed and he stalks to his lonely outpost in centerfield.

Only the knowledge that he can hit and it can't last forever prevents further violence. Off the field, Thomas still manages a smile.

"Jo Ann and Deron (his wife and son) can tell you I'm not as good natured as I should be," said Thomas relaxing in the quiet of the Angel clubhouse. "I don't get depressed, but I do get mad and that's bad."

Where and when did this slump begin and what were its causes are answers Lee is still searching. He's not sure there are any.

"I hit the ball good all spring and I felt I'm swinging the same way right now. Rig says I'm hitching (pulling the bat back before he brings it forward), but I didn't realize it and I certainly didn't think I was doing it last night (Friday, when he went one-for-five).

LEE THOMAS

"Sure, I'm pressing. Every time I hit one good and it's caught I want to tear the ball apart the next time I go up there. You know how I crouch, well now I'm exaggerating. I'm almost bent in two. That's the trouble. I should just let everything take care of itself. When you're hitting you don't worry about all these things. You just go up and swing."

Thomas realizes that if he hadn't proved to Rigney last year that he could hit, he might not be in there now.

"It's got to be just a matter of time," says Thomas confidently, but with hope in his voice. If a guy hit every day he'd bat .500. I've been hitting the ball on a line. With a break or two I'd have seven or eight hits.

"Of course when the team is winning they can go with you. I went 3-for-26 at Richmond (1960), we lost six of seven and they shipped me off to Amarillo."

This was shortly after Thomas had finished a sensational spring with the Yankees—a love affair that began in 1954 but ended in ill-feeling.

"I was the only rookie to play regularly that spring," Lee recalls. "I played in seven or eight games in a row and must have hit over .400. Yet I remember the regulars telling me that Casey (Stengel) was just waiting for me to go hitless so he could get me out of there.

"Shortly before we broke camp we went into Vero Beach for a game with the Dodgers. Johnny Podres was pitching and I struck-out the first two times up. Brother, that was all. I was on the bench and on my way to Richmond."

Still, Thomas talks kindly of Stengel.

"Casey liked me. Not well enough to keep me, but he liked me. He spent more time talking with me that spring than anyone on the team. He told me when I was sent out that I would

WHAT'S HIS LINE? NEVER TO LOSE!

Looks Like Book Worm, Instead Amerine Greatest L.B. Gymnast

By DOUG IVES

If you were to put Jim Amerine on the What's My Line television show, the panel of experts would need 100 questions and then some to guess his occupation.

Of course, the panel would be told in advance that Jim is a student at Lakewood High, but what they would be asked to find out is what is his sideline.

There the difficulty arises because Amerine just doesn't look like what he is. He wears glasses, is studious looking, stands 5-foot-5 and weighs just 148 pounds.

You can quit guessing. Jim is a gymnast. But not just an ordinary one. He's the best Lakewood-Long Beach has ever had, the tops in Southern California and undoubtedly one of the finest high school gymnasts in the country.

A sure yardstick for measuring success in such an individualistic sport as gymnastics is the won-lost records. Amerine loses about as often as the Yankees do to Kansas City.

In Lakewood's nine dual or triangular meets, Amerine has competed 42 times in five different events. He has won on 39 occasions, finished second once and fourth twice.

* * * *

AMERINE has not been beaten in the parallel bars, free exercise and rings. The second place was on the horizontal bars and the fourths were on the long horse — the only event he has yet to master.

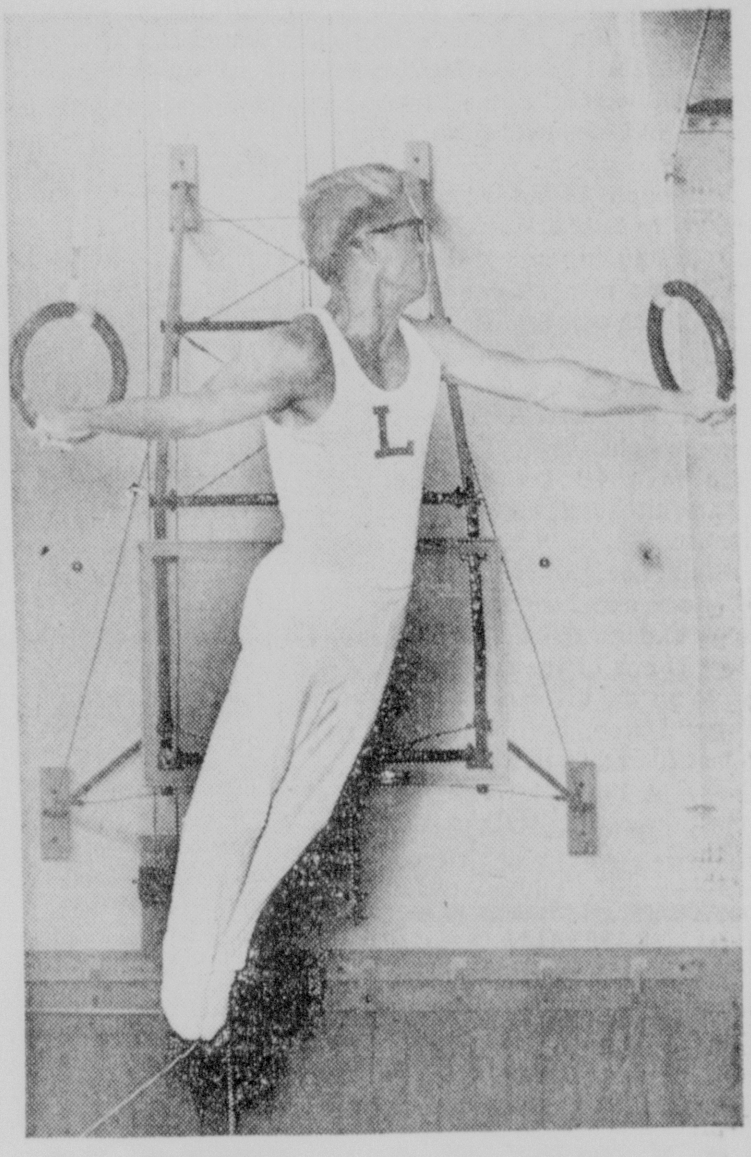
What's more important, at least to a gymnast the caliber of Amerine, is what is termed the over-all title. In every meet this year, which includes three invitational meets which lures the CIF's best, Jim has won high-point honors.

Against Baldwin Park, the finest gym school in the country, Amerine entered four events, won three and finished second in the other. He also won the coveted over-all point crown.

* * * *

JIM'S versatility should pay off in the CIF meet. But it will be Amerine's biggest challenge as he will be competing against men who specialize in just one event.

At the finals will be representatives from the top gymnastic universities and colleges in the country. No less than eight of the major ones already have offered Jim athletic scholarships.



JIM AMERINE . . . Gymnast Supreme

Where does he get all that natural talent, one might ask. Strangely, he doesn't have that much natural talent, according to his coach, Dick Flood. Says Flood:

"Jim doesn't look like a gymnast and he's certainly not built like one. He does what he does with desire and aptitude. He listens and learns and works."

The ideal gymnast, says Flood, is around 5-foot-8, has slim hips, narrow legs and rather long arms. Amerine has none of these features. He's stockily built and looks more like a football player.

"His build is a hindrance rather than as asset," says Flood. "But he works endlessly to improve himself and is very coachable. He's the type of boy that a coach will get once in a lifetime."

Flood finished by saying what the experts on What's My Line might admit after they were stumped: "Boys like Amerine just don't come along very often."

Aqua Ace Looks to Olympics

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Robyn Johnson and Donna de Varona, a pair of teen-agers, won triple crowns as the national AAU indoor swimming and diving championships were completed Saturday on a record-shattering note.

Miss Johnson, representing the North Virginia Swim Club of Arlington, Va., shattered the American mark in winning the 250-yard freestyle in 2:34.6 — compared with Chris von Saltza's old mark of 2:36 set in 1960.

The feat established Miss Johnson as the leading point-winner of the meet with 26 points to her credit after wins in the 100, 250 and 500-yard freestyles and second in the 400-yard individual medley.

"I think now I can do a little better next year and the year after and be ready for the 1064 Olympics," said the slim, trim 16-year-old star.

* * * *

THE 15-year-old Miss de Varona, of Lafayette, Calif., daughter of a former University of California football star, completed her triple by winning the 100-yard backstroke in 1:04.

Mrs. Joel Lenzi O'Connell of Santa Clara, won the three-meter diving with 416.11 points. Runner-up with Barbara McAlister, Phoenix, with 415.40.

Sharon Finneran of Los Angeles won her second championship when she edged Kim Worley of Santa Clara, in the 200-yard butterfly. The time was 2:16.8.

Santa Clara S.C. won the team crown with 46 points. Cleveland S.C. was second with 38 and North Virginia A.C. third with 36.

49ERS HOST ARIZONA '9'

Long Beach State, which beat the nation's No. 1 ranked team in USC two weeks ago, entertains the second best college baseball power in University of Arizona Monday night at Blair Field. Game time is 7:30.

The upstart 49ers, off to a shaky start when they dropped 10 of their first 14 games, have battled back to win seven out of their last nine. Arizona (22-2) is fresh from pinning three defeats in a row on California last week.

Wilson Star Spearheads Bellflower Record Binge

By JOHN CASH

John Yancy, Wilson High's premiere broad jumper, settled an old score when he surpassed two of the six records to fall in the fifth annual National Records Relays at Bellflower Saturday night.

The Bruin senior leaped 23-3¾ to shatter Dee Andrews' previous mark of 23-2 set in 1959. Yancy also reversed two previous defeats at the hands of Poly's Marvin Motley who could do no better than 21-9 for a fourth-place finish.

Yancy also sailed 45-1¼ to win the hop, step and jump in record fashion. Motley again had to settle for fourth place with a jump of 43-5¾.

Downey's four-man, 4-mile relay of Ed Lindley, Clarence Creager, Bob Goodson and Ron Doyle hooked up to set a new national record of 17:50.7, bettering Palo Alto High's previous best of 17:51.8 clocked in 1959.

Dick Heard, Len Buchanan, Bill Delaney and Bob Delaney of Orange bettered Bellflower's 1953 national mark of 7:56.0 with a brilliant time of 7:54.2 in the 4-man, 2-mile event.

La Habra's sprint medley quartet of John Brady, Tarry Sutton, Derald Louge and Bruce Bess wiped the third national record off the books with a sizzling 3:28.0, erasing Poly's 3:29.0 set two years ago.

Poly's 8-man mile team breezed to victory while Millikan's Alan Shomaker vaulted 13-0 to tie for second in his favorite event.

Forrest Beaty of Glendale Hoover won the 100 as expected, coasting to a 9.8 victory. George Alford from Poly had to settle for third in the time of 10.0.

Dick Smith of Poly placed fifth in the shotput with a heave of 53-11½ while the Jackrabbit 4-man 440 relay finished third.

The Earl B. Ray Memorial Trophy was awarded the three teams that established new national records—La Habra, Downey and Orange.

CASEY JUST BEING FAIR

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Mets admitted that he has been reprimanded by commissioner Ford Frick and that he expected to be fined for posing in his baseball uniform for a beer advertisement.

"I have heard from him (Frick) and I wouldn't be surprised if I'm slapped with a fine of about $500," Stengel said following the Mets' eighth straight defeat, 8-4, by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I've been in this business too long to let this happen," Stengel admitted. "By the same token, I don't want to see the brewery feller get hurt. He put up $1,300,000 for the radio and television (of Mets' games) and we ain't been giving him much of a run for his money."

L.B. STATE CREW FAR OUT-DISTANCES UCLA

Stroking to its fourth straight victory, Long Beach State College's varsity eight out-distanced the UCLA crew by four and a half lengths at Playa del Ray's Ballona Creek Saturday.

Coming off consecutive wins over USC, Cal and Oregon State, the 49er crew skimmed the 2000-meter course in 6:28.3 with a seady 36 per minute stroke.

UCLA took an early lead at the gun and held it with a strong 39 until the 500-meter mark. Then the Bruins faltered and Long Beach steadily took the advantage and won going away.

The Bruins easily won the JV race with a time of 6:40.8 and shaded the 49ers by two seconds in the frosh competition with a 7:03 clocking.

LBSC led the Bruin frosh shell for most of the 2000-meter course but "caught a crab" near the finish and couldn't recover.

Nicklaus Fires 68 for Lead

HOUSTON (UPI) — Rookie Jack Nicklaus, making a strong bid for his first golf championship, fired a two-under-par 68 Saturday to take a two-stroke lead into the final round of the $50,000 Houston Classic.

The 22-year-old former Ohio State golf star survived the rugged Memorial Park back nine, which saw some of the front runners stumble with as many as four bogies. Nicklaus had a 34-34—68 for a third round total of 206, four under par.

NICKLAUS, the 1961 NCAA champion who won the U.S. Amateur last September before turning professional, was playing one of his better games — especially on his drives. This is his first time to play on the Houston course.

"I hit some bad tee shots, but I was driving real good," he said after the round. "I'll tell you one thing—you really have to keep yourself in a good frame of mind to play this course."

Joe Louis on Fistic Hot Seat

Monday Card Too One-Sided?

By FRANK HARVEY

Joe Louis, former world heavyweight champion, may come in for a goodly share of criticism provided Monday night's boxing card at the Sports Arena proves one-sided.

Louis, matchmaker for United World Enterprises Inc. which is venturing into the boxing promotional field for the first time, has lined up four 10-round bouts which will feature three of the nation's top fighters.

However, many Southland boxing men believe that, while Louis is using name fighters, he is putting them in against something less than worthwhile opposition. Louis denies this emphatically.

While we are inclined to string along with the fight men, we must admit that the Brown Bomber makes a few points when explaining the good features of each fight.

* * * *

HE POINTS out that George Logan, the Boise, Idaho, heavyweight who meets former Olympic light-heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, defeated Alejandro Lavorante late last year.

We must admit that if Logan was able to stand up to the hard-punching South American for 10 rounds he has a chance against Cassius, who has won all of his 12 pro starts but against little opposition.

Although Logan was flattened by Bob Cleroux a few weeks ago in San Francisco he should give Clay a rough time in the early stages of the bout.

* * * *

While Louis admits that the odds are about right he was quick to point out that Whitehurst is one of the few fighters to go the distance against Sonny Liston. Bert managed to last 10 rounds twice against Sonny in 1958. However.

The 10-rounder between welterweights Ralph Dupas and Frankie Ramirez hardly figures to go the route.

Dupas, the No. 1 welterweight contender, should have little trouble in disposing of Ramirez, whose chief claim to fame is a decision over Gaspar Ortega last November.

DAVIS DOUBLED twice and was driven home both times by Howard. Tommy also hit two other line drives into the hands of Howie Bedell and Hank Aaron.

Howard was deprived of a hit the first time when Mathews speared his liner to third base, but found the range to dissolve a 1-1 score in the sixth inning. His single to left scored Davis, who had doubled to right-center.

The two repeated their performance in the eighth when the Dodgers scored twice to shell Hendley. Both doubled to start the inning, Howard scoring the second run on a bloop single by Andy Carey.

* * * *

HITLESS FOR four innings, the Dodgers scored with two out in the fifth when Willie Davis and Podres drew successive walks and Maury Wills singled to left.

W. Davis also had two hits, but he and John Roseboro were the only southpaws to connect against Hendley.

Don Drysdale (2-0) and American League refugee Bob Shaw (0-1) are the pitchers in this afternoon's middle game of the three-game set.

Once Over Lightly

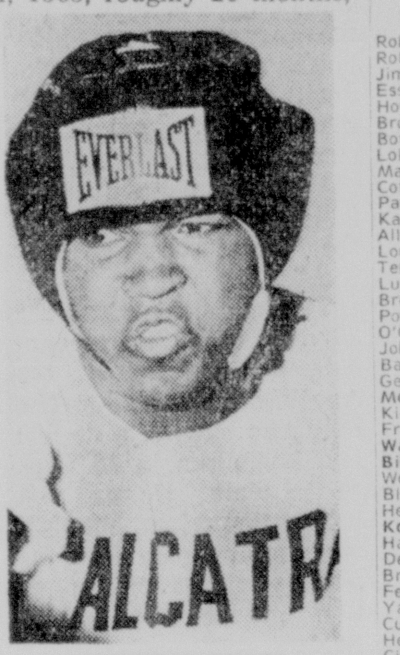
By DAVE LEWIS
Sports Editor

Cassius Is a 'Man in a Hurry!'

"Man, I'm in a hurry," so says Cassius Marcellus Clay, who will display his fistic prowess Monday night at the Sports Arena against a punching-bag called George Logan.

"This is an age of records and record-breaking," Cassius points out. "And if you don't break some records, you're a nobody. I want to break some boxing records and first of all I want to be the youngest heavyweight champion in history."

Cassius has until Dec. 14, 1963, roughly 20 months, in which to achieve that goal The current champion, Floyd Patterson, became the youngest man ever to win the title when he became the champ 330 days after his 21st birthday in 1956. Clay was just 20 last January 18.



CASSIUS CLAY
Fast Talker

Circumstances may prevent him from becoming the youngest champion, but there is no denying he has the potential to someday wear the crown.

Clay's biggest booster, of course, is Cassius himself. He's no shrinking violet when it comes to sounding off about the fact that he is on his way to becoming the greatest fighter in the world . . . if, indeed, he isn't already.

I got the height, the reach, the weight, the physique, the speed, the courage, the stamina and the natural ability that's going to make me great. Putting it another way, if a guy beat me he'd have to be greater than great."

CASSIUS, OF COURSE, is not yet as awesomely proficient in the ring as he says he is. He has not yet beaten anyone of any stature. But in this era of boxing mediocrity, he probably is one of the best four or five heavies in the game despite his young age and lack of professional experience.

He should get past Logan with little trouble. In fact, he is expected to flatten his foe in five or six rounds.

Cassius quite likely would beat Ingemar Johansson, who held the title briefly a couple of years ago.

When Ingo was training for his third fight with Patterson in Miami Beach early last year, Cassius was called in to spar with the Swede.

Informed he was to receive $25 for the session, Cassius balked at first. He was holding out for a split of the admission fees paid by some 1,000 spectators.

"After all," he maintained, "they're here as much to see the great Cassius Clay as that Johansson."

He finally agreed to go on and then proceeded to make a sucker out of Ingo in their two-round session as the crowd cheered him while booing the Swede.

Needless to say, Cassius wasn't invited back for more sessions.

Cassius is sponsored by 11 millionaires, 10 of them being prominent business executives in Clay's native Louisville, Ky., while the other hails from New York.

The 11 men, sold on Clay's potential, formed a syndicate and pooled assets of some $25,000 to get Cassius established in the fight game.

They offered him an attractive two-year contract and gave him a $10,000 cash bonus when he signed. They give him $400 a month spending money plus a savings bond, pay all of his expenses as well as those of his trainer and other handlers, and give him 50 per cent of all the earnings.

In addition, the syndicate has a trust fund set up for Cassius when he begins making big money . . . thus assuring him of security in the future.

"When I've got a $100,000 house with a swimming pool, another quarter million stuck in the bank and the title latched onto my name, then I'll be in Heaven.

"Walking around making $25 a week, with a flock of kids crying at home because they're hungry . . . well, that's my idea of Hell and I don't want any part of it."

AFTER CLAY signed his contract, the syndicate sent him to San Diego where he worked with Archie Moore for six weeks before he got homesick and returned to Louisville.

His sponsors then signed Angelo Dundee to train him. While Clay is "in a hurry," Dundee is content to slow things down.

"Cautious," as he calls Cassius, "has got a big mouth and is smart-alecky at times, but don't forget he's just a kid. I can say a lot of nice things about the boy . . . but I can also run down a list of 20 things he does wrong."

"He is still awfully green, but he's a real fighter. When he overcomes his faults, then he'll be the champ."

Cassius agrees. "It takes a mind to do right. It's like I told myself when I was little. I said 'Cassius, you going to win the Olympic title some day, and then you're going to buy yourself a Cadillac and then you're going to be the world champ.'

"Well, I got the gold medal and I got the car. And now I'm working hard on the world title. I'll win it, too, as soon as they let me fight for it!"

Rockets to Host Angel Farm Club

Fans of the Long Beach Rockets will be offered an unusual treat today when the Rockets and Quad-City Braves meet at Blair Field at 2 p.m.

The Braves, a farm club of the Angels, are winding up spring training in Anaheim and this will be their last appearance before leaving Monday for Davenport, Ia., their home base.

John Fitzpatrick, longtime scout, will lead a group of major league hopefuls. Eddie Sukla, former Huntington Beach star, will probably open on the mound for the Braves. Dave Marsden of El Camino, who recently signed with the Angels, will be behind the plate.

Says
"THERE IS A BIG DIFFERENCE IN AUTOMOBILE DEALERSHIPS"
It Doesn't Stand Out On a Sign or Show Up in Lights . . .
IT HAS TO DO WITH PEOPLE!
OSCAR GREGORY
Basically, automobile dealerships are much alike when it comes to showrooms, service facilities, products and price. However, that's where the similarity ends!
The Big Difference Is People!
Who they are . . . what they are . . . and the manner in which they want to do business. It's people who make the products, showrooms and facilities accomplish something . . . and stand for something. For several months, Glenn Jones Chevrolet has consistently broken sales records. The reason for this, we feel, is the men (and women) who make up our sales, service and administrative staffs.
SOUND COMPANY POLICIES
Carried out by a sincere staff, have resulted in satisfied customers. These satisfied customers have made our business grow. True, no firm can satisfy everyone, but our batting average is pretty darn high. Each Wednesday and Sunday, in this space, we will introduce you to our people . . . watch for them . . . you may know them . . . they are mighty nice people!
IF YOU ARE SHOPPING FOR A NEW OR USED CAR AND HAVE NOT YET VISITED GLENN JONES CHEVROLET . . . PLEASE DO SO. YOU'LL FIND A RELAXED, BUSINESS-LIKE ATMOSPHERE THAT WE FEEL YOU'LL APPRECIATE. AND YOU'LL SEE WHY GLENN JONES CHEVROLET QUIETLY CONTINUES ITS SALES LEADERSHIP, WITHOUT BALLYHOO OR FRANTIC PROMOTIONS. WE ARE CLOSED ON SUNDAY. ME 0-5861, NE 6-1777

WITH 16 LETTERMEN, BIG JAYCEE CROP . . .

Trojans to Open Grid Drills Monday

By JEROME HALL

Quipmaster Johnny McKay, with a firm denial that he is switching from the T formation to the single wing, becomes a whipmaster Monday when he herds four dozen USC football players onto Bovard Field for the start of spring drills.

Included in the turnout will be 16 lettermen. That's one of the smallest groups of returnees in Trojan history, but it will be bolstered by a large crop of good-looking jaycee transfers.

The Troy Boys will have four weeks of drills, with the windup in the Coliseum on Saturday, May 19, against an alumni team made up of present-day pro players and last year's grads.

The Trojans again will employ the shifting T formation, that tricky little backfield maneuver initiated last season during a frustrating campaign that was spoiled by a series of near misses.

Troy wound up 4-5-1.

This year looks better.

The opponents will be much the same as last year, except Georgia Tech is replaced by Duke and Pittsburgh is replaced by Navy. Both Duke and Navy will be Trojan home games, along with Cal, Washington, Notre Dame and, of course, UCLA.

Willie Brown will miss the spring drills. He's playing baseball. But he will be the starting left half when the season opens against Duke Sept. 22.

Midgets to Wrestle

A tag team match of midgets has been added to the Edouard Carpentier - La Pentera main event at Municipal Auditorium Tuesday night. Chief Little Beaver and Lord Beaver Brook will oppose Fuzzy Cupid and Sky High Low.

Two 1-0 Games in Pan-Am. Tourney

Four nifty pitching performances high lighted opening round games of the Pan American Park Softball Tournament Saturday night.

In the opening game Gardena nipped Vista, 1-0, and in the second Culver City edged Oxnard by the same score.

The tournament resumes Tuesday night.

A ROMP BY RUSSELL

Tim Russell of Long Beach City College scores decisive 100-yard dash win over outstanding field. Left to right are Jim Richardson of Long Beach State, fourth; John Gilbert of Striders, second; Doug Smith of Striders, third, and Russell, first in 9.6.

OREGON--

for third, but fell two yards short. Oregon led, 50-31.

High jump — USC earned a first place tie (6-7¾) and a 5-4 point break. Oregon led, 54-36.

220 — Trojan Bruce Munn was the favorite, but Duck Jerome (20.8) was pumping two yards ahead before they hit the curve. A 6-3 advantage for Oregon and a 60-39 lead.

Pole vault—The Troys finished one-two, but was too late. Oregon led 61-47, needed five more points.

Low hurdles—USC needed a sweep, but Oregon's Bill Tarr (23.0 curve) scored a great win over Rex Cawley (23.1) and Polkinghorne (23.8) and Oregon had it, 66-51, with only a cinch two-mile sweep and a cinch mile relay loss remaining.

The back-slapping Ducks and the sad-faced Trojans knew an era had ended. There probably will never be another to equal it.

100—Jerome (Ore) 9.6, Munn (USC) 9.9, Cortese (USC) 10.0.

220—Jerome (Ore) 20.8, Munn (USC) 21.3, Puckett (Ore) 21.7 (new meet record; old record 21.1 by Staten, USC, 1959).

880—Burleson (Ore) 1:49.5, San Romani (Ore) 1:49.9, Ohlemann (Ore) 1:50.1 (new meet record; old record 1:50.3 by Burleson, Oregon, 1961).

Mile—Burleson (Ore) 4:14.2, San Romani (Ore) 4:14.2, Steinke (Ore) 4:4.3.

Two-mile—Reeve (Ore) 8:59.1, Forman (Ore) 8:59.9; Lehner (Ore) 9:01.6 (new meet record; old record 9:07.4 by Miller, Oregon, 1959).

High hurdles—Tarr (Ore) 13.9, Polkinghorn (USC) 14.3, Gaechter (Ore) 14.3 (new meet record; old record 14.0 by Tarr, 1961).

Low hurdles—Tarr (Ore) 23.0, Cawley (USC) 23.1, Polkinghorne (USC) 23.8 (new meet record; old record 23.4 by Cawley, 1961).

Shotput—Long (USC) 62-3, Steen (Ore) 57-3, Wade (USC) 54 ½.

High jump—Tie between Llewellyn (Ore) and Fleckenstein (USC) 6-7¾, Grundy (USC) 6-3¾.

Pole vault—Hein (USC) 14-11¼, Flanagan (USC) 14-5¼, Frank (Ore) 14-2¼ (new meet record; old record 14-8 by Brewer, USC, 1961).

Mile relay—USC (Talsky 49.0, Doll 47.5, Hogan 47.3, Cawley 49.3) 3:13.1, Oregon (Puckett 49.3, Ohlemann 47.3, San Romani 49.5, Abram 49.4) 3:15.9 (new meet record; old record 3:14.1 by USC, 1959).

Final score—Oregon 75, USC 56.

TRACK BRIEFS

LAWRENCE, Kan. — Texas Southern University fought off a determined bid by McMurry (Tex.) to win the college division mile relay in a record breaking 3:11.0 and became the first team in history to win six relay races in the Kansas Relays. In winning, Texas Southern broke the record of four victories held jointly by Pittsburgh State (1932), Indiana (1936) and Kansas (1959). Three other records were set Saturday by Phil Mulkey in the decathlon, by Missouri in the two-mile relay and Rice's Fred Hanson in the pole vault. Mulkey, running unattached out of Memphis, amassed 7,480 points to break his own record set last year of 7,268.

NEW YORK—Villanova won three of the seven major races in the Queens-Iona Relays and erased the nightmare of last week's humiliation in the Quantico Relays. An identical quartet of Charlie Hammock, Paul Drayton, Bob Raemore and Frank Budd whisked to a 41.4 triumph in the 440 relay and a 1:25.7 decision in the 880 relay.

SAN JOSE—San Jose State set three meet records and one school mark as it walloped Fresno State 98⅔ to 31⅓. Harry Edwards threw the discus 178-3, his all-time best to better the Spartan school mark of 174-4 and meet record of 163½. San Jose's Bruce Turnbull cleared 14-9 to edge Fresno's Don Schaefer, who did 14-6.

HURLINGHAM, England—Buddy Edelen from Sioux Falls, S.D., ran the fastest 10 miles ever by an American, winning the British AAA title with a time of 48:31.8. The listed U.S. record was 50:51.6, held by John Kelley.

PULLMAN, Wash.—Oregon State's mile relay team clocked 3:11.2 and Dale Story of OSU ran a 4:07 mile as the Beavers rolled up easy wins in a double dual meet against Washington State and Idaho. OSU defeated Washington State 91-54 and swamped Idaho 114-30.

194.38 Mark in Dragster Spin

Art Arfons, in his jet dragster, the Green Monster, reached a speed of 194.38 mph before 7,150 fans Saturday night at Lions Drag Strip.

Winner in the fuel eliminator event was Bill Crossley of Bakersfield with the gas title going to Jim Nelson of Carlsbad.

Top speed and best time of the evening was turned in by Crossley at 179.64 mph in 8.55 seconds.

TENNIS BRIEFS

MONTE CARLO—Gardnar Mulloy and Ed Rubinoff won their way to the finals of the Butler Trophy competition with a 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 win over the Aussie duo of John Fraser and Fred Stolle. They will meet Germany's Wilhelm Bungert and Christian Kuhnke.

CHINGFORD, Eng.—Wimbledon champion Rod Laver of Australia defeated countryman Martin Mulligan, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 in the final round of the Connaught Club's Hard Court tennis tournament. Angela Mortimer defeated Christine Truman for the women's title.

DALLAS—Chuck McKinley and Ham Richardson advanced to the singles finals of the Dallas Country Club tourney. McKinley romped over Vic Seixas, 6-2, 6-2, and Richardson edged Ron Holmberg, 5-7, 7-5, 9-7.

SUTTON, Eng.—Bob Howe of Australia regained the men's singles title in the Sutton Hard Courts tourney with a 6-4, 9-7 win over Britain's Tony Pickard.

15-6½ VAULT BY KRAMER; TRIBE WINS

STANFORD (AP) — Washington's John Kramer set a school record with a pole vault of 15-6½ but his Cougar track and field mates fell before host Stanford 89-42 in a dual meet Saturday.

Kramer's steel-pole vault was 3¼ inches better than any of his previous attempts. Stanford's Phil White, using a fiber glass pole, was second at 14-6.

Cal Jumper Goes 7-Ft.; Bruins Romp

UCLA's Bruins ran away from California with a healthy 99-32 track victory Saturday at Westwood.

Olympic decathlon standout C. K. Yang of UCLA collected 20 points by winning both hurdle events, the javelin and the pole vault.

The Bruins swept three events—the 100, 220 and the broad jump, while California high jumper Gene Johnson became the fifth American to leap 7 feet.

Johnson broke the meet high jump record by nearly four inches and bettered his own California record of 6-10.

Coach Ducky Drake's Bruins grabbed first place in 12 of the 15 events.

Fishin' Around

Excellent Trout Season Expected

This is the week when the city slickers move to the country—not to milk cows and cut hay, but to try for trout, some of which are smart, but far more are just plain dumb.

There's a reason for the dumb ones. They were taken from hatcheries and planted in lakes and streams and they don't know any better than to bite on the first thing in sight.

The general trout season for California opens Saturday morning, but the exodus of city slickers from Long Beach and Los Angeles Basin to the Sierra Nevada will begin as early as Thursday. Thousands will be going to Crowley Lake, an operation of the Los Angeles Department of Parks and Recreation.

Other thousands will be trying the lakes in that particular part of the Sierra Nevada, such as June, Silver, Convict, Bridgeport and the various creeks that flow in or out of those lakes.

Generally speaking, the trout season for both eastern and western slopes of the Sierra Nevada will be the best in years. That's because we have had tremenodus winter rains and the snow pack is heavy, meaning late runoff.

The weather? The Weather Bureau is willing to go out on a limb and predict fair weather for the opening, but general opinion dictates long underwear and heavy clothes. It may be cold, even in the daytime.

FOR THOSE OF YOU who don't want to travel 800 miles (round trip) to the Sierra Nevada, Big Bear Lake will be having its opening boat-fishing day Saturday. Chances of catching limits of trout are good. First Department of Fish and Game plants of catchables have been made and the Big Bear Lake Park District plans to stock 3,000 pounds of privately raised rainbow Thursday.

The BBLPD will spend $45,000 for 63,000 pounds of trout, ranging from a half pound to five pounds each, and make weekly plants, with double plants on Memorial and July 4 holiday periods. Also, the DFG will stock 100,000 catchabes throughout the season, plus 100,000 fingerlings.

Three hundred large brood bass were planted earlier in Big Bear and residents there, as well as tourists, were asked not to fish for the largemouths until spawning season ended. However, shore anglers already are reported to have taken numbers of bass. You can't stop the greed of some "fishermen!"

The state will plant 200 more brood bass in the hopes of making Big Bear a warm-water as well as a trout fishery. Indeed Big Bar deserves all the attention that can be given to it; the people there have had rough sledding for several years.

OUTDOOR WRITER CLAUDE KREIDER and his fishing buddy, Don Waggoner, are back from the Salton Sea with startling reports about fishing and CROWDS! Claude says that he never knew there were so many boat trailer rigs in Southern California as he saw around the Sea last week. Literally thousands of them, he said.

They stayed at North Shore Resort, one of the classy resorts of the area, and did their fishing 10 miles below the Salton Sea State Park. They had no boat, just waders, but they caught corvina up to 12 pounds simply by casting Dardevle lures into the mild surf.

Claude and Don, both experts with flyrods, also got some smaller fish on flies, and Claude classed the sport as fine as any a fisherman will find in the west.

Temperatures ranged up to 100 degrees at noontime, but this weekend brought a quick drop to the low 80s. Claude said that many fishermen merely stripped to bathing trunks and canvas shoes and waded out to do their casting. Water temperature was very comfortable.

He also advised anybody going to the Sea to buy mudsuckers and waterdogs here if they like to use such baits, which, of course, are tops in the Sea. There is no live bait available anywhere near the Sea, he added.

DUCKS UNLIMITED HAS APPROPRIATED a record $600,000 for 1962-63 work in the Canadian provinces of Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba and New Brunswick. Bert McKee, reelected Pacific regional vice president of DU at the organization's 25th anniversary meeting in New York, reported on DU's progress Monday night at a Pasadena DU committee dinner.

The appropriation raised to $8 million the total that U.S. sportsmen have poured into the Canadian provinces that are commonly referred to as North America's "duck factories."

Four Long Beach DU workers, Elmer Decker, Long Beach chairman, Ivan Bowman, Vern Williams and your columnist, attended the meeting.

Californians can be very proud of their support of DU. It is estimated that one-fifth of all the money raised in the U.S. to save the waterfowl has come from California donors. If you are one of those givers, throw out your chest; if not, you'd better mail a check to Elmer Decker for a membership.

Just remember one thing: Those 600 man-made lakes and ponds with 5,000 miles of shoreline have meant the difference between being able to shoot ducks and geese and putting your guns in mothballs.

POKEY'S CATCHING UP

Pokey Bar (8) still trails Alamitos Bar (1) 50 yards from finish line but Pokey got his head across first at the wire. No. 3 is Magnolia Bar.

POKEY BAR

jockey Kenneth Chapman and was making a gallant drive at Alamitos Bar.

The usually - smooth - striding horse was working harder than he ever had before and he finally drew abreast of Alamitos Bar two jumps from the wire and nipped him by a head in the last jump.

Whether it was the something old, something blue superstition followed by trainer Newt Keck — the blue silks Chapman has worn in each of Pokey's races since he won the rich All-American Futurity in September of 1961—or the huge stride of Pockey Bar which beat the jinx will be something for horsemen and mystics to speculate.

Second - favored Alamitos Bar paid $2.60 and $2.20 and Magnolia Bar returned $2.60.

Casares Understudy to Browns in Trade

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns Saturday traded offensive tackle Ed Nutting to the Dallas Cowboys in exchange for fullback Merrill Douglas in a move to add more reserve backfield strength.

Douglas, a 205-pound combination fullback and halfback, was understudy to Rick Casares of the Chicago Bears for three years before going to the Cowboys last season.

MATURITY DROPPED AT SANTA ANITA

Santa Anita race-track's 15-year experiment with an early-closing major stakes, the $100,000 Maturity, was abandoned this week with the announcement that the race was being dropped in favor of the $100,000 Charles H. Strub Stakes.

Like the Maturity, the Strub Stakes is designed to give the 3-year-olds of the previous season a chance to compete in their own age bracket early in their racing careers as 4-year-olds.

'DERBY' TO DOC JOCOY

Wood Deadheat but Admiral Wins

(Compiled From Wire Services)

Admiral's Voyage was declared the winner of the $91,850 Wood Memorial at Aqueduct Saturday after finishing in a sensational deadheat with Sunrise County and and then having his favored rival disqualified.

Sunrise County was placed second for interfering with the Admiral on the first turn and again during their home stretch duel.

The time was 1:49 4/5 and the winner earned $59,702.

Admiral's Voyage, a son of Crafty Admiral-Olympia Lou, by Olympia, was the third choice and paid $15.30, $5.40 and $3.20. Sunrise County returned $3 and $2.40 and Donut King, the second favorite, was $3.40 to show.

It was the first deadheat and second disqualification in 38 runnings of the famous 1⅛ mile race, which leads up to the Kentucky Derby in two weeks. In 1956 Head Man was the winner after Golf Ace was disqualified.

DOC JOCOY, second weighted at 120 pounds, won the California Derby at Tanforan but not until he had fought off Blue Serenade by a stirring duel down the stretch.

Doc Jocoy's winning margin in the $42,250 stakes feature was just a nose although he had taken Jockey Willie Harmatz in front from the break and actually was never headed.

Third in the field of nine three-year-olds over the traditional classic's mile and an eighth distance was Full Regalia.

HET'S PET won the featured 6-furlong race at Caliente in 1:10 and paid $3.80, $3.40 and $2.80. Eight persons held perfect cards of six winners in the "5-10 pool" and collected $6,506.80 each.

THOMAS--

In 1961, Thomas returned to spring training with the Yankees.

"The first thing Houk (new manager Ralph) told me was that I was to be his leftfielder until I proved otherwise. I guess I proved otherwise. But I never really got a chance to play much that spring. I don't blame Ralph, though. I believe he had to win or he would have been fired."

Ryne Duren, a teammate of Thomas with the Yankees and now the Angels, agrees that Lee never got a real chance.

"Day after day he would hit the h--- out of the ball during batting practice and still wouldn't get in the lineup," says Duren. "I remember one day in Detroit he put on the greatest pregame exhibition I've ever seen and spent the afternoon on the bench. That's the day Mickey (Mantle) said to me 'what's a guy got to do before he plays?' "

"I think," says Thomas, "that it all boils down to the fact that they (New York) didn't think I could do the job in the outfield. I'm sure I proved otherwise last year."

With that, Thomas left the sanctity of the clubhouse for some extra batting practice. He doesn't want the bad start to become a slump.

Cantrell Scores Sprint Car Win

Billy Cantrell of Anaheim streaked to his third straight win in the featured 30-lap CRA sprint car main event at Ascot Park Saturday.

Cantrell took the lead on the 12th lap and beat Bob McCoy by a fourth of a lap.

Angels Bow to Twins, 5-2

the Twins' man from Havana retired 11 straight.

McBride, ko'd after five innings of his first Chavez Ravine start on Tuesday, lacked his usual finesse, but fine fielding kept him out of trouble.

* * * *

When the Twins did break the ice in the sixth, a perfect peg by Rodgers prevented it from being a flood. Rollins opened the inning with a single, but was thrown out attempting to steal second after Rodgers had received the third strike on Harmon Killebrew.

* * * *

THUS THERE were two away when Bob Allison laced a single to center and Earl Battey, a former Pacific Coast League Angel, cracked a double inches inside the third base bag bringing Allison all the way around.

The Angels finally got to Pascual in their half of the stretch frame. Wagner smacked a leadoff single and advanced to second on Frank Leja's sacrifice. Rodgers followed with a single, scoring Wagner. The young catcher moved all the way to third, when Versalles, after receiving the relay from centerfielder Green, wheeled and fired to first.

HOWEVER, first baseman Power was on the mound acting as cutoff man and Versalles hung his head in shame as the ball zoomed into the dugout. Rodgers romped home with what was the go-ahead run as Lee Thomas grounded to Bernie Allen at second.

The Twins wind up their first visit to the O'Malley Hilton this afternoon with Jim Kaat (0-1) facing George Witt (1-0). Check out time is 1:30.

ANGEL ANGELS: Sheri Good of Palm Springs (Riverside County) was named Miss Angel for 1962 by the stadium dedication committee in pre-game ceremonies . . . Sharyl Ann Hoople of Oxnard (Ventura County) was first runner-up and Kitty Eckbald of Garden Grove (Orange County) was second runner-up.

Ted Bowsfield is ready to resume pitching duties . . . Rigney reported the southpaw would be used in the bullpen until he proves his arm is completely well.

Rigney said the Angels inability to advance Albie Pearson to second after Riverside Rabbit's leadoff single in the ninth was the key to Friday evening's 9-7 defeat in 10 innings . . . "Our relief pitching gave us a chance to come back," said Rigney, "then we missed our big opportunity."

With a first inning infield single, Billy Moran lifted a hitting streak to seven games . . . Rollins raised his streak to 10 with the first-frame single.

Following today's series finale with the Twins, the Angels have a day off Monday and then open a three-game set with Cleveland Tuesday night . . . The Indian series concludes the Seraphs' first home stand . . . They leave Thursday evening for Detroit and the first of five road games at Tigertown and Cleveland.

Fans who participated in Camera Day on Thursday are asked to mail their photographs to the Angels, 1525 No. Western, Los Angeles 27.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Albert Adopts Spanish Child

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD—Eddie Albert—if he isn't careful—is going to give Hollywood a good name.

In these days when so many people don't believe anything—not even columnists—Eddie can touch you deeply with a story of how he flew to Spain and adopted a bold, untidy, little girl that nobody else wanted . . . strictly on faith.

You've heard people you know fretting about exactly the type of child they hoped to adopt.

"I came up from Africa to Paris after doing 'Roots of Heaven,'" Eddie told me, "and was flying back to Madrid to choose a child.

"It's a murderous, frightening decision to make . . . what child you want. You're worrying about the rest of your family. Some decisions you can't take on yourself.

"You might just as well lay back and let The Boss do it . . ."

* * * *

EDDIE SAID a prayer in the plane, promising that he would take the first child, assuming it to be God's choice.

"The door opened and a nun led in a little girl. I stared at her, gulped and closed my eyes . . ."

Was somebody joking?

"For there in front of me stood — the toughest, most defiant, dirtiest four-year-old I have ever seen," Eddie said later in an article in "Guidepost," which he addressed to the little girl, Maria.

"You stood with your feet planted wide apart, your eyes on the floor. Suspicions stabbed me. You might be a behavior problem . . ."

* * * *

REMEMBERING his silent pledge on the plane, Eddie gulped and said: "How do we go about adopting her?"

Everything went well for a couple of hours. Eddie took her out to a restaurant to lunch. She ate everything but the plates and silverware. He took her back to the orphanage — and Maria started screaming and kicking.

Everybody else had turned her down—now here was another one:

Eddie stayed with it—with the kicking and shrieking.

* * * *

HE FLEW HER back to his wife Margo and son Edward in California and New York. Today Maria is a charming, neat, beautifully - behaved little 7-year-old glamour girl who speaks English fluently and now and then a little Spanish . . . not too much, because it brings back unhappy memories of people who thought of adopting her but didn't.

Maria has attended schools here in New York and in Honolulu.

Her first day of school at the UN school in N.Y., Maria was "a little nervous," and when somebody mistreated her brother Edward, she leaped on the kid's back and soon had him down, asking for help.

* * * *

MARIA'S BEING brought up in "brotherhood of man" atmosphere that has even caused the Chrstian Science Monitor to comment, flatteringly, about Eddie.

"Maria and Edward are being brought up as Catholics," Eddie says, "but sometimes we take them to synagogues or other places of religious worship, so they can know about those things, too."

He believes what he said in silence on the plane was the key to Maria's whole life ahead. "To think that we accomplish every thing on our own," he says, "is naive."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Richard Hayes said on his CBS radio show that he had to change his name: "They make you do that if your name is like another entertainer's. No, not my last name. I had to change my first name . . . Helen." . . . That's Earl, brother.

FUTURE IN LAUGHS

James Stewart Back in Comedy

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jimmy Stewart is returning to comedy, convinced that movie theaters should be filled with laughs and adventure in order to fill the seats with people.

After World War II, Hollywood and European producers started making films which depicted characters who were sick, depraved, alcoholic, or drug addicted.

Production of movies for family entertainment has increased recently, but downbeat films are still with us. They probably always will be.

Stewart, and other stars, have said that Hollywood and European producers have hurt the movie business with such pictures.

* * * *

"WE HAVEN'T lost the people to television, boating or bowling," said Stewart, remakers give for poor attendance.

"The audience has always been there. They just wouldn't go see some of those pictures."

Stewart cited the success of Walt Disney's comedies, like "The Absent Minded Professor," which are playing to packed movie houses in this country and abroad. That's evidence of a desire for more comedy and family entertainment, Stewart claimed.

Wants Light Films

* * * *

DURING RECENT years, Stewart has appeared in a few comedies, his roles being in dramatic and Western pictures. Producers weren't making movies featuring Stewart's sophisticated humor.

"Up until a couple of years ago, they wouldn't go for it," he said. "It was either Martin and Lewis or Skelton, the slapstick. Or else it was the serious stuff."

* * * *

His start in the theater was marked by a debacle that would have driven less dedicated men into another profession.

"In the last play I did in New York, called 'Journey by Night,' I played an Austrian diplomat," the lanky actor said.

Had Stewart taken reviews of that play too seriously, he might never have continued acting.

The actor said critics wrote: "James Stewart wanders through the play like a befuddled tourist on the banks of the Danube," and "James Stewart is about as Austrian as hamburger."

AGELESS ROSALIND RUSSELL

Past 50, Roz Is Great in Roles--and at Box Office

EDITOR'S NOTE—When Rosalind Russell was 23 she played a middle-aged housewife. Now over 50, friends think she could play Shirley Temple in her hey day. Because Roz, one of the few actresses to reveal her true age, is truly ageless.

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If age and energy were interchangeable, Roz Russell would make Tuesday Weld look like Dame May Whitty.

That may be why Roz is one of the few feminine stars of her era who gives their birthdate in the studio biographies—June 4, 1912.

But actresses have a solid economic reason. Few over 40 sell tickets.

Male stars are box office to 60, even as romantic leading men. But, girls, it's much tougher for your side.

And that makes Miss Russell's comments significant.

"I have never been afraid of age—or playing aged character parts," she says. And her current record proves it.

* * * *

AT THE MOMENT, there is no busier actress nor bigger box office draw—save Elizabeth Taylor and Doris Day—among the women than Roz.

Producers clamor for her services—even in movie versions of stage hits that were dramatic monuments to legitimate stars.

Here's the score sheet at present.

"Majority Of One," a dramatic triumph on stage for Gertrude Berg, ideally cast as a lonely Jewish widow of 65. On screen, Roz, an Irish Catholic, came off so well that many thought she deserved a long overdue Oscar.

"Five Finger Exercise," a stage tour de force for Jessica Tandy as the neurotic female. Watch Roz in the movie version of this one.

Broadway called "Gypsy" Ethel Merman's greatest performance. Roz is now doing it on screen—and la Merman fired her longtime agents as a result.

* * * *

CONVERSLY, when Roz reached stage immortality as "Auntie Mame," Jack L. Warner wanted no one else to recreate the role in the movies. At $15 millions so far, it is the biggest grosser in Warner history.

"I know how Gertrude, Ethel and Jessica feel," sympathizes Roz. "I know what my reaction would have been if 'Auntie Mame' had gone to some other actress. I created the role and developed it. It was me for too many years to give it up."

Mervyn Leroy, who directed Roz in "Majority" and "gypsy," says he never considered anyone else for the parts.

"Great at the boxoffice."

* * * *

ROZ' FIRST Hollywood contract at MGM goes back to the days when her stablemates were Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Greta Garbo and the late Jean Harlow. But Roz endured.

She never demanded that she be the central love interest.

"As an actress in love with my profession, I have always welcomed character roles. Maybe that's because I'm such a character myself. I did 'Craig's Wife' when I was 23—and she was a middle-aged woman."

Her career never took the sexpot route although, as the late, late show on TV will attest, it could have. That's probably because Roz always had too much of the lady in her.

She kids about the fact that she never was chased around a desk by a producer.

"It used to hurt my feelings when I was younger — although I would have been frightened to death if it had happened," she says.

* * * *

ACTORS long ago quit trying to steal scenes from her. Recently young Dick Beymer tried it in "Five Finger Exercise."

"I would'nt do that, sonny," advised Roz. "I'm the producer's girl friend." And she is. Fred Brisson, her husband, produced both the play and the movie.

Brisson is one of the top stage producers — sometimes having two or three Broadway hits at the same time.

It was he who encouraged Roz to gamble with a career switch that turned out to be the most profitable move she ever made.

Somewhere along the line, Roz, by virtue of her own success, got cast as Hollywood's favorite career woman type.

By the late 40's, Roz had made 26 pictures of this sort.

WORLD WAR 11 — 20 YEARS AFTER

Fortunes of War Shifted Quickly in Africa

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles recalling people and places, campaigns and catastrophies of World War II. Subsequent articles will appear at intervals of approximately two weeks.)

By GEORGE C. FLOWERS

The fortunes of World War II changed more swiftly than the shifting desert sands in North Africa.

Not until May 12, 1943, on lonely Cape Bon east of the Gulf of Tunis, did the war in Africa end in an Allied victory. The soldiers of 11 nations had been pushing each other back and forth across the desert ever since 1939.

On July 1, 1942, the Germans and Italians had been at El Alamen, scarcely 100 miles from Cairo. In four months they lost 400 miles.

* * * *

BUT WINNING or losing 400 miles was almost par for the course in the dirty, but spectacular war for Africa. The basic issue, control of the Suez Canal, was lost to the sight of the begrimed troops who pulled and tugged across the waterless deserts.

The Americans entered the war in Africa Nov. 8, 1942, landing troops at Oran and Algiers, both west of the German lines. While they drove from the west, the British drove from the east, catching Marshal Rommel, the German "desert fox" at last in a trap he could not defend.

* * * *

PRIOR to this American assault, it seemed like the African script might be better written by Gilbert and Sullivan.

The Italians began it all in 1939 when their Libyan garrisons coveted Suez. In effect, they had the British (and their allies) in a trap, since the Italians were already behind the canal, mopping up Ethiopia. But the British beat off this by capturing Eritrea, Ethiopia and Somaliland in May of 1941, and freed troops to defend Egypt.

* * * *

THEY DEFENDED it so vigorously they nearly drove the Italians into the sea, so the Germans moved in and took command. German drives on the Suez were countered by British drives on Lybia.

The British captured a port called Tobruk, in western Lybia, on Jan. 20, 1940. Its defenders, mostly Australians who called themselves the "rats of Tobruk," were besieged April 13, 1941. On Nov. 27 they were liberated. On Dec. 3 they were besieged again. By Dec. 10 they were free, in July 1942 they were besieged again. In October of 1942 Tobruk was at last rid of the Germans.

* * * *

THE AMERICAN landings in Algeria and Morocco were virtually bloodless, because of "cloak and dagger" work that had been proceeding for a month.

An American mission had landed secretly to confer with French officers, and were assured there would be little opposition. Algiers surrendered by nightfall of invasion day; Oran surrendered Nov. 10 and Casablanca a day later.

The Americans who captured these storied towns were somewhat disappointed. Instead of glamour, they found dirt, heat and flies.

* * * *

CAPTURE of these French possessions stirred Hitler to take over all of Vichy France, and move to control the idle French fleet, based at Toulon. But the French, anticipating such a move, scuttled the majority of their 60 ships.

The Americans now launched a spirited drive on Tunisia, only to find what the British had long ago learned. The Germans were bitter fighters in the desert. Their veteran soldiers chewed up the American advance, finally halted it on Jan. 15.

* * * *

THE WEIGHT of the two attacks was more than Rommel could bear in the long run.

By Jan. 23 Rommel evacuated Tripoli and fell back to his Mareth line—a Maginot line in miniature. Almost simultaneously, he launched from behind these fortifications a counter-offensive to the west that routed the French from key positions.

The American line, spread over a 200 mile front, was Rommel's next point of attack. With big Mark VI tanks in the lead, the Germans inflicted heavy casualties, drove the Americans past the Algerian border.

* * * *

BUT ROMMEL, the fox, was to be outfoxed this time. Unable to hold the long line, the Americans grouped in depth and awaited the Germans. At Thala the American armor and planes stopped Rommel in his tracks, and now began to move.

The battered Afrika Korps turned tail. Finally it reached the shelter of the Mareth line, and Rommel now had a new problem: supplies.

* * * *

UNTIL NOW the Germans had been able to move supplies and reinforcements into Africa by boat and plane. Now the Allies controlled the sea and the air. Each lost tank was gone, forever.

The battle-taught Americans and British began, in mid-March, a steady series of attacks on the central Tunisian front. Finally General Montgomery's Eighth army breached the Mareth line. By April 6 there were six gaps in the line and the end was in sight.

* * * *

ROMMEL WAS NOT on hand for the finish. He had been recalled to Germany, then entrusted with the defense of the west coast of Europe. For Rommel, this was a mission that ended in personal tragedy.

He was away from the front when the Allies invaded Normandy, and his staff failed to realize the implications of the assault there. Recalled to Berlin for a "hearing" before Hitler, he died in an automobile accident, according to the official report. Most of his staff officers believe he committed suicide — or was slain on Hitler's orders.

* * * *

WITH ROMMEL gone, Gen. von Armin succeeded in command. Beset on almost all sides by Allied armies he was soon confronted with one of the strangest spectacles of the war.

The Free French, in faraway Tchad, organized a camel-mounted army and performed the impossible. They marched straight across the Lybian desert to join the fight.

* * * *

BUT THERE was little left to fight. The camel army that had come 1,500 incredible miles merely joined in an overwhelming assault. Town after town, port after port fell as the Allies crushed the Germans into a tight pocket on the Tunisian peninsula.

By April 11 the German line was only 120 miles long, and the Germans were fighting with their backs to the sea. On May 7 British, American and French forces finally crumbled the German defenses and marched into dirty Bizerte. On May 12, on the sands of Cape Bon, von Armin surrendered.

Besides von Armin, 16 other generals and more than 200,000 axis troops—mostly Germans—were taken prisoner.

* * * *

THE CAPTURE OF Africa enabled the Allies to springboard into Italy and Sicily from advance bases, and brought the surrender of Italy.

From African bases, long-range American bombers were used to blast out the vital oil fields of Roumania. The loss of Africa was the first major defeat inflicted upon the Germans and their Italian allies since Hitler led them into war.

The war for Africa had involved nearly 1,000,000 men.

DOUGLAS MODEL QUEENS

Winners of the Douglas Long Beach Camera Guild annual photographic contest to select four models were awarded trophies by Chester Glenn, Douglas supervisor of recreation. Nancy Chelini (second from right) was named first place winner and given the title of Camera Guild Model. Other trophy winners were (from left) Pat Hendrick, second place; Thelma Thomas, third place, and Mary Lu Barber, fourth place.

Bike Safety Week Begins Here Today

Bicycle Safety Week begins today and will wind up with a carnival-like convention of Long Beach bicyclists between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday at Jefferson Junior High School, Euclid Avenue and Seventh Street.

The Breakfast Optimist Club in cooperation with the Police Department will sponsor Saturday's outing.

J. D. Dulaney, chairman of the Optimists' Safety Week Committee, said a boy's and a girl's bicycle will be given away to winners of riding-skill contests. In addition to running the obstacle courses, he said, kids will hear lectures on traffic laws and see demonstrations on bicycle safety. Literature will be distributed, and each boy and girl will be given a bicycle sticker showing they have attended the safety course.

* * * *

DULANEY said schools have agreed to cooperate in the program and teachers will urge their students to attend the conclave Saturday.

California Highway Patrol statistics list 48 traffic deaths among bicyclists in 1961, Dulaney said. This is an increase of almost 50 per cent over 1960 figures. The CHP also says there were 3,963 injury accidents among bicyclists in the state in 1961.

Terrific Economic Impact Seen From World Fair Here

By GEORGE FLOWERS

The average visitor to the proposed Long Beach World's Fair in 1966 will spend $5.44, according to a survey made by Economic Research Associates.

The same survey predicts that a one-season fair would mean that 26 million visitors would spend $108,741,000 on the grounds. Sponsors of the fair project have not yet decided on a one or a two-season exposition.

However, Fred Hall, general manager of the fair's planning group, says that the money spent by fair visitors at the exposition—scheduled to be held on new Pier J in the Long Beach Harbor—would be but a part of the economic benefit the production would mean to Long Beach.

* * * *

IF THE FAIR is held as scheduled, Hall says, there will be three principal ways in which the city of Long Beach, and its adjacent communities, will benefit. He lists these as:

1.—The permanent improvements made on Pier J.

2. The monies spent by fair visitors for housing, services and goods outside the fair grounds.

3—Attraction of new industry, both as the immediate result of the construction on Pier J and as the result of the advertising of the communities' facilities.

* * * *

"AEROJET GENERAL Corp.'s planning and engineering staff has been instructed to plan each of the fair's major buildings as a permanent addition to the community. As these artists and planners now conceive the development of Pier J, it could include a world trade center, recreational and cultural facilities that the city would not otherwise be able to construct. Such plans would be subject to Harbor Commission approval.

"Such entertainment facilities as required by the fair, for example, could be so planned that they would become permanent municipal assets.

"Outdoor and indoor staging of shows are conceived on basis that the departure of the fair will leave the community with facilities for meetings, concerts and cultural facilities now beyond the scope of the community."

The fair's central building, Hall says, could be designed so that it will become the home of a permanent World Trade exhibit.

* * * *

"WE HOPE TO INDUCE major exhibitors to plan their buildings in the same fashion," Hall declares.

"A major steel company, for example, might be asked to design its exhibit structure so that it will later become an office or sales center, a permanent commercial development for Long Beach."

Economic Research Associates, who made the economic feasibility survey for such projects as Disneyland and the Seattle World's Fair, estimate that the proposed Long Beach exposition will draw 3,600,000 out-of-state tourists, if held on a one season basis.

The survey indicates that the average Fair visitor will spend 11 cents for parking, $1.75 for main gate admission, 50 cents for shows and spectacles, $1.23 for rides and amusements, 93 cents for food and beverage, and 92 cents for merchandise.

* * * *

"THIS IS the survey upon which we must build our plans for staging the fair," Hall says, "but it does not include the monies these people will spend in Long Beach and neighboring communities.

"Millions of people will need housing accommodations in the area, and will eat and shop outside the grounds. Millions of them may want to include Disneyland and Marineland in their itinerary. We expect that millions of these visitors will be here on summer vacation, and will be keenly interested in the beaches and recreation facilities of Southern California."

* * * *

IN THE WAKE of the Fair, Hall believes, will come permanent commercial development.

"We believe that this development will not be confined to Pier J, or to the permanent structures exhibitors may erect there.

"The tremendous impact of our resources, facilities and markets upon visitors to the fair cannot be under-estimated."

Sears Store Here to Get 'Facelift'

Sears Long Beach store will get a $200,000 facelift beginning Monday, manager Charles W. Teed announced.

The modernisitc facing for the store—one of the nation's oldest Sears plants—is part of a $1 million modernization and expansion program undertaken last year, Teed said. The improvement program includes a 35-car service station, relocated and expanded garden shop, interior modernization of the main building and increase in parking facilities.

"Sears," Teed said, "has great faith in the future of downtown Long Beach.

* * * *

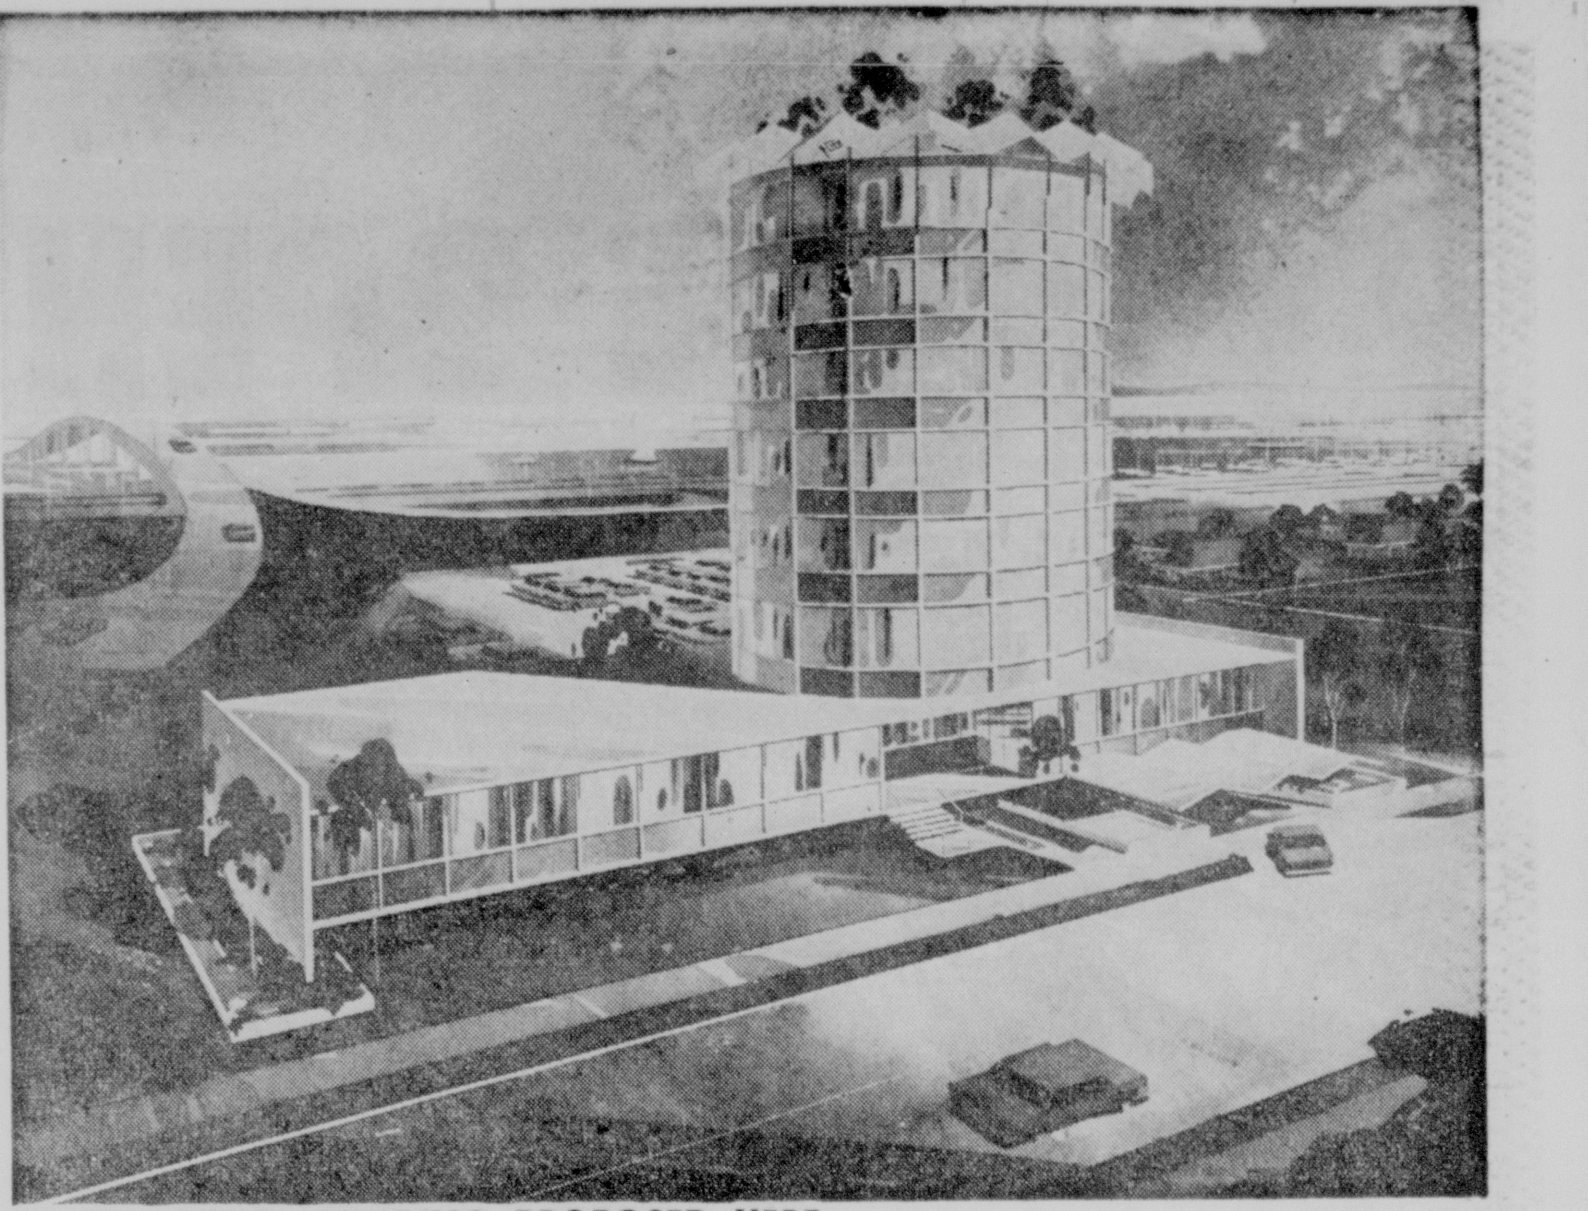
"THE MANY NEW buildings and shoreline improvements the city is getting plus numerous other progressive activities gives our company faith to make this investment in one of its oldest retail facilities," Teed said.

The Long Beach Sears store was established in 1928—just one year after the nationwide company first entered the retail department store field. Before that the firm had dealt exclusively by mail-order.

The modernization program will present new fronts to both Fifth Street and Long Beach Blvd.

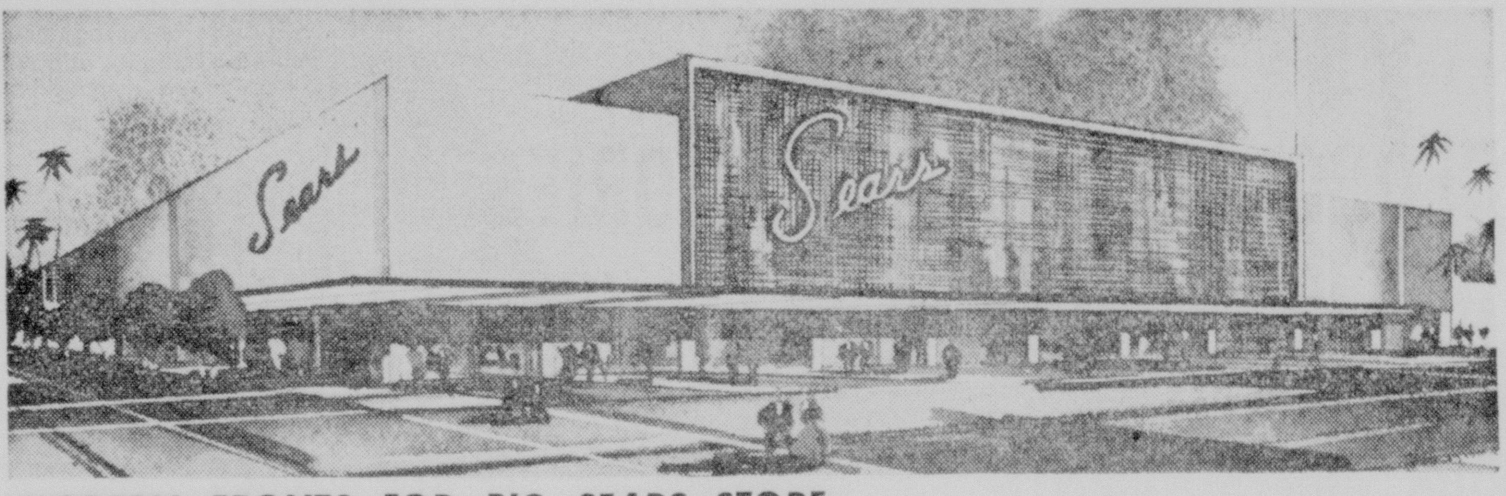
The exterior was designed by Stiles and Robert Clements, architects. Construction will be done by Intergrated, Inc. and will take about six months, Teed said.

Rock, aluminum and steel will be used in the design.



ROUND OFFICE BUILDING PROPOSED HERE

Plans for the construction of this towering circular office building at Second St. and Naples Plaza near the Marina were announced Saturday. The $1,000,000 structure would contain 32,000 square feet of office space. In this drawing the E. Second St. extension across Davies Bridge is seen at left.



MODERN FRONTS FOR BIG SEARS STORE

Work will start Monday on a $200,000 facelifting program at the Sears Long Beach store, Charles W. Teed, manager, announced. This artist's conception shows how the new front will appear. Teed said the many new buildings and shoreline developments here boosted the company's faith in downtown Long Beach and the modernization program is being made.

Plan to Construct Circular Building Overlooking Marina

Plans for erection of a 7½-story circular office building near the Long Beach Marina were announced Saturday by a Seal Beach Investment firm.

Actual construction of Costa Tierra Tower at East Second St. and Naples Plaza should get under way within 45 days, reported officials of T and T Investment Corp. The four officials of the corporation are D. K. Turner, D. S. Turner, B. Gearhart and W. B. Moffett.

The firm currently is engaged in building a 52-unit luxury apartment in Seal Beach on Bolsa Ave., just east of the Long Beach Marina. They also have built 25 homes in Seal Beach in recent months.

* * * *

WHILE PURCHASE of the land is now in escrow, some of it being purchased from the City of Long Beach, the firm has submitted the plans to the building department for approval.

There will be 32,000 square feet of office space in the structure, including a large first floor level designed to house an institution such as a bank or insurance firm. The suites in the large circular tower would be served by high speed elevators in the center.

Atop the structure will be space for a big restaurant. Ample parking will be provided underground.

To cost approximately $1 million, the structure was designed by Dorothy R. Fulmer of Garden Grove. It will be approximately 100 feet tall.

Realty Program by Jim McElroy

The program for the North Long Beach Real Estate Club Thursday morning will be given by Jim McElroy of the C-T Termite Co. He will show colored slides taken at the installation of the Long Beach Real Estate Board. The club meets at 8 a.m. at Mayo's Restaurant, 5925 Cherry Ave.

Name Art Stephan Manager of Newport Harbor News-Press

Art Stephan, auto editor for the Independent, Press-Telegram since 1958, has been named general manager of the Newport Harbor News-Press, it was announced Saturday. Bill Emery was named to succeed Stephan as auto editor.

Purchase of the Newport newspaper by Twin Coast Newspapers, Inc., from Mr. and Mrs. Ben Redick was revealed earlier in the week.

Publishers of the Long Beach Press-Telegram and Independent, and the Pasadena Star News and Independent, Twin Coast Newspapers Inc., recently completed acquisition of the Garden Grove News and companion publications, the Independents of Orange, Santa Ana and North Orange County. Reddick's companion publication, the Orange County Free Press also was acquired with the purchase of the News-Press.

ART STEPHAN
Named to Executive Post

* * * *

STEPHAN, a resident of Long Beach since 1923, began his career in newspaper work in 1933 as a copy boy on the Press-Telegram. After service in the Navy he returned to the newspaper and took a job in the composing room where he worked six years. After a second period of service in the Navy he joined the Independent in 1944 as an advertising salesman.

Following the merger of the Independent and Press-Telegram Stephan joined the Ridder-Johns Advertising Agency in Los Angeles and in 1958 returned to the I, P-T and became auto editor and manager of automotive advertising.

BILL EMERY
New I, P-T Auto Editor

* * * *

EMERY, a graduate of the school of journalism at Montana State, has been a retail advertising salesman with the I,P-T six years, handling accounts in the North Long Beach area. He came to Long Beach from Santa Paula where he was business manager of the Chronicle.

Carol Greenlee will succeed Emery on the retail advertising staff. With the Los Angeles Examiner when it closed, Greenlee has been working on the Costa Mesa Globe-Herald.

Will Manage Bethlehem Plant

Joseph F. Nichols, former resident of Long Beach, has been appointed manager of Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Staten Island, N. Y., foundry and propeller plant.

Nichols was superintendent of production control at Bethlehem's ship repair yard, Terminal Island, and also held supervisory posts in the company's San Francisco yard.

World's Fair Man to Talk

Glenn Bourret, assistant to executive vice president for the World's Fair, will be the speaker at the breakfast meeting of the Long Beach Board of Realtors Tuesday at the Crown Cafeteria.

Bourret, a specialist in the exhibit and display profession, will speak on the economic, educational and entertainment benefits of the forthcoming international exposition.

Bourret has been associated with Northrop Corp. and Industrial Displays, Inc, prior to coming to California. He operated his own exhibit, convention and show management business in Kansas City.

BIG HOMES OFFERED

Park Avenue Estates in Anaheim, located in the exclusive Westmont area of Anaheim, offers 2,500-square-foot houses situated on 10,000-square-foot lots which create an atmosphere of spaciousness and suburban living. Yet they are located only blocks from downtown Anaheim. Here is one model.

Innovation in Home Building Is Practiced by Buccola Firm

George D. Buccola, prominent Orange County builder and developer is credited with an innovation in home construction—an innovation that he admits is the key element of the formula that has resulted in more than a decade of outstanding and uninterrupted success in the building and selling of houses.

He labels it "Operation Dispersal" . . . and explains it like this: "The two most important things we have learned from home buyers in 14 years of building and selling more than $30 million worth of residential property are:

(1) There is a crying need for more space, more bedrooms and more baths . . . because of expanding families and activities. This is the reason for our four and five-bedroom, three-bath homes ranging in size from 2150 sq. ft. and 2500 sq. ft.

(2) There is an ever-increasing desire on the part of home-buyers to have their own distinctive design . . . and thereby avoid the "sameness" that has characterized tract homes in the past.

* * * *

"BASED ON this experience, and information gleaned from our various continuing surveys and studies of buying habits, we have developed what we call 'Operation Dispersal' for our various developments—which means there are actually many areas in which we build and offer homes for sale . . . and all at the same time.

"This gives the home-buyer three advantages: (1) Choice of locations—in areas carefully selected for value rather than size along; (2) the savings made possible by multi-construction purchasing for more than 100 homes at the same time; and (3) an individually-selected home that is one of a few rather than one of a hundred."

Employing this theory the Buccola organization purchases land in the most select communities . . . and in parcel sizes from 2 to 10 acres, thereby avoiding the disadvantage and buyer- resistance to tracts.

* * * *

ACTUALLY, according to Buccola, the success in his organization has attained in the home construction field is as simple as one-two-three; (1) Best Design . . . (2) Most House . . . (3) Best Location.

Three of Buccola's developments now selling in Orange County are: (Park Avenue Estates in the Exclusive Westmont Area of Anaheim located at the corner of North and West Streets; Sherwood Estates—Tustin, located on Yorba Street, just east of the intersection of 17th St. and Tustin Ave.: and Sherwood West in Newport Beach's Back Bay area . . . 21st and Irvine Ave.

Walker & Lee Show Big Home Sale Gain

First quarter returns for 1962 show a dollar volume of $22,945,981.50 worth of real estate sales for Walker & Lee, Inc., Frank R. Hart, executive vice president, announced.

The dollar volume of real estate sales represents 1,053 houses sold, of which 541 were resales and 512 new homes. Included in the total is $1,796,981.50 for acreage sales.

"The total sales figure for Walker & Lee is a sharp, 20 per cent increase for the same period in 1961," Hart said.

He added that the increased first quarter business indicates a substantial rising trend in home ownership.

* * * *

"WALKER & LEE'S first coordinated advertising program plus intensified training schedules for salesmen accounts for the company's percentage of increase in dollar volume," the executive said.

(Last year's gross sales for the real estate firm totaled $85,468,000, a 12½ per cent increase over 1960 business.)

In the Lakewood-Long Beach area where six Walker & Lee offices operate, dollar volume was $4,259,275 for the first quarter, Art Hancock, manager and vice president, said. Offices are Carson Street, Woodruff Center, Los Altos, Park Estates, Palos Verde and Dutch Village.

* * * *

OPERATING 14 offices and 28 subdivisions in Orange, Los Angeles and Ventura counties Walker & Lee has long been a leader in the real estate field through its intensive and continuing sales training program for salesmen.

The firm is preparing a book, "The W&L Encyclopedia of Real Esate Knowledge." It will be published late this year and will contain the combined knowledge of the firm's professional managers and salesmen plus latest financial information.

Early Buyers Can Make Custom Changes in Home

During early stages of the new eighth unit at Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach, buyers will have a strong voice in the building of their homes, said Jim McCarthy, president of the McCarthy Co., co-builders with Sant Construction.

"We believe in doing many of the important 'little' things no other builder will do," McCarthy said. "Buyers at Golden West can have a cement driveway, changes in color schemes and counter-top patterns, choice of gas or electric oven, shake shingle roofs, a dishwasher, extra electric outlets where they want them, and many other custom touches. Obviously, we'll have to withdraw this offer when construction gets too far along, but right now the buyer is boss."

* * * *

THE EIGHTH unit will be the last McCarthy indicated. Enthusiastic buyer response has all but used up the land allotted to this ocean-close development.

Offered with three or four bedrooms, two baths, a large family room, and an oversized two-car garage, the Golden West homes are priced as low as $17,800. Buyers may take advantage of VA no-down-payment terms, $695-down conventional terms, or 35-year, 5¼% FHA terms. Under Golden West's special lay-away plan, $100 reserves any home while the buyer builds up to his down payment.

* * * *

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached by driving east on 7th Street (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Golden West Street, then right (south) to furnished models.

Instrument Co. to New Plant

Cahn Instrument Co. announces completion of new and larger quarters at 15505 Minnesota Ave., Paramount. The new plant is more than five times the size of the former one.

The California balance maker's sales, shipments and personnel all more than doubled in 1961. This is attributed to wide acceptance of its new line of GRAM Electrobalances and to the success of the expanded marketing program.

The new plant is one story, of concrete tilt-up construction, and is located in a new industrial park in the city of Paramount. It is close to the Southern California freeway system, and readily accessible from the entire area.

Local Realty Head Raps Tax Proposal

Ownership and transfer of real estate will suffer a serious blow if the recent recommendations of the Secretary of the Treasury to the Senate Finance Committee to curb capital gains on real estate sales is enacted by the Congress, says James A. Edmonds, Jr., president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors.

The Treasury Department's recommendation would substitute the present high ordinary income tax rates for the lower capital gains rate on the sale of real estate which has been subject to tax depreciation allowances and held for six years. After that the ordinary income rates would apply to less of the gain, but a property owner would have to hold property 14 years and 4 months before all of the gain would be taxed at capital gains rates, explained Edwards. This affects all real estate which is used in a trade or business or is otherwise income-producing such as apartment houses or single-family dwellings held for rent.

IN ADDITION, the Treasury wants to end all depreciation deduction methods except the straight-line method.

Edmonds pointed out that the National Association of Real Estate Boards testified against the Treasury proposals recently before the Senate Finance Committee.

He explained that the Treasury recommendations would have an adverse effect upon investments in new industrial, commercial, and residential construction because the higher tax on the gain would prove a substantial deterrent to the sale of real estate and reinvestment of the sales proceeds in new construction.

EDMONDS ADDED that these changes run counter to the central purpose of the tax bill which passed the House March 29. "On one hand," he said, "the administration wants to provide a tax credit to stimulate construction of plant equipment, machinery, air conditioning, washing machines, bowling alleys, furnaces, electric ranges, and just about everything but buildings. Not only are buildings excluded from the investment credit provisions, but the Treasury wants Congress to penalize investors in real estate.

"Members of the local real estate board are uniting with Realtors all across the country in opposing this proposal," he said.

Heart Beat Beeps During Operation

CHICAGO (AP)—Doctors and nurses can now listen to or see how a patient's heart is behaving during an operation and in the hospital recovery room.

A small electronic, battery-powered instrument produced here (by Chemetron Corp.) translates heartbeats into beeping sound or a flashing light when it is strapped to a human or animal.

Win Realty Sales Honor

Lawrence 'Slim' Toner, chairman of the Multiple Listing Committee of the Long Beach Board of Realtors announced the winners of the March multiple listing contest were John Reed, Realtor, most sales; and O. G. 'Bud' Andrews with Tom Stevens, secured the most listings through the multiple for March.

Reed is a native of Long Beach, is married, and has two girls. He opened his office in 1947 at 401 E. Market St., and has been at this location since. He has been a member of the board of directors and was secretary-treasurer in 1958. He has been chairman of the Multiple Listing Committee of board and has been active on many other committees.

JOHN REED

O. G. ANDREWS

Andrews was born in Long Beach, graduated from Poly Hi in 1943 and is now attending City College to major in real estate. He is married and has two children. His hobby is fishing. Andrews was associated with Hamer Valve 14 years. He was on the board of directors with Hamer and also on the board of directors of Page Oil Tool. He has been working in property management since 1958 but only started selling real estate in December of 1961.

Industrial Park in Los Alamitos Opens

Construction is under way on the initial plant located in "Los Alamitos Industrial Park," the first planned industrial development in southwest Orange County, according to Bill Brooks, Realtor, President of Katella Industrial Developments, Inc., owners and developers. This 40-acre Industrial Park will represent an investment of over $10 million when all the buildings are completed and occupied.

Western Restaurant Equipment Co., designers and manufacturers of restaurant equipment, is constructing an 18,000 sq. ft. pre-cast concrete building on a one-acre site in the first unit of the development. The building was designed by Robert Parlee, engineer, and is being constructed by Parkko Construction Co.

* * * *

"THIS IS ONE of the most important events in the history of this community," said James B. Bell, Mayor of Los Alamitos. "The investments by industries in this modern Industrial Park will furnish an excellent economic base for the community and provide jobs, for many hundreds of our citizens."

"The plans for this Industrial Park are the result of a survey of many parks throughout the United States," said Bill Brooks. "The architectural committee, headed by Richard Poper, A.I.A., which will supervise the construction and landscaping requirements of buildings in the park, will assure an orderly and attractive development program and help to create one of the area's outstanding industrial districts."

ON KATELLA Avenue, a short distance west of the future San Gabriel Freeway, this is Orange County's closest industrial location to the Long Beach Harbor area. With the completion of the Katella Avenue bridge across the San Gabriel River soon, it will be a very short distance to the San Diego Freeway.

All buildings constructed in the park will be required to provide uniform setbacks with landscaping, and streets are paved for their entire width between lot lines. Heavy industry utilities and available rail service makes this one of the area's most desirable locations for industry.

Quality, Low Price Appeal to Buyers

Outstanding quality features, and a small down payment, have been among reasons for purchase of Lakewood East Sunshine homes, according to S. V. Hunsaker, president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers.

A low down payment of $195 starts the buyer on home ownership in one of these attractive homes which have three bedrooms, two full baths, family room, and large two-car garage.

* * * *

QUALITY FEATURES not usually found in homes of this price range are wall-to-wall carpet, silent forced air heat, and all-copper plumbing. The ultra-modern kitchens are equipped with built-in range and oven with hood and exhaust fan over range, disposal, vinyl tile, Formica counter tops, and natural finish cabinets. Specifications also include metal sliding windows with screens and ample closet space.

Located only minutes from the metropolitan industrial area and within easy driving distance to Southland major resort and recreational spots, Lakewood East Sunshine homes are centrally located on Del Amo Blvd. just west of Pioneer Blvd. Furnished model homes are open daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Lecture Course on Investments

A four-week investment course will be held at the Whaley Park Recreation Center at 5620 East Atherton St.

John Wells, resident manager of Dean Witter & Co., announced the class would begin April 25, at 7:30 p.m. The series will include a discussion of investment objectives, who should invest, current investments and Mutual Funds. There will be no charge.

To Manage Branch Bank

Officer changes at the Westminster-Midway City Office of First Western Bank & Trust Co. have been announced.

John M. Adam, former assistant manager, has been promoted to manager, following the transfer of James B. Allen to Garden Grove. The new assistant manager is John T. Moore.

J. M. Adam

Adam began his banking career with Pacific National Bank of Long Beach in 1954. He joined First Western in 1955 and has been at the Westminster-Midway City office since 1960. A member of the Westminster Optimist Club, and the Pacific Coast Club and B.P.O. Elks of Long Beach, Adam and his wife, Arlyne, make their home in Long Beach.

A GEORGE D. BUCCOLA DEVELOPMENT

ANOTHER DOLL HOUSE
Model homes of Park Estates, located in south Santa Ana are open daily for inspection from 9 to 9. Another in Henry C. Cox's Doll House series of homes, they are in five, four and three-bedroom, one and two-story models.

Henry Cox's Newest Unit Sells Rapidly

The big five, four and three-bedroom homes of Park Estates in south Santa Ana are selling far ahead of schedule, according to a spokesman. Park Estates, Henry C. Cox's 69th Orange County development, will be the largest single home development, 461 homes, in the history of the city of Santa Ana.

Buyers have five model homes, which are open from 9 to 9 daily, from which to select the size of home that best fits their family's needs. The two story, four bedroom, two bath home with 1680 square feet of livable area is the most popular, closely followed by the five bedroom, two bath, 1780 square foot home. Three-bedroom homes, as well as the four-bedroom, one-story homes, are also getting their share of buyers. All Park Estates homes have two baths.

* * * *

PARK ESTATES is another in the big, beautiful Doll House series of homes by Cox. Full prices stop at $22,550, down payments begin at $1,000 on FHA, with no down to GI's. The homes have been inspected and insured by the FHA for 30 year loans at 5¼% interest.

Visit the model homes any day of the week. Drive south on either Bristol or Harbor to West Warner Avenue (formerly Delhi Road). Park Estates homes are located on the corner of Raitt Street and West Warner a half mile west of Bristol. Sales agent is Bert Elstad.

GI Loan Deadline Nearing for Some

The doors of the GI Loan program will close for certain veterans of World War II on July 25, according to Mort Webster, manager of VA's Southern California regional office.

By recent legislation, Congress enacted a "phase-out" formula for setting the last date certain veterans could apply for a VA-guaranteed loan.

Webster explained: "The veteran has 10 years from the date of his discharge from his last period of active service, plus an additional year of eligibility for each three months of active wartime service."

For some World War II veterans that deadline is going to come on July 25. For others it may be July 25, 1967, which is the outside limit.

State Families Average $9,700 in Life Insurance

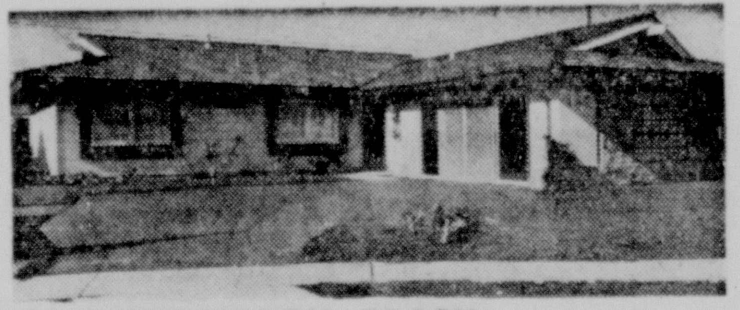
California families, at the end of 1961, owned an average of $9,700 each in life insurance, according to Herman J. Wulfsberg Jr., president of the 6,200 member California Association of Life Underwriters. Total life insurance ownership in California, he stated, amounted to $60 billion at year's end.

"This amount," the Long Beach district manager for Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. said, "represents an increase of 10 per cent since the end of 1960."

* * * *

ORDINARY LIFE insurance purchases in California for the 12 month period amounted to $453.3 million, about five per cent more than the corresponding period of 1960.

A by-product of increased family protection through life insurance, Wulfsberg pointed out, is the investment of life insurance dollars in California creating and maintaining jobs and doing much to boost the economy of the state. Aiding the consumer and the businessman, life insurance investment capital has gone into a cross section of the state's economy. By year-end U.S. life insurance companies had invested $5,458 million in the state's mortgages, $558 million of the real estate and $159 million of state and local government bonds.



IN HUNTINGTON BEACH

Bolsa Park Offers Four-Bedroom Home

Two custom four-bedroom plans, each with family room and marble-type entry floors, are popular with large and growing families visiting Bola Park in Huntington Beach, said sales director Ernie Merrill.

"One plan has all four bedrooms in an entirely separate wing — isolated from living areas and work areas," he said. "Like all Bolsa Park plans, these include an oversized garage with plenty of work space."

Located near the new Huntington Harbor, Bolsa Park homes offer extra-large "boat lots" at no extra cost. These lots are accessible through a 20-foot paved alley, and include room for storing a boat plus swimming-pool space.

Bolsa Park is offering lath and plaster construction plus an extensive use of ceramic tile.

"THE THIRD unit will open shortly, with slightly higher prices forced by rising costs," Merrill said. "Meanwhile, there is still a good selection in the present units."

Priced at present from $19,250, the Bolsa Park homes are available with 35-year, 5¼ per cent FHA terms, Va no-down-payment terms and conventional 6 per cent terms.

From Long Beach, the homes may be visited by following Seventh Street east to Valley View Street, turning right two miles to models.

Chamber Will Seat Members of Board

Ten new directors of the Chamber of Commerce, elected in balloting by 2,700 members, will be installed at the chamber's annual membership meeting Monday at the Lafayette Hotel.

New officers for 1962-63 to be installed are: President, Orville W. Cole, M.D.; first vice president, Robert L. Mytinger, Mytinger Corp.; second vice president, Robert L. Irvin, public relations counsel, and treasurer, J. S. Jacobs, J. S. Jacobs Co.

THE NEW directors, elected to three-year terms, are: Richard A. Bixby, Jotham Bixby Co.; Lyle Huggins, Lyle Huggins Insurance Agency; C. F. Liebenguth, Bank of America; Paul D. McClaughry, Windes, McClaughry & Co.; Robert L. Mytinger, Mytinger Corp.; M. A. Nishkian, M. A. Nishkian & Co.; Dan Ridder, Independent, Press-Telegram; Stanley Schultz, Aaron Schultz Furniture, Donald R. Smith, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; George P. Taubman, Denio, Hatr, Taubman & Simpson, attorneys.

The new directors will serve with 20 incumbent directors whose terms have not yet expired.

Six directors appointed to special one-year terms are also being installed. They are: Orville Artz, Realtor; George W. Johns, Buffums'; Theodore H. Robbins, C. I. U.; Claude Ryerson, Ryerson Realty, Inc.; Gordon Sandberg, Advance Truck Co.; Leo Schultz, Leo Schultz Furniture Co.

Realty Classes Opening Monday

The third 1962 session of the Moore Real Estate School starts Monday, at 7 p.m. at 4151 E. Carson St.

There will be a discussion on "Real Estate as a Career and License Laws" which will be open to the public at that time. The program offered is to prepare students for phases of realty covered in the state examination.

Jack B. Krueger, sales manager of Moore Realty, will teach the four-week course which will include eight night classes.

IN HUNTINGTON HILLS
Proximity to the beaches and marinas has always been one of the attractions of Huntington Hills, the "Sea View" community in Huntington Beach. Officials said advent of summer and its outdoor fun has already been reflected in the home sales.

New Sunshine Units Provide Low Terms

Southern California families find all the most wanted features in Huntington Beach Sunshine homes, according to S. V. Hunsaker, president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers.

Huntington Beach Sunshine homes feature a large family room, wall-to-wall carpet, forced-air heat, plenty of closets, floor-to-ceiling wardrobe doors. Kitchens include built-in range and oven with hood and exhaust fan, natural finish cabinets, Formica counter tops, vinyl tile floors, and garbage disposal.

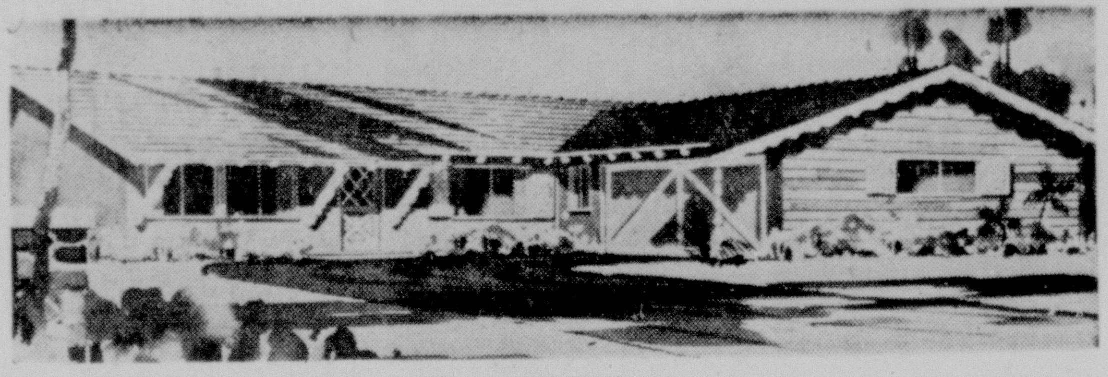
* * * *

THESE QUALITY homes have three and four bedrooms, two full baths, and large two-car garage. Unit 1 homes may be purchased with no down payment and only $95 down is required for the purchase of unit 2 homes.

Huntington Beach Sunshine homes are located in a fine section of Orange County close to schools, churches, and shopping centers and just minutes to the beaches and recreation areas and near both Orange County and Long Beach industrial centers. Unit 1 is situated adjacent to a park site on Heil Ave. just off Golden West St.

Unit 2 is located on Golden West and Smeltzer in Huntington Beach.

Furnished model homes are open at both units daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.



STRATEGICALLY LOCATED HOMES

With Summer Near, Home Sales Spurt

Prospect of summer outdoor fun is beginning to have a marked effect on home sales at "Sea view" Huntington Hills, community of hillside luxury homes in Huntington Beach, according to W. D. McCaffrey, sales agent.

Then too, McCaffrey said, Huntington Hills attractive residences are so easy to own, whether the buyer is a veteran or non-veteran. For the veteran buyer there is a total "move in" of just $88, and for all others there are the new, low 35-year FHA terms. Full prices are from $17,500.

* * * *

THIS PRICE includes a roster of luxury and convenience features. Soundly constructed, the three and four-bedroom, two-bath with family room homes, have oak floors, accoustical-type ceilings, natural mahogany paneling, forced-air heating and luxurious baths with colored plumbing fixtures and marble tops.

Included are fireplaces, sliding glass doors open to the patio garden area, entry halls floored with slate, and the step-saving kitchens are appliance-equipped.

Designed with room for a dinette area, the kitchens all have built-in gas wall oven and countertop range, double sinks with sink-installed disposer, natural ash cabinets, and over the sink, swing spout faucet.

Butcher Is Seldom Seen in Big Market

OMAHA (UPI) — Shed a tear for the genial old-time butcher with the straw hat and limitless knowledge about meat, politics, child psychology and the weather.

He's vanishing, nationally, at the rate of nearly 20,000 a year.

Where the monarch of meats once presided over the chopping block, ready to answer all questions, there increasingly is only a refrigerated showcase loaded with prepackaged cuts.

In most stores when a female wants to chat with the butcher, she must first sound a buzzer.

Studies by one firm (Paramount Paper Products Co.) show that the buzzer makes most women think twice, asking—"Is this buzz necessary."

* * * *

WOMEN TOLD the firm's pollsters that the buzzer is full of all sorts of psychological blocks.

"When you go up and ring that bell, other women look at you like you're some kind of a troublemaker or believe you're special," one woman said.

"The way some of them sniff when you do it, you'd think you had a crush on the butcher."

Other comments:

—"When he slides open that secret panel, you feel as if you're trying to buy opium or something."

—"I don't like to ring the bell because I'm afraid I'm taking the man away from his work."

—"If the butcher was right out there where I could see him, I would wait for a good chance and ask my question."

Tribesmen Say It by Poetry

CAIRO (AP)—A man who wants a wife among the western desert tribes of Egypt must be a poet. The woman can cheat a little—by getting someone else to help her write the verses.

By ancient custom, courtship usually flourishes around some desert well in the early morning hours. A boy seeing a girl who brings that old light to his eyes will begin singing a poem he has composed.

Jobs for Youth Said Vital Need

NEW YORK (UPI —One of the most immediate problems facing youth is the need to find jobs which fill the individual's need for status and satisfaction, it was reported at the annual conference of the Child Study Association of America.

"Lack of such jobs contributes directly to delinquency," Mrs. Clarence K. Whitehill, president of the national family education organization, said.

THEY'LL HAVE TO PAY INCOME TAX

There Is 'Dollar Green' in Pastures for These Old Execs

By WARD CANNEL

PITTSBURGH (NEA) — Something had obviously gone wrong with the plan. It had been meant only to be a sort of retirement-age hobby. But right from the start it got out of hand. And consequently Lew Palley, now 72, will have to begin paying the federal penalty.

The trouble, quite simply, is that Palley's Retirement idea has struck, inadvertently, a new—and very profitable—vein in the U.S. economy. Palley's plan, and dozens like it springing up in almost every major city today, works like this:

1. Retirement age for most of the nation is merely an arbitrary date set down in company policy.

2. More often than not, it isolates men with tremendous experience, and seals off the good they could do for their nation and community.

3. There is nothing left for these men to do. One man, Palley says with a shudder, went to Europe three times within two years of his retirement because he didn't know what else to do.

4. So, why not bring a number of highly experienced retirees together, form an association, and offer consulting and advisory services to business and industry at a nominal price.

* * * *

"THE MORE I thought about it," Palley says, "the better I liked the idea. And by the time I was ready to retire from my own steel fabricating company six years ago, the machinery for the plan was already in motion."

The organization was named Associated Senior Executives. There were only two limitations on membership. A man had to be a vice president—or higher—of the firm that retired him. And he had to agree not to work more than 4½ days per week for Palley's A.S.E., and no more than five hours per day.

Within three years, the Senior Executives were at work: an ad agent, a labor relations expert, an engineer, a merchandising specialist, a banker, a personnel director, and like that.

* * * *

NONE OF US had to worry about money," Palley said, "so we opened our office doors asking a $150 per day fee. We could have charged less, but a man—especially a retired man—has his dignity to think of."

Right from the beginning it was great fun. They showed an inventor how to set up his own business and make money. They redesigned a package for increased sales. They reorganized a couple of manufacturing plants. One Senior Executive, recently retired from a mammoth Pittsburgh industry, was called by his former firm to get his old department back in shape.

"One of the nicest jobs we got," Palley says, "was an advertising agency with a minor personnel problem. We took the assignment just as the owner was about to take a business trip. For some reason he took a fancy to his problems, many of which he had never even seen. By the time he got back, we had built a wonderful company for him.

"We could make it even better and stronger. But it's just not right to keep advising an owner to stay away from his own office."

Well, the A.S.E. was going along like this when a curious thing happened. The first sign Palley had of it was a stream of applications for membership from executives who said they would take an early retirement from their companies if they could get into A.S.E.

* * * *

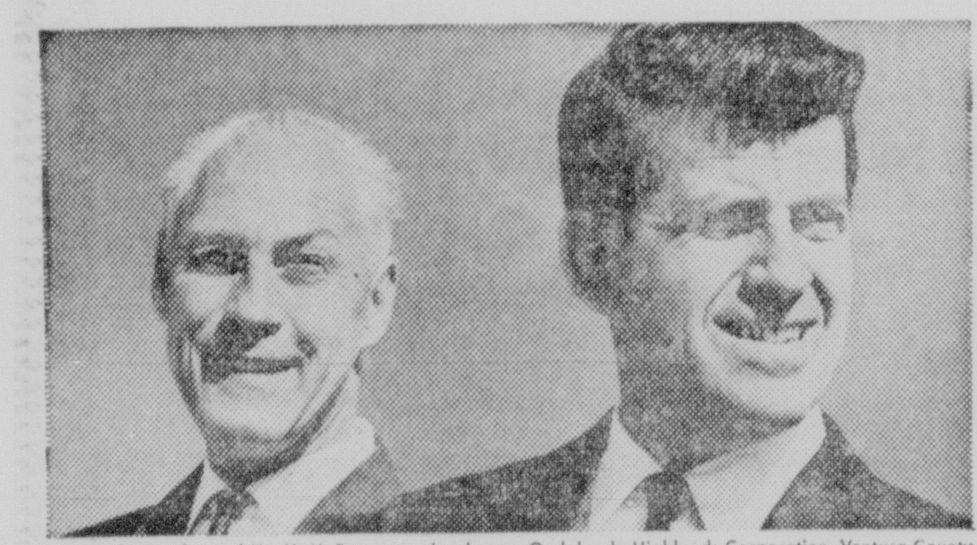
THE NEXT SIGN was a broadening surge of new business. A sales analysis here. A product evaluation there. A query by several companies on whether to merge. And, most recently, a visit from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with an urgent problem in public works.

"Don't you see what's happening to us?" Palley says sadly. "We're going to have to pay an income tax this year. We're making a profit. And there's a penalty for that sort of thing.

"Oh, it wasn't supposed to have worked out like this at all. Not at all."

Emotional Ills Hit Young Boys

NEW YORK (UPI) — The greatest incidence of childhood emotional problems occurs among boys aged nine to 12, who outnumber disturbed girls of the same age by two to one, reports Dr. Stella Chess, child psychiatrist at Flower-Fifth Avenue Hospital.



MEDALLION HOME
LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

Mr. D. N. Pender and Mr. H. M. Ferguson, developers, Ondulando Highlands Corporation, Ventura County

"WE BUILD ALL KINDS, BUT WE PREFER MEDALLION HOMES"

"I've seen the trend to electric living steadily increasing every year," says Mr. Pender. "But it wasn't until I built a Medallion Home for myself that I fully realized the many wonderful benefits you get from electricity."

"As a builder, I was impressed by the quality of the wiring; and my wife says cooking is a pleasure in the cleanliness and coolness of our electric kitchen—especially in the summer months."

"The next home I build for myself will definitely be a Medallion Home," declares Mr. Ferguson.

"We're going all out to meet this demand for total-electric homes by building every house in our new Private Club Estates development to measure up to Medallion Home standards."

The confidence of these veteran builders shouldn't be ignored. If you are in the market for a new home now, make sure it bears the Medallion Home Award.

Only one new home in four earns this distinction. These are the qualifications:

1. A flameless electric kitchen—cool, clean, modern. It comes equipped with major electric appliances, including automatic flameless electric range and oven.

2. Full "Housepower" wiring—Only a home built to rigid Medallion Home standards has the overall electrical capacity necessary for truly modern living.

3. Abundant lighting—planned for comfort, convenience and beauty throughout the home.

A total-electric Gold Medallion Home gives you all these benefits plus:

4. Flameless electric space and water heating.

Sol Vista Is Unveiling Another Unit of Homes

The 23rd unit of Sol Vista Luxury Series Homes will be unveiled this weekend in Huntington Beach, Al Solomon, president of Alco-Pacific announced.

The famous Sol Vista series homes are constructed by the Alco-Pacific Construction Co., Inc., one of the most widely-known building firms in California, with a reputation for excellent workmanship and quality construction. The firm's slogan, "A full measure of value" is no idle boast, Solomon stated. "We pride ourselves on giving the very best possible value in well built and minutely designed details in every home we sell.

* * * *

THESE HOMES are built upon "raised" foundations with gleaming hardwood floors supported with a two-inch tongue and grooved subflooring. They include floor-to-ceiling fireplaces with log lighter, forced-air heat with thermostat control, colored bath fixtures by American Standard, stall showers with safety glass doors, insulation by Johns-Manville, large "walk-in" wardrobe closets and many other quality features.

These spacious homes include the Medallion all-electric kitchen featuring the Frigidaire double oven, range and Frigidaire dishwasher. Also included is color coordinated range hood and light with electric fan, disposals and ash cabinets.

Sol Vista Homes are located in Huntington Beach, Westminster and Santa Ana. The buyer may choose the Sol Vista Home of his choice from one centrally located sales office. All these developments are in close proximity to the ocean, schools, churches, shopping centers, golf courses, major industry and the freeways.

THE HOMES are priced from $18,150 with the Minimum FHA down payment. VA terms—no down payment (except costs and impounds) Cal-Vet and conventional financing also are available. The model homes are open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m..

Sol Vista is located on Hwy. 39 (Beach Blvd). three miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. Model homes are also conveniently located in Santa Ana, on Sugar St. just west of Verano.

Sol Vista developments are also conveniently located in Riverside and Santa Maria. For free brochure and information regarding these three and four bedroom, two-bath homes write or call: C. Opening of the 23rd unit of Sol Vista Luxury Series of homes will take place today in Huntington Beach. The homes, such as this model, are priced from $18,150 with varied financing arrangements offered.

GARDEN PARK ESTATES

Favorable "four-way" financing at Garden Park Estates, Knott Avenue at Garden Grove Freeway, which includes veterans' terms of nothing down except impounds and costs, Cal-Vet, FHA and good conventional loans, are credited, in part, with buyer response to the exciting new one and two-story luxury homes, officials report.

Garden Park Estates Offering Low Prices, Favorable Terms

In part, the record buyer response to Garden Park Estates' new one and two-story luxury homes on Knott Ave. at Garden Grove Freeway, is credited to the favorable veteran and non-veteran financing and moderate full prices, officials said.

For veterans there are terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs with monthly payments from $98.50 including principal and interest, or convenient Cal-Vet loans. Terms for "everyone" include FHA loans and conventional terms, and full prices are from $17,800.

* * * *

DESIGNED with three, four and five bedrooms, dining area and family room, two attractive baths and large two-car garage, Garden Park Estates residences present a selection of distinctively diverse conventional and contemporary exterior elevations.

Quality built with lath and plaster walls and ceilings, the homes have fireplaces, sliding glass doors, forced-air heating, baths with colored fixtures and pullman lavatories and appliance-equipped kitchens.

Kitchens are equipped with built-in wall oven and gas range in decorator colors, matching range hood with fan and light, and semi-automatic dishwasher, furniture- and counters topped with fine ceramic tile.

* * * *

IN THE PRIME location on Knott Ave. at Garden Grove Freeway, considered one of the fastest growing of all Orange County areas, Garden Park Estates enjoys the convenience of proximity to schools for all age groups, including Long Beach State College, shopping and business centers, and ready access to the area's fine highways and freeways.

Furnished models, open daily, are reached from Long Beach, by driving east on Seventh St., past Long Beach State College, straight to Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway.

New Bank America Branch Opens May 4

Bank of America's new Willow-Daisy branch will open its doors for business at 10 a.m., Friday, May 4, it was announced by Manager P. A. "Phil" Carey.

During the preceding evening, a gala two-hour open house will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. It will begin with a opening ceremony with local city dignitaries and bank officials participating.

After the ceremony, visitors will be invited into the branch for a complete tour of the modern banking structure. They will see the space age facilities that will make their banking easier and more pleasant including the streamlined glass-topped windowless teller counters, which enable 18 tellers to work simultaneously during peak periods, carrying their cash and supplies with them in specially constructed carts instead of the traditional drawers.

There will be interesting displays and a guessing contest, giving visitors a chance to win savings account prizes ranging in value from $50 to $5.

The new branch, Bank of America's 11th in Long Beach, is located on the southwest corner of Willow St. and Daisy Ave.

Students Will Vie in Typing Contest

JUST HER TYPE

Seven-year-old Lee Ann Tracy of Stevenson School looks ahead to the day she'll be eligible for the annual typing contest sponsored by National Office Management Assn. with Long Beach City and State Colleges as co-sponsors. This year's test will be at BTD gymnasium of City College May 12.

The second annual typing contest, sponsored by the National Office Management Association, with the joint cooperation of Long Beach City and State Colleges will be held at the Business and Technology Division of Long Beach City College at 1:30 p.m. May 12.

Fourteen junior high and seven senior high schools will each send a team of four students to compete in this contest which is a means to motivation of students efforts toward perfection in typewriter operation. The entire community and employers in the area should benefit indirectly as the result of a better school product.

* * * *

HERB VAUGHN, president of NOMA said that Business Machines Co. and the California Calculator Co. will again donate two portable typewriters as prizes.

Nearly 100 students will be typing at one time in the gymnasium of City College B.T.D., to show the results of many weeks practice in a bid for perfection. Monroe Hubbell, associate dean of administration, Long Beach City College has high regard for the contest and will work closely with NOMA.

Administration of the tests will be under the direction of Dr. Darrel V. Burras, associate professor of Business Education, Long Beach State College, and Dr. Wiley Garner, Dean of Business and Humanities, Long Beach City College will head the grading committee.

Crowds See X-Ray Home by Stardust

Crowds visiting the Stardust "X-Ray House" comment favorably on displays showing consecutive stages in construction of the hardwood floors and other aspects, says Robert H. Grant, builder.

Viewers look through the ceiling, walls, and floor of the X-Ray House, which includes special cutaways to bare details of Stardust's Lifetime construction. Also revealed by cutaways are internal workings of such products as the water heater, forced-air furnace, and garbage disposal. The X-Ray House incorporates 53 separate displays.

ON BOLSA AVE. in Huntington Beach, the Stardust community offers homes with three or four bedrooms, family room, and two baths. Now premiering are popular four bedroom models with "Jack and Jill" expandable bedrooms. Children using these bedrooms will enjoy separate sleeping quarters by night, yet the rooms may be joined by opening a sliding wood panel to give more space for daytime play or cleaning.

Priced from $16,600, the Stardust 3- and 4-bedroom homes are offered with veterans' $99 total move-in costs, or with 35-year, 5¼ FHA terms.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached by driving east on Seventh St., turning right on Bolsa Chica two miles to Bolsa Ave., then left to models.

NEW IDEA IN MOBILE HOME PARK
Recreational facilities for the entire family are provided in this Kona-Kai Mobile Home Park near Santa Ana. There will be 184 parking spaces in the 20-acre development.

Mobile Home Park Has Recreation Area

An entirely new idea in mobile home park design and construction which features complete, privately owned recreational facilities for the whole family, is near completion in the Santa Ana area, announced developers and owners Clarence Humphries and K. W. Ranney.

The 184-space park, known as Kona-Kai, with three acres set aside for recreational facilities, is being developed on 20 acres located on Sugar Ave. just west of Harbor Blvd.

* * * *

Facilities include little league ball diamond, basketball and volleyball courts, and picnic grounds. Three heated pools are provided including one Olympic-size pool with racing lanes. A wading pool and a wide variety of playground equipment for the younger children is being installed.

Two separate clubhouses feature an adult center with billiards, card rooms, dance floor, color TV and kitchen for dinners. A second building contains a large party and club room, study hall, large kitchen and game rooms for children. Boy scout, girl scout and related activities will be under the supervision of a recreation director.

Promotions for Kaiser Gypsum Men

To keep pace with expanded sales activities, a series of managerial appointments has been announced by Division Sales Manager Tom C. Donovan in Kaiser Gypsum's Long Beach headquarters.

H. G. Ferguson

Hugh G. Ferguson, formerly an area sales manager, has been appointed assistant division sales manager. Promoted to positions as area sales managers are Allan R. (Bob) Olson, Jack L. Cosbey, and James V. Kelly. Donovan also announced the appointment of Jack D. Hodges as a technical representative in the division.

* * * *

FERGUSON, a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, has been with Kaiser Gypsum since 1952, starting as division credit manager. He has since been a special salesman, and product sales manager.

Olson, who holds a business administration degree from the University of Minnesota, joined Kaiser Gypsum as a sales representative in 1955. Cosbey also became a representative in 1955. Kelly is a business administration graduate of Notre Dame and joined Kaiser in 1958. Hodges is a graduate in chemical engineering at the University of Missouri. He joined Kaiser in 1958 as a chemist in the research department.

All five men will work out of the Long Beach office.

Robert M. Kripp, an electrical engineer, a principal in the firm of Adams, Morgan, Latham, Kripp & Wright, architects and engineers, together with Manlio Roy, a structural engineer, and an associate of the firm, have been certified by the government as supervisors for the Federal Shelter Survey and Marking Program. Both Kripp and Roy have completed a course at the U. S. Navy Civil Engineer School at Port Hueneme, entitled "Building Analysis for Fallout Protection."

Under contract to the U. S. Corps of Engineers, the firm has just completed a fallout survey of the cities of Compton, Lynwood, Bellflower, Norwalk, Downey, and Paramount and adjacent county areas to determine which existing building in the area will accommodate at least 50 people while limiting their radiation exposure to at least one-twentieth of that they would experience if they were in the open. In the next phase of the program, scheduled to commence shortly, the firm will investigate and recommend modification to the existing spaces necessary to convert them to useable and habitable shelters.

Management and stocking of the shelters will be undertaken at a later date by local civil defense organizations.

DASHBOARD, THEN AND NOW
Automobile dashboards, or is it instrument panels now, have changed as much since 1924 as the car exteriors and the changes have resulted in driver-centered, easy-to-read instruments and controls. The panel of a 1924 Chrysler (top) had all the dials in the center with the switch for the choke on the far right. The heavy wooden steering wheel didn't help make it easy to see the dials. By 1931, a Chrysler instrument panel looked like the middle photo. A 1962 Plymouth panel in the lower photo shows the driver-centered design created by today's engineers.

Bank Offering Stock for Sale

John Greenberg, president and chairman of the board, First State Bank of Lynwood, announced availability of 10,000 shares of the bank's stock at $20 per share, to residents of the Lynwood and Paramount areas.

Proceeds of the offering will be used for the bank's expansion program, Greenberg said. Under construction at the corner of Sanborn and Atlantic Ave in Lynwood, is a Head Office building. In June the bank will open a branch at 16241 Paramount Blvd., Paramount.

"The bank has experienced an accelerated growth necessitating expansion to meet customer demands," Greenberg stated. "At the end of 1961 resources reached a high of $8,767,718 with net operating earnings of $86,400. During 1961 deposits gained 16.8% to total $7,822,548."

CLEAN-UP, PAINT-UP, FIX-UP

It's the Charge of the Blight Brigade

By MARY ELLIS

CIVIC BEAUTIFICATION organizer Mrs. George Taubman poses with weapons for city-wide clean-up. Eyesores, such as those below, were photographed by workers in recent survey.

If it's true that a new broom sweeps clean, 400 of 'em should REALLY get the job done.

At least, that's what members of the Petticoat Brigade—the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce — have set out to prove.

Headed by a 60-member city beautification committee, with Mrs. George Taubman as major-domo, they are sweeping through town in an all-out campaign to give Long Beach a much-needed face lifting.

AND THESE modern Carrie Nations with ideas instead of axes, aren't leaving a stone—OR opportunity—unturned.

They're recruiting men, women and children . . . groups, clubs and civic groups . . . schools, government agencies and professional organizations to make this an all-city, all-citizen project.

AS OPENING gun in their war against unsightliness, eleven survey teams—armed with cameras and notebooks — recorded the city's eyesores and beauty spots.

Under fire will be littered grounds, decadent structures, unsightly trash receptacles, accumulations of junk and weed-choked vacant lots.

The goals: a cleaner, more attractive city; more tree planting in commercial and residential areas; effective landscaping of approaches to the city, of hill slopes and parkways; a more "litter conscious" citizenry and general improvement of properties—both commercial and residential.

The target dates: May 19-27, when Mayor Edwin W. Wade will declare a city-wide "Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week."

MANY LOCAL groups, fully aware that building a more attractive city is good business, are lending support with planned projects.

One such: A "Build Long Beach Better" contest currently being sponsored by the Long Beach Board of Realtors to stimulate interest in the rejuvenation of homes, inside and out.

Another: A tree-planting promotion sponsored by the Downtown Business Association. (Some 280 trees already have been planted in the downtown area.)

Among others who have pledged support are the Architects Association, Belmont Shore Business Association, Los Alamitos Improvement Association, Long Beach Unified School District, Long Beach State College, Roman Catholic Parochial Schools, Recreation Department, Park Department, Women's Architectural League, Los Altos Women's Club, Junior League, Dames, Rick-Rackers and many youth groups.

MRS. DON MUCHMORE is serving as vice chairman of the civic beautification committee.

In commenting on the clean-up crusade, Wilma Hastings, Women's Division president, said: "One of the primary aims of the Women's Division is to promote greater interest among Long Beach citizens in the beautification of our city.

"We all realize that a city cannot be beautiful if it is profaned with litter."

Mrs. Taubman noted that the current campaign is not just a "sporadic clean-up drive."

"They have fleeting impact," said she. "Ours will be a year-round effort. You can't accomplish lasting results on a hit-or-miss basis."

And, as anyone could tell you: a miss—or Mrs.—packs a mean wallop when home (or hometown) is at stake.

Garage Owning Grandmother

Bakes Cakes? No...She Fixes Brakes!

By MARY NETH

Mrs. Albert Luppens prefers garage work to housework.

In fact, she's one grandmother who'd rather tune engines and reline brakes than turn collars and bake cakes.

And as a mechanic, that's just what she does.

This dynamic Mrs. is owner and operator of Bob's Garage, Fourth Street and Termino Avenue. And it's no white collar job. It's a seven-day-a-week, 16-hour-a-day schedule.

How did a mother of two arrive in this world of rods, wheels and radiators?

"I bought my first garage ten years ago," she says.

"It was for my son. He didn't take to it, but I did.

"I've always been interested in autos," she explains. "I tore down my first (a junked model T) at 9½ and I've been tearing into them ever since."

* * * *

HER SECOND run-in with a car that wouldn't run came during the depression when her 1931 Essex threw a rod and ground to a standstill.

Her son was a baby, her husband was working away from home and she didn't have $85 to spare for repairs. So, she got into high gear and did the work herself.

Then came the 40s and for Mrs. Luppens a whole series of far-from-feminine jobs: sandblaster, ranch foreman, lumberman, used car salesman and finally mechanic.

"My husband died during World War II, leaving me with two small children and no means of support.

"Those were the days of 'Rosy the Riveter,' recalls Mrs. Luppens. "With only a seventh grade education and no typing I couldn't be choosy. I applied at an aircraft company, was given a Navy Department test, sent to machine school and then, put to work as a sandblaster."

As one of few feminine heavy duty sandblasters, Mrs. Luppens caused the Navy Department a few headaches. For one thing, they just didn't have safety shoes for a petite 5½ size foot.

She kept the job for 10 years, then on advice of a doctor, quit and headed for the tall timber.

A seven-year stint of tree felling followed. "That ended abruptly when I spotted a rattler one day," says Mrs. Luppens. "The tools may be laying there yet — I left in a hurry."

* * * *

NEXT, Mrs. Luppens worked as a ranch foreman, busline mechanic and used car salesman.

How had she managed to land such man-sized jobs?

By doing the impossible. In just about every case, the prospective employer bet she couldn't handle the assignment. "He always lost."

For example when a bus she was riding broke down, she whipped out a set of tools, set the distributor points and, in nothing flat, had the bus back in action.

"The head of the line was so impressed, he fired his mechanic and hired me on the spot," she says.

The fact that a woman knows so much about cars still proves a shock to many an unsuspecting male.

* * * *

HERE'S where Mrs. Luppens has some advice for the woman car owner. "Lots of garages consider women fair game."

"Watch out! If you don't know a good, reliable mechanic, check around and compare prices before you give a go-ahead.

"If you can, take a man along, even if he doesn't know a thing about cars."

The man in Mrs. Luppen's life, her husband, Al, falls into this category. "He leaves car repairs strictly to me. He's absolutely helpless around the garage," says Mrs. Luppens.

* * * *

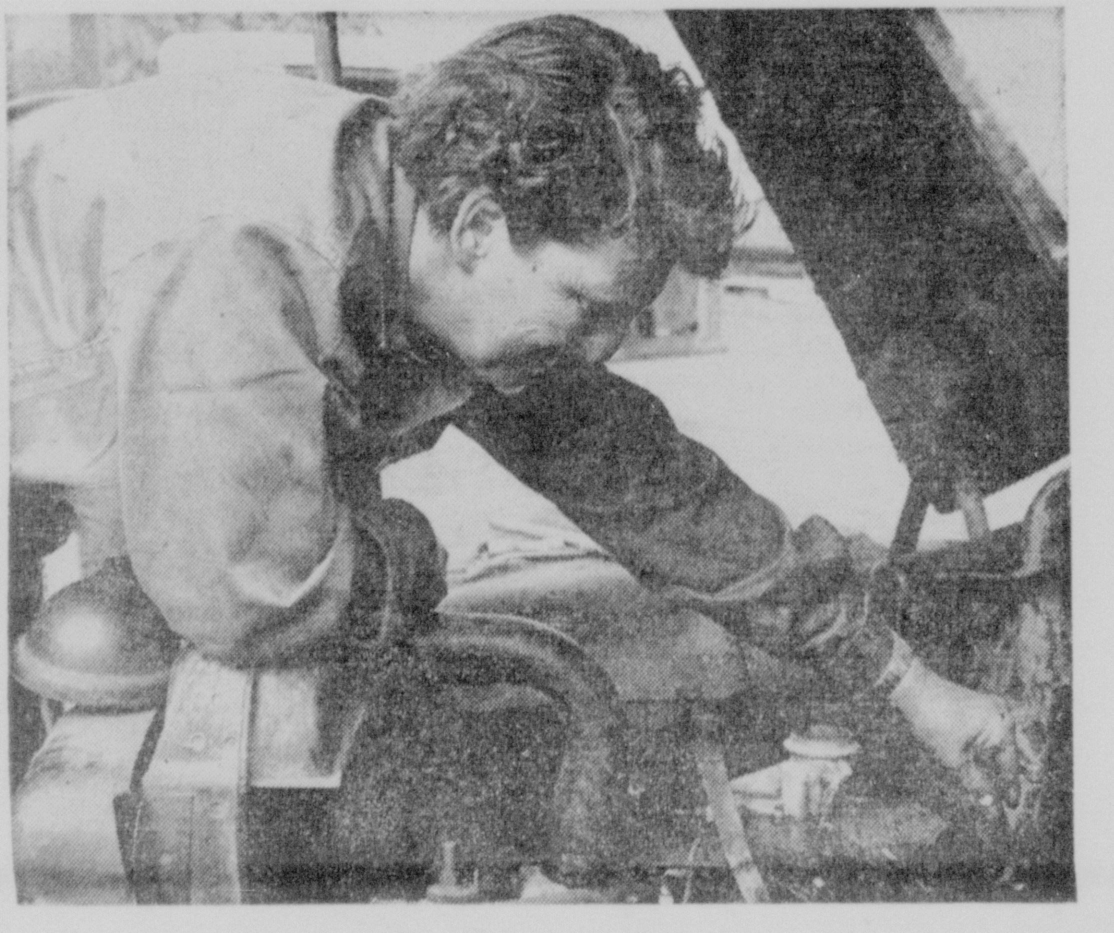
MRS. LUPPENS met her husband, a painter, through mutual friends eight years ago. "We discovered that we attended the same church, had identical rosaries and, other than cars, the same interests — so we got married."

At home Al does the cooking and cleaning. "He made the mistake of criticizing my culinary achievements, so, I said 'all right, you take the house and I'll take the garage'!"

That's the way it's been since. "We both have such full schedules, there's little time for social life."

But once in a while the Luppens do go out and then Mrs. Luppens can't resist dropping by the station.

"No one knows me," she says. "They are so used to seeing me looking under car bonnets, that they don't recognize me wearing a flowered one."



—Staff Photo

WOMAN AT MAN'S WORK. Mrs. Albert Luppens serves customers with a smile at her gas station plus garage, Fourth Street and Termino Avenue. Though she'd rather man gas pumps than manage household chores, she's happier still when "out back" working as a mechanic. With one helper, she has run station on busy seven-day-a-week, year-round schedule for almost 10 years. Can't remember last time she had a vacation.

AAUW Sponsors Naples Home Tour

Seven attractive Naples dwellings will be open to the public next Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. when the Long Beach Branch of American Association of University Women will be hostesses at a "Holiday Homes Tour."

Mrs. Clair E. Van Emon, chairman of the branch's building committee, is in charge of the ways and means project.

Tea will be served throughout the afternoon in the garden of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Vorhes Jr., 33 Corinthian Walk. Tickets and maps may be obtained at the entrance to each home as well as brochures which will list information such as architectural and art features, and a description of the "holiday" theme idea carried out with professional floral arrangements in each home.

"Oriental Interlude" is the theme appropriate to the Oriental art treasures of the H. S. Mulhollen home, 5488 The Toledo. Situated on the bay, furnished in the elegant nese mood of simplicity.

Spotlight Secretaries

National Secretaries' Week will be observed by members of Queen Beach Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International) this week.

This is the eleventh such observation by the organization which includes 23,000 members and 520 chapters throughout the world.

Mildred Boulter, chairman of the local organization, has arranged a member tour of the Dean Witter & Co., stock and bond brokers, Wednesday in observance of Secretaries' Day.

The Week will close with a tea next Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. in the home of Shirley Harris, 4051 Bouton Dr., Lakewood.

Chapter members, along with past, prospective and non-member secretaries of the area have been invited.

* * * *

THROUGHOUT the week, members will appear before local high school, business school and college classes to tell advantages of secretarial careers and list qualifications required.

Secretaries' Week is cosponsored by the National Secretaries Association and the Business Equipment Manufacturers Association and its 50-member companies.

Founded in 1942, NSA is dedicated to the elevation of the secretarial profession through such means as its Certified Professional Secretary Program, an institute for certifying secretaries.

To qualify for the certificate a secretary must successfully complete a two-day, six-part CPE examination given annually.

The local chapter sponsors a yearly class at Long Beach City College Business and Professional Division to assist secretaries prepare for the exam.

APPAREL FOR DISCRIMINATING WOMEN

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Happy (?) Little Harem

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend told me he loved me and wanted to marry me. He said his wife was older than he and he never loved her. He moved to Dallas and paid my way there so I could be near him while he waited for his divorce.

That was a year ago. Now I find out that two other women beside myself followed him here. One is a brunette about 24. And the other is a grayheaded woman in her fifties who even divorced her husband and brought her grown daughter along!

All this time he has been feeding us the same line. His wife is not older than he is. She's a nice looking blonde woman. Should I tell the other women he has made fools of us? (I feel kind of sorry for the old one.) I hate to hurt his wife by telling her, but I think she ought to know what a rat she married. I am going back home, but why should that liar get away with anything?—FOOLED

ABBY

DEAR FOOLED: Tell the others. They'll get over the disappointment when they learn they've been part of a harem. And his wife should know, too. He's had his three strikes.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I swear my wife has sleeping sickness. We both work to help pay off our house. She gets out of work before I do (half an hour) and falls asleep waiting for me. At supper time she is always the first one through, and she often lays her head on the table and falls asleep while waiting for me and the children to finish. When I finish, I clear the table, put the children to bed, and then I wake her up (at the table) so she can go to the couch and sleep some more while I watch TV. She sleeps on the couch until midnight, and then I wake her up so she can go to the bedroom, get into her nightclothes and go to sleep She sleeps all night and wakes up at 7 a.m. The next day it's the same story over again. When we go anywhere, she falls asleep in her chair. Her mother and father, both have sugar diabetes and take insulin daily. Could this have anything to do with it? My wife refuses to go to a doctor. I am worried.—WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your wife should see a doctor at once for a thorough check-up. Insist on it, and don't take "no" for an answer.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: My heart doesn't yearn for wall-to-wall carpeting and fancy clothes, but oh, Abby, how I would love to have my husband bring home some foolish little gift on some unspecial day. He's not a thoughtless guy, but when you have to "hint" it's no fun. He's a grand guy and a wonderful husband, and if he'd only do this little thing to let me know I am as special to him as he is to me, I'd be the happiest woman in the world—SWEET SUE

WILD WAVES SAY . . .

By Iola Masterson • I, P-T Women's Editor

A PINK CLOUD idea and a savings plan that extended over a period of months added up to a surprise 25th wedding anniversary trip to Hawaii for Edna and Sigurd Nelson.

"Pink Cloud ride"

It was the scheme and gift of their daughters, Rose Ellen and Sharon, who hoarded every extra nickel, dime and dollar they could lay their hands on.

The trip extended from last Saturday to yesterday. The gals even arranged for their parents "housing" in the islands which was house-guesting with former L.B. friends Grace and Capt. Charles Neal, now Navy stationed in Hawaii.

THIS WILL fracture you. Alice and Ken Patterson and their four boys hied themselves off to Palm Desert Tuesday for spring vacation, not quite in time to prevent their fifth grader, Bobby, from breaking his wrist. On Monday. But with the wonderful exuberance of the young, Bobby, his arm swathed in white plaster, was as raring to go as any of them by departure hour.

WALKING along New York's Fifth Avenue, presumably with her hat on, is current daily activity for Dorothie (Mrs. Lloyd P.) Mallin. And under her hat brim her eyes have been opened wide by some surprising sights. Mainly she writes that she is amazed to find so few well dressed women—especially on those famous supposedly stylish thoroughfares of Fifth and Park Avenues.

"Seems to me," she says, "as though the dress is so much more casual than when I was here last, about three years ago." She observes that about three quarters of the women go without head coverings of any kind. Of the balance, about one eighth wear scarves in lieu of chapeaux.

The whole thing pleases Dorothie no end. Like others of our Western sisterhood, she has been under fire from East Coast friends many times about the too, too casual approach we Californians have toward our clothing. And now the foot is in the other shoe or whatever.

IT'S BEEN a lovely week for those who have taken advantage of it. Not too bad even for those who haven't. "Advantagoers" include Doris and Bob Yancey and Ruth and John Billings who drove to Guaymas, complete with fishing rods and children, for the week.

CAN'T GO wrong if you spring for a spring jaunt to hot springs territory. Sue and Joe Monfort and Doris and Don Lair with children prove the point; had a wonderful time at Warners. Said the vistas of wildflowers enroute were beautiful to see. Now that you mention it, what else would you do to wildflowers but look at them.

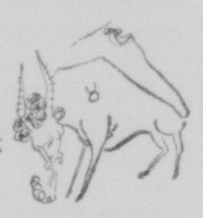
YOU THINK you've heard of interesting avocations? Well, latch unto this one. Harry Forman is "in business" to improve the kind of steak he and Dorothy would like to have served them when they are in Hawaii.



"Hawaiian style"

The Formans, who maintain homes both here and in Honolulu, discovered early in their island hopping days that native beef isn't as compatible to the knife as it oughta be. So, being the kind of guy he is, Harry went about finding out how to correct it.

He met a rancher on Oahu and between the two of them they decided to import some stock to improve the porterhouses. They chose Charolais, an old, old breed in France but new to the U.S. Harry sent a herd of 32 over a year ago complete with the "head of the house," a 2,250 pound sire. Pops and his family now number 60.

Reason Hawaiian beef is not so tender, Harry tells me, is because most of it is raised on the big island of Hawaii and the poor steers get stringy, long legged and big headed tromping over all those lava beds in search of fodder. But move some of those cute native heifers to Oahu where the livin' is easy, introduce them to a handsome Charolais and the next thing you know the Kansas City product will be the second best thing.

HITTING A new sparkle high were Kit Carey's delft blue eyes Wednesday. She was honoree at her first bridal courtesy — a linen shower and luncheon hostessed by Ellie Person at the Yacht Club. And the sparkle isn't likely to ebb for awhile what with life bubbling along as it is. Kit graduates from Mills in June; shortly thereafter (the 16th to be exact) will join the Navy when she becomes the bride of Lt. (j.g.) Harris Sperling.

HEADING DOWN UNDER
Prominent Long Beach resident Mrs. Zelma D. Smith was among passengers aboard the Matsonia Sunday when it set sail for the South Pacific, Australia and New Zealand.

MINIATURE MILLINERY MOTIF
The Ward Johnson home, 4226 Country Club Drive, will be transformed into a fashionable Parisian boutique on Tuesday for the benefit dessert bridge at 12:30 p.m. given by Delta Gamma sorority. Arranging the pretty flowered bonnets to center table are (from left) Mmes. James G. Neuner, Donald C. Berger and James A. Epperson. Committee chairmen-hostesses are Mmes. Epperson, William Holland, Walter Stone and H. G. Steckley. DGs contribute to the visually handicapped.

Symphony Juniors to Install Officers

Mrs. C. W. Simmons

Mrs. C. Waldron Simmons will be installed president of Symphony Juniors at a luncheon Thursday in Virginia Country Club.

A native Californian, Mrs. Simmons attended the University of California and was graduated from Pasadena Playhouse.

Besides her Symphony Junior work, (executive board member for three years and chairman of numerous committees), she has been active in the local cooperative Nursery School movement, Executive Board of GOP Juniors and Long Beach Symphony Association.

* * * *

AT PRESENT she is a member of the Republican State Central Committee and is serving as established camp co-ordinator and member of the program committee of Long Beach Area Council of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. LeRoy Carlisle, past president of Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association, will be installing officer. Mrs. Wallace D. Arntzen will present vocal selections at the close of the ceremony.

Others taking office will be Mmes. Edward A. Killingsworth, Jack Stanley, LeRoy P. Carlisle, Charles Kober, John McNulty, Bruce Belisle and Lew Mahieu.

Dancers in Civic Show

Happy Hours Dance Studio of North Long Beach will present the Community Program in Exhibit Hall, Municipal Auditorium Monday evening.

Tap, ballet, acrobatic and Polynesian dance numbers will be featured during the variety revue directed by Ellen Rubins.

Highlighting the program will be numbers by The Shalanes, Valerie Payne and Donna Baumgardner and routines by Robin Kilmer, Georgia and Richard Thompson and Carolyn Crespin and Susan Hill. Steve Payne will be master of ceremonies.

* * * *

COMMUNITY singing at 7:30 p.m. will open the program. Carl Robertson, accompanied by Regenia Beam, will lead. Following the stage revue there will be dancing until 11 p.m. with Joe Marshall and Bill Simmons, callers.

Auditorium doors open at 7 p.m. for the free program which is sponsored weekly by the Long Beach Recreation Department.

Reception to Honor Col. H. B. Millard

Colonel and Mrs. Homer B. Millard of Millard School, Bandon, Ore., will be honored at a reception in the Rolling Hills home of Dr. and Mrs. Bowen D. Jenkins, 18 Saddleback Rd., Saturday from 4 to 7 p.m.

Col. Millard holds an enviable record as a schoolman. From 1925 to 1946 he undertook to prepare approximately 2,000 young men for West Point—with a record of 93 per cent success.

It was while in Germany as executive officer to the secretary general at the Nuremburg Trials that Millard became interested in comparing American and European systems of education.

* * * *

THIS comparison resulted in the 1950 opening of his highly selective prep school which offers a complete four year college preparatory course in two years.

Guests attending the reception will include Messrs. and Mmes. Wayne L. Butterbaugh, George Chacksfield, J. G. Craig Jr., Frende W. Combs, Jack Davidson, Jack Drown, Vernon M. Fay, Cecil R. King, Thomas H. Kuchel, John B. Merritt, Robert Norman, Walter Ralphs Jr., Daniel M. Ridder, Nicholas F. Trutanic, Gilbert Van Camp Jr., Frank Vessels Jr. and Walter Von Der Ahe.

Also attending with their wives will be Cmdr. Joseph J. Chadwick, Dr. John C. Cottrell, Maj. Gen. Ralph Cousins, Gen. James Doolittle, Maj. John Eisenhower, Brig. Gen. Thomas Lang.

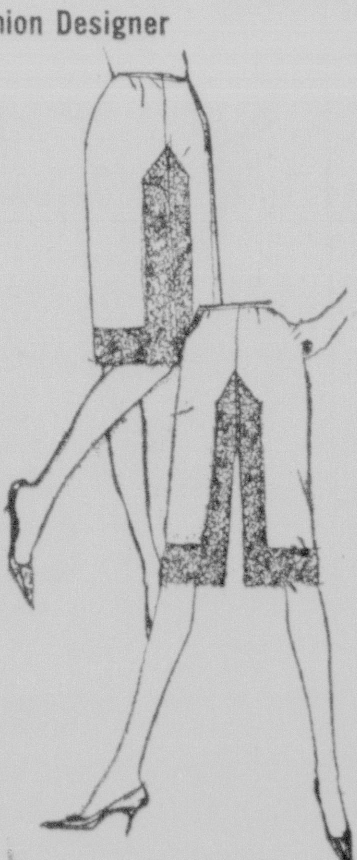
How to be Comfortably Pretty
BY OLGA, World Famed Fashion Designer



Well, it has finally happened. Here's a new lingerie design that makes real fashion sense. It's called Panti-slip and it looks just like a classic half-slip but it behaves like a panty. It's the most beautiful (and practical) lingerie you can own. Now you'll wear only one Panti-slip instead of panties and half-slip. It's much less bulky and much more comfortable.

Panti-slip is just as practical under sheaths as it is under bouffants. Divided leg construction eliminates twisting and lets you feel "safe" getting in and out of cars. It never rides up and it can't ride down. It's made of fine quality nylon tricot trimmed lavishly with nylon lace. And wait until you see the colors. Dreamy pastel shades of mint, pineapple and apricot trimmed with beige lace. Also in white on black with matching lace. Available in petite, small, medium and large sizes and it's only 5.95.

Call Buffums', HE 6-9841 for Panti-slip today.

Days of the 49ers

FRONTIER ERA LIVES AGAIN THIS FRIDAY

It's spring vacation at Long Beach State as we write this, but come next Friday the pace will quicken.

That's when the student body stages "49er Day," the annual funfest in the tradition of the California of a century ago.

A pioneer town will rise overnight on the grass behind the gymnasium, campus groups will be garbed in the styles of the state's frontier period, and contests will have a mid-19th century flavor.

All this is in the spirit of fun, but we can't help but note a deeper significance: an attempt to memorialize, with a high degree of authenticity, a period which is one of the most interesting in California history.

Of all the colleges in the state, we believe LBSC does the best job of calling attention to California's golden years. (And while on the subject, consider our nickname, "49ers." Isn't the term much more meaningful than "Hornets," or "Bulldogs," or "Devils," or "Titans," or you name 'em.)

In the last two years, 49er Day has grown much in stature — not only for the campus but for outside news media as well.

Films of the 1961 fete were shown on TV, and we expect both television and magazine coverage this year.

Be watching!

LONG BEACH State's Circle K made quite an impression in Sacramento last weekend as 215 delegates from 43 chapters in District Two met in convention.

Not only did the six-man delegation make others in attendance sit up and take notice by some brilliant maneuvering on the convention floor, but two were elected to important offices: District Treasurer Terry Cunningham and Lt. Governor Jim Krulic.

Others from LBSC were Kut Swanson, campus vice president; George Gould and Ralph Allen Jr., outgoing district treasurer and lieutenant governor (division II), respectively and Rick Mease, sergeant-at-arms.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of April 23-27:

MONDAY: Hot dog, whole kernel corn, spicy applesauce, ½ cheese slice, and milk.

TUESDAY: Creole noodles, tossed green salad w/Julienne cheese, sliced peaches, raisin bread square and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Diced turkey in gravy, mashed potatoes, garden peas, fruit gelatin with whipped topping, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

THURSDAY: Italian spaghetti, buttered green beans, raisin coleslaw, hot buttered French bread and milk.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

MONDAY: Hot sliced pork on mashed potatoes, buttered sauerkraut, sliced peaches, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Neapolitan macaroni, buttered spinach, spicy applesauce with cranberry garnish, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, buttered peas, pineapple-cottage cheese salad, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

THURSDAY: Pizza, buttered green beans, California fruit cup, coconut bar cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Tuna noodle casserole or beef rice casserole, raisin coleslaw, apricot halves, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

TRES JOLIE, N'EST-CE PAS?

President of WSCS Is Named

Mrs. Edwin L. Evensizer has been named president of Woman's Society of Christian Service, North Long Beach Methodist Church.

Serving with her for the new club year are Mmes. Robert Stone, J. R. Bryant, W. D. McHolm and Virgil Wilhite. Secretaries include Mmes. Howard Parberry, Clifford Townsend, Milton Cowling, Vincent I. Correll, John E. Kerman, R. Y. Evans, Curtis W. Blakely, Richard F. Shoemaker and Forrest Gill. Mmes. R. C. Borchert and W. T. Gilbert complete the executive board.

Mrs. Evensizer, a mother of three, has been active in Long Beach Methodist Church work for many years. Her hobby is transcribing books into Braille for the Braille Section, American Association of University Women.

On Hawaiian Honeymoon

Now honeymooning in Hawaii are newlywed Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin Knight who recently set sail for Honolulu aboard the USS Matsonia.

Wedding vows were exchanged by the couple at a ceremony attended by 500 guests at First Methodist Church, Long Beach.

Mrs. John Knight

The bride, the former Joan Frances Etheridge, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Palmer of Olympia, Wash.

For the ceremony she wore a full length gown of white Chantilly lace and carried a cascade bouquet of intermingled butterfly orchids and stephanotis centered with a single white orchid.

Mrs. Thomas Ross was matron of honor. Bridesmaids, carrying baskets of lavender and white stock, sweet peas and gardenias, were Mmes. A. C. Anderson, Richard Wallace and Thomas Thomason.

* * * *

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Knight of 141 Granada Ave., was attended by Dr. Thomas Ross as best man.

Completing the wedding party were Dr. Thomason, John Davies, William Moffett and Dan Danenhower, ushers.

The new Mrs. Knight attended Lewis and Clarke College, Spokane, Wash. and Stephen's College, Columbia, Mo. The bridegroom was graduated from Wilson High School and USC where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Following the wedding ceremony, the newlyweds were honored at a reception at the Long Beach Yacht Club.

Following their trip to Hawaii, they will visit the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash., before returning to Long Beach where they plan to make their home.

Schedule Variety of End-of-April Meetings

Malco Exhibit at PC Club

"THE ASCENSION" beautifully portrayed in clay and fired to a handsome marble effect glaze of gray and ivory with dark veining is work of Elaine Malco; will be on exhibit today and through week at Pacific Coast Club gallery, together with oil and watercolor paintings by the artist.

A reception today at the Pacific Coast Club from 2 to 5 p.m. will open an exhibition of oils, watercolors and sculpture by Elaine Malco which will show through April 30. Mrs. Malco's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Robeson of La Quinta, will be hosts for the reception which is open to the public.

The artist was among the first exhibitors ten years ago when the club's galleria opened and she has been art chairman there since then.

"My art career started at the age when I was just old enough to get a good grip on a crayon and decorate the walls," says Mrs. Malco. She has studied at Otis Art Institute and with Henry Richter, Donna Schuster, Paul Lauritz and Ralph Holmes. Her works have been exhibited at the Penn Arts Gallery, Washington, D. C.; De Young Memorial Museum, San Francisco; Greek Theater, Francis Webb and Duncan Vail Galleries.

She works in various mediums and in her current show of 20 works are portraits, flower paintings and three sculptures, "The Ascension" (pictured), "Rosary" and "Madonna and Child." At a recent Shadow Mountain Club show she demonstrated Sumi painting which she learned in Japan.

Among her numerous awards has been a "Freddie" for first place in a California Hobby Craft Association show. She has been president of Long Beach Branch of National League of American Pen Women; she has won first place in California and second place nationally in Pen Women art competitions.

"BUSINESSMEN Collect Art From Rembrandt to Picasso," an exhibition of paintings, drawings and sculptures lent from prominent Los Angeles business organizations and individuals goes on view Wednesday in Los Angeles Municipal Art Gallery in Barnsdall Park, 4800 Hollywood Blvd. It continues through May 27.

Viewing hours are 1 to 9 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 5 p.m. weekends. The show is co-sponsored with the L. A. Junior Chamber of Commerce. There is a small admission charge.

* * * *

"SIX STUDENTS from Six Art Schools," is an exhibition designed to introduce to the gallery-going public new local talents appearing on the scene, and will be shown in the Tower Gallery in the L. A. City Hall from Tuesday through May 20. Admission free.

Schools represented are UCLA, USC, Chouniard and Otis Art Institutes, L. A. City and State Colleges. Students were selected by department staffs as showing considerable promise in visual arts.

SPRING rendezvous of Spectrum Club is slated at Dripping Springs near Temecula for next Saturday and Sunday, according to C. P. Wood, president. Members are asked to bring their own water and fire wood.

* * * *

FRAN SOLDINI, Long Beach artist and teacher, will speak before members of the San Pedro Art Association on Thursday evening at Dodson Junior High School. Evening art class students at the school will also attend. Her subject will be "Some Philosophy and Principles in Developing a Painting."

Choral Festival

Pacific Southwest Intercollegiate Choral Festival Concert is slated for next Saturday at 8 p.m. in Men's Gymnasium, Long Beach State College, with choirs of Loyola, Cal Tech, Biola, USC, Occidental, Pomona, Whittier, Los Angeles and Long Beach State conducted by Knut Nystedt.

Off-B'Way to Present Double Bill

Two by playwright Edward Albee, "The Sandbox" and "The Zoo Story," open at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave.

"The Sandbox" dramatizes the theme of intolerance of the young for the old which features Irene Rosenfeld, Marie Blenkarn, Arnold Rosenfeld and Ron Honeycutt.

A "beatnik" and a business man meet in a park and try to convince each other that his is the best way of life in "The Zoo Story." The roles are played by Ken Kennerson and Ed Young.

Fred Martin directs the two plays.

Dance Concert

Two Long Beach young women will participate in the UCLA Modern Dance Concert at Royce Hall next Friday and Saturday nights. Peggy Smith, 2266 Maine Ave., a Poly High graduate, is stage manager for the event, and Judy Aston, 3717 E. Second St., Wilson High graduate, is choreographer for one dance. Both are modern dance majors.

Young Pianists to Audition

Starting next Friday and continuing daily for almost three weeks, approximately 300 young pianists will participate in the yearly examinations sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Headquarters for the guild are in Austin, Texas, but local auditions will be conducted in the YWCA Auditorium, Sixth Street and Pacific Avenue, from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Samuel Pendleton, former president of Alameda County Music Teachers' Association, and successful teacher of piano in Oakland and San Francisco, will listen to the prepared programs of each student ranging from two to 20 pieces, from earliest beginners to Young Artist diploma holders.

* * * *

IN THE non-competitive private hearings each student will be judged upon his own abilities and preparation, and upon completion will be awarded a report card certificate making him a member of the National Fraternity of Musicians for 1962.

In the Long Beach area 36 teachers make up the guild, and their students will join a stream of more than 60,000 students in over 600 centers scattered throughout the 50 states. The Long Beach Center, established in 1948 has grown from a membership of five teachers with 18 students to its present large registration.

* * * *

LOCAL PIANISTS who have been helped "on the way up" include John Browning, Daniel Pollack, Lily Wollin of Los Angeles and Joanna Hodges. Another famous guild graduate is Van Cliburn.

Mrs. Dorothy Schumacher of Lakewood will serve as monitor, and arrangements are under the direction of Rilla McReynolds Branyon, local chairman, and Lura Soderstrom, assistant chairman.

Founded in 1929 by Irl Allison, head of piano at Hardin-Simmons College, Texas, the influence of the National Guild has helped to stimulate interest nationally in piano and has provided yearly goals for improvement as well as long-range goals consisting of scholarships for college study.

Vigor, Vivid Colors Mark Ataide Works

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Oil paintings and several wash drawings by Joe Ataide of the Carmel area will be on view at the Veltman Gallery for one more week. Joining the series of distinguished artists, both local and from up North, which Veltman has presented, Ataide is masculine, dynamic and lyric.

While subject matter and mood vary widely, qualities marking his work are vigorous and shimmering color, a graphic sense of volume and space with the tensions which hold them together, and free, sure draftsmanship.

* * * *

ATAIDE'S still lifes glow with color, and are quite specific like No. 8, "Watermelon" which is a solid chunk of red-pink lusciousness. A series of small still lifes is done successfully with a vigorous palette knife. No. 18, "Green Pot of Oranges" is an exciting impasto of the two colors. The same approach, technically, works well in No. 24, "Tidal Wave." A larger still life, No. 7, "Orange Roses" heaps brilliant sparkling colors—orange, red orange, yellows, and greens—in a bright blue vase.

Ataide's human subjects have a brooding sense of otherness." "Sunday at the Zoo" balances a large mass of strollers entering at left with small figures at right.

THIS PAINTER'S work reflects many influences, and his academic background is a strong one. No. 26, "Man With Fruit," has a Picasso-like flavor while No. 10, "Studio Garden" harks to cubism.

The method of drawing in black calligraphic lines over shimmering color planes, most evident in "Sunday at the Zoo," is typical of Carmel artists, and derives from the influential Cunningham School. Ataide is not, however, dependent on these; they are assimilated by an individual strong personality who is very much himself.

Concert in Palos Verdes

Dr. John Backus, USC physicist and musician, has arranged an unusual musical evening for Palos Verdes Community Arts Association next Sunday at the Palos Verdes High School. Dr. Backus, who lives in Palos Verdes Estates, is on the association's board of directors.

The concert includes William Walton's "Facade" as it was originally written to accompany reading of Edith Sitwell's poetry and Stravinsky's "Soldier Tale," a work for seven instruments, actors and dancers. Fred West of Playa del Rey and Richard Oliver of Santa Monica are assisting with acting and choreography.

DR. BACKUS' combined interest in music and physics has caused him to experiment on a study of acoustics of musical instruments which has attracted widespread attention.

Leads in Comedy

Barbara Crooker and Larry Fallery shown as bride and groom in "Third Best Sport" opening Friday night at Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St. With setting in a national convention, the comedy will run Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays for seven weekends.

'Third Best Sport' Opens at Playhouse

"Third Best Sport," comedy by Eleanor and Leo Bayer, will open Friday at Long Beach Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St.

The playwrights believe that "conventions" are that third favored sport in the United States, and have written a very funny and modern play about newlyweds who attempt to combine their honeymoon with a national convention

The bride finds that she is expected to climb on a merry-go-round of social activities and routine behavior for wives of delegates. Her rebellion against comforming to the rules of being a good corporation wife leads to a confusion of incidents both funny and thought-provoking.

Barbara Crooker, well-known leading woman, will play the bride. Larry Fallery, new to the playhouse, who has little theater and television credits elsewhere, will play the conventioneering bridegroom.

* * * *

FIVE MEMBERS of the cast are newcomers to any local stage, all with unusual backgrounds. John McMillan, from England, numbers a command performance for the Queen among his achievements, has played in movies in England and Hollywood. Clay Foster won a national Shakespearean award, has little theater credits in Huntington Park, Pasadena, and Salt Lake City.

Elaine Herman just moved here from New York where she had directing and acting experience in Albany. William Clements had early movie experience with MGM. Darlene Chaffee worked as a disc jockey, did radio interviews, and acted in children's plays for radio

Alvetta Kay and Bill Hill are Community favorites in the cast. Frank Keith has past professional night club and minstrel show directing experience in Washington and Canada, and has played at Magnolia. Bill Williamson, from Milikan High School, has a first stage role as bellboy.

Major & Minor Notes

ENGLISH TENOR LEWIS LIKES US; NOT OUR TV

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

I had heard the famous English tenor, Richard Lewis, sing often with the San Francisco Opera in Los Angeles and always with real pleasure. I was again deeply impressed when he sang, not long ago, in a marvelous performance of Mahler's "Das Lied von der Erde" with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, Paul Kletzki conducting.

He sang without a score and his voice was so lyrically suited to the music; his dramatic reading and perfect diction so remarkable that I asked if I might have an interview with him, which he graciously granted.

Richard Lewis is a handsome man large of stature with a jovial, kindly face. His blue eyes look at you with a forthright gaze and you know at once that this man is without affectation and completely honest. His high speaking voice makes one know that he is a lyric tenor. He was born and raised in Manchester, England. As a boy soprano he sang in the Manchester Cathedral until he was 16, winning first prizes in all the festival competitions.

* * * *

AT THE ROYAL Academy of Manchester he met the famous English basso, Norman Allen, who has remained his teacher ever since. The name Norman Allen established a bond between Richard Lewis and myself for in many of the operas in which I sang in England Norman Allen was the bass singer in the cast.

All was going well with our tenor, Richard Lewis, when World War II sent him into the army for four and a half years. But rather than a hinderance, this war experience proved a boon—for in whatever country he was billeted he immediately was engaged for appearances with the important orchestras. In Brussels, Oslo, Stockholm and Copenhagen he repeated his successes and thus began a career which has taken him back regularly for appearances in these countries.

* * * *

BACK IN ENGLAND in 1946, he began introducing Benjamin Britten's works with the BBC orchestra and at the Glyndebourne Festival where he is a great favorite. This continued success led to his engagement at Covent Garden where he now sings every season.

Richard Lewis thinks our television and radio programs are "appalling," and compared to those in England I would say he speaks justifiably. "The BBC orchestra never performs recorded music," he stated, "all programs are "live." In that way artists have many opportunities for performance." Radio and television in England are government sponsored so there are no commercials to break the continuity of the programs.

* * * *

"TELEVISION should edify and instruct its listeners," he said. "America might become culturally on a par with Europe if better fare might be had for viewing."

Mr. Lewis averages 50,000 miles a year traveling. He is in great demand everywhere for oratorio as well as opera. "Which do you prefer?" I asked. "I like them equally well," he answered. Last year he was honored by being invited to sing in the opening performance of the new State Opera House in West Berlin, and last year he made his debut with the Vienna Opera in "The Magic Flute" by Mozart.

"When I get tired of traveling," he mused, "I should like to settle down in California to produce and conduct opera here." As a matter of fact, I have more friends in Los Angeles and San Francisco than anywhere else in the world and I like your climate and outdoor living," he concluded. "California will welcome you warmly, when you become one of us," I said in parting.

Recordings at Library Are Varied

Phonograph records added to the Main Library during the past week covered many interests. New additions included: "The Kings of Kings" from the sound track of the movie; "My Favorite Chopin" with Van Cliburn; Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe" with the Boston Symphony directed by Charles Munch; "Othello" by Verdi; "The Begger Student" by Millocker; Concertos of Vivaldi; "Lament on the Death of a Bullfighter," a poem in Spanish by Garcia Lorca and A.A. Milne's poem, "Winnie the Pooh" read in Latin.

Sabicas Plays

Flamenco guitarist, Sabicas, will appear in concert on May 3 in Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. A gypsy born in Spain, Sabicas is considered one of the world's top guitarists. Tickets are on sale at the auditorium and all ticket agencies.

Complaints Allowed

A bridge player is always allowed to complain about his bad luck even though he has been responsible for it.

One of the best ways to become unlucky is to make the so-called "sucker overcall." The sucker overcall is always made in a minor suit and at the two or three level. The hand has enough strength for an opening bid, but is of balanced type so that it will probably take almost as many tricks against an adverse contract as it will in its own suit.

♣ A 9

Both vulnerable

East	South	West	North
1 ♠	2 ♦	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠

South's two diamond bid is a perfect example of this sucker overcall. He has 14 high card points and four probable tricks against the opponents. He has only five probable tricks at diamonds, so instead of contracting to take eight tricks he should pass and hope that his opponents will get too high.

* * * *

ONCE HE overcalled, West had a simple bid. He doubled and after everyone passed, led the jack of spades. East took his ace, led a second spade to knock out South's king and West ruffed. Eventually, South made four trump tricks and the ace of clubs and was down 800.

Of course, East and West could have made three no-trump for a score of 600, but if South had kept his mouth shut there is no guarantee that they would not have ended at four spades, down one. We will never know. South had given his opponents the best spot to play the hand.

Home Permanent? — Permanent wave solutions can be murder on fabrics. When giving yourself a home treatment, be sure to cover yourself with an old item that doesn't matter. Permanent wave chemicals may destroy the colors in a fabric — sometimes damage that is not evident until the garment has been stored a long time or pressed.

Clinging Vine — If your synthetic garments cling to the body, try an anti-static agent. Prepared fabric softeners help, too. Supermarkets have both.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

ArRANGES Life Electrically

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

It's quite obvious that he's simply showing-off the electric range—to heck with the food! But why not—after all, Chef of the Week today, is Jack Horton, president of Southern California Edison Co. If you read on, however, you'll find he got his start with gas!

Life seems to arRANGE easily for Horton, and for one reason—he works at it. He does the job currently at hand, yet never loses sight of the potential of a ten-year-hence program as well.

Born in Stanton, Nebraska, he remained in that state to finish high school at Lincoln. He graduated at the age of 15, and entered Stanford University where debating was his forte. He didn't go in for sports particularly, for during his freshman year he grew six inches.

* * * *

MAKING the most of surroundings AND industry, he "hashed" his way through school at Fallen Leaf Lodge, Lake Tahoe. Graduating from Stanford in 1936, he earned his law degree at Oakland College of Law in 1940.

After practicing law in San Francisco, he joined Standard Oil Co. of California in 1943 as legal specialist in oil and gas leases. The following year he was elected secretary and legal counsel of the Pacific Public Service Co., a five-member holding company. He succeeded over the next eight years to executive vice president and president of both the holding company and the constituent operating companies.

In due time the Coast Counties Gas & Electric Co., one of the Pacific Public Service operating companies, merged with the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., and Horton was elected a vice president of PG&E. That was 1954.

In '57, he was elected to the presidency of two of PG&E's Canadian subsidiaries, the Alberta and Southern Gas Co., Ltd., and Alberta Natural Gas Co. He was appointed to his present position in 1959, following 16 years of electric and gas utility experience in California.

* * * *

A DIRECTOR of the Edison Electric Institute, he serves in that same capacity for the United California Bank, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Welfare Federation of Los Angeles Area. In addition, he is a member of the Board of Governors of Town Hall and is on the President's Board of Pepperdine College.

Horton has a fetish about pork chops, and when Mrs. Horton, whom he met in high school, by the way, starts them cooking, the youngsters know that Dad's returning from an out-of-town trip. By "youngsters" we mean, Judy, a senior at Marlborough, Sally, age 14, and Harold, nine.

Our "chef" also has a knack for impressing. Once his father-in-law arrived for an unexpected visit, Horton was caught red-handed fixing a pot roast and baking a cake. Those were in his pre-electric range days, too, but he did succeed in convincing Dad that his daughter had married a paragon. To impress the "young Hortons" with the virtues of a salad, he tosses it professionally at the table.

Next to golfing and swimming, he enjoys cooking; but his real enjoyment comes AFTER performing his duties as a chef — he lights up a big cigar. Here's why he likes pork chops!

PORK CHOPS ELECTRIQUE

Place the desired number of center-cut pork chops in large heavy fry pan AFTER the bottom of the pan has been salted. NO COOKING OIL OR FAT IS USED.

Brown chops on both sides. Then pour "half 'n' half" or cream over chops (about ¼-inch deep). Cover tightly and simmer slowly for about 45 minutes. Remove chops from pan (keep warm). Add enough flour to make good old middle-west country gravy.

BTD TURNS SPOTLIGHT ON TALENT GROOMING

Business, Technology

After an interlude for Easter vacation — variously spent in working, relaxing, or boning for post-holiday midterm exams—students of Long Beach City College will head into the busiest activity schedule of the whole year.

At the Business and Technology Division, two major events are scheduled for the upcoming week: Auditions for the annual Talent and Variety Show on Tuesday, and the windup of the month-long Best-Dressed Contest on Wednesday.

Sixteen campus clubs will put their best actors, singers, dancers and instrumentalists on stage for the auditions. The big show itself will be held in May. Cash prizes will be awarded by the ASB Cabinet to the top individual performers and variety acts.

The winners among 69 natty-looking contestants in the best-dressed contest will be announced at an outdoor assembly near the student lounge. After weeks of observation, the secret panel of judges will choose one student from the business and general education classes and one from the technology area. Contestants are not being judged on high-fashion elegance, as such, but on their neatness, grooming and appropriateness of dress for the occupation they intend to pursue.

Also on Wednesday, members of the LBCC-BTD chapter of the Society of Technical Writers and Publishers will make a field trip to Beckman Instruments Co. in Fullerton. (Incidentally, did you know that BTD has the only student chapter of STWP in the whole country?)

Liberal Arts

Immediately after spring vacation, hopeful candidates for fall semester student body offices go into action at the LBCC Liberal Arts Division. All names of eligible candidates must be on file in the Activities Office prior to Friday. Next comes the test on the ASB constitution early in May, followed by vigorous political campaign up to the May 25 election day.

The "Ugly Man" contest, conducted by the International Club, will be decided April 25-27. Candidates will come from campus clubs and from any independents who wish to enter and can get their qualifications certified by at least four fellow students. Winner will be decided by the amount of cash collected for each entrant by his ardent admirers, with each penny counting as one vote.

Future registered nurses now enrolled on the Carson St. campus will be hostesses for local high school girls interested in the Liberal Arts Division two-year R. N. program. Occasion will be the Future Nurses Field Day on Tuesday.

A comparison of the educational systems of the United States and the Communist countries will be the LAD Student Forum topic on Wednesday. Dr. Lawrence E. Vredevoe, professor of education at UCLA, will be the speaker at 11 a.m. in the campus auditorium.

Furnishings for Homes Salute Consumer Taste

By MIMI PHILLIPS

New home furnishings may generally be considered a tribute to consumer taste,

Classic refinements in nearly all categories give the new pieces a "collector's item" effect ... an indication that producers are aware of the average homemaker's ability to appreciate such refinements. Further, most of the new lines incorporate enough individuality that they may be used together—an entire room furnished from a single line—or in conjunction with other pieces (previously owned or selected from other new lines) to create an attractive, integrated, but not tastelessly "matching" setting.

As a result, this versatility is an aid as well as a tribute to the consumer. No longer need the homemaker suffer doubts as to whether a new item will harmonize with the existing pieces in her home, nor need she fear that furnishing a whole room with pieces from one line will result in a sterile "show window" effect.

* * * *

MANUFACTURERS are to be congratulated on this accomplishment; it cannot have been easy to achieve the design of long lines with such individuality among the pieces—or to soften extreme stylings to permit harmony without boring sameness.

The consumer is to be congratulated for her good fortune: Now homemakers may feel free to select just about any furnishings which appeal to them, confident that their choices may be combined into an interesting and integrated end decor.

No single period dominates the new offerings, but nearly all are represented. A full range of provincial, traditional, and contemporary lines is being shown—harmony among them being achieved by grace of line, rich finishes and fabrics, and luxurious but generally restrained detailing.

The elaborate Italian influence has grown more widespread, but it has been modified for adaptation to today's homes and needs. The same is true of the still-popular French derivations and even of many provincial lines, which continue last summer's increased refinement and minimize the primitive effect.

* * * *

CONTEMPORARY design has lost its starkness, taking on softened contours and warmth in wood and fabric colorings. Here, too, greater richness is added by such refinements as carved legs, dressy hardware and marbled tops. Most lines show a trend toward larger-scaled pieces, but graceful contours eliminate any resultant bulky appearance.

Walnut continues to retain its first-place popularity, but exotic woods such as teak or rosewood are frequently seen. Antique white finishes are widely shown, often with gold accents, while fruitwood and maple are still favored for provincial and early American styles. Some tendency is seen toward a lightening of natural wood shades. Combinations are also displayed in some lines.

Newest of Furnishings on Display

The finest showings of home furnishings in history are now offered in the leading retail stores in the Long Beach area.

All invite the public to their "open house" showing of the home furnishings display, starting Monday. Special window displays and individual room displays will be found in the stores.

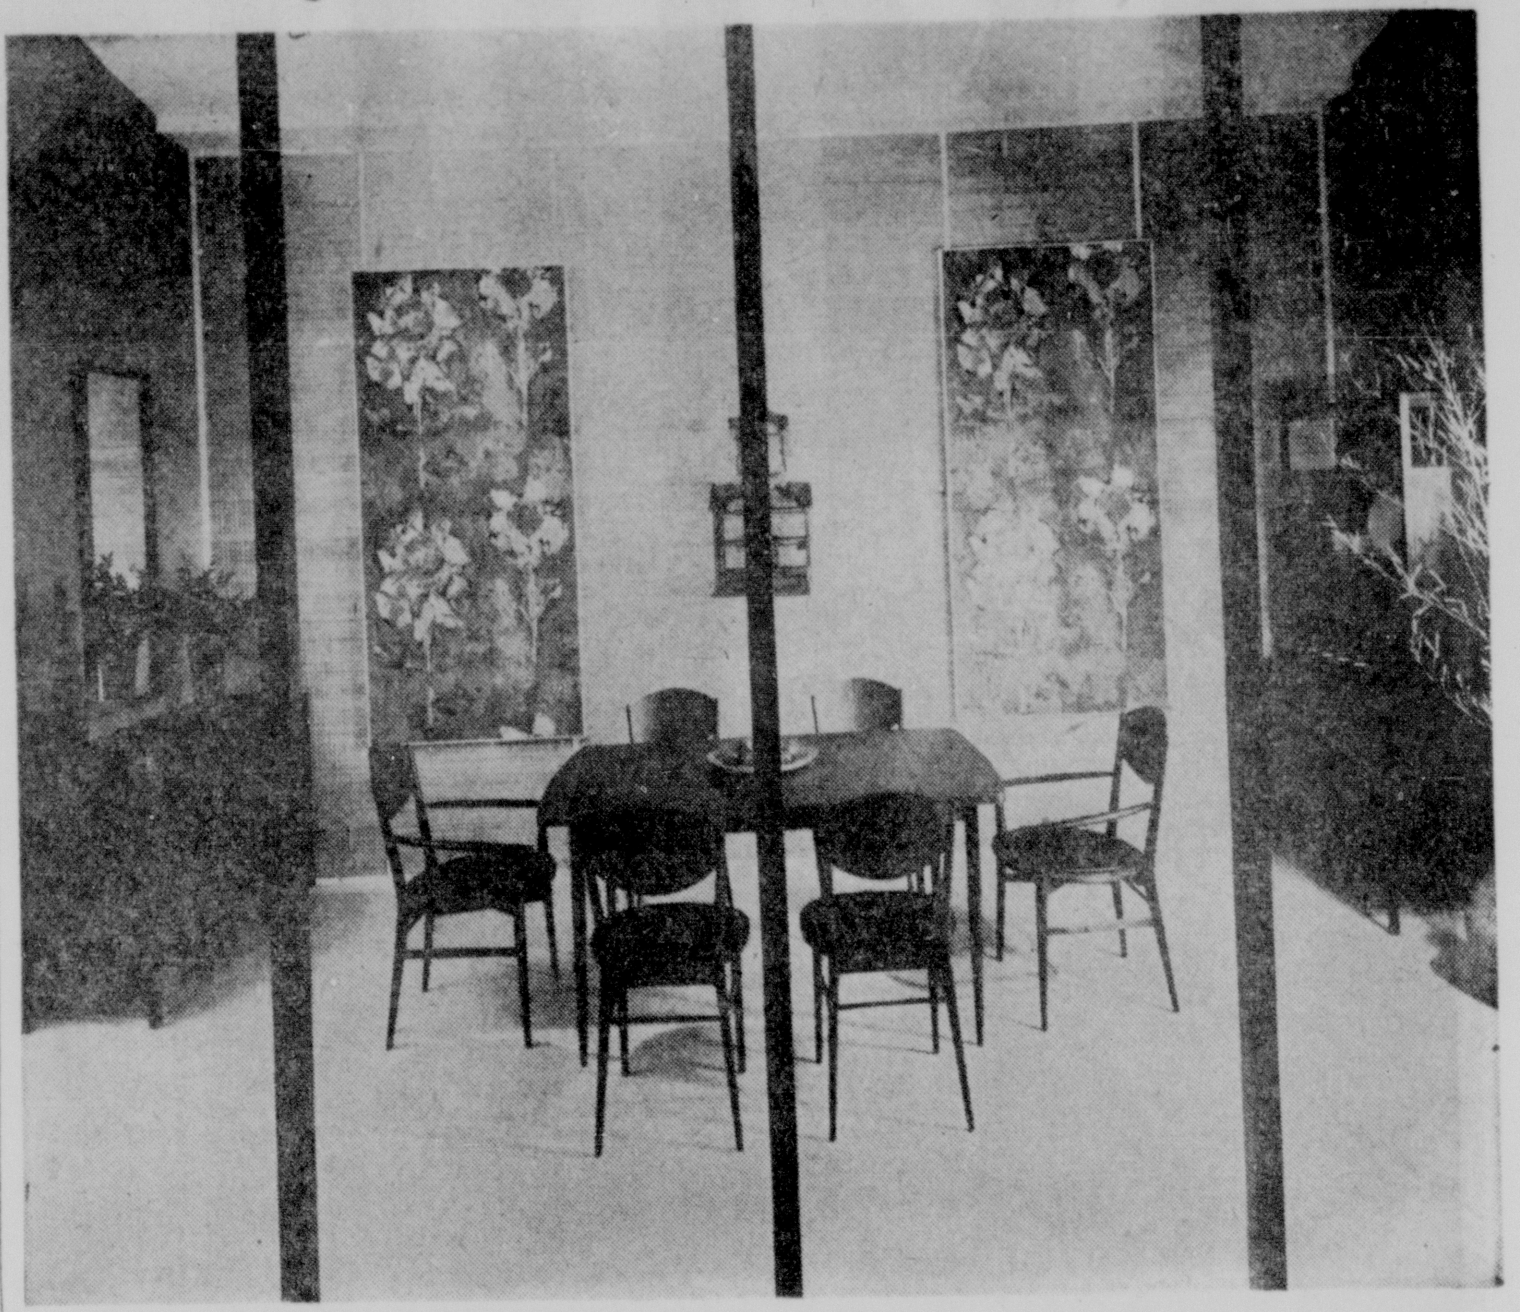
Experts in home decor will be available in the stores to offer suggestions and many stores will send decorators into homes with samples of rugs and draperies to help plan the new settings.

Visitors will find the prices on furniture and furnishings have held the line far better than in most other fields. The stores provide excellent budget purchasing plans for most any purchase.

Carpet Backing Is Important

The backing of a carpet plays a part in performance and quality. Its function is to hold the carpet together and give it dimensional stability — in other words, prevent it from shrinking, stretching and buckling.

Designed for Contemporary Living



EMPHASIS ON VERTICAL LINES

This Delineator Group by Paul McCobb is a noteworthy contribution that represents today's concepts of contemporary living. The unique emphasis on the vertical portion creates a new look for today's home. Versatile in adaptability, groupings such as this may be seen at the new Henry's contemporary furniture, 2750 E. Pacific Coast Hwy.

FINEST IN CARPETS

Fashion-lovely carpet and coordinated draperies will be found in Caren's at 11918 E. Rosecrans, Norwalk. Caren's features first quality carpet lines and a telephone call will bring experts to help you with your floor covering problems.

Classic Collection of Styling in Rugs

Area rug design, which has gone both far out and far away for ideas to tempt the homemaker in years past, this season goes far back for its inspiration in some of the collections.

Greece of the Parthenon and the Olympic Games, and France of Versaille and knightly tournaments contribute to designs—happy news for the homemaker who has stayed with traditional motifs through the many changes in furniture design during the past two decades.

* * * *

FROM GREECE comes Ionic columns in gold on a field of white Zefran acrylic, Dow Chemical's plush, high-pile fiber completely machine washable.

Also taking its inspiration from the time and place when harmony was the highest goal in all artistic endeavors is a round rug six feet in diameter, with eight long torches emanating from a central point, like spokes in a wheel. Its unusual color scheme is red torches bearing orange flames, on a background of pale pink.

* * * *

FRANCE'S contribution is the fleur de lis, coat of arms of the French royal family. In one version it appears carved and plume-like and covers almost the entire field of an elongated oval measuring eight feet from end to end, and four feet at its widest point. Of DuPont's 501 Nylon, a synthetic fiber that captures the look and feel of fine wool, it is available in three color combinations.

Another version, a round rug called simply "Fleur de Lis," has five flowerets linked at the center of the rug, the familiar diamond-shaped top of the design always pointing to the edge. The rug comes in two color combinations—white on gold, and white on green. Its size, four feet in diameter, makes it an excellent choice for an entranceway since it will set the theme for the whole decor of an apartment or home.

CANOPY CRIB

Full-size canopy crib shown here by Thayer Co. manufacturers, is in French Provincial styling. Canopy is removable for washing.

Room Restful When Carpeted

Any room where you use carpet immediately becomes more quiet and restful. It is a floor that offers not only decorative beauty and comfort, but is able to swallow sound at the source and keep it from reverberating about the room or house.

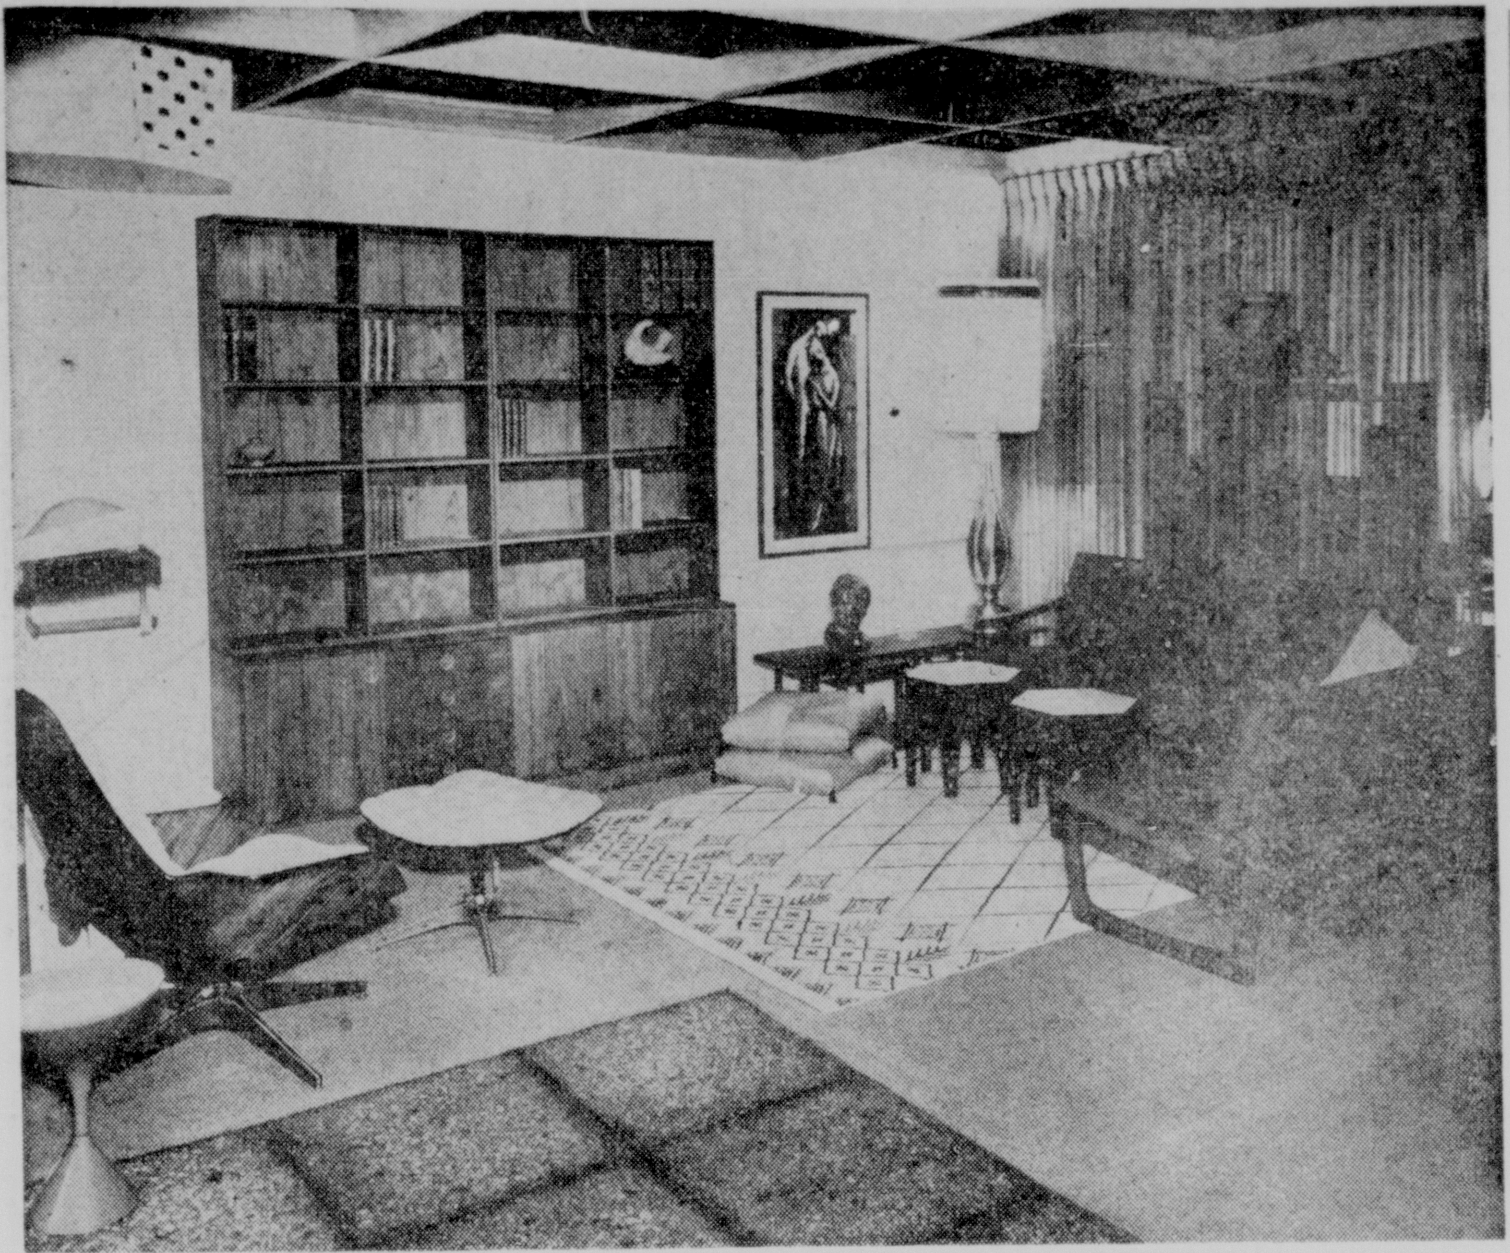
Imported Furniture Showing Popularity Gains



ROOM SETTING OF IMPORTS

FOR AUTHENTIC SPANISH ATMOSPHERE

Davis Furniture, of 1975 Long Beach Blvd., is featuring this Hacienda group, typically Spanish and the latest mode in home furnishings. To our friends from Mexico, we are indebted for this beautiful hand-carved breakfront. Executed in soft, mellow finishes with blending antique hardware. Complete living room, bedroom and dining room groupings are available. The Mediterranean style sofa and wrought iron candlabra blend to create an authentic Spanish atmosphere.

DESIGNED FOR SENIOR CITIZENS
From Lloyds of Long Beach, 4141 Atlantic Ave., comes this special grouping specifically designed for senior citizens. Known as Lloyds Leisure Apartment Model, this model room is one of many at Lloyds. The upholstered furniture is custom made by Lloyds of Long Beach.

SEEING IS BELIEVING!
New Naugahyde, the miracle fabric furniture covering that looks like fabric, feels like fabric, yet is child proof, fade proof, is now being used in living rooms as well as dens. The new patterns come in tweed prints and solids. Designs to fit any decor. The complete line of all the latest designs are now on display at the Long Beach Upholstery (House of Naugahyde), 3434 Atlantic Ave., Long Beach, California's leading dealer in Naugahyde furniture, new and reupholstered.

Upholstery Fabrics in New Trends

Grace of line is evident in the new upholstered pieces being shown, with Italian and French design sources popular in transitional styles. Contemporary design has not been overlooked, but it has lost its severity in the new collections' flares, curves, and broken lines.

Upholstery fabrics are shown in two color trends hot, brilliant hues or pastels. Bright tangerines, golds, and reds are perhaps more widely seen — but there is considerable interest in cool, delicate shades. Pale off-whites and beiges are still popular, and soft vinyls cover many new upholstered pieces.

STEINWAY

If you're looking for a piano, why not start at the top? Humphreys Music Company has been Long Beach's piano-organ headquarters for over 45 years. We mention the past only to emphasize the fact that we're still Long Beach piano-organ headquarters. What does that mean to you?
It means, for one thing, a bigger selection of better pianos and organs. Take pianos for example: We are the one and only local dealer for the Steinway — the unquestioned standard of excellence in pianos.
But that's not all. We're also exclusive local source for the world-famous Knabe and the broad range of Everett, Cable-Nelson and J. & C Fischer pianos. More models and more prices from which to choose! Start now to enjoy a piano's pleasure . . . from Humphreys.

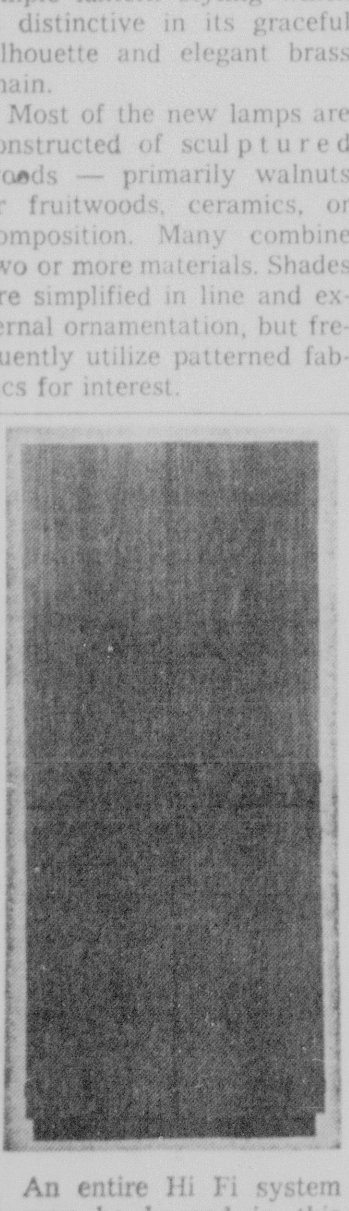
Most Table Lamps Tall but Narrow

Versatility is reflected in new accessories on display. Lamps typify this trend, with many lines suitable for use in traditional or classic contemporary interiors. One line includes a group of authentic reproductions, featuring fine craftsmanship.

Most table lamps are still moderately tall, but less massive and more delicately shaped. A number of floor lamps feature small trays to double as occasional tables. Also popular are pendant lamps, with attached chains. Effective in this group is a simple lantern styling which is distinctive in its graceful silhouette and elegant brass chain.

Most of the new lamps are constructed of sculptured woods — primarily walnuts or fruitwoods, ceramics, or composition. Many combine two or more materials. Shades are simplified in line and external ornamentation, but frequently utilize patterned fabrics for interest.



An entire Hi Fi system may be housed in this "Armoire" storage case by Glenn of California. It stands 6 ft. and is under 3 ft. wide. There are 4 matched walnut doors.

CHARM IN SMALL HOME

While many homes in Southern California are relatively small there still can be much charm provided in the dining-kitchen areas. This photo suggests many things to produce this charm including the furniture, lighting and a linoleum floor with a flagstone design which provides three-dimensional effect.

No Space Is Wasted With Room Dividers

How to divide a room and multiply its usefulness is made easy by several manufacturers who have introduced practical and attractive room dividers, some with storage facilities.

Gerald McCabe has designed a highly versatile divider of walnut and bronze finish. This piece, which may be used in backed-up pairs, provides space for housing a bar or hi-fi equipment, books, magazines, and decorative accessories.

A divider which is almost a room in itself is being intrduced by Woodland of California in unfinished form, ready for final painting or staining. This unit, which also is designed to house books, magazines, and whatnots, incorporates a dining table as well!

* * * *

SUITABLE for use as a divider or for placement against the wall is a magazine or book rack constructed of thermoset plastic with chrome-plated steel legs and supports. Designed by Richard Thompson, this is part of a broad collection featuring comfort and appearance for public areas.

The new "Acapulco" screen or divider designed by Jerry Johnson may be used inside or outdoors. Custom sizes are available, since each panel may be purchased individually and attached by a simple process.

Carpet Terms

BROADLOOM is a designation of carpet width. It does not describe any special style, quality or construction. The term refers to any carpet made in seamless widths of 6 feet and over.

PILE YARNS, sometimes called "face yarns," are the tufts of yarn seen on the surface of the carpet.

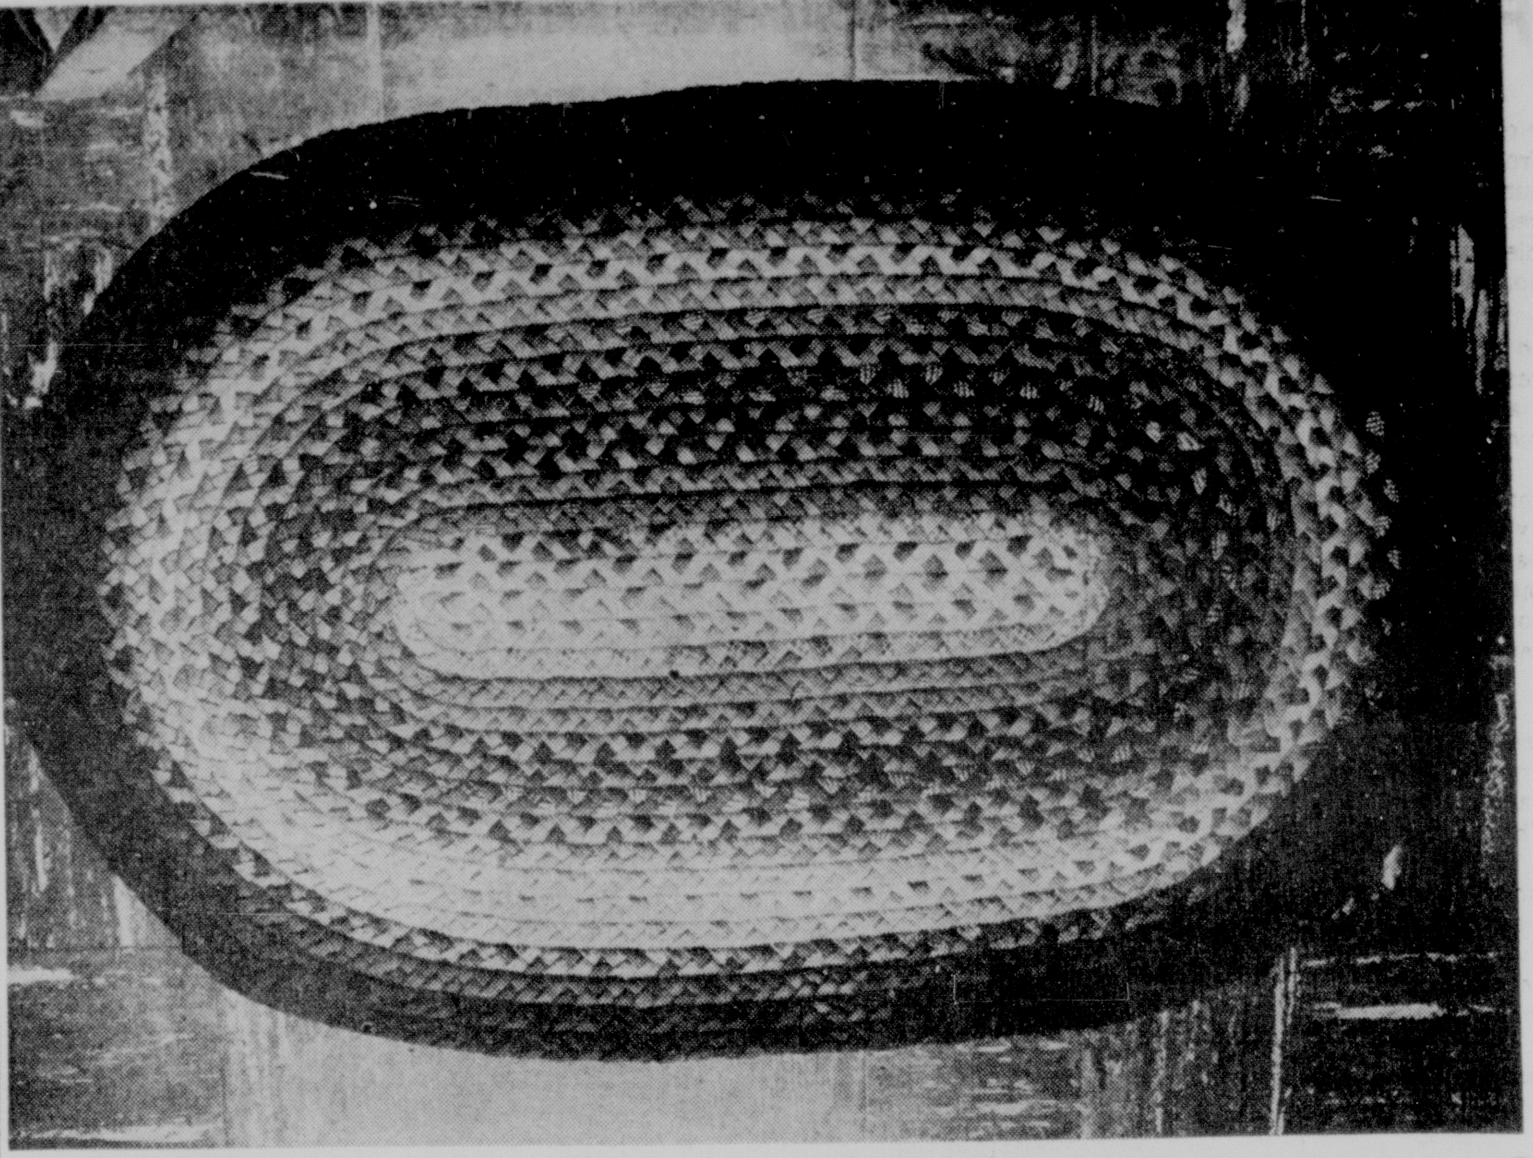
BACKING YARNS are the materials that form the carpet back or foundation, to which pile fibers are anchored.

PLY is a layer of thickness of yarns used in carpet. If the pile yarn is described as "4-ply," it means that each tuft is made of 4 yarns spun together.

WILTON, AXMINSTER, and VELVET are types of looms on which woven carpet is made. Carpet woven on these looms is also described in these terms, such as a "Wilton carpet," a "velvet weave," or "an Axminster."

TUFTING is a carpet construction process in which pile yarns are sewn through a pre-woven backing by wide multiple-needled machines.

KNITTING is another construction process in which carpet pile yarns and backing are interlocked by the knitting process.



WOOL BRAIDS ARE FAVORITES

Handsome wool braids are always a great favorite with customers of the Bixby Knolls Carpet Co. of 4354 Atlantic Ave. In addition to a wide variety of braided and hooked rugs, the Bixby Knolls Carpet Co. also carries a complete line of Lees Carpets, including the ever popular "Lasting Star." Most of the great names in carpeting are available at the store, including such world-renowned brands as Alexander Smith and Barwick.

Many Accessories Ease Care of Baby

It's the year to raise babies!

Thanks to offerings by juvenile furniture manufacturers, there's new ease for parents (and for those ever-loving grandparents, too!) in caring for little ones.

New nursery accessories are designed to minimize heavy lifting . . . to make baby and his needs highly portable as well as safe . . . and many of them offer extra economies in both money and space, thanks to multi-purpose features.

Typifying this multi-purpose design is the "Pun'kin Seat" in which baby may sit or lie in five comfortable and scientifically supported positions, at home or away. Here he may eat, bathe (when pad is removed), or ride in the car (utilizing long hangers which hook over the back of the car seat). Constructed of sturdy, lightweight plastic, it is easy to carry, and it features sliding plastic balls and a safety belt for amusement and protection.

* * * *

ALSO A FOLDING play pen-crib-dressing table combination makes it simple to take His Youthful Majesty on overnight trips with all the convenience of home.

Also planned for simplifying baby travel is "Tote-a-Crib," which serves as either a play pen or crib. Equipped with positive-action hinged legs and including a foam mattress and teething bar, this unit folds compactly into a 24" x 24" x 8" case with handle.

Flower Motif in Extension Table

For the bride's dream house there is a new Formica topped extension table by Howell. Called "Blue Bouquet," it has a white top decorated with a bunch of gay spring flowers. Flower motif is repeated on chairbacks of matching vinyl upholstery.

NEW SPRING SELECTION OF TABLES AND LAMPS

Fanciful New Lantern Designs

About 10 years ago George Nelson turned his attention from furniture and architecture to lighting. That move resulted in the famous "Bubble Lamps" suspended from countless American homes.

Now Nelson has returned to lighting designs. The happy result is a series of intriguing "lanterns" utilizing new techniques in plastics.

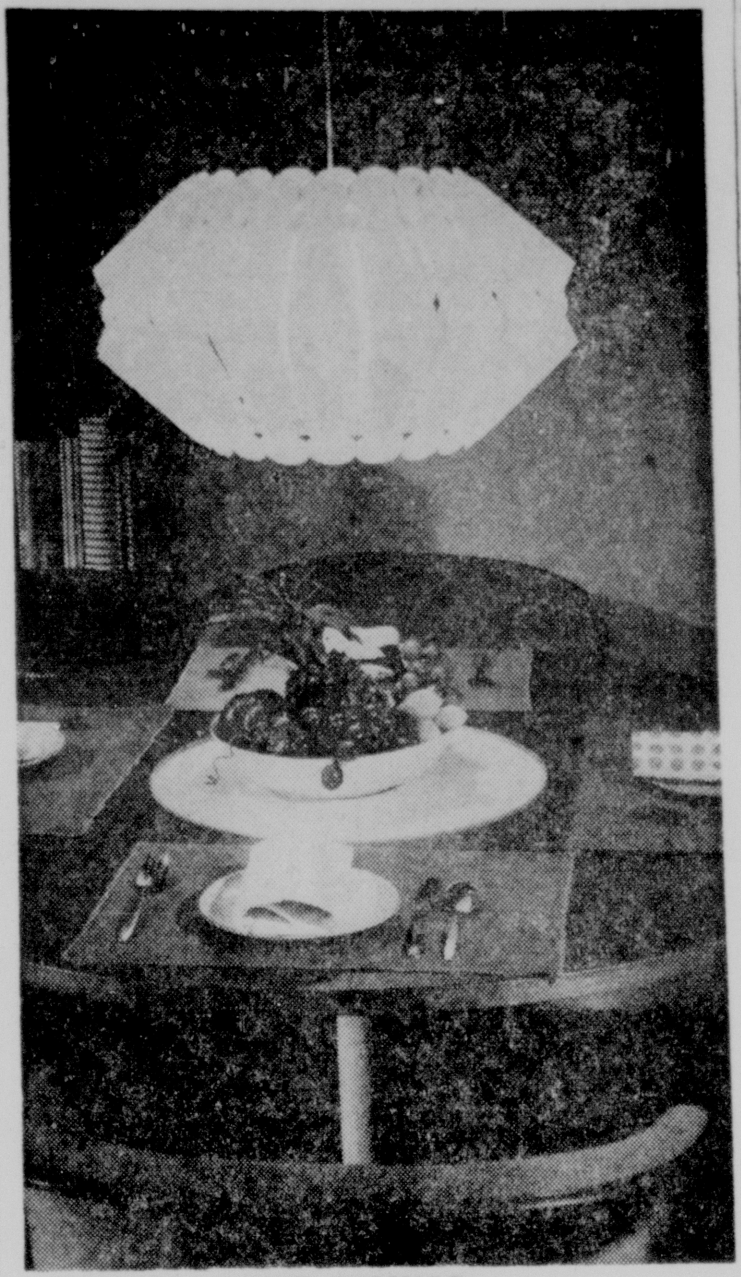
The lanterns filter light through an extruded plastic cylinder and then allow it to pass through sculptured segments of molded vinyl. It sounds complicated, but the results are truly beautiful.

* * * *

SLIGHTLY ORIENTAL in feeling, but definitely not oriental modern, the lanterns have a distinctive personality. They are almost sculpture.

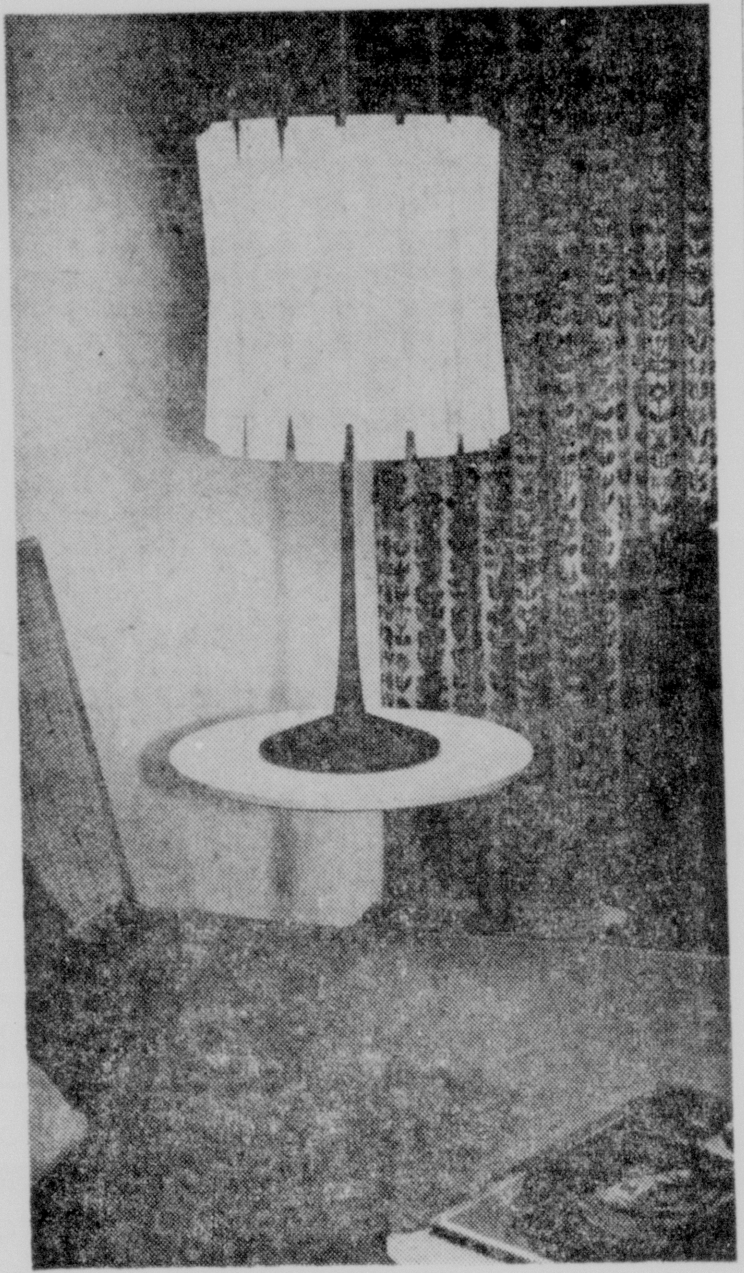
The lanterns three-dimensional surface is easy to clean. As a matter of fact, they can be taken apart if necessary. And being plastic, they are extremely durable.

Table lamps and floor lamps will be available in addition to the hanging lanterns.



LANTERN LIGHT DINING

New look in lighting is particularly attractive over the dining table. Here a lantern fills a three-way lighting requirement: Downward light on the table, indirect light flooding the ceiling and a soft glow around the periphery of a lamp for a relaxed atmosphere.



IDEAL FOR LOUNGING

On a slender walnut shaft, a lantern is luminous, decorative and virtually unbreakable. A cantilevered table holds this lantern in position for relaxed, semi-prone reading or lounging.

Rugs for Outdoor Use Too

The annual all-American competition to see who can best continue gracious living when the voice of the power mower is heard in our land got off to an early start with the introduction of outdoor rugs.

The outdoor rugs bid fair to replace barbecue skill as a status symbol come summertime and the annual migration to patio, pool, porch and backyard.

* * * *

ONE COLLECTION is composed of three rugs: "The Big Catch," a six-foot-long frankly fat, and wonderfully winsome fish complete with fantail, bulging eye, and sly grin; "Clouds Aloft," swirls and spirals of fluffy white high-pile Zefran fiber rising from a sky-blue base; and "El Sol," a stunning orb, six feet in diameter, in yellow, gold and orange.

These are rugs for lounging upon as well as looking at, and all are constructed to be plushy and highly absorbent for that sun-and-snooze after a swim.

At summer's end, they'll happily move inside with the rest of the family—"The Big Catch" tacked to plywood and mounted on the wall, "Clouds Aloft" beside a bed; and "El Sol" wherever a blaze of color and warmth would be welcome.

Timely Tips

United Press International

Spray dried flower arrangements with hair spray to keep the fluff of such plants as milkweed from falling.

Attach several shower curtain hangers over one end of the clothes closet rod. Use them to hang such items as umbrellas or belts.

To avoid burns, use tongs to put food into hot fat when frying it.

Blot fresh water spots on a tie. If dry, rub the spot briskly with the fabric itself or a clean tissue.

Wipe leaves of house plants with a small piece of cotton dampened with a drop of mineral oil and a little water.

When you have the vacuum cleaner in use, run the nozzle over velvet hats and suede shoes. This works better than a brush.

Area Rugs Will Place Accent Where Most Needed

Area rugs have emerged as one of the bright spots in home fashions news for 1962.

More than ever, these little rugs—and many that are not so small—show an intensity of color and design that can add a bright accent to many areas of your home.

The brightest colors and bold designs can be used to advantage in these rugs, since they do just what their name imply—provide an accent in a room or define one area. The vivid style which might be overpowering in a large area of carpet can be a focal point in a rug.

Styles are numerous—from those inspired by regional designs, such as Pennsylvania Dutch or Southwestern, to "novelty" ideas to brighten a child's room.

* * * *

COLORS AND textures show as much range of choice, from pastels to "shock" colors, from thick, furry rugs ot smooth looper textures.

Here are a few tips to aid in your selection and use of interesting rugs:

Do choose a rug size with room proportions in mind. Obviously, a 3'x5' rug by itself will be completely lost in a large room—and too many small rugs in one room will give a haphazard appearance.

Therefore, choose a rug large enough to define a particular area—perhaps a furniture group, or a corner of a room.

Two rugs in the same room do not necessarily have to match in size or shape. For example, you might use a round rug to accommodate dining table and chairs, a square or rectangle to define the "living room" area of the same room.

Do choose your area rugs for their design and color interest. Since a rug on a bare floor, or used over plain carpet, naturally stands out, make the most of contrast in color and texture.

* * * *

DO CONSIDER rug design when you think about placement. Many new styles have border or center designs, so plan furniture arrangement accordingly—perhaps a table and chairs grouped around a center motif, or furniture contained within a bordered or fringed rug.

Don't be afraid to use an area rug over wall-to-wall carpeting. You can choose a rug for its design interest and be practical at the same time. Small rugs help protect carpets at heavy-wear spots. Shift them occasionally to avoid undue abrasion on carpet pile and remember to vacuum the carpet underneath during regular cleanings.

Bedrooms May Need New Decor, Too

The "forgotten room" of decorating in many homes is the bedroom. Unlike main living areas which are seen constantly by family and guests, the bedroom may be tucked away and even become the "catchall" for leftover furnishings.

Yet no room is so worthy of being furnished for comfort and beauty as the bedroom. In fact, comfort is the keynote to a well-planned room for relaxation — and that means visual as well as actual physical comfort.

In living rooms, kitchens and eating areas, vivid colors are often charming. But for a room as peaceful as a bedroom should be, more subdued decor is recommended.

* * * *

SO the first rule in desiging a bedroom is to choose a color scheme that seems restful. This does not mean that the room has to be dull! Rich tones can well be used in bedrooms, although a strongly-contrasting color scheme generally is not best.

The second step is to choose furnishings that are comfortable and in good condition — a bed chosen for its sturdy construction, chairs that are convenient and easy to sit in, a carpet or rug that completes the color scheme and provides warmth and coziness underfoot.

If you choose a rug rather than carpeting, make sure that it's large enough to cover the area around the bedside. Anyone who has ever touched a bare foot to a cold floor will see the logic of this planning at once!

* * * *

THE carpet or rug will provide the necessary acoustical protection at the same time it adds to decor and comfort underfoot. Obviously, bedrooms should be as quiet as possible, and the soft floor covering does double duty in this respect, cutting down airborne noise efficiently and practically eliminating impact noise.

The carpet might well provide the accent color for a bedroom, or could be in a more subdued tone that harmonizes with the colors of walls and draperies. Several repetitions of one color in a room contribute to a relaxed feeling in decor.

Draperies can contribute an interesting pattern to bedroom decor and also play a practical role in shutting out light when desired. The pattern might be subdued and repeat the predominant color of carpet and walls.

* * * *

PLAN BEDROOM furniture arrangement for the utmost convenience — easy access to storage pieces, night tables near the bed, chairs away from the main traffic pattern in the room.

Add good lighting for dressing tables or reading in bed, preferably a lighting arrangement that can be easily dimmed or turned up at will —and the bedroom will be an asset instead of the forgotten room in your decorating plans.

Decorations Are Painted

Several new furniture collections feature painted decoration as a means of expressing the current trend toward embellishment.

ADJUST SELF TO COMFORT

In just three minutes you convert a regular twin bed into a Select-A-Rest bed as shown here. After the bed unfolds it can be adjusted to 101 contour position with the touch of a button to permit you to select a preferred position for ideal rest. These are offered by Acme Mattress Co., Long Beach and Santa Ana.

No Moving Problem With Rugs

Moving is certainly nothing new for carpets and rugs! In fact, one of the earliest-known users of rugs were the Nomadic tribesmen, who found that course-woven fabrics made the "floors" of their tents more comfortable.

So if you are moving—as one-fifth of all families in the United States do every year — be assured that carpets and rugs are ready to make your home more liveable.

You may find that a move from one home to another provides the best opportunity to purchase new carpets. Or you may want to move your current carpets and rugs with you.

* * * *

IN EITHER case, it's logical to arrange for these important items to be moved first and put in place before you transfer other furnishings.

If you have wall-to-wall carpeting in good condition, contact a local retailer or carpet cleaner to check on the advisability of having it installed in your new home. These professionals can tell you how much time and labor will be involved in refitting carpet to new room sizes and shapes.

RUGS USUALLY pose no problem in moving, and for that reason are often chosen by families who move frequently.

Moving time may also be the best time to have your rugs or carpets cleaned professionally. Your moving firm may make arrangements to have these picked up at your present home, cleaned and moved to the new home a few days in advance of transferring other furnishings.

EXPERTS IN HOME DECOR

Buffums' interior consultants, John Stettler and Carl Stewart, specialize in the field of fabric and color for homes, offering expert advice on drapery, carpet and upholstery harmony. They will go to homes armed with swatches of fabric, upholstery and carpet samples to make suggestions on new decor. All Buffums' stores are well stocked in the newest styling in home decor and provide the two experts as an added service.

FOR THE FINEST OF SLEEP

RICH OVAL RUG

As elegant a rendition of the fleur-de-lis as ever graced a royal residence is this rug called "Palatine," introduced by Regal Rugs. Made of carpet-thick nylon, it is an elongated oval four feet wide and eight feet in length.

Jackie's Influence on Women Is Shown

A new topic has entered the conversation in the furnishings field. It's "the Kennedy influence." They mean Mrs. Kennedy. And they admit her influence is substantial, whether they are for or against the administration.

"She's a trend-setter," said one, in trade parlance. "She has both taste and style. And her influence on women is great, in every way. We're beginning to feel it in our field from the orders we're getting."

* * * *

"WHICH brings us around to the much discussed redecoration of the White House," said another. "I personally feel that not many people can afford, or even want, the type of furnishings incident to refurbishing an historic residence. The publicity given the project may or may not have an effect on the over-all picture in home furnishings."

"The important thing," said a local dealer, "is that Mrs. Kennedy has brought interest back to the home."

Interest in the homes they live in is a thing all women understand. Intuitively they realize that this goes far beyond the physical furnishings. And that's where Mrs. Kennedy comes in. Her influence extends to the music they listen to, the entertaining they do, the food they eat, and the clothes they wear — to say nothing of the rearing of children. Inspired by her leadership, the girls are taking a good look at themselves and their surroundings. If they can benefit from her background and activities, why not?

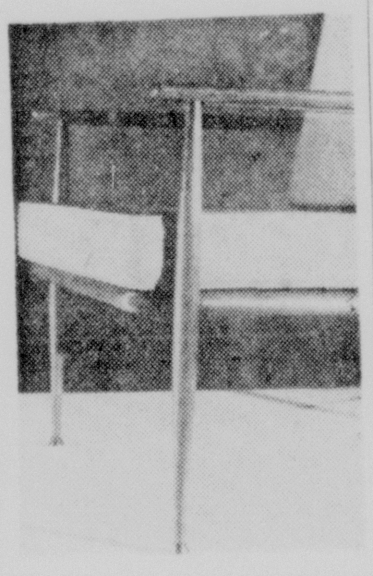
Dining Tables Show More Formal Trend

Dining tables indicate further interest in the trend to more formal mealtimes.

Larger in scale, the tables include both stationary and extension styles. Tops often combine easy-care with glamour, as in the frequently shown marble tops—including a variety specially treated to be abraison-resistant and impervious to all stains. One table features a gold-dust-under-glass effect.

Storage problems are solved in a number of ways. Cabinets, room dividers, and breakfronts are available in a range of styles and finishes. The new offerings include a vertical cabinet, simple in line with elaborate pulls, suitable for hi-fi installation or for china, linens, or other shelf storage. Constructed with painstaking care is an unfinished wood room divider which actually incorporate an entire dining unit, table, storage, open shelves, and even magazine racks.

Convenience also keynotes the styling of bedroom pieces. A new informal early American collection in a new mellow-nut finished birch has plastic tops for durability and easy care. A versatile classic line in an antique champagne finish features fully mitered case pieces, with flush ends to facilitate modular groupings.



LOOKS LIKE WOOD

A revolutionary technique for embossing steel to create a finish with the texture and warmth of wood graining has been perfected. Here is a closeup of a Viko club chair by Baumritter.

WALL-HUNG UNITS APPEAL

High fashion and chic as decorator pieces are the wall-hung units now offered at Beaver Brothers, dealers in finished and unfinished furniture. Functional as well as attractive, the sliding-door cabinets and three-drawer chest with shelves and plastic top table fits well in smaller homes and apartments.

Towels, Bath Mats Delight to Eye

The great beauties of the extravagant Courts of the French Louis's, for all the luxury of their surroundings, never had anything in their famous boudoirs that approached the beauty of the towels, bath mats and rugs being shown this year. Yarn dyed, absorbenized, with puckerproof borders, and many with the popular fringed ends, towels are a delight to the eye and touch.

New patterns introduced this season include stripes, checks, floral designs, and jacquards as well as solid colors, all of which can be coordinated with bath mats and rugs in several sizes.

GROUP collections range all the way from "Old Salem Quilt" to "Blue Lagoon." "Chateau Rose", a new all over flower pattern of old world elegance, comes in Antique, Turquoise, Larkspur Blue, Topaz, or Persian Pink. The Northern Lights Collection especially good in a bathroom of ultra modern design, includes "Snow Flowers" (a print); "Northern Lights" (stripe) and "Stockholm" (solid towel with white border) in 9 to 15 color combinations.

For girls who aspire to be Sand Witches there is a 36x66 beach towel called just that. Other assists to chic and glamour include imaginative and colorful prints such as "Crazy Man", "High and Dry" and, for sunburned beauties, "Ouch!"

Imported Items

Those hand hammered copper lamp bases shown by Keith Henriques are from Egypt. He is also showing excellent reproductions of French antiques and old Spanish ceiling "lanterns." The latter can be hung as "chain" lights, now such high style.

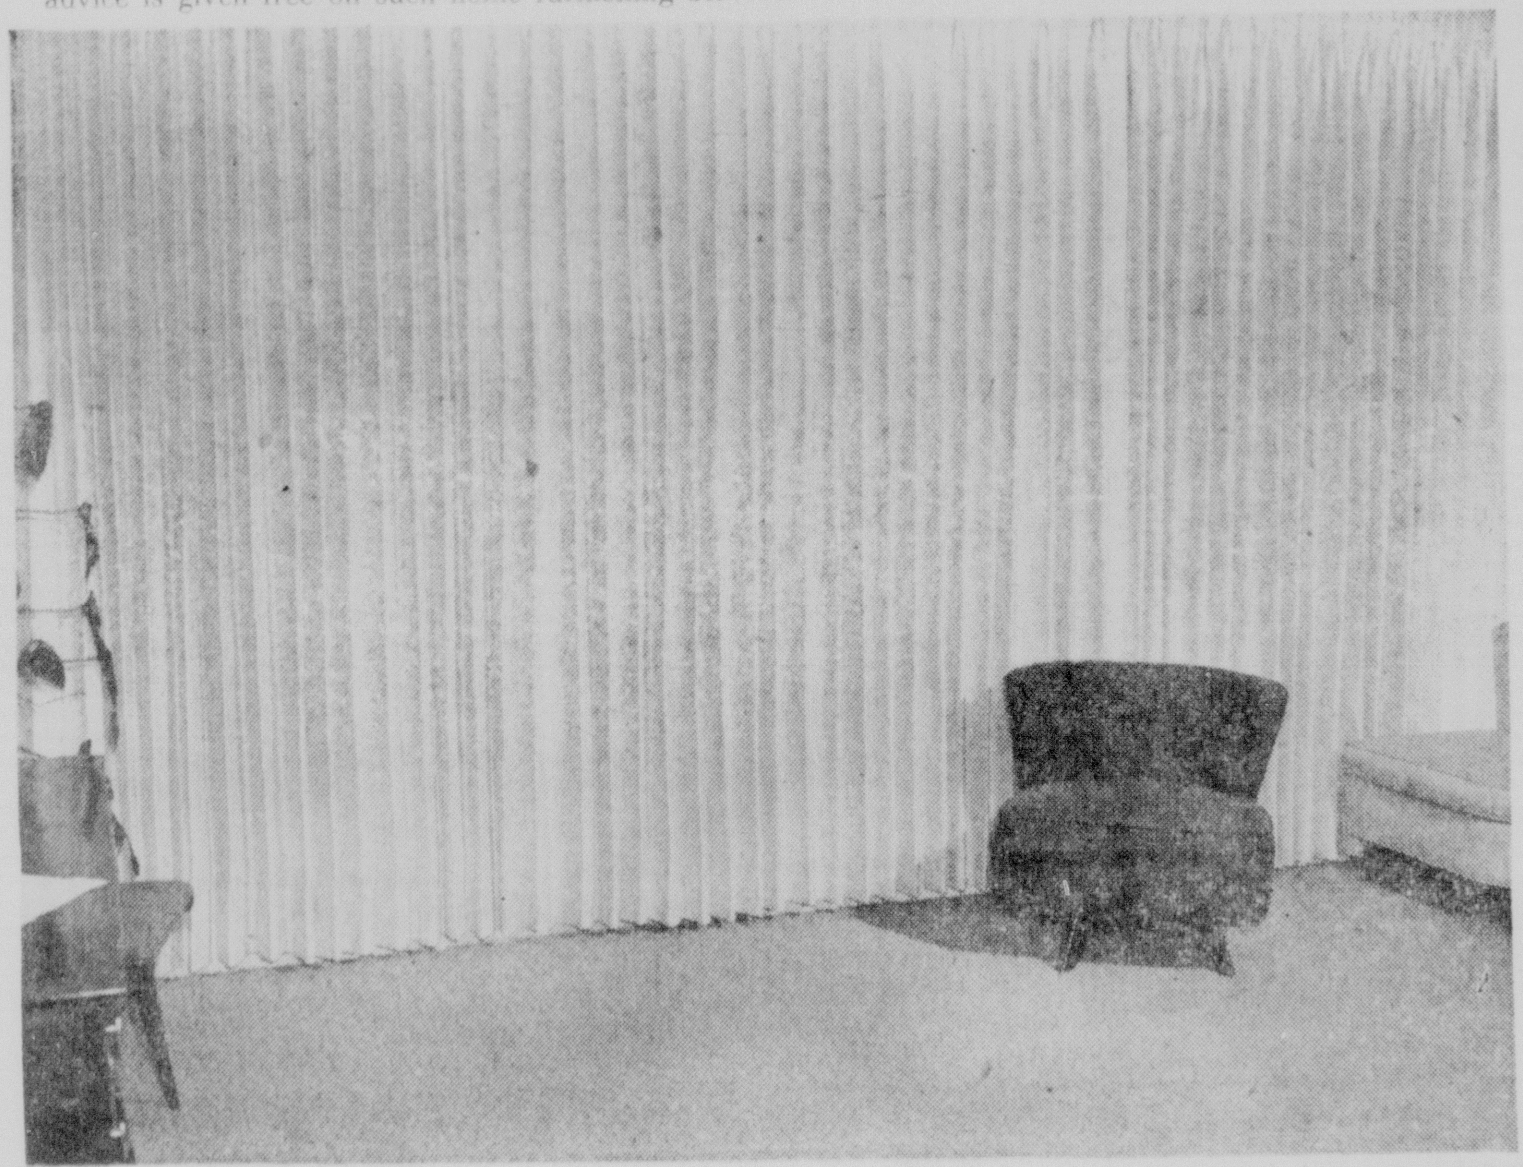
Willbanks

SHOP-AT-HOME SERVICE OFFERED

Customers are provided with the opportunity of seeing the merchandise in a setting in their own homes by the Sears Shop-At-Home Service. Sears has many full-time employes who will go into homes with samples of carpeting, draperies, upholstering and slipcovers, under this service. Expert advice is given free on such home furnishing service.



ANTIQUE SATIN DRAPERIES

Willbanks Carpets and Draperies of Signal Hill provided complete interior decorating and color coordination in the Long Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dixon. John Griffin, graduate decorator for Willbanks was in charge. In this view may be seen antique satin draperies contrasting with a Hi-Lo random texture turquoise carpet. The Signal Hill firm provided murals as well as the draperies, carpet and color coordination.

New Lines in Casual Furniture

Stark functionalism is frequently softened by curves and sometimes almost traditional detailing. One metal dinette grouping features classic Italian sculptured lines; a quality metal chair is in regency styling.

Even outdoor furniture features a contoured, tapered effect; one tubular aluminum and plastic sand chair is shaped in sweeping curves to create a somewhat Roman effect.

* * * *

The new, low curving lines in rattan furniture, while simpler than many designs previously seen in this medium, have added elegance and charm.

See Rugs in Home, Then Buy

The surest way to know that you will be happy with the carpet you are planning to buy is to see how it will look in your home.

Realizing this fact, many carpet retailers today provide "in-home shopping" services that are becoming more and more popular with their customers.

You can arrange for a salesman to call at your home with a selection of samples, perhaps some that you have seen at a store or several in the colors and textures which interest you most.

* * * *

THEN YOU—and possibly other members of the family—can see exactly how a carpet will look under home lighting conditions and in conjunction with existing colors and furnishings in a room.

This easy shopping is a boon to busy mothers—no babysitting problems here!—or working wives who find it difficult to arrange time for shopping.

A trained carpet expert can also determine exact measurements of a room, or give advice on qualities best suited to traffic needs, when he sees your home.

Ask your local retailer about having carpet samples brought to you, or other arrangements allowing you to view carpet in the surroundings in which it will be used.

Many colors and patterns by leading Norwegian artists are featured. Size determines the cost of the kits.

WALKER'S OFFERS MORE HOME FURNISHINGS

All home furnishings have been moved to the fourth floor of Walker's downtown Long Beach store, making it more convenient for shoppers. The furniture, carpet, draperies, curtains, slip covers and gift departments have been enlarged. The store will offer furniture in Colonial, Traditional and Modern stylings with a vast selection of curtains, drapes and floor coverings. Here is a view of a portion of the big new furnishing department.

Grecian Urn Is Lamp Base

Some accessories illustrate a trend toward a classic revival. A Grecian urn shape, formed of sculptured walnut in an open design serves as the base for a 43-inch lamp. The shade incorporates modern materials, providing glare-free lighting, diffused through an inner plastic shade covered by a second shade of net.

Real Acting

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Annette Gorman won several ribbons in school swimming competitions, but in one scene for the movie "Five Kinds of Love" she is shown drowning in the ocean.

Much Carving Noted

With the current movement toward greater luxury in home interiors, there is a notable return to craftsmanship detailing on furniture. One evidence of this is seen in the abundance of carving on new pieces being shown at the Los Angeles Home Furnishings Mart.

Intricate carving details the brace of a three-foot console which is lighted from within. A handcarved pedestal imported from Italy supports the top of a new solid walnut stationary or extension "Florentine" table.

MEXICAN IMPORTS, too, evidence much carving. A South-of-the-border breakfront being displayed at the Mart (Marsh-Fairchild) is one of many which is heavily carved. Available in a variety of colored finishes, including a new antique gold leaf, this piece is accented by solid brass pulls.

Carved effects are also popular on lamps this market. Wood bases are intricately turned; one producer (Cordey) is showing several appliqued-china bases, featuring medallions and scrolls.

Wallpaper in Lace Pattern Is Shown

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI)—Lace-patterned wallpaper is becoming high fashion.

It's typical of the textured wall coverings being used for that something "extra" without resorting to actual pattern on the wall.

The chief "plus" factor of the textured-look papers, said William Burton, style and design director for a wallpaper manufacturer (United) is that they can be used with patterned draperies and carpets and make a good background for paintings.

* * * *

BECAUSE OF their generally subdued tone, they blend well with either contemporary or traditional furnishings.

The various papers available simulate damasks, silks, grasses, and moire stripes, as well as lace. Simulated flocked designs also are widely available.

While the textured-look papers are ideal for use with patterned draperies, rugs and upholsteries, regular patterned papers should be used in a room of all solid colors, Burton advised. He reported a return, where patterned paper is used, to the large, rich patterns characteristic of the 18th century.

* * * *

FLORALS, ROSES in particular, are still the first choice of many homemakers, said Burton, because people like wallpaper with a familiar pattern.

As for color, Burton said white is tops, lilac and orchid are moving up fast, beige is in decline, and pink and blue are finished for a while.

Among the more unusual new patterns are one with prints of old books, weathervanes, bird cages and other antiques against a stencilled ornamental background, another with classical etchings of Roman ruins, and a third showing favorite dishes of France, Italy and England, along with travel posters.

Many of the new papers come with patterned-to-match fabrics.

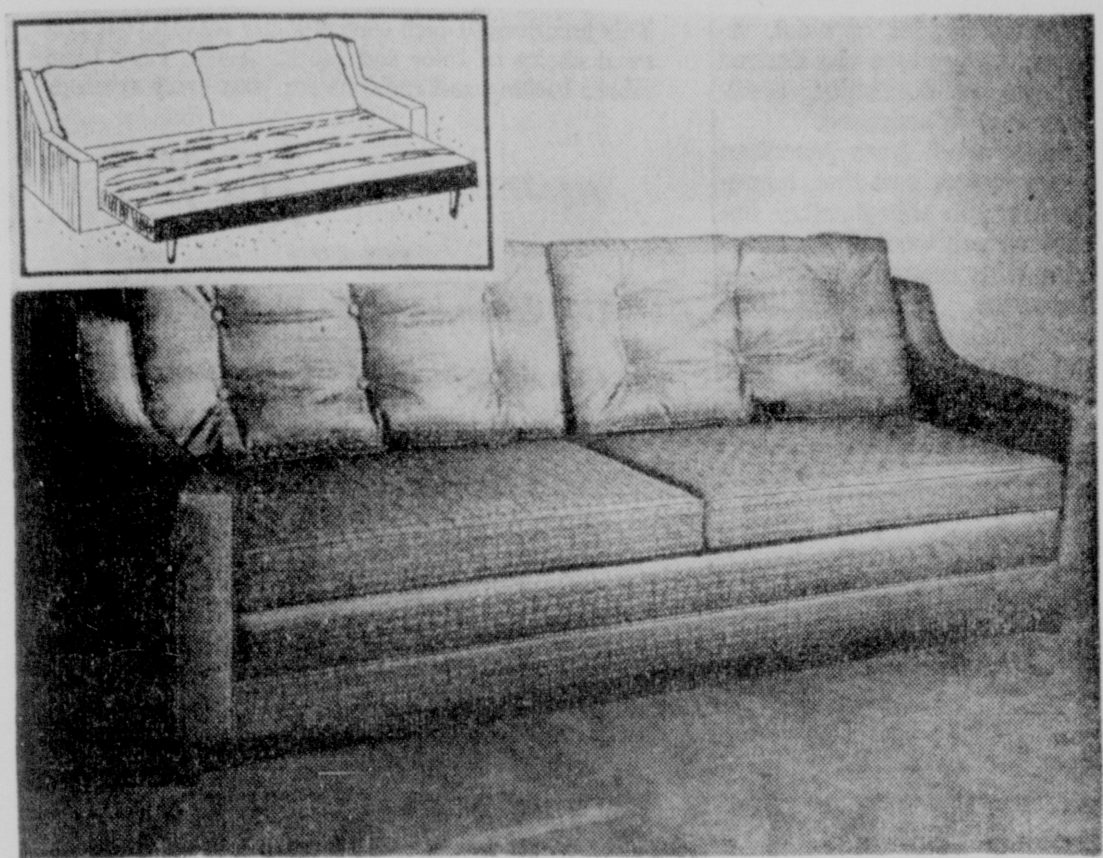
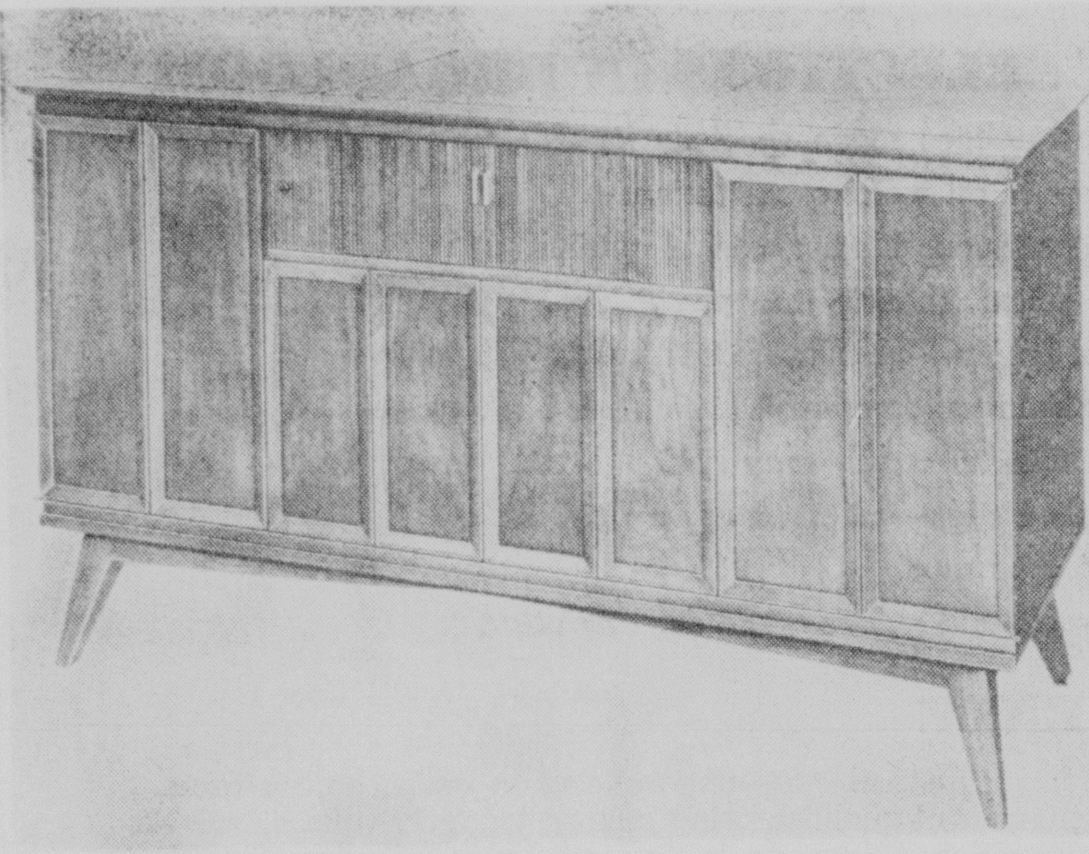
CONTEMPORARY BEDROOM GROUP

This beautiful new contemporary bedroom group is being shown by a new furniture store, Ritner Furniture, 6414 E. Spring St. at Palo Verde in the Plaza. It is the "Criterion" group by American of Martinsville, dramatizing the natural beauty of nut-brown finish softly burnished walnut. Its sheer simplicity is unembellished with ornamental distractions.



TUCK-AWAY SLEEPER

The smartly-styled loose-pillow-back tuck-away sleeper shown is one of the custom furniture pieces manufactured and sold right at the factory work floor by Harold's Furniture Manufacturing Co., 6640 Cherry Ave. Custom craftsmanship goes into every chair, sofa, sectional and sleeper at Harold's.



HOME MUSIC CENTER

The Fisher Executive VII provides the wonderful stereophonic FM-multiplex with exclusive stereo beam, stereophonic FM-AM, with stereophonic phonograph and stereophonic tape recorder. It is the utmost as a home music center piece. An exclusive in this area at Humphreys Music Co., 135 E. Third St., Long Beach.

Sight, Sound Sets Are Hidden

Thanks to the ingenuity of furniture manufacturers, today's families can hear music and see television when they wish—without having to accommodate in their homes the constant business-like appearance of a "hi-fi set" and the dark eye of a turned-off television set.

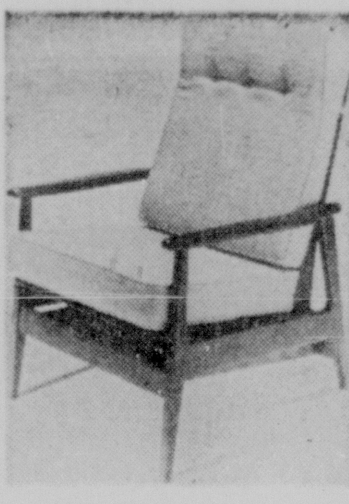
All is now camouflaged, as is proven by the new sight-and-sound cabinets on display in the Los Angeles Home Furnishings Mart, where a number of firms are showing smartly styled cabinets in which TV and Stereo may be hidden.

* * * *

FIGURED WALNUT is used for the four matched doors of a handsome armoire to house stereo components, television receiver, and 40 tapes. Jewel-like pulls ornament the clean-lined piece, which is 6 feet high and 31 inches wide. There is a flat-topped hi-fi ensemble consisting of a 6-foot center component cabinet with tambour doors plus matching speaker enclusures.

Variety of cabinet styling is offered in another Mart showroom which is displaying Danish modern, early American, and French provincial cabinet designs—in a selection of oiled walnut, cherry, fruitwood, or mahogany—for housing its new sound equipment, which includes a new development in Multiplex FM stereo.

A tambour front with no design breaks of any kind hides the TV set and stereo components in an "International Theatre" console. Lift-tops on the sides of the unit permit access to the turntable and other stereo mechanisms while still permitting the use of decoratives on top of the center piece.



Looking like another club chair, this Danish modern offering has a platform rocker mechanism that is practically invisible. It is by Baumritter.

Desk Accessories Are of Walnut

Even office accessories have assumed graceful curves, as exemplified by a new line of walnut desk needs being shown. Letter trays, calendar and memo holders, and book racks are among the items included. Completely functional and unembellished, these are ideal illustrations of classic beauty—combining simplicity, grace of line, and careful finish to achieve an effect almost of fine art pieces.

SWEEPING SHOW OF ELEGANCE PROVIDED BY DRAPERIES

New Vinyl-Coated Fabrics Wear Well

Development of vinyl-coated fabrics has progressed until it is difficult now to tell some coverings on upholstery from the actual fabric. Details of design are carried out and the vinyl coating adds much wear to the furniture covering.

Naugahyde, a trade name developed by U.S. Rubber Co., was the first vinyl fabric to use the elastic supported backing to a large extent. This backing halted the peeling of the original plastic materials, caused by stretching.

Next came the development of a "breathable" vinyl which made the covering softer by the release of air and made it cooler by permitting free circulation of air.

* * * *

BESIDES NAUGAHYDE, other vinyl coated fabric now being produced include Bolta Flex by General Tire and Rubber; Fabrilite by Du Pont; Korseal by Goodrich Rubber Co., and Duran by Masland Co.

Patterns are designed to simulate provincial prints, raw silks, linens, antique satins, tweeds, marlasse and real leather.

The new vinyl simulating leather is regarded as softer than real leather yet it requires no special care and will not crack. It doesn't fade and wipes clean after washing with soap and water. Stubborn stains may be removed with kitchen cleanser or paint thinner. Only some inks and carbon paper may permanently stain it.

Blend of Wools Used in Carpet

An all-wool carpet is actually made from a blend of different grades of wool, selected to produce the desired balance of durability, resiliency and appearance.

Since wool from American sheep is soft and fine, manufacturers in this country import carpet wool from countries with rugged climates — Argentina, India, Pakistan, New Zealand, Scotland, Iraq and Syria—where sheep produce wool tough enough for sturdy carpet use.

BRINGS LUXURY INTO HOME

A luxury carpet creation from the looms of Mohawk is a featured creation at B&G Carpet Co., Inc., 1919 N. Long Beach Blvd. in Compton. Owner Gene Wohlberg has on hand one of the largest selections of luxury and decorator carpeting to complement any room or unit. Some of the greatest strides in the carpet industry have been made in recent years with the creation of new color blends, fabrics and variations on popular themes, textures and patterns. Today it is relatively inexpensive to live in an atmosphere of charm and friendliness in any room setting with luxury carpeting, Wohlberg pointed out.

Selecting Correct Fiber Very Important When Buying Carpet

"Which carpet is best—wool, nylon or acrylic?"

In recent years there has been a tendency by some carpet purchasers to base carpet quality on the type of fiber used in the pile yarns. This can be misleading. As with any manufactured produce, the quality of a carpet is determined not only by the type and quality of the raw materials used, but also by how well it was designed and manufactured.

The most important factor determining the quality and performance of a carpet is the density and thickness of the pile yarns. The more yarn used in the surface of the carpet, the greater the wear and service that can be expected.

* * * *

BEFORE 1950 the choice of carpet fiber presented no problem as most carpets were made of just one fiber—wool. A homemaker based her selection on the tried and true fundamentals of a reliable brand name, the styling of the carpet and the thickness of the pile.

However, in the ensuing years a variety of new man-made fibers were introduced in carpets, many with different trade names, until it seemed to the consumer that she had to evaluate about 20 different types of materials before she could decide on the carpet to buy. As a result, the choice of fiber tended to over-shadow the other key factors that go into selecting a new carpet or rug.

Now homemakers are learning that the fiber picture has cleared up considerably and they are returning to the old fundamentals in choosing their new carpets.

* * * *

WITH THE help of the Textile Fiber Products Identification law, which requires fiber content to be labeled on all textiles, consumers have discovered there are only six generic types of synthetic fibers going into carpet today. These are: nylon, acrylic, modacrylic, rayon, acetate and polypropylene.

The confusion over synthetics has been cleared up further by the fact that each fiber has found its niche in the overall carpet scheme. Knowing how these new yarns will perform in particular constructions and textures, carpet manufacturers are able to plan their lines by selecting a fiber for a specific styling and performance function.

For example, they know that if extra wear-resistance is desired nylon is called for, either 100% or blended with other fibers. If top-notch resiliency and a soft feel is wanted, the acrylics and modacrylics fill the bill. If good performance in low traffic areas at an economical price is called for, then rayon or acetate may be specified.

* * * *

MOREOVER, easy removal of water soluble stains is another advantage of the "hydrophobic" fibers — nylons and the acrylics—which resist water absorption. All man-made fibers are allergy free and insect proof.

Wool is still the leading fiber employed by American carpet manufacturers, accounting for nearly 60% of the total. The experience of centuries has established wool as a pile fiber with a balance of all the desirable performance characteristics of wear, resiliency and resistance to soiling. Now new chemical treatments have made wool carpets permanently moth proof.

* * * *

COTTON — always excellent for durability, soft feel and color — has found its place in exciting rugs and economical wall-to-wall carpeting for low traffic areas where resiliency and soil resistance are not vital.

Knowing what each fiber can do has also enabled carpet makers to blend the various materials to take advantage of more than one fiber characteristic.

Manufacturers of established American carpet brands have made most of the basic buying decisions for the homemaker by selecting the fibers and constructions that are best suited for each other. The consumer can now be less concerned about fiber content and concentrate more on the choice of color and style that appeals to her in her chosen price and quality range.

* * * *

IF YOU USE small rugs over bare floors, be sure they are anchored securely. Many rugs today are quite heavy and stay in place of their own accord. But if a rug shows signs of slipping, keep it in place with with double-sided tape, or by using one of the powder preparations available in hardware stores and home furnishings departments.

Rugs large enough to be called "room-size" are generally used over padding, as carpets are.

NEWEST IN SOFA LINE

Here's Riviera's newest addition to the convertible sofa line, the "Normandy." It features provincial early American styling with exposed finished maple wood wings and knuckle arms, and has a box pleat flounce and vertical channel back with molded foam. Available in early American prints and solid colors at Riviera Sofa Bed Co., 425 E. 4th St., Long Beach.

I GOTTA GET RUFF FROM THE GARAGE!
THE GARAGE?
UH-HUH! HE'S IN THERE.
WHAT'S HE DOING IN THE GARAGE?
I PUT HIM THERE! I DIDN'T WANT HIM CHASIN' THE EASTER BUNNY!
DENNIS! LOOK!
EASTER EGGS, HUH?
UH-HUH! I FOUND 'EM!
THE EASTER BUNNY BRANG 'EM!
BRUNG 'EM!
BOYS! LOOK AT MY EASTER EGGS!
DID YOU EVER SEE SUCH EGGS?
LOOK AT JOEY'S!
BUT LOOK AT MINE! AREN'T THEY HUGE?
COME ON. I'LL SHOW YA MINE!
THEY'RE NICE. BUT LOOK AT MINE!
WHAT'S SO SPECIAL 'BOUT 'EM?

JACKIE! LOOK!
I FIND EGG IN MY BED!
OH, BOY! THE EASTER BUNNY MUST OF BEEN AT OUR HOUSE!
OH! OH! HERE'S ONE UNDER MY PILLOW, TOO!
FIND MORE!
I FIND LOTS OF EGGS, MAMA!
GOOD BOY! JUST DUMP THEM ON DADDY'S BED AND GO LOOK FOR MORE!
JIMMIE! WHAT ARE YOU DOING WITH THOSE EGGS?
YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO FIND HARD BOILED, COLORED ONES!

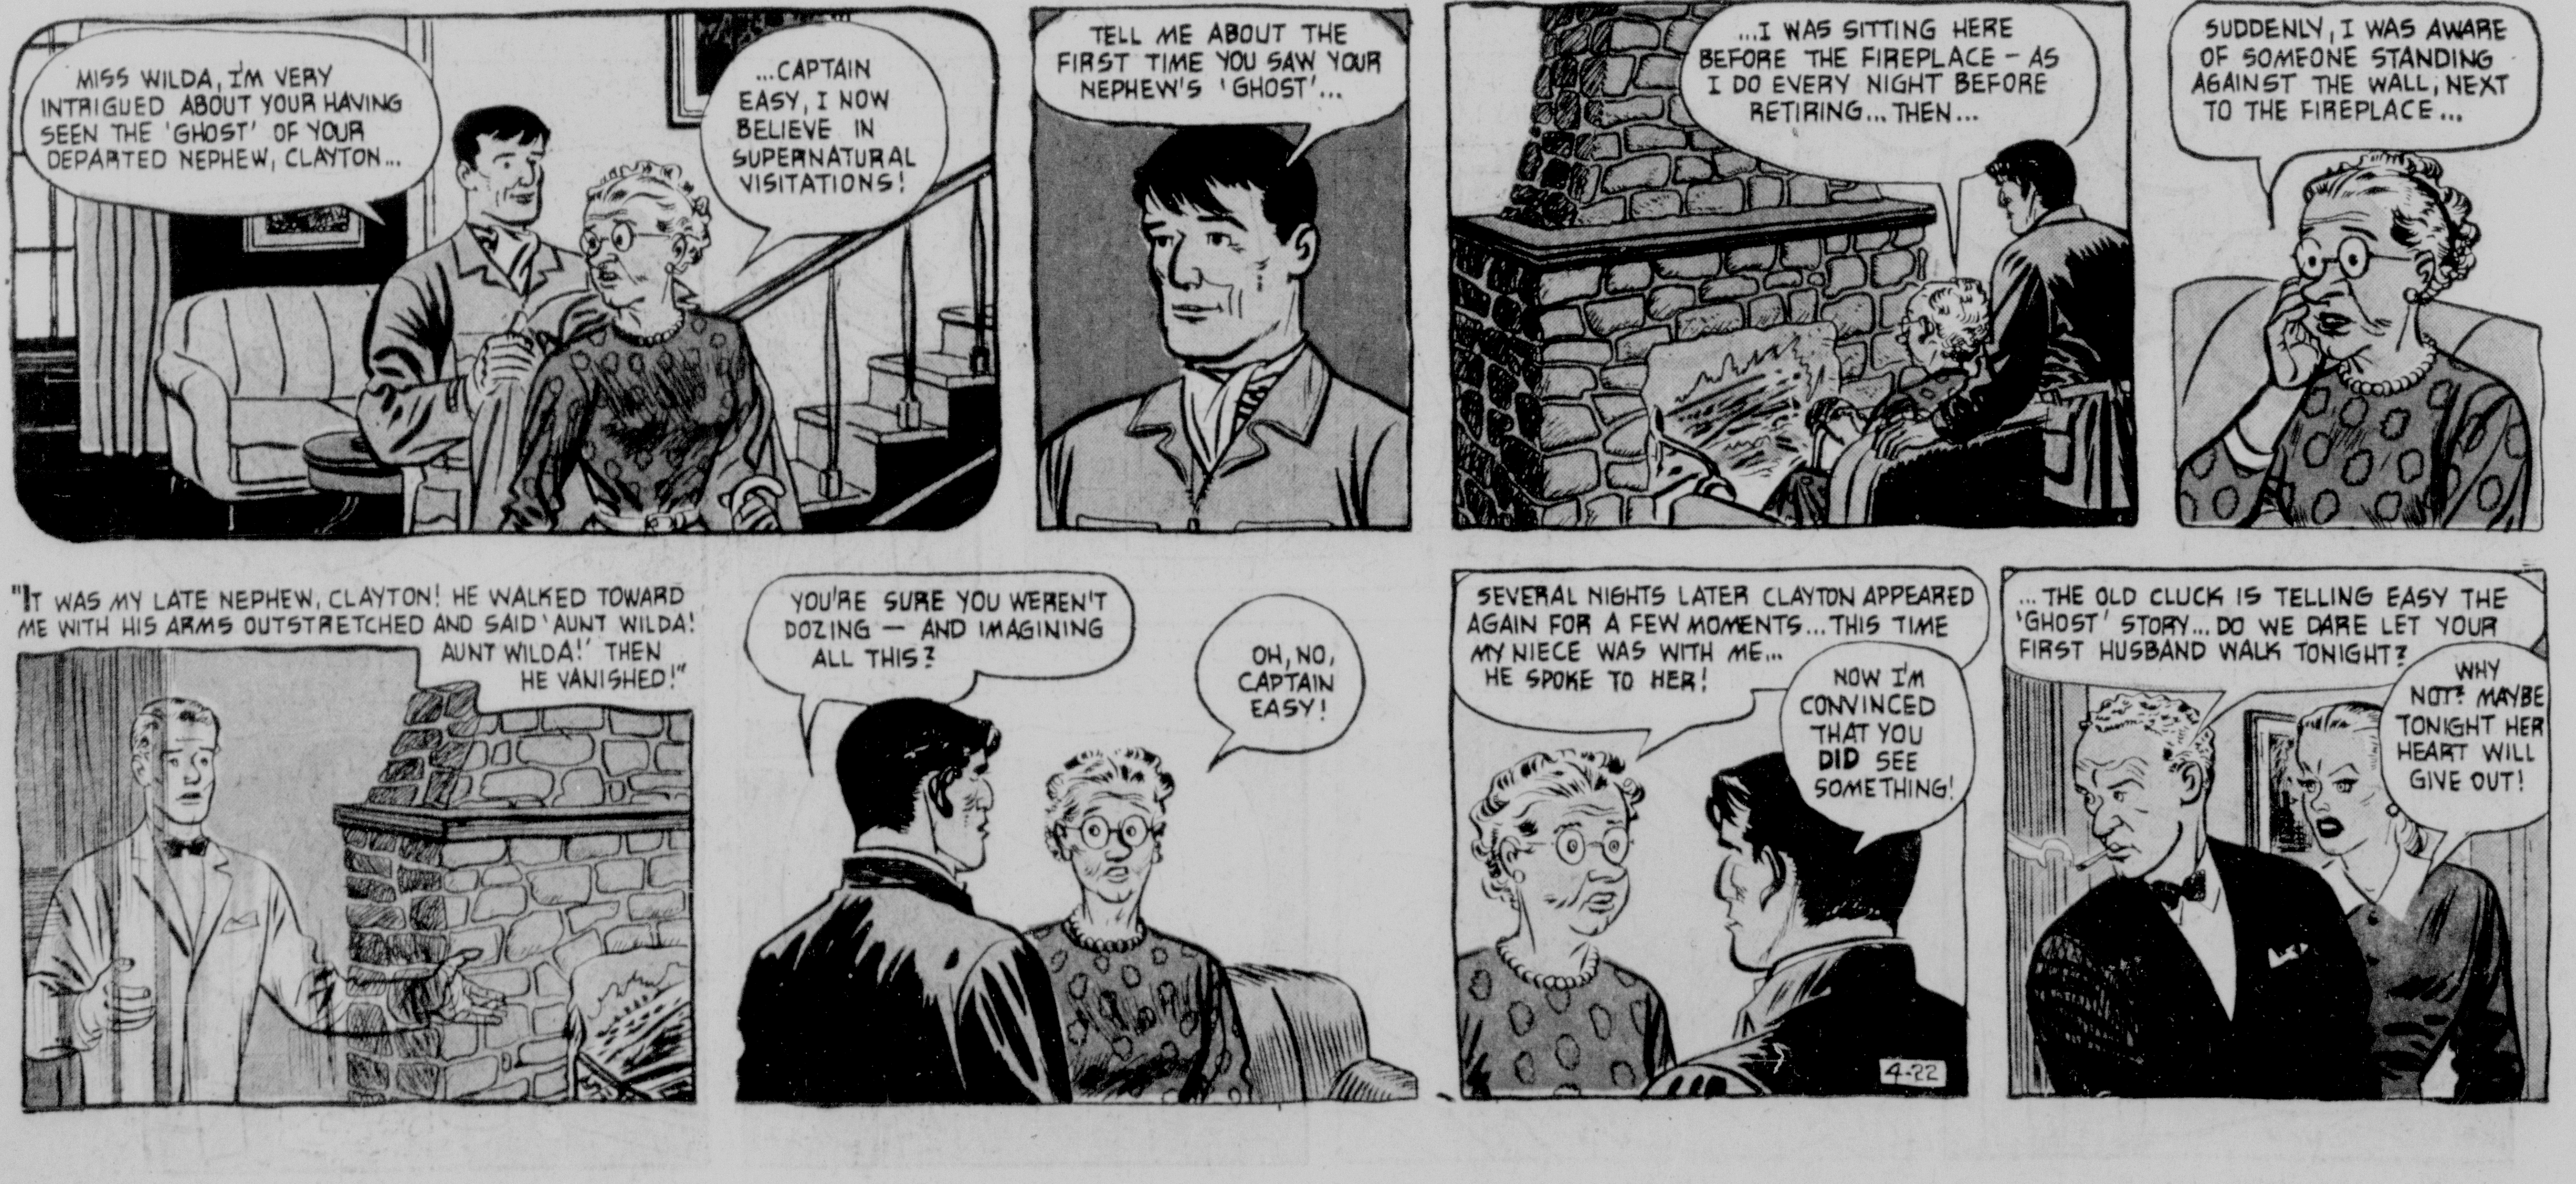
CAPTAIN EASY

By Leslie Turner



MISS WILDA, I'M VERY INTRIGUED ABOUT YOUR HAVING SEEN THE 'GHOST' OF YOUR DEPARTED NEPHEW, CLAYTON...
...CAPTAIN EASY, I NOW BELIEVE IN SUPERNATURAL VISITATIONS!
TELL ME ABOUT THE FIRST TIME YOU SAW YOUR NEPHEW'S 'GHOST'...
...I WAS SITTING HERE BEFORE THE FIREPLACE - AS I DO EVERY NIGHT BEFORE RETIRING... THEN...
SUDDENLY, I WAS AWARE OF SOMEONE STANDING AGAINST THE WALL, NEXT TO THE FIREPLACE...
"IT WAS MY LATE NEPHEW, CLAYTON! HE WALKED TOWARD ME WITH HIS ARMS OUTSTRETCHED AND SAID 'AUNT WILDA! AUNT WILDA!' THEN HE VANISHED!"
YOU'RE SURE YOU WEREN'T DOZING — AND IMAGINING ALL THIS?
OH, NO, CAPTAIN EASY!
SEVERAL NIGHTS LATER CLAYTON APPEARED AGAIN FOR A FEW MOMENTS... THIS TIME MY NIECE WAS WITH ME... HE SPOKE TO HER!
NOW I'M CONVINCED THAT YOU DID SEE SOMETHING!
4-22
... THE OLD CLUCK IS TELLING EASY THE 'GHOST' STORY... DO WE DARE LET YOUR FIRST HUSBAND WALK TONIGHT?
WHY NOT? MAYBE TONIGHT HER HEART WILL GIVE OUT!

NOPE!--QUIET AS SUNDAY IN SNOOZEVILLE! --REAL DULL!
STEVE TELLS ME YOU USED TO STUMBLE INTO MORE WILD SCRAPES THAN A TV DETECTIVE!...BUT I GUESS THOSE DAYS ARE GONE FOREVER?
YEAH! SINCE I MET MARY JONES--NO MORE JANES, NO MORE JAMS!
BUT I NOTICE YOU'RE WEARING MOURNING ON ONE EYE, FELLA! --AND THIS BRUSH HAS LONG BLONDE TRESSES ON IT!
OH!--THAT?
NOTHING EXCITING--OR OUT OF THE WAY, STEVE! THERE WAS THIS GIRL, TUFFY, WHO FELL OFF A MOTOR-BIKE--AND WAS KIDNAPPED IN MY JAPANESE PAJAMAS--AND HER UNCLE HAD A WHIZ MOB WORKING THE RODEO CROWDS---
--AND THEY CORNERED US IN A TRAILER TILL THE FUZZ AND THE FIRE DEPARTMENT CAME --AND I HAD TO CLOBBER THE HEAD PICKPOCKET --AND--- OKAY!...OKAY! --SO WHAT'S THE BIG FAT JOKE?

FROM THE BLAST WE HEARD OVER THE RADIO, THEY REALLY MUST HAVE DROPPED A GIGANTIC H-BOMB INTO THE CRATER OF THE ISLAND!
OF COURSE, THEY BELIEVED YOU STILL WERE HIDING ON THE ISLAND. THEY MEANT TO MAKE SURE THIS TIME TO DESTROY YOU!
BUT THEY NEVER BELIEVED THEIR RADIO-MAN'S REPORT OF A MONSTER! THEY THOUGHT THERE WERE HUNDREDS OF THEIR OWN PEOPLE STILL ON THE ISLAND!
TO THEM WHAT IS LIFE WORTH? ...OTHER LIVES THAN THEIR OWN LIVES, THAT IS TENS OF MILLIONS OF HUMAN BEINGS BUTCHERED, TO WIN THE POWER TO ENSLAVE ALL PEOPLE! IT'S ALL ON THE RECORD OF HISTORY!
SO WHAT ARE A FEW HUNDRED OF THEIR OWN, SPENT TO WIN A POINT, OR TO HIDE A FAILURE?
TO DEAL WITH THEM IS LIKE HOPING TO REASON WITH THAT MONSTER THEY 'ROUSED FROM THE DEPTHS OF THE ANCIENT CRATER!
HM!... WONDER WHAT NEW MONSTER THIS LATEST BOMB OF THEIRS WILL TURN LOOSE!
WELL, ANNIE'S GOT A RINGSIDE SEAT TO REPORT ON THAT ONE, "DADDY"!
TH' PLANES WE SAW STREAKIN' FOR TH' ISLAND... THEN A BIG BOOM WAY BACK THERE... REMEMBER?
THEN A BIG, BIG MUSHROOM CLOUD OVER WHERE TH' ISLAND WAS! THEY DROPPED AN H-BOMB ON IT; HAD T'BE THAT!
BUT THAT? THAT'S NO MUSHROOM CLOUD!
THAT'S A VOLCANO!
WELL, THEY SURE STARTED SOMETHIN' THIS TIME! LOOK AT 'ER GO!
HEY! A VOLCANO? THAT MEANS A TIDAL WAVE A HUNNERT FEET HIGH! AN' US IN THIS THING!

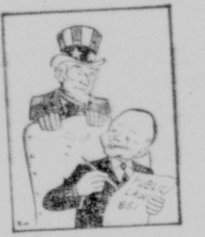
You Ask We Answer

By Haskin

Q. How long has "In God We Trust" been the official national motto of the United States? J. D.

A. On July 30, 1956, President Eisenhower signed Public Law 851 of the second session of the 84th Congress, a Joint Resolution which reads: "Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the national motto of the United States is hereby declared to be 'In God We Trust.' "



Q. Is Lebanon a Christian or a Moslem nation? C. N.

A. More than half the people of this small Middle Eastern republic are Christians; most of the remainder are Moslems of various sects. The president must be a Christian, the premier a Moslem. Other offices and seats in Lebanon's parliament are allotted to the country's various important religious sects. Lebanon is the only Arab nation which is predominantly Christian.

Q. What color were the Conestoga wagons? N. E.

A. The underbody was painted blue and the upper woodwork was invariably bright red. Seymour Dunbar in his "History of Travel in America" says that these colors were as inevitable as though they had been prescribed by law.

Q. Have parakeets ever caused any widespread outbreaks of parrot fever in this country? T. H.

A. There is no record of any serious outbreak of psittacosis, the virus infection transmitted to man by parakeets, but there have been small outbreaks and sporadic cases. The same disease can be transmitted by finches, sparrows, pheasants, gulls, turkeys, chickens, ducks, canaries, pigeons, and doves.

OUR COVER

The Holy spirit of Easter is portrayed by the Bible, framed with Easter flowers and lighted tapers, as it is in countless churches throughout the world today. Around the world, too, the devout gather to rejoice in the Resurrection and to worship in their respective faiths. It is a time of reverence, but also a time of happiness. Religious services and pageantry assume new significance on this Day of Days. Thousands trek to vantage points to be among the first to welcome the flooding rays of the sun that spread light symbolic of the Saviour and enlightenment of man throughout Christendom. And as the day wears on it reaches the hours of the joyous Easter Parades and the feasting as families gather to celebrate the end of the Lenten period of mourning, the return of hope for life everlasting.

NEXT WEEK

Poignant in its romance, tragic in its unfolding, the story of Ramona returns to the spectacular natural amphitheater of Hemet-San Jacinto next Saturday. It's the "Ramona Pageant," the dramatization of Helen Hunt Jackson's famous novel. Thousands of persons travel annually to the stage in the hills to view this splendid spectacle. There's a new Ramona in the title role this year, and Southland tells about her, about her stage lover, Alessandro, and others in the play. Watch for "Curtain Time for Ramona," in next week's issue.

La Reina Rule

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give the source of FARRAR. — Mrs. M.F., Torrance.

M.F.: FARRAR was recorded over seven centuries ago in Yorkshire, England. This surname came from the occupation of "Farrer" for a maker of horseshoes. The Yorkshire Poll Tax record of 1379 lists Hugo and Thomas Farour (an early spelling of Farrar). The Yorkshire Farrar coat-of-arms has three silver horseshoes on a diagonal black stripe across a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give data on FINNICUM—J. F., Newport Beach.

J. F.: FINNICUM is a distorted spelling of the Irish clan name Finnucane. The source was O'Fionnmhacain, meaning "Descendants of the fair or blind little son." This lineage were natives of Munster Province, Ireland. The family crest as a green grapevine branch as an emblem.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain the Scotch name SEARLE.—Mrs. I. S., Long Beach.

I. S.: SEARLE is an ancient English surname at first spelled Serlo, recorded in the 11th century Domes day Book. The source, Serlo or Searle, meant "Armored one." Records of 1273 list Osbert, son of Serle of Huntingdon and Richard Serle of Cambridge. The Serle shield from Cornwall is silver, emblazoned with a black chevron between three doves. Some Searle descendants migrated to Scotland in the late Middle Ages.

DEAR MISS RULE: Do you have history on DE MARCO. —J.D., Long Beach.

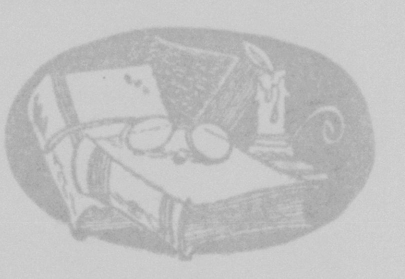
J.D.: DE MARCO, an Italian surname, means "Descendants of Marco." Marco or Mark was originally the Latin name Marcus meaning "warlike one." San Marco or St. Mark was the patron of the Italian city of Venice, and it is probable that De Marco originated in that part of Italy, where it was first used in honor of the saint.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give brief genealogy on RUSS.—J.C., Long Beach.

J.C.: RUSS from England, is a modern lineage descended from a man baptized "Rous" in the 12th century. Rous was an English and French descriptive adjective for "red-haired." Remote family records list John Le Rus and Gilbert Russ of Lincolnshire in 1273. John Russ, born in England in 1615, settled in Massachusetts shortly after 1620 and was the ancestor of many present-day Russ families.

Reflections on Divine Purpose

By Vera Williams
Independent Press-Telegram Book Editor



ROBERT FROST, recently 88 years old, is celebrating with publication of "IN THE CLEARING" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, $4), his first book of new poems to appear since 1947.

Proving that the octogenarian's mind still is active, the last poem in this volume is dated Jan. 12, 1962. One earlier poem is repeated in this collection. It is "The Gift Outright," appropriately included because it accompanies the poem he composed for the Kennedy inauguration.

Included are his typical lyrical expressions devoted to New England's nature scenes — but there is nothing old fashioned about the airplanes, satellites and television which figure in some of the new verse.

Others may be haunted by a fear of radioactive fallout. Robert Frost isn't. He writes:

"There's always been an Ararat
Where someone else begat
"To start the world all over at."

He reflects on Divine purpose in a group of poems headed "Cluster of Faith" which he signs off with "Forgive, O Lord, my little jokes on Thee, And I'll forgive Thy great big one on me."

Nearly two decades have passed since Frost won his fourth Pulitzer prize, but he does not let the world pass him by.

"I MUST CONFESS, sir," Winston Churchill told Harry S. Truman in 1952, "that (at our first meeting) I held you in very low regard. I loathed your taking the place of Franklin Roosevelt."

Truman's wide grin vanished.

"I misjudged you badly," continued Churchill. "Since that time, you, more than any other man, have saved western civilization."

The seven years of Truman's presidency were marked with momentous decisions, triumphs, controversy.

There were Hiroshima, the Marshall Plan, the collapse of Nationalist China, NATO, Potsdam, Trieste, General MacArthur and Korea.

"THE MAN FROM MISSOURI (The Life and Times of Harry S. Truman)" by Alfred Steinberg (G. P. Putnam's & Sons, $6.50) is the first full-scale account of Truman's life seen in the light of events since he left office.

THE RANKS of all-time best sellers is joined by "THE WORLD BOOK YEAR BOOK" (Field Enterprises, $12,50 retail, $5.95 to owners of The World Book), a new kind of encyclopedia supplement which includes not only a comprehensive review of current affairs, but takes pains to help the reader to sort out the important trends from the chaff of the news.

Included in the contents are 34 new biographies of the nation's Presidents; seven articles by the new Year Book's board of editors: Lester B. Pearson, holder of the Nobel peace prize, writing on world affairs; James B. Reston, national affairs; Sylvia Porter, business; Isaac Asimov, science; Alistair Cooke, arts; Red Smith, sports; and Lawrence A. Cremin, education.

Special reports include "Commander Shepard's Ride," "The South Goes to Town," "The Myth of the Vanishing Indian," and "Sir Edmund Hillary Reports."

RICHARD MASON, British-born author of "The World of Suzie Wong," weaves a fascinating tale of intrigue, espionage and love set in the exotic lands of India and Nepal in his latest novel, "THE FEVER TREE" (World, $4.95).

GEORGE Bernard Shaw acted the part of the shrew toward his native Ireland; he constantly nagged the Emerald Isle, but only because he loved her; he wanted her to be perfect. His sallies often caused his love to be unrequited.

"THE MATTER WITH IRELAND" (Hill and Wang, $5) is a compilation of hitherto uncollected pieces by Shaw. Shaw often displayed impatience with a flamboyant tendency of many Irishmen to substitute grandiose sentiments for action. "As an Irishman I have been familiar with Irish patriotic rhetoric all my life. Personally I have no use for it, because I always wanted to get things done," he said

Natural beauty and dignity of the desert must be retained if the area is to remain a land of recreation.

By Aubrey B. Haines

SCARCELY is it exaggeration to say that a member of Desert Beautiful stands guard over almost every clump of sagebrush in the Mojave Desert. The idea began when Jacqueline Cochran, the flier from Indio—speaking to the Palm Desert Women's Club — urged a cleanup to save the desert from careless people who destroyed its beauty by defacement or by discarding junk. This inspired Mrs. Clifford Henderson to launch the active Desert Beautiful organization.

Clifford's brother, Randall Henderson, and his wife Cyria have been in the forefront of protecting the natural beauties of the Mojave for a long time. Many of their efforts have been successful.

"IT SEEMS difficult to understand that normally nice people will revert to a state of aboriginal savagery when they get out in the country," Mrs. Clifford Henderson says. "They will rip plants apart, shoot bottles with target rifles, leave glass lying around, throw beer cans right and left, tear down signs, build fires against irreplaceable native palms, and throw old tires in roadside ditches. The desert has a natural dignity. It should be respected—not insulted."

Despite all the splendid clubs and golf courses strung along the base of the Santa Rosa Mountains, the Palm Desert area remains about the most charming of all the desert towns. It shows the unique touch of Tommy Tomson, the land planner and landscape designer. Edgar Bergen, an original owner in this beauty spot, still has a small ranch here. He was of great help in getting Henderson interested in the Palm Desert site.

HENDERSON'S "Desert Magazine" found such great appeal in the East that avid readers there, who had not known the difference between an ocotilllo and a cactus, became quite expert on the American desert. The magazine used to publish "rock hunting" trip articles by John W. Hilton, the desert painter and gem expert. "They attracted such hordes to the places described," Henderson says, "and the people littered up the countryside so badly that we finally had to stop them. That's why Desert Beautiful is such a necessary organization."

The Magic Box

By Mickey Gastwirth

UNTIL THE middle 1930s, the most famous box was Pandora's mythical container. The Greek gods had told Pandora never to open it; but her curiosity was too strong. When she lifted the lid all the vices, sins, diseases and troubles in the world at once flew out.

Pandora shut the lid quickly, but all except one thing escaped. That one thing was "Hope," the only thing left to console man.

Possibly Walter L. Scott had this purpose in mind—"to let Hope out" —when he decided to build a bigger and better box.

SCOTT'S CREATION, "Multifun," not only contained Hope, but he added inspiration, fun, happiness and laughter for all. Like Pandora's box, it also has a command, but this one is to OPEN it; and, when the top is lifted, the sides opened and the ends let down, a multitude of games unfold.

From one to 30 players can play as many as 300 competitive games, including many original ones. They throw different kinds of rubber balls, bean bags, rubber rings, rubber suction darts, rubber discs of various types, and many other objects. Players compete individually or in teams for points based upon skill and accuracy with objective scoring.

Like Rube Goldberg's creations, bells ring, wheels and other parts move to add to the interest.

A game played with bean bags becomes a different game when inflated balls are substituted, since the "feel" and skill are quite different. Hand darts may be thrown in one game, and another type of dart shot from a pistol in another game, as these skills are also widely different. This principle accounts for the many variations in the basic games.

Scott recently retired after 40 years in the fields of health, physical education and recreation, including 30 years of service to the city of Long Beach as the director of school and municipal recreation as well as being the supervisor of physical education for the school system. During these years in his spare time on weekends and holidays, he invented more than 30 different game devices. He still holds patents and copyrights on many of them.

SOME OTHER games invented include Globe Trotter, Wanderlust, Uncle Sam (an intricate United States geography educational game), Zig Zag (a super "Scrabble), Pitch 'n' Putt, Sockaball and Baseball Strikes.

Certainly, like building the "better" mousetrap, Scott could have made a fortune from his games and gadgets. But he has never tried to commercialize them to any extent. Multifun and others have been loaned to boys' clubs, hospitals, parties and service organizations. Several have been used by recreation departments and schools. One game invention was a basketball goal, in which a bell rings when the ball goes through the hoop. Ten years later another man manufactured this game and it became a successful toy.

The great USC football coach, Howard Jones, once told Scott that the Scott Football Game was, "the best educational football game I have ever seen . . . much better than mine." (The Howard Jones Football Game was the nation's outstanding game of its kind.) Jones offered to sponsor the Scott game commercially. Almost before Walter had time to consider the offer, Howard Jones died.

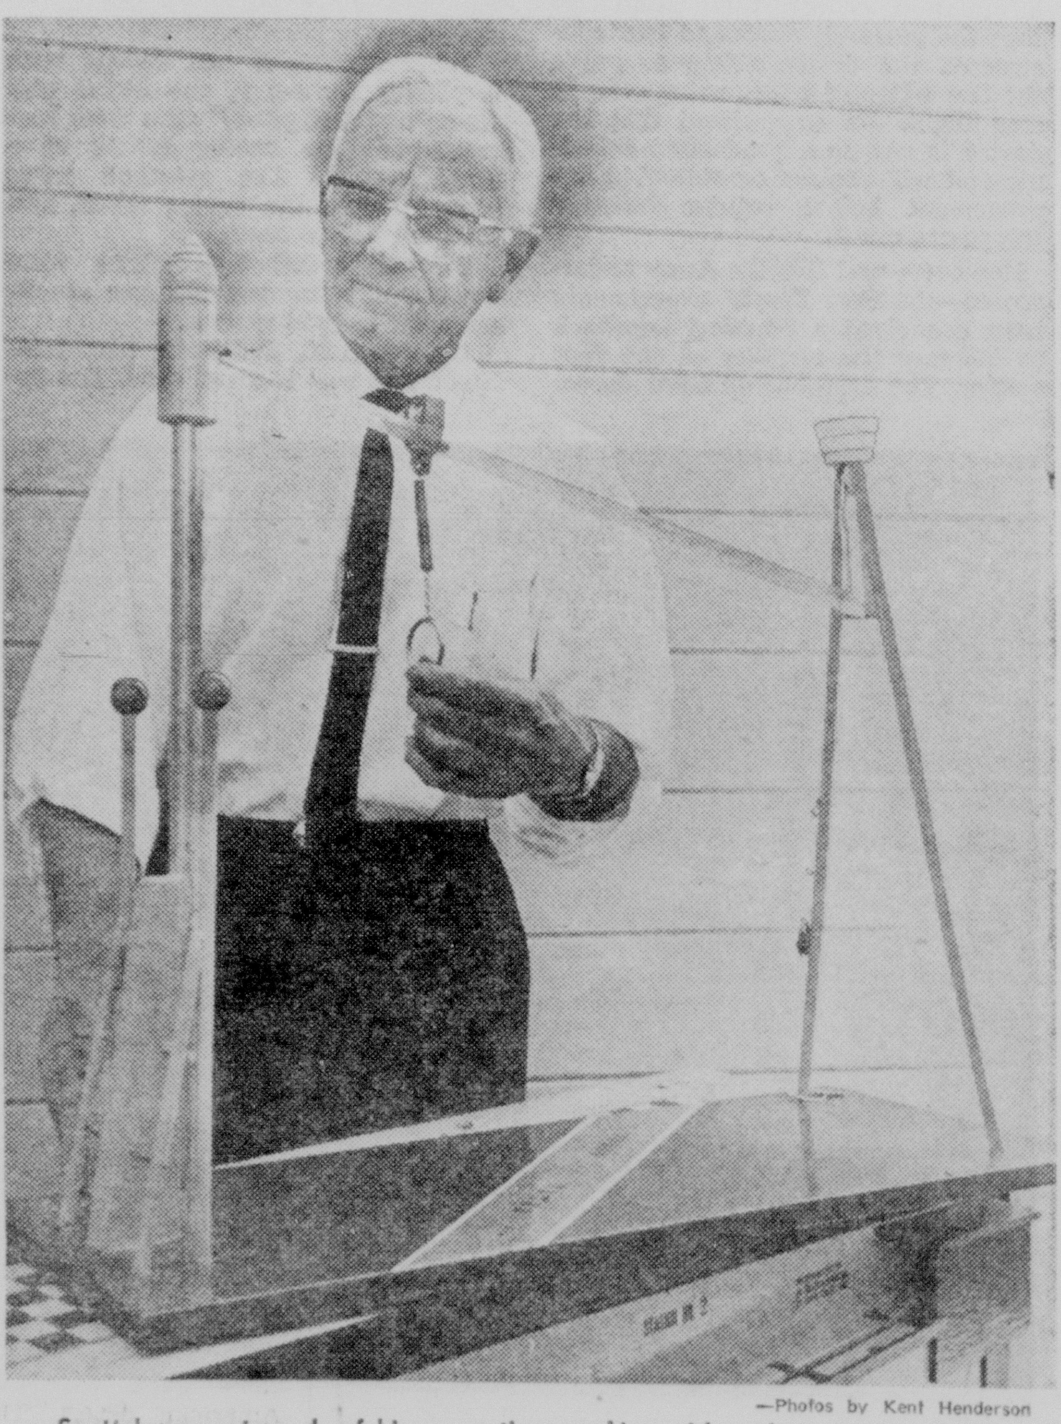
As a young farm boy on his father's Washington wheat fields, Scott helped in the blacksmith shop. One day he made a bolt all by himself. This was the seed that gave him an insatiable desire to create new things. Later he helped build and rebuild harvesters and farm machinery of all kinds.

CREATIVITY and diversity in his makeup led to changes in school locale and curriculums. Starting at Greenvill (Ill.) College, he went back to Springfield (Mass.) College, then to the University of Washington, University of Wisconsin, University of Southern California, and finally to the University of Michigan for his M. A. Degrees included majors in economics and business administration, education, and recreation.

Each of his games and gadgets has been scientifically designed, and has consumed countless hours and personal funds. Yet Scott has had time to devote to his family—wife Kay, and stepchildren Doris Howell, Charles and William Toy. Nor has he shirked responsibility to 15 teaching, recreation and service organizations.

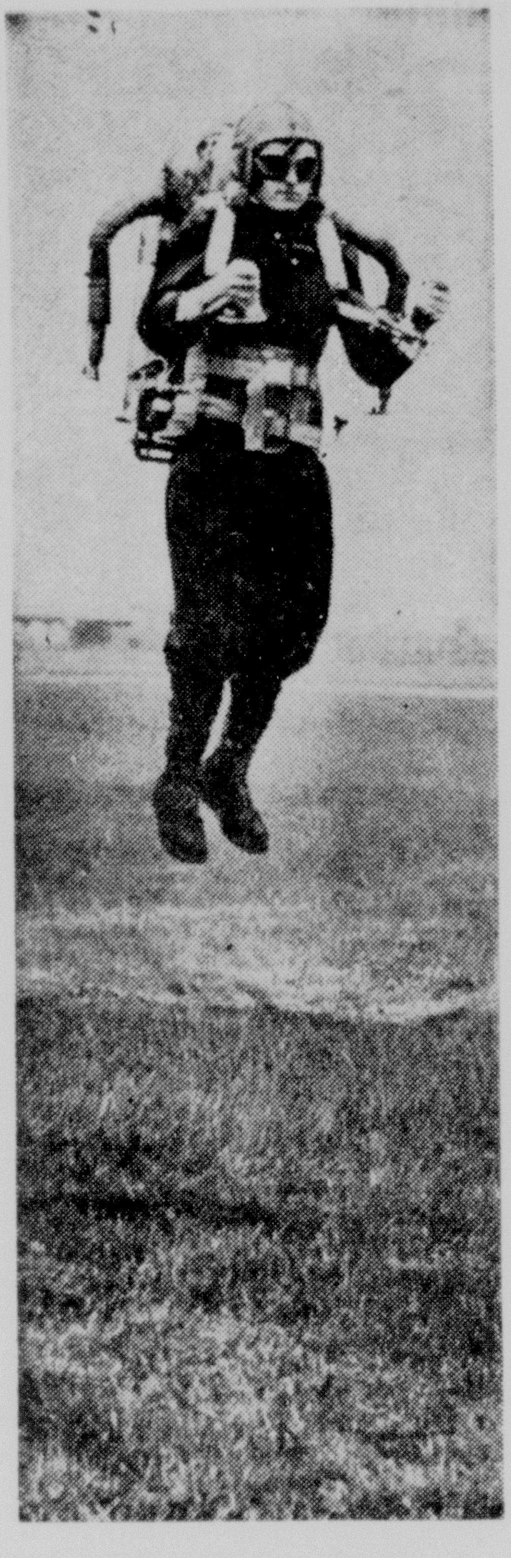
During the years of devising, promoting and establishing facilities, programs and hobbies for hundreds of thousands of Long Beach residents, he has helped each one mold plans for retirement leisure days. It is a wonder that he had time to think of his own retirement plans. A visit to his home gave the answer.

He was in his workshop, still young in spirit and health . . . ever alert to the changing times; and the needs of our youth. To help in his own way to strengthen the nation's physical fitness program, he has invented a new gadget. . . . It's an exciting new piece of play apparatus. . . . Its name: "The Space Flyer."



—Photos by Kent Henderson

Scott has spent much of his spare time working with and inventing games. This one he calls "Space Flyer." It's his newest bit of play apparatus.



Like the song-hit acrobat, with greatest of ease, U.S. soldiers are the Men on the Flying SRLDs

By William Jones

THE ORDER came: Attack. But, there was the river. A broad, deep river. The violent crests of white showed that no soldier could wade through the waters to carry out the order.

That could have been the problem back in 1960.

But today, the infantry soldier had only to touch the throttle control on his right hand. The small rocket units, attached to his body, hauled him 25 feet into the air. Another turn on the control knob and the soldier sped over the dangerous waters, landing safely on the other side.

FANTASTIC? A bit too much of the comic-book concept?

Not at all, says the U. S. Army. And Army officials add: "We've given the world proof that it can be done."

The unique story for Southland Magazine comes from the U. S. Army Transportation Research Command in Fort Eustis, Va. The Army calls the rocket unit program: SRLD—Small Rocket Lift Device.

Lt. Lawrence W. Arway, technical information officer, told Southland that the research command had constructed the device solely to prove the feasibility of transporting man in free flight. He emphasized that the device is not on a production schedule and will require considerable improvement before regular infantry troops can use it.

However—and this the Army underscores—the Fort Eustis' experiments have conceived a practical approach to increase the mobility of the foot soldier. The experiments have shown that man can provide himself with individual flight capability, a capability far removed from regular aircraft.

BRIEFLY, this is the story of SRLD:

Recognizing the potential of free flight for the individual soldier, the U. S. Army Transportation Research Command awarded Aerojet-General Corp. a study contract to investigate the theoretical feasibility of such devices.

In February 1960, Aerojet reported: The concept is feasible.

The next step to confirm theory was to build a free-flight model—and test it. The contract was awarded to the Bell Aerosystems Co.

Fundamentally, the design by Bell was of a pressurized hydrogen peroxide rocket propulsion system. This was mounted on a molded Fiberglas corset shaped to fit the body of the operator.

THE SOLDIER controlled the device through two handles attached to arm-lift rings on the corset. Actual lift is provided by two rocket nozzles, one mounted on each side of the operator above the arms and above the center of gravity.

After successful test firings with a plaster dummy, the SRLD was flown by "test pilots" who were harnessed to the ceiling beams of a large hangar. The attached wires were in case the device failed, and the pilot fell to earth.

Fifty-six tethered flights were made and numerous changes resulted in the control system.

On April 20, 1961, the first free-flight test was accomplished. The operator leaped 100 feet and landed on target.

SUBSEQUENT tests demonstrated reliability, safety and controllability through many types of maneuvers, such as hovering, hill-climbing, coordinated turns, flights over obstacles and return to take-off point.

Despite the more than 95 successful runs, the Army believes the device will require major overhauling and changes before it can be utilized in battle.

Specifically, the Army asks additional testing for stability and control, a better tactical propellant than hydrogen peroxide and development of a safety attachment such as a parachute.

The U. S. Quartermaster Command at Natick, Mass., complains that the device is too heavy, the rockets make too much noise and that there is still a major safety problem.

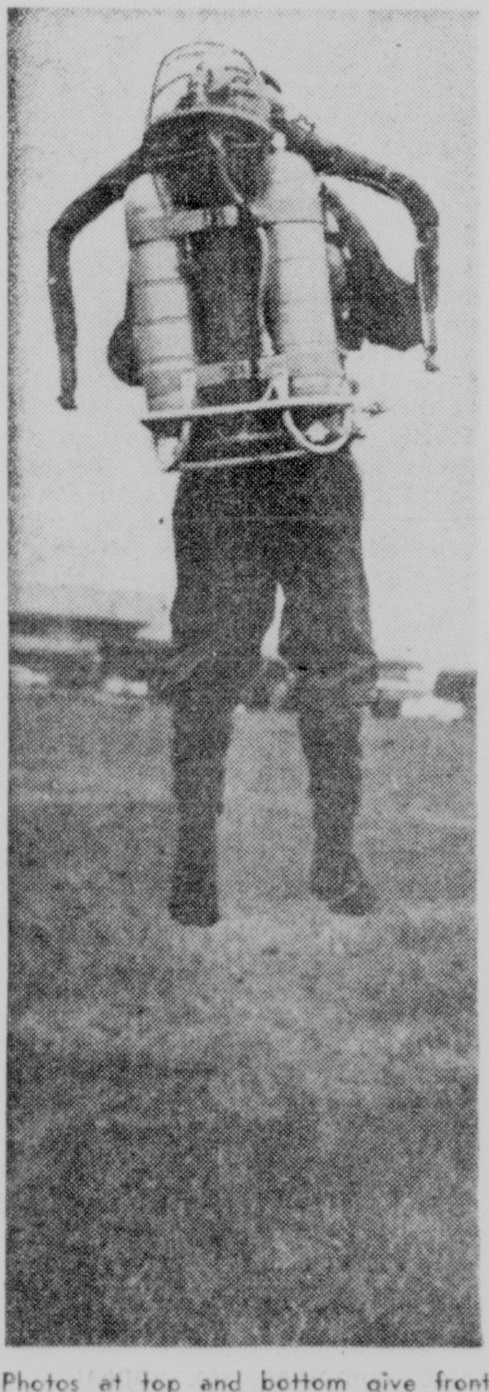
But all agree to its practicability.

THE U. S. ARMY Infantry School at Ft. Banning, Ga., had this comment:

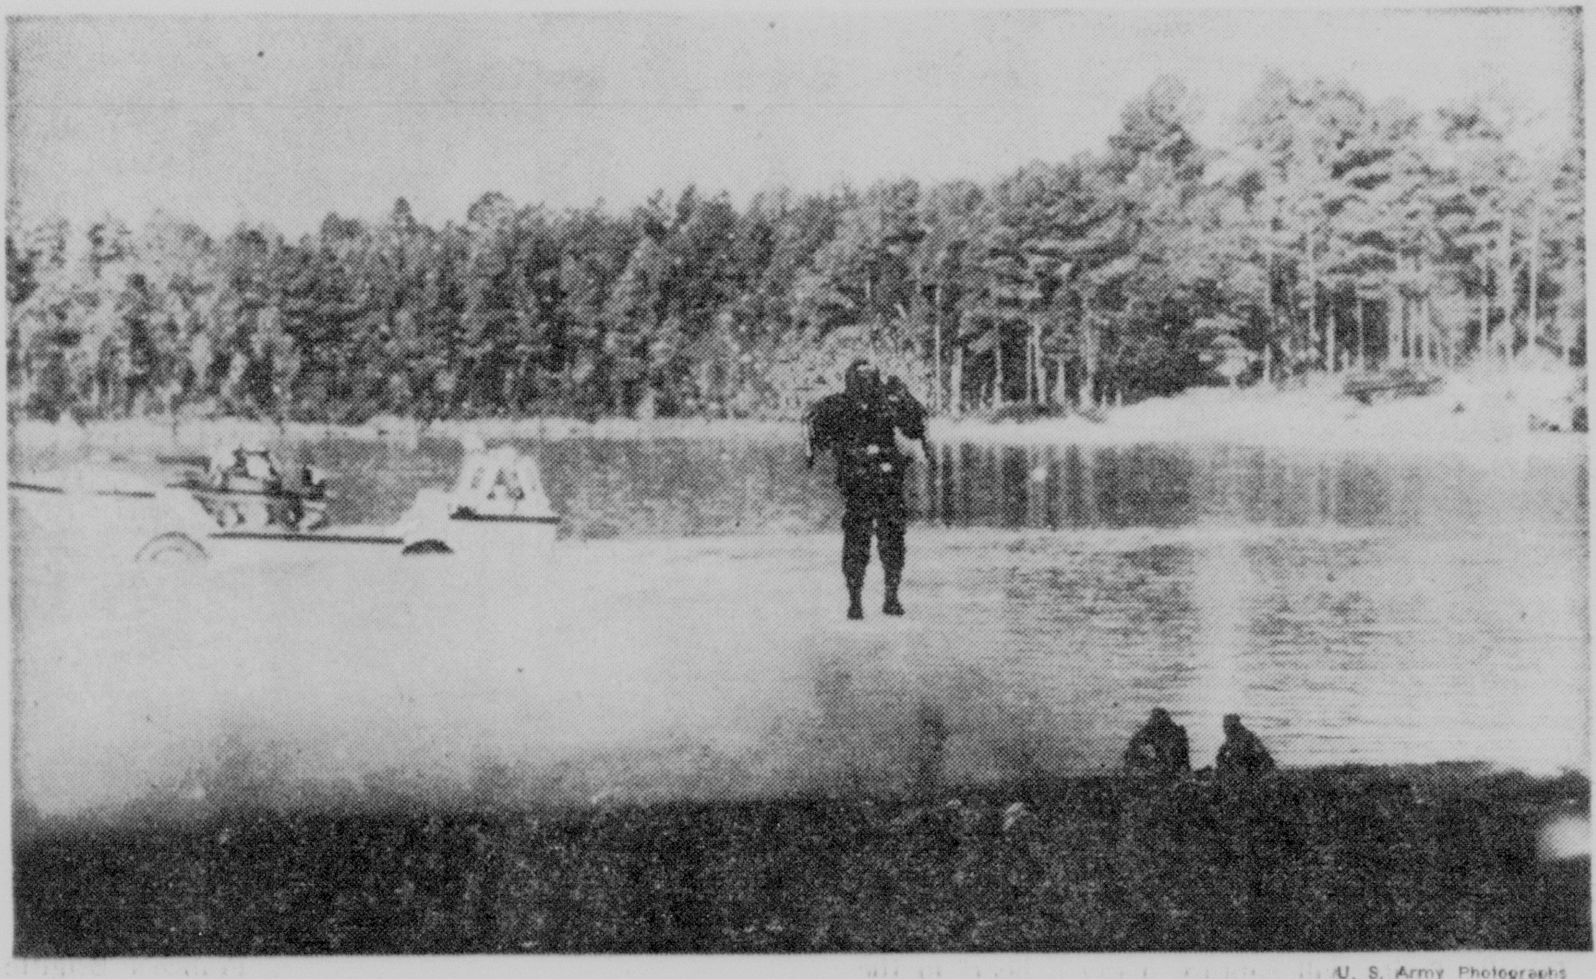
". . . any means of improving the mobility of the foot soldier is of interest . . . certain operations (by utilizing the rockets) could be sped up, thereby decreasing exposure time and enhancing the successful accomplishment of the mission."

The Transportation Research Command adds but one sentence to these comments:

"The concept of attaching a rocket propulsion system to a man for the purpose of transporting him from one place to another has been successfully demonstrated."



Photos at top and bottom give front and rear views of a rocket lifting test, proving feasibility of the unit.



U. S. Army Photographs

Trite though the description may be, rocket equipment that is like something out of Buck Rogers make-believe lifts this soldier dry shod across a major water obstacle in trial run at Fort Eustis, Virginia.

SUBSTANTIAL, formal characteristics that mark the eastern residence are qualities of the large home of Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Todd, 5330 El Parque Ave., but architectural plans that include extensive use of glass to join the living room with patio and garden lend the flavor of California's indoor-outdoor way of life to dwelling here.

The entrance hall leads to the living room straight ahead, with passage at the left leading to the bedroom wing of the house. The decorating of Formal but inviting dining room is reminiscent of candlelight era, and heirlooms on the sideboard before a large mirror add to atmosphere.

—Staff Photos by Joe Risinger

Adding a touch of California indoor-outdoor living to the styling of the home is the use of glass in the living room to tie in patio and garden.

the patio, executed with taste and skill, combines with the expert landscaping of the garden to form a permanent and attractive living picture of large dimensions.

Celandon green is the predominant color tone used in the house. The shade is soft enough to be restful and cheerful at the same time, and its rich quality seems to enhance the texture of good carpeting.

Each item in the home has a mark of quality which reflects the impeccable taste of the owners. The long quilted couch in the living room faces twin marble coffee tables and twin white occasional chairs across the room. Other (wing-back) chairs are flower quilted with a delicate color accent.

Framing a view of the patio directly adjacent to the living room, white filigree ironwork edges a wide archway. The white lace effect is somewhat formal, very enchanting, and furnishings carry out the motif. The patio is sheltered enough to be usable nearly all year around.

The dining room invites the gracious dining reminiscent of the candlelight era, and treasured heirloom pieces on the sideboard add to the atmosphere. Here again, formality is combined with warmth.

THE FAMILY ROOM is large and inviting, decorated with skilled imagination. Philippine mahogany paneling is used on the walls. Of interest is an antique hand-carved desk. A long, comfortable couch is quilted with a customed and most unusual material, patterned in books and vases of flowers, highly appropriate for the room in which it is used.

The kitchen is expertly designed for function, with ample cupboards, shelves, and walk-around space. Wallpaper design is repeated in the curtains. A sizeable dinette adjoins the kitchen, separated by a long work bar.

The master bedroom, like the dining room, has interesting old world styling.

A BOY'S ROOM is tailored with a red spread, gray carpeting, and a wall covering that resembles heavy linen. Another bedroom is more formal with green and gray walls and gold drapes. An adjoining bath to this room is large enough to accomodate full length closets and a dressing table.

The garden is outstanding. A raised corner flower garden and carefully tended trees and shrubs provide landscaping that is a fitting background for a luxurious home.

GRADE CARD

Work Load Grows

By Harry Karns

Education Research Associates

AS YOUR CHILD advances in school he will find that each new level is more exacting and requires greater mastery of subjects. Prepare him for the harder work yet to come.

In elementary school, his success is generally measured by what he does in the classroom; he has little or no homework.

In junior high school, the teachers begin placing heavier stress on homework. If he masters about 85 per cent of the material covered in an assignment and does some outside work he will receive a grade of A or B.

In senior high school, he must master from 90 to 95 per cent of the material of an assignment to hold his place as an A or a B student. If he now learns only 85 per cent of his assignment, he probably will end up with a C or a D. Homework assignments are now regular and substantial.

In college, he will get an A or a B only if he masters 99 per cent of the assignment and does a great deal of additional work. He will get a C for work of a caliber that earned him an A in high school.

Thus, as he climbs the academic ladder, the going gets rougher and rougher. The subjects are more difficult, the amount of work required is greater, and he must be more precise. On top of all this, the other students with whom he competes are abler; the less capable students and the students of limited energy and drive have fallen by the wayside.

WHAT DOES this mean?

It means, for one thing, that he must set aside more and more time for home study as he goes along.

He should expect to spend at least 1½ hours in home study each school day during his junior high school years.

He should spend at least two and one-half hours each school day in senior high school.

He should spend four or five hours each school day in home study when he goes to college.

The child who learns at an early age to allot specific periods of time to homework will be prepared for each new stage of this climb. Once the habit is established, the expansion of the study period occurs quite naturally in response to the increased work load.

You can help your child get in the habit of regular study.

One, work out a regular, fixed schedule with him. Write it down on a card. Post it in plain sight at the place where he does his studying.

Two, require him to respect that schedule. No TV, no baseball during the study period.

Three, respect it yourself. If you interrupt or cancel his study period for trivial reasons, you cannot blame him for deciding that homework really isn't important after all.

(If you wish assistance in helping your child to do good work in school, mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Room 403, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in this "Grade Card" column.)

Caviar Cotton . . . the new ribbed ottoman which Galey and Lord does so well . . . this time in fresh robin's egg blue sparked with a blouse of printed chiffon of the same tender tones. Adele Simpson designs this chic little town suit in the Dacron polyester and cotton ottoman which has become the conversation fabric of this spring season.

Cottons cut a big swag

Cottons are cutting quite a swag, to coin a phrase, on the early spring and summer fashion scene. Top notch, top name designers have chosen with epicurean taste the cream of the Galey and Lord cotton collection . . . given it their own added cachet in how they use them. Ottoman, windrift sheers, diagonal twills, traditional seersucker . . . all become designer's delights as they are translated into the fashionable shapes and silhouettes of the season. Fashion a la carte—with colors both sweet and tender . . . both blatant and brazen . . . both black and white!

Two Brighteners for Summer

An otherwise drab area can be made bright and cheery the whole summer long by planting there seeds of two perennials — coreopsis and gaillardia.

Flowers of the first are bright yellow; of the second, dark red, brick red, orange, and shades of yellow, either alone or in interesting combination.

In a Biblical Garden

By Bertha Blanchard

ADDING to the charm of the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel is its setting in the Biblical Garden. A simple rural effect was produced by low stone walls, brick walks and a garden patio near a wide entrance to the Biblical Garden, where on a pedestal, rests a large open metal book with the words "Biblical Garden" inscribed. Markers give the names and the Bible references to the various plants, shrubs and trees mentioned in the Scriptures or are indigenous to Bible lands.

Palestine is peculiarly rich in wild flowers, and botanists say that more different kinds of wild flowers bloom in this small area than anywhere else in the world. Many of these flowers also grow in California which has a climate similar to that of the Holy Land. Like California, when the rainy season comes, seeds and bulbs which have been dormant during the dry months come to life again and cover the hillsides and valleys with brilliant flowers.

Metal marker in the form of an opened Bible bears the legend: "Biblical Garden," and marks entrance to site of Carmel's Wayfarer Church.

"CONSIDER the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin." These lines, botanists say, do not refer to lilies, which are rare in the Holy Land. They probably mean the Palestine Anemone, which still brightens the fields with scarlet and gold.

To identify every plant mentioned in the Bible is no easy task, for neither the early writers nor the later translators of the Bible were botanists. They often used the same word for different plants, and different words for the same plant.

Next to the lily the rose is most often mentioned. The flower referred to in Isaiah 35:1 "and the desert shall rejoice, and bloom as the rose" must have been a bulbous plant, probably a narcissus; the original Hebrew word for it means "bulb-like." The Biblical "Rose of Sharon" was probably a tulip. Other bulbous plants native to Palestine were crocus, cyclamen, star of Bethlehem, iris, gladiolus and hyancinths.

THE APPLES of the Bible were apricots, because the modern apple was not developed until post-Biblical times. It was not an apple that caused the downfall of Adam in the garden of Eden. Genesis does not name the fruit at all; it is merely "the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil." European artists turned the fruit into an apple when they needed a fruit-bearing tree in their pictures.

All herbs that were grown were subject to tithe. Jesus said, "Ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin (Matt. 23:23)." And "Ye tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass over justice and the love of God" . . . (Luke 11:42).

Mustard, sage, dill, thyme, marjoram and aloes were grown and also coriander and saffron.

Fruit trees were called "trees of the field" as distinguished from trees of the forest. Trees mentioned in the Bible are: carob or husks, Cedar of Lebanon, fig, olive, pomegranate, box tree, tamarisk, citron, myrtle, oil tree, myrrh.

Shrubs and vines mentioned in the Bible: Acanthus (nettles of Job) bulrush or papyrus, giant reed and the grapevine, which has become the national emblem of Palestine.

Pets Pay Dividends

Doberman pinscher pups grow into fine dogs. Some of the Southland's best are due for show. (See article.)

By Eleanor Avery Price

IF YOU ARE the happy recipient of a new Easter pet or already own a pet, you can derive many benefits from it that will outweigh any extra work it may cause you.

For one, you will naturally gravitate to other people with the same kind of pet. If you are on the shy side, the pet becomes an easy subject for conversation. You can exchange ideas, learn more, and enrich your life. Remember, congenial friends with similar interests are like golden threads that weave together the fabric of happy living.

If you are aged, lonely, or feel unwanted, a pet becomes a living object that needs you to look after it, feed, water, and exercise it.

It has been proven that pets play a big role in mental health. In fact, you may have heard that some day psychologists may actually prescribe pets of various types.

NEVER SELL pets short. They belong. Even the most normal youngster needs the companionship of a pet. Think it over and see if you can do something about it. For instance, you can start taking the family to various dog shows, a number of which are on tap for spring and summer.

Next Saturday, the California Sierra Doberman Pinscher Club will have a specialty and obedience trial on grounds of Orange Empire Dog Club in Fontana, Highway 66 and Citrus Avenue. One who is interested should try especially to watch the obedience. Fine dogs proving themselves perfectly controlled and dependable are a delight to watch.

On April 29, Santa Ana Valley Kennel Club will have its big spring unbenched show at La Palma Park, Anaheim. This is an all-breed club, and your favorite canine may be there. Most unbenched dogs are permitted to leave the show grounds after judging, so take a picnic and spend the day.

Keep It Blooming

Because candytuft bursts into bloom all at once, and then, when flowers fade, is pulled and discarded, you should make several sowings of this delightful annual.

Space them 3 weeks apart. Thus, when one crop of bloom fades, you'll have another starting.

Now—a 2-way treatment helps clear up piles faster

Unlike some leading preparations, Paracin contains a local anesthetic that works in minutes to ease pain and stop itch. Reduces swelling and relieves pressure so piles can heal naturally.

PARACIN® complete home hemorrhoid treatment is the new way to ease the pain and itching of tender, swollen piles. This new special medication contains three ingredients prescribed by many doctors . . . to help nature clear up piles faster. PARACIN has been proved effective in clinical tests. It acts fast to relieve most painful hemorrhoid conditions.

PARACIN starts working fast to ease pain and stop itch. Soothes and cushions the irritation of piles. Makes movement less painful, more natural. Reduces swelling and helps protect against infection.

Now PARACIN gives you this special home treatment with both ointment and suppositories for internal and external application at the same time. By using the ointment externally before using the suppositories, you get the most complete relief. Sold with money-back guarantee.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Sound Fights Bone Cancer

By Ben Zinser

Independent, Press-Telegram Medical-Science Writer

ULTRASOUND may prove to be a method of treatment for a highly malignant bone cancer known as osteogenic sarcoma, a Mayo Clinic physician believes.

There is no effective treatment at present for the condition.

Experiments with laboratory animals show that high levels of ultrasound can destroy the bone area to which it is beamed, according to Dr. Joseph M. Janes in a report in Medical World News, a doctors' newsmagazine.

After treatment is discontinued, destroyed bone will regenerate to normal tissue, research shows.

There will be drawbacks to its own use in treatment, however. Pain would be severe because of the power level of the ultrasound. The patient would have to be immobilized for weeks after treatment to prevent the irradiated area from fracturing.

ANOTHER possible use for sodium fluoride is being studied: treatment of bone disorders such as osteoporosis and Paget's Disease.

Sodium fluoride is the substance used to curb the incidence of tooth decay.

Researchers recently recalled that persons who accidentally get too much fluoride over a period of years develop abnormally dense bones.

Two Seattle doctors are attempting to find ways to capitalize on this action, reports Dental Survey.

They hope they can use fluoride in some manner to offset the bone porosity of osteoporosis and the metabolic disturbance of the bone in Paget's Disease.

IN THE TREATMENT of the fungus disease blastomycosis, the drug 2-hydroxystilbamidine has become the preferred medication, say University of Mississippi doctors. The drug is much less toxic than amphotericin B, the drug customarily used for this condition.

SMOG IN THE Tokyo-Yokohama area has reached an "appalling" state, reports a Los Angeles authority on lung diseases, Dr. Hurley L. Motley.

Dr. Motley flew over the area in a helicopter. He was in Japan to study a condition known as Tokyo-Yokohama asthma, which affects 4 to 5 per cent of the military personnel stationed in the area.

This asthma, Dr. Motley says, is definitely related to air pollution. It affects mainly young persons, developing as a night cough at the outset. It is worse in the winter.

Yet as soon as these victims reached Wake Island, their symptoms (wheezing, coughing, shortness of breath) disappeared. In those instances where the victim is reassigned to the area, there is a prompt recurrence of previous symptoms, Dr. Motley says.

EVEN IF YOU have normal vision, your right eye is probably more efficient than the left, say researchers in Archives of Neurology.

This especially holds true if you're right-handed, say Maria Wyke, Ph.D., and G. Ettlinger, Ph.D., of London, England.

They tested the ability of a group of normal persons to identify meaningful drawings on the right and left side of the visual field. Most subjects could identify the picture on the right—but not the picture presented simultaneously on the left.

TO PREVENT stoppage of blood flow in leg veins after surgery, two Australian doctors have developed a device which enables the supine patient to exercise his legs and feet. It consists of two pedals linked to tension springs, and is clamped to the foot of the bedframe, reports the journal Lancet.

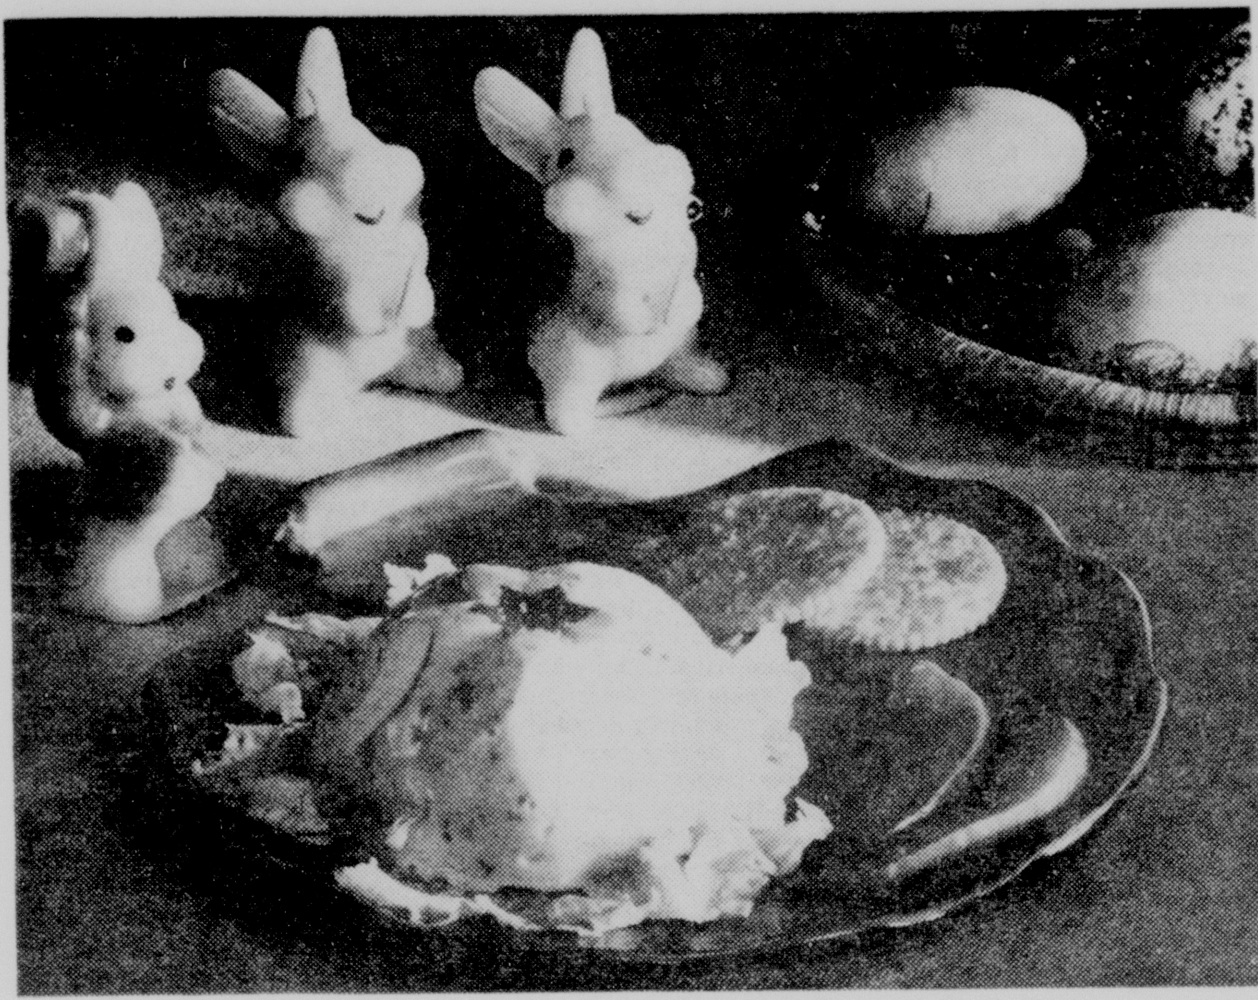
Salad Solves the Egg Surplus



Egg Salad Deluxe (above) and Eggs A La Russe are happy solutions to problems of the after-Easter egg surplus. The salad looks party-like, and the flavor is refreshing.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

'TIZ THE DAY after Easter and you have a bowlful of uneaten and forgotten eggs from the youngsters' baskets. Well, here's a solution. Turn the gaily tinted, hard-cooked eggs into a tempting spring salad.

Party-like in appearance and most refreshing in flavor is molded Egg Salad De Luxe. For four servings, you'll need two hard-cooked eggs plus two for garnish.

Egg Salad Deluxe

1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed consomme, undiluted
¾ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tsp. apple cider vinegar
⅓ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
½ cup chopped celery
1 tbsp. minced onion
1 tbsp. chopped pimiento
2 tbsp. India or sweet relish
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

Soften gelatine in 2 tablespoons cold undiluted consomme. Heat rest of consomme just to boiling; add to gelatine and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add salt, pepper and vinegar. Chill until slightly thickened. Combine remaining ingredients and fold into gelatine mixture. For individual salads, use 4 small molds or custard cups. For a "built-in" garnish, place a piece of pimiento (cut in a circle, a star, a diamond, etc.) in the bottom of the mold; place three slices of hard-cooked egg upright around the rim. Then carefully spoon the gelatine mixture into each mold, making sure that the egg slices remain upright. Chill the salad until firm. Unmold, pimiento on top, onto lettuce. Serve with pickles, tomato wedges and crackers. Makes 4 servings.

Eggs A La Russe

¾ cup mayonnaise
3 tbsps. chili sauce
1 tbsp. minced onion
1 tbsp. finely chopped green pepper
6 eggs, hard-cooked, sliced

Blend first 4 ingredients. Arrange eggs on shredded lettuce, allowing 1½ eggs for each serving. Top with dressing. Makes 4 servings.

$5 for Your Recipe

DREAM DESSERT—Pearadise Pink Cloud—wins $5 as the best recipe of the week for Mrs. A. L. Olson, 2227 Belmont Ave., Long Beach 15. Mrs. Olson's recipe:

Pearadise Pink Cloud

1 Cup miniature marshmallows, melted
1 cup sour cream
1 3½-oz. pkg. raspberry gelatin
¾ cup hot water
½ cup pear syrup
1 10-oz. pk. frozen raspberries (defrosted)
1 can (1 lb. 14 oz.) pears, drained

Fold marshmallows into sour cream. Pour into oiled one quart mold. Chill until firm. Dissolve gelatin in hot water and pear syrup. Chill until it begins to thicken. Whip until fluffy. Fold in berries, reserving a few for garnish. Pour whipped gelatin into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold—garnish with pear halves. Frozen strawberries may be used in place of raspberries.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address, to: Recipe Contest Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, Southland Magazine, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12.

DAWSON CITY
GOLD RUSH FESTIVAL

Dawson City, Yukon Territory
July 1 to August 17

This will be the most memorable holiday of your life. In Dawson City, you'll relive the glamorous, glorious days of the famous Yukon Gold Rush of 1898. The Palace Grand Theatre will feature the world premiere of a new musical with top-name stars. The lights of the S.S. Keno will shine across the Yukon River. The once-riotous Red Feather and Monte Carlo still stand. Tent City, once home for thousands of sourdoughs, will welcome new visitors — in two and four-bed units better than the miners knew. The spirit of Dawson City is as it was . . . rugged, real, unspoiled. Come and satisfy your taste for adventure! For further information on the Dawson City Gold Rush Festival clip and mail this coupon today!

GOING PLACES —
—with the Sloanes

IN PALM SPRINGS you may check into a motel like the Ocotillo Lodge, which is not a motel because you're not allowed to call a motel a motel in Palm Springs—lodge, inn, anything, but not motel. Besides, the food at Ocotillo is straight from Paris, the "units" are mostly luxury three-room suites, and it's all a long way from Ma and Pa's Modern Cabins of fond memory.

Also in Palm Springs, you may have a ranch home on a quarter-acre ranch where the bathroom boasts a picture window, and the kids have been rumored to charge admission to watch Mommy take a bath.

Finally, you may live in a trailer, a home that is not a house. To show you how it's done in Palm Springs, take the example of Richard Bishop, a New York industrialist who, in addition to a 22-room home in New York, has three trailers.

ONE TRAILER he uses for trips between Palm Springs and New York. His second is a $20,000 mobile home permanently installed at the Blue Skies Village. It is equipped wtih a stocked pool from which guests may fish for trout or catfish, and features an electronically controlled fountain with colored lights.

His third trailer, worth $10,000, is next door. That's for his maid.

Lumberman Hal Dixon invested a modest $13,000 in a mobile home at Blue Skies. His wife then redecorated it, adding a ramada (overhanging shelter), cabana, patio, barbecue, landscaping and—get this—a $3,000 stereo system. If you can find a truck big enough to haul this trailer away, you might get it for $43,000. You may have to build your own highway, however.

There are in Palm Springs a number of trailer parks resembling Blue Skies (owned by Bing Crosby and other Hollywoodsmen) where the ramadas, patios, barbecues and even more original touches are standard equipment. In case anyone ever really wants to move, the mobile homes actually can be separated from the environment and transported. But most plan to stay a while.

IN BLUE SKIES, 11 bank directors and 36 corporation executives live. Forty-two residents own Cadillacs, 11 Thunderbirds, two Mercedes Benzes and two Rolls Royces. None, presumably, are pressed into service for towing. Many have chauffeurs. Some of the mobile homes have wood-burning fireplaces.

Most of the trailers are virtually invisible, surrounded by architectural whimsies that range from Chinese pagodas to Egyptian temples to Japanese gardens. Color schemes frequently are keyed to the trailer, ramada, cabana, automobile and inevitable golf cart.

A resident of Sahara Park recently entertained 100 guests at a catered party featuring a string ensemble. Thirty residents last year bought either new Cadillacs or Continentals. The only theft ever reported was of $10,000 in jewels, which later turned up. Thirty-five Saharans own second trailers.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

"We are wild to take a trip to Japan but must cut every corner. Is there a cheap airline flying there?"

NO. ALL are under international agreement to charge the same fares. But you can cut some costs in Japan.

The Japanese Tourist Information Center, 651 Market St., San Francisco, should send you a free list of Western-style Japanese hotels and a list of ryokans—Japanese-style inns.

If you look at these lists, you'll find prices about the same: $12 to $15 double. However, the ryokans give you breakfast and dinner. And they're a lot more fun.

Take in a couple of cartons of cigarettes. You won't like the Japanese tobacco. American is expensive. Stay away from that Imperial Hotel cocktail route. Scotch comes at about $1 a drink, even if you go for Japanese Santori brand.

Don't plan to buy fancy kimonos. The good ones are priced like Dior originals. The cheap ones aren't worth it.

If you travel, check in with the Japanese Tourist Association and find out about $1-a-day youth hostels. They aren't limited to any age. Travel by train. It's cheap and Japanese roads are frightful.

Tokyo is the swingingest night club town in the world. Pick a small one, very small, in the Ginza district.

If you take your wife, the charges get very high.

It competes with the dance hostesses of the house. And that's the way they discourage this sort of thing.

Little clubs need the business. The mama-san may overlook the fact that you brought your own talent.

"Can you suggest a very lightweight travel guide, shopping and so on, for Europe?"

PAN AMERICAN prints chapters from "New Horizons" in leaflet form. TWA has a pocket book for each country — "Travel Tips for Britain," etc.

You can also buy Fielding's Travel Guide to Europe." Tear out the pages you want and throw away the rest. Fielding will love you for it.

"You wrote once about about 'witches' in Mexico City. We are interested in studying some of these things on a summer trip. . . ."

The best brujas are out in the countryside. Get a taxi driver by the hour — (about $2)—and ask the women street vendors out around Chalco. The best brujas are supposed to come from Dolores Hidalgo — where Father Hidalgo started the War of Independence, if you get up that way.

Be sure the driver knows what you are asking for. Bruja — witch — is also slang for a cabaret girl.

". . . whether to go to Nikko or Kyoto after Tokyo?"

I thought Nikko was very dull. Kyoto is the town.

FOR BON VOYAGE: "The White House Saga" by Nanette Kutner is this month's choice of Irving Hoffman who is the bonest of voyagers.

Yosemite's Big Show

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

ONE OF the most spectacular sights within the entire realm of nature, and one which can be enjoyed for only a few weeks in the Spring—and then not just any spring—awaits travelers at this very moment a short day's drive from Long Beach.

This is the waterfalls at Yosemite National Park, comprising the greatest collection of cataracts in the world, which now are plummeting into Yosemite Valley with 30 per cent greater water volume than in normal years—50 per cent more than in 1961.

Within an eight-square-mile area are seven major falls and many minor and short-lived cascades, each creating its own brilliant rainbow as it smashes into the rushing streams far below.

Largest of these, and one which has held spellbound a host of travelers from all over the world, is Yosemite Falls which plummets 2,425 feet from the Valley's north wall.

YOSEMITE FALLS' descent is 15 times the 160-foot drop of Niagara Falls and second only to the seldom seen 3,212-foot Angel Falls near Caracas, Venezuela.

If the other falls in the group did not exist, Yosemite would be worth traveling many miles to see.

But, in addition, there are Vernal and Nevada over which the swift-running Merced River descends into the Valley from its source high in the Sierra Nevada.

Nevada Fall, about three miles from the Valley, drops 594 feet while Vernal, one and one-half miles downstream, drops 317 feet. Aside from its great volume of water, Vernal's great beauty comes, too, from its 80-foot breadth, forming an undivided curtain of translucent water churned into a great filmy spray on the rocks at its base.

BRIDALVEIL FALL is an outstanding example of a free-leaping fall. Of its total drop of 620 feet, 390 feet are clear of its vertical bend.

Ribbon Fall gathers its water from a relatively minor drainage area and, while it is running at a maddening rate just now, it has a short life. It has a total drop of 1,612 feet down a narrow recess in the Valley's north wall.

Illilouette Fall, formed by the largest of the Merced's tributaries, drops 370 feet and can be seen from points on the Vernal Fall trail or from the Eleven Mile Trail between Glacier Point and the Valley.

CASCADE FALLS, plainly seen from the parking area about three miles above the Arch Rock entrance station on Hwy. 140, plunges 500 feet down a rugged gorge. Cascade Creek may be seen close at hand from its bridge on the Big Oak Flat Road.

Because the spring run-off now appears to be at its height, the falls are running at their maximum volume; so, if you plan a trip up that way, don't put it off too long.

IF YOU PLAN to see the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs on May 5, you should be interested to know that American Airlines is offering a four-day package holiday (May 3-6) which includes a reserved terrace seat for the 88th running of the classic.

Also included in the Derby Tour — which adds up to $109 plus air fare — are accommodations at Cincinnati's Netherland-Hilton Hotel, an all-day motor coach trip to Lexington, Ky., to visit the famed bluegrass horse farms, and a reserved grandstand seat at Crosley Field for a Cincinnati Reds baseball game.

EFFECTIVE April 29, a new name, a faster schedule and new service will be features of Union Pacific's Los Angeles-Las Vegas summer service. Trains 115-116 will be named the "Las Vegas Holiday" special and will feature buffet food and club-lounge car beverage service.

Eastbound, the train will depart Los Angeles at 8 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays, with arrival in Vegas at 2:45 p.m. Westbound, departure from the casino city will be at 3:30 p.m. Fridays and Sundays, arriving in L. A. at 10:15 p.m. Beginning June 1, the trip will be round-trip daily.

Fare: $21.60 round trip, plus $2 "all-expense" coupon in each direction. The coupon covers buffet meals, reserved coach seat and tax.

WEEKEND GADABOUTS may look forward to some very interesting events hereabouts next month:

May 3-6, Newport-to-Ensenada Yacht Race.

May 12-27, Julian Wildflower Show.

Variety Is a Zinnia Feature

By Joe Littlefield

Pictured are a dozen zinnias, all of them of interest to Long Beach gardeners, each one of a different size.

ZINNIAS grace Long Beach area gardens in a wide assortment of sizes, ranging from Gracillima, the smallest, to California Giants, the largest.

Varieties that nurseryman usually offer in packs or flats are Haagena, that looks almost exactly like Persian Carpet; Pompon; Fantasy, with petals that remind of shredded wheat; Picotee, and Dahlia flowered.

However zinnias are planted, whether seeds or established plants from packs or flats, be sure to dust or spray the soil before planting with material your nurseryman recommends for treating soil against stem borers in these plants.

Spray zinnias several times during active growth and before they begin to blossom, as a preventive act.

ZINNIAS planted too closely, even in sunny garden areas but where circulation of air is restricted, may become susceptible to mildew infestation. This is particularly apt to happen along the coast. There, plant them in open areas, where there are lots of sun, warmth and good air circulation.

Zinnias and petunias are heat lovers, and grow best in full sun. A row of petunias planted in front of a row or two of zinnias supplies the brightest and gayest color combination of all the summer flowering annuals one can possibly imagine.

JUST as the gardener may have lots of color in summer, so is it easy to have lots of winter flowers from camellias. Some varieties of camellias begin to blossom in late September or the forepart of October. Others start in late November or early December. Finally, the late season bloomers begin in February or March. You can have camellia flowers for six to seven months, provided you choose varieties of different blooming periods. Ask your nurseryman about them. You can plant them almost all year 'round from containers, whether from one container to a larger one, or from container into the ground. It is too late now to dig them from the ground to move them to another area.

FERTILIZE the camellias if not already fed earlier. Give them deep waterings. Shower bathe foliage periodically to provide humidity. Watch for aphids, thrips, and leaf chewers. Spray where necessary.

Plants that have already sent forth extra long new growth may be cut back a little, or the tips pinched out to force more side growth.

Dorothy Digs

The rose show will soon be "coming up" and, if you are hoping for a trophy or a blue ribbon, I hope you didn't prune your roses too early . . . before that "unusual" cold weather we had in January.

Special care of your roses through April is very important. You daren't spray them too often because the tender foliage cannot stand it without losing its lustre. So, when you spray, it is highly important to do a thorough job, covering every particle of the bush and including the soil.

That is why I like a two-purpose spray for roses, so as to check fungus diseases and kill insects in one operation. I am very particular to select a product that will be kind to plant life. I personally like a combination of nicotine and copper. But I always use a product that has been tried and proven safe.

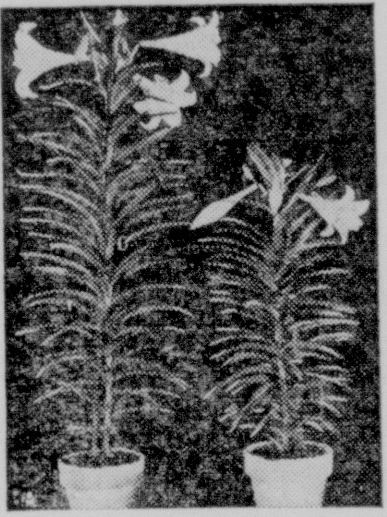
Flower 'Compacts'



Phosfon-treated Easter lily on the right grew shorter than an untreated lily. The bloom size was unaffected.

By Earl Aronson

EASTER LILIES or other holiday plants may be more compact this year because of chemical regulation that many home gardeners may want to try out in the coming season.

In tests at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Experiment Station at Beltsville, Md., chrysanthemums came through with shorter stems, darker green foliage and full-size blooms.

Treated plants didn't need stakes to support them. Stems were thicker than in those not treated.

The growth-regulating chemical also has been used successfully on coleus, marigold, petunia, salvia and holly plants. In addition to the dwarfing effect, there was bud set for earlier blooming on some azalea plants. So the scientists are testing for bloom induction in camellias, rhododendrons and other woody shrubs.

MORE desirable potted plants should be forthcoming. One result of the use of the chemical is to shorten the length of stems between nodes. Treatment will make plants, now considered too tall available for borders.

The chemical is mixed with water to drench pot soil. The researchers reported that plants grown in clay pots dipped into a Phosfon solution produced shorter stems but normal blooms.

The manufacturer (Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corp.) recommends soil treatment as the most effective method.

Garden Program

Lakewood Garden Club will hear a talk by Hal Johnson on "Water Gardens, Cacti and Other Succulents" at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in San Martin Park clubhouse, Candlewood and Ocana Avenues. Mrs. Lyle Weldon is club president. A cake sale is planned. Anyone interested in gardening is invited.

BOB BOYLE
Something Special

ON A GLORIOUS day like this, with Easter joy spreading throughout the land, dinner deserves to be something special.

And that's exactly what it will be today at Francois' Manhattan, a splendid continental restaurant at 1909 E. 4th St. near Cherry Avenue. Normally the Manhattan opens at 4 p.m. on Sunday, but today it will be open at 2 p.m. and will serve a special menu of marvelous entrees until 11 p.m.

Owner-host Bob Boyle, who soon will tour Europe to find more fine new recipes for his restaurant, will include the following with his dinners: tray of such appetizers as celery stuffed with roquefort cheese, garbanzo beans, Italian peppers, Greek olives, liver paste, kosher dill pickles and other exotic items; large tureen of steaming soup; tossed fresh salad or spaghetti; entree, beverage and dessert of ice cream or sherbet. Among the dozen or more entrees will be such Manhattan tastebud marvels as beef Stroganoff, chicken saute Manhattan, turkey Marco Polo, roast turkey with dressing and spiced apple rings, broiled lobster, lobster thermidor, breast of capon Jerusalem, roast half duckling, prime rib au jus and charcoal-broiled chicken.

The Manhattan's luncheons, served daily from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., are also masterpieces of culinary art created by chef John Rossi. Among the unusual entrees are steamed finnan haddie, $1.65, a smoked haddock dish not found in many restaurants these days; fresh crab pancakes, $1.60, and baked shrimp in the shell Manhattan, $2.25.

Both luncheons and dinners are available in the Manhattan's good-looking banquet room, which has seating for parties of from 20 to 40 persons. The restaurant is closed Mondays. —TEDD THOMEY MARINELAND CARNIVAL—Lloyd Bridges, Rosemary Clooney and Bill (Jose Jimenez) are the two-legged stars of a special hour (taped at Marineland at 7 p.m. on channel 2. Performing seals, educated porpoises and Bubbles the Whale are featured, along with log-rolling champions and TV's first underwater situation comedy.

SPECIAL

ED SULLIVAN—Leading acts of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus are featured in a taped remote from Madison Square Garden where Sullivan himself will appear as one of the clowns. Harry Belafonte makes a 15-minute appearance, and other singing guests are Connie Stevens and Miriam Makeba. The 8 p.m. show on channel 2 replaces Sullivan's originally-planned Seattle fair origination.

HIGHWAYS OF MELODY—A tuneful trek from Chicago to Miami is in color at 10 p.m. on channel 4. Gordon and Sheila MacRae are singing-star-hosts, with their two daughters, plus Hugh O'Brian, Janet Blair, Juliet Prowse, Michael (Bonanza) Landon, Mary Costa and Paul Lavalle. It's a salute to romance accenting popular, folk, jazz music and dancing.

Lloyd Bridges Stars in Underwater Vaudeville

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—"Wet she's a star. Dry, she isn't."

The words were said about movie mermaid Esther Williams when she climbed out of her private MGM swimming pool and went "dry" for a series of film roles undisturbed by bubbles, chlorine tests or humuhumunukunukuapuaa swimming by on their way back to Hawaii.

After four "Sea Hunt" years under water, Lloyd Bridges is up from the television depths and ready to prove the same words are not necessarily so about a man out of water.

Sitting in a nice dry suit in a booth at the Brown Derby, Bridges seemed to be having a little difficulty in breathing as he looked at the menu. But after clearing his throat, between sips of water, he assured us there would be no need for emergency oxygen.

"Just fighting a spring cold," he grinned.

Lloyd Bridges, dry, is on the menu for television in the fall via a Four Star new hour series on CBS in which he will play Adam Fable, a newspaperman. The show's "gimmick" will be that Adam becomes so emotionally involved with characters he meets that he assumes their identities.

THIS MEANS Bridges will be playing a different character every week. After 156 half-hour "Sea Hunt" shows in that same scuba wardrobe, he admits he couldn't ask for anything more. The first show, as of present plans, will have him assuming the character of a young doctor he meets while covering a mine explosion.

The introduction of a dry Lloyd Bridges as "Adam" playing a doctor (televisions current glamour profession) indicates the show's creator Aaron Spelling and producer Everett Chambers are right up there on their toes.

Also on their toes are the CBS program boys who gave Bridges a sort of super "Sea Hunt" special for what could be his farewell underwater appearance.

It is the hour-long "Marineland Circus" special on CBS (7 p.m., today, channel 2) which was taped at Marineland of the Pacific in Palos Verdes Estates.

Obviously, the boys at CBS thought of Bridges going to Marineland as sort of like Judy Garland going to the Palace. The supporting "acts" as announced, include "a group of comic walruses, Bubbles the performing whale and five boxer dogs playing basketball in the water."

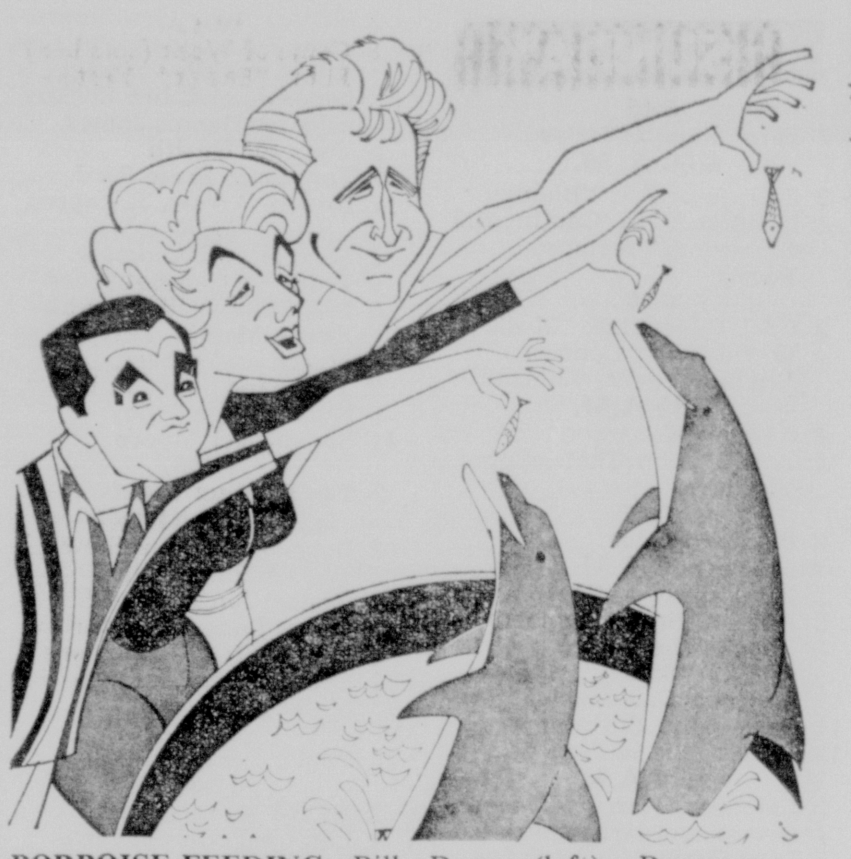
IN OTHER WORDS, "wet" vaudeville with songs by Rosemary Clooney and introductions by Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana.

"Like Jackie Kennedy showing us the White House," Bridges (with oxygen tube in mouth and tongue in cheek) will go under water to see his 'home' for "My Day at Home." A frame house, decorated in what you might call early Esther Williams, was lowered into the pool. It is complete right down to a fishbowl in the living room and a lobster in the pot on the kitchen stove.

After this act, Bridges probably will be happier than ever about going "dry" next season.

But and surprisingly, he says he would like to resume the "Sea Hunt" series sometime in the future.



PORPOISE-FEEDING Bill Dana (left), Rosemary Clooney and Lloyd Bridges are featured on "Marineland Circus" at 7 p.m. today, channel 2.

Pan and Fan Mail

While we enjoy it to a certain extent, it seems to us that "What's My Line?" is getting a bit more namby-pamby each week.

Unfunny Bennett Cerf gets in so many plugs for his Random House and lecture tours that we swear we can't tell who sponsors the program.

When Martin Gable appears as a panelist, that makes one-half of the panel Gables, which, of course, includes Arlene Francis.

John Daly seems to enjoy bandying around the king's English and no doubt has a copy of Roget's Thesaurus.

But then some of the Sunday night movies at that hour are pretty dull and we're about ready to call it a day anyway.

J. Paul Gleason, Long Beach

I don't recall ever seeing a namby-pamby on "What's My Line?".

* * * *

I start out by saying that I cast my vote for "The Law and Mr. Jones."

But I will have to also put my two cents in and say that it is very unfair putting this show opposite the same time with "Hazel." You must know that "Hazel" is also a great series.

Whoever put "The Law and Mr. Jones" on this time is either nuts or just plain hates this series.

Virginia Martin, Buena Park

Let's hope they both survive, Virginia.

* * * *

How sorry I am that I never got around to writing in praise of the "Gertrude Berg Show."

It might still be on.

But it seems a sad commentary that sponsors and net works need a constant flood of mail to point out the difference in as fine a program as that and some of the junk that is kept going.

G. Tile, Seal Beach

Other than a constant flood of mail, the sponsors and networks must use ratings to judge. The "Gertrude Berg Show" didn't make the rating grade.

Bert's Eye View

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

If the Easter bunny on our cover appears gratifyingly graceful, it's no surprise.

For the bunny is a lady named Marjorie Lord who, when she was five years old, began the grace-illuminating study of ballet.

Currently, and for several seasons past, she appears as the wife, Kathy, in "The Danny Thomas Show."

The role calls for her to put up with some hare-raising antics and an occasional bunny-hug from her TV comedian husband.

"NATIONAL VELVET" is not in the running for fall programming and its cancellation is being mourned by the National Assn. for Better Radio and Television.

Says Mrs. Clara S. Logan, NAFBRAT president:

"Television programs suitable for family viewing at all age levels are so hard to come by, it seems almost criminal for the industry to discard one of the best.

She believes the networks have a moral and public obligation to maintain programs as "honest and wholesome" as "National Velvet."

It is more important to fulfill this obligation "in the sparse field of children's programming" than anywhere else, according to Mrs. Logan.

"There is no denying that NBC offers a wide variety of splendid entertainment and public service programs for adults," says she, "but when will they and the other networks recognize the fact that children are also people and represent their audiences of the future?"

The association suggests that viewers protest the cancellation of "National Velvet" by writing letters to NBC president Robert E. Kintner, New York City, and FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow, Washington, D. C.

It notes that NAFBRAT's latest survey designates "National Velvet" as "the children's program of the year."

IN THE EVENT Mrs. Logan reads this column, I hope she will find the above a fair presentation of NAFBRAT's case.

I don't happen to agree with the association or Mrs. Logan.

It is fine for a series to be honest and wholesome, but it must be something more.

It must entertain.

And in order to entertain, it must be imaginative and adventurous.

"National Velvet" was not, in my opinion, very entertaining. It certainly wasn't imaginative or adventurous.

Admittedly not a fan, I did watch the show three or four times. If those times were any indication, the girl-loves-horse series was an overdone, saccharine, mildewed conglomeration of hackneyed situations that weren't written well enough to be mediocre.

And you can't sell that kind of hash to today's children.

If television has made us a nation of critics, that "us" includes our children.

They want quality and won't settle for less.

Nielsen ratings give "National Velvet" a 13.3 percentage. Its timeslot national competitors, "Pete and Gladys" and "Cheyenne," garnered a 22 and 21.4 respectively.

In terms of share of audience, "Pete and Gladys" had 33.6, "Cheyenne" 33.5 and 'National Velvet" 20.3.

"NATIONAL VELVET" airs at 8 p. m. on Mondays, a time considered a children's hour.

Most parents in one TV-set homes, I believe, let their children select the program at this hour.

So, in effect, it is the children who have said "no" to "National Velvet," not their parents.

It is not the first time the children have said 'no" to the series.

Last season the show aired on Sunday. It couldn't meet the competition.

NBC, in an attempt to save the show, switched to Mondays. All the switch did was prolong the agony.

Let me set the record straight.

I am for NAFBRAT and believe it is the outstanding organization of its type in this nation.

I am also for more children's programs, but only if they are better than what is currently offered.

TELEVISION MOVIE TIPS

Woman Tortured by Agonizing ITCH
"I nearly itched to death 7½ years. Then I found a new wonder creme. Now I'm happy," writes Mrs. P. Ramsay of L. A. Calif.
Here's blessed relief from tortures of vaginal itch, rectal itch, chafing, rash and eczema with an amazing new scientific formula called LANACANE. This fast-acting medicated creme kills harmful bacteria germs while it soothes raw, irritated and inflamed tissue. Stops scratching—so speeds healing. Don't suffer! Get LANACANE at druggists.

Accident Starts Burt Brinckerhoff's Career

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—Young Burton Brinckerhoff went to his father, minister of a Dutch Reformed Church on Fifth Avenue, and said that he didn't want to go to college; he wanted to become an actor.

His father hid his disappointment. All he said was, "All right, but be a good one, won't you?"

Burt Brinckerhoff has become a very good one. He has given wonderful performances on many top TV shows—The Defenders and Alcoa Premiere come to mind quickly—and is so skilled in his trade that despite his youthful appearance, he now teaches acting.

He will appear in "Window on Main Street at 8 p.m. (PST) Wednesday, channel 2.

Brinckerhoff is typical of the younger generation of actors—he's serious, he does TV because he likes the money it pays, he has no great wish to do a series, he considers himself primarily a stage actor. And like many of his contemporaries, his acting career started with an accident.

BURT BRINCKERHOFF falls in love with Coleen Gray during "Window on Main Street" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, channel 2.

* * * *

BRINCKERHOFF is 25. Born in Pittsburgh, he was five when his father took over his New York pulpit. During his high school days, the dramatic coach asked him to act in one of the school plays. Burt said no.

"I told him I wanted to play football," Burt says. "The coach said I was chicken and, besides, he said I was too light to play football. Well, I played football; I was a T-formation quarterback. Then I got hurt and had to give it up.

"Well, I remembered that drama coach who had called me chicken. So I decided to call his bluff. I got a part as the Scotch boy in 'The Hasty Heart' and it was easy for me—I had a Scotch grandmother so I could do the accent easily."

A friend of the Brinckerhoff family attended (Burt says that he's sure the attendance was "reluctant") because he had some theatrical connections. This man sent Burt to see a friend who was doing "Ah, Wilderness!" in Boston and needed a young boy for the cast.

"I got the part, but I think it was because he couldn't pay much and I didn't ask much."

* * * *

IT WAS AT this point that he knew he had found his career and asked for his father's approval. When it was forthcoming, he tentatively suggested that he might like to shorten his name. He felt that Brinckerhoff was hard to spell and pronounce and, besides, might not fit onto a marquee.

"My father said that God had given me that name, so I dropped the whole thing. I compromised by shortening my first name from Burton to Burt, and let it go at that."

His problem now is to try and get out of the juvenile parts in which he is usually cast.

Another problem is his resemblance to Tony Perkins. Burt says he is frequently stopped by people who say they know they've seen him on TV but can't remember his name.

"When I say my name is Burt Brinckerhoff," he says, "they generally say, 'No, I mean your real name — oh, now I remember, it's Tony Perkins."

How life insurance takes a big worry out of the mortgage

There's a wonderful feeling of pride and accomplishment when a family finally moves into a house of its own. Yet, the father may ask himself: "How would my family keep up the mortgage payments if something happened to me?"

Many families have found a way to wipe out this disturbing thought. Through life insurance, they are making sure there will always be enough money to meet the mortgage, if the wage earner doesn't live to complete the payments.

This full and immediate protection enables a family to buy a home with greater confidence. It is one of the unique advantages of life insurance.

5 ways that the unique advantages of life insurance bring peace of mind at the stroke of a pen

1. Guarantees immediate family protection. Only life insurance enables you to provide full protection for your family right from the start.
2. Guarantees funds for children's education. By having a life insurance policy for college expenses, you can guarantee your boy or girl will have this opportunity, whether you live or not.
3. Guarantees money for emergencies. The guaranteed cash values in your policy can help you meet big unexpected expenses.
4. Guarantees a lifetime income at retirement. Life insurance can furnish additional income for the policyholder and his wife at retirement that's guaranteed as long as either lives.
5. Guarantees a family can keep its home. With life insurance, a man can guarantee there will be money to pay off the mortgage if he doesn't live to complete the payments.

To make sure you get the most from your life insurance, take full advantage of the continuing service your life insurance agent offers. Review your program with him regularly—at least every two years—to keep it in line with your changing circumstances. This service, which costs you nothing, may make your life insurance even more valuable when you or your family need it.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO ENTER THE "LIVE LIKE MRS. AMERICA" CONTEST!

Get your official entry blank inside specially marked packages of Quaker Puffed Wheat or Quaker Puffed Rice, the Weight-Watcher's Cereals. (So light and delicate that a full standard measuring cup serving of either only weighs about a half ounce, while a normal serving of other kinds of cereals often weighs an ounce or more.)

Complete the following thought in 50 words or less:
"I believe that a nice figure is important to a woman's sense of well-being, because . . ."
That's all you do . . . Isn't it simple . . . ?

We women know that a nice figure, one that we're pleased with, does wonders for our morale, for instance. We love to be able to slip into our clothes and know that we look firm and trim. We feel a confidence in ourselves that just seems to spill over into a bright outlook on things around us. The folks who make Quaker Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice, the Weight-Watcher's Cereals, want to know your feelings. Why don't you write them?

Just think, you could "Live Like Mrs. America" for two marvelous weeks. And, I hope you do.

WALTER SCOTT'S

PERSONALITY PARADE

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N. Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Sorry, the volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. What role did an Italian beauty, Donna Felicita, play in World War II?—Jerome Collins, St. Paul, Minn.

A. A young woman of that name was a double agent. When Count Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law, was being held in a Verona jail prior to his execution, the Germans were most anxious to learn where he had hidden his diaries. Knowing of his susceptibility to females, they permitted Donna Felicita to visit him in his cell, hoping that in a moment of passion she might extract the vital information. She did not. Instead, after that one night, she fell in love with Ciano, and when he was executed she became an agent for the Allies.

Q. Is it true that both Lucille Ball and Loretta Young are returning to television next season because they are broke?—Ruth Eklof, Binghamton, N.Y.

A. They are returning, not because they are broke but because both are by nature incapable of inactivity.

Q. Who is a famous woman named Nadia Boulanger? —Connie Anderson, Hartford, Conn.

A. Nadia Boulanger, 74, world-famous music teacher, taught such outstanding composers as Virgil Thomson, Aaron Copland, Walter Piston, many others. She is also the only woman to have conducted the N.Y. Philharmonic Orchestra.

Q. Can you tell me how much a Bob Hope special costs on television? Isn't Hope the world's richest comedian? —Helen Martin, Chicago, Ill.

A. A Bob Hope TV special, time and program, costs approximately $600,000. Hope, Charles Chaplin, and Harold Lloyd are reputedly the world's richest comedians.

Q. On the Soupy Sales TV program, I have seen the following stars slapped in the face with a pie: Mickey Rooney, Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis and Burt Lancaster. My question is: How much money does each get for this job?—Joel Gerhard, Mobile, Ala.

A. $155 each.

Q. I wonder if the rumor is true that 20th Century-Fox paid Bill Holden $750,000 to star in Satan Never Sleeps. —Al Pastore, New York City.

A. True, that's Holden's price per picture.

Q. We'd like to bring Andy Griffith here this summer. How much does he charge for personal appearances?—M. B., Memphis, Tenn.

A. $7500 per day.

Q. The Clan has a pet name for each of its members. What do they call Peter Lawford?—Patsy Corlini, Reno, Nev.

A. Sammy Davis, Jr. calls him "Petah." Sinatra calls him "Charley the Seal."

Q. Can you tell me if General Earle "Buzz" Wheeler will replace General Norstad as Allied Supreme Commander of NATO?—T. Lewisham, Lexington, N.C.

A. A good possibility.

Q. I understand that Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants a Russian and an American to pilot a two-man spaceship in the near future. Is this so? — Carla Paolo, Miami, Fla.

A. Mr. K. feels such an action would demonstrate mutual good will.

Q. Can you tell me who holds the basic patents for cartoon movies? Is it Walt Disney or J. R. Bray?—M. Armstrong, Reading, Pa.

A. The basic patents were issued on August 11, 1914, to J. R. Bray. All such patents expired in the 1930s.

Q. General Omar Bradley once made a most eloquent statement about freedom. Could you please quote it in full?—Doris S., Kenosha, Wis.

A. "Freedom—no word was ever spoken that has held out greater hope, demanded greater sacrifice, needed more to be nurtured, blessed more the giver, damned more its destroyer; or come closer to being God's will on earth. May Americans ever be its protector!"

Q. Can you tell me Alfred Drake's real name and where he was born? It would be nice to know that that Uvack boy in our church choir had really "made it." Is he—or isn't he?—Mrs. Walter S. Elze, Madeira Beach, Fla.

A. He isn't. Alfred Drake was born Alfred Capurro in New York City on October 1, 1914.

On Parade

Today is Easter, time for a pleasant and long-standing custom—the Easter Parade. Historians believe the first Easter paraders were the men, women and children of some town in medieval Europe who began what came to be called the "Easter Walk." Togged out in their Sunday best, the townfolk would promenade into the open country, pausing for prayers and hymns. A crucifix or an Easter candle led the procession.

After the Reformation, in the 16th Century, this medieval Walk gradually lost its religious significance, but the custom persisted through the centuries, until it finally crossed the ocean to America and evolved into the Easter Parade we know today.

In the Holy Land, the past is present. This was the discovery made by PARADE's Jack Anderson on a recent visit with his daughter Cheri, 11.

Jack found modern examples of Bible heroes from the Old and New Testaments, people who are living not only in an ancient setting but in ways virtually unchanged for 2,000 years. For his story, turn to page 6.

Bringing Up Baby®
Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber,
Mother of 5

How wonderful! it's Baby Week

For colorful reprint of this little charmer, write to: Gerber Baby Foods, Dept. 634-2, Fremont, Michigan.

Whether it be a shy, sweet smile, the upward reach of rosy arms or just a charming coo, a baby brightens our days . . . gives wings to our dreams. How wonderful to have a baby!

How wonderful, too, to know that there are so many fine products designed especially for your baby's comfort, pleasure and nutritional well-being. During Baby Week our "Little Girl Blue" in the picture will be beaming in stores all over the country to guide you to the many wonderful values your grocer provides for your baby. Look for her . . . she'll be waiting for you.

Feature attractions. Among the wide variety of Gerber Strained and Junior Foods, you'll find High Meat Dinners featured . . . as well as Gerber Cookies for Toddlers and Meat Sticks . . . a delicious new idea in finger foods to help self-feeders' hand-to-mouth co-ordination.

Basic attraction. Also in the spotlight this week (and every week) are Gerber Baby Cereals. Famous for their delicate, delightful flavors and dreamy, creamy texture, they're happily approved by tykes and toddlers throughout the land. As for nutrition, Gerber Cereals are enriched with iron, calcium and important B-vitamins. Five varieties for appetite appeal.

More self-feeding strategy. When your baby shows signs of wanting to feed himself, you can help his "do-it-yourself" efforts by providing the proper tools: (1) A straight-handled spoon that's easy to grasp. (2) A broad-based dish that's easy to dip into, yet deep enough to minimize spillage. (3) A square of paper to anchor dish, keep tray clean.

Refreshing story with a vitamin viewpoint. Gerber Strained Juices are brimming with the full-bodied flavor of fresh, sun-ripened fruit. All 7—Orange Juice, Apple Juice, Orange-Pineapple, Pineapple-Grapefruit, Orange-Apple, Apple-Cherry and the new Orange-Apricot are rich in vitamin C, needed for sound gums and body tissues. One can of any of the above will give baby more than 100% of the recommended daily dietary allowance.

Parade visits the Holy Land and finds SEVEN LIVING

In the land of the first Easter, echoes of the days of Jesus still sound. In this unusual adventure, a reporter discovers modern counterparts of the fishermen-apostles of Galilee, the carpenter of Nazareth, and such old Testament figures as David, Samson and Abraham. by JACK ANDERSON

THE HOLY LAND.

SOME PASTS ARE DEAD, like the sand-blasted pyramids of Egypt or the jungle-tangled ruins of Cambodia's ancient capital, Angkor-Thom. But the past of the Holy Land lives on, 1,930 years after the first Easter. It has a curious immortality. Wherever the Master trod, His footprints seem to linger fresh in the sand or glisten still moist on the stone of some fisherman's quay.

This is what my daughter Cheri, 11, and I found on a recent pilgrimage to the Holy Land. No visitor here, believer or unbeliever, can escape linking the present with the past. He feels the mighty surge of the Biblical drama around him and sees its reflection in people as well as places. The fishermen scurrying to escape a sudden storm on the Sea of Galilee, the clear, cold waters of the Jordan, the burdened donkeys, the clean sky—all today are as Jesus saw them.

In Nazareth, not far from Mary's Well, where the mother of Jesus drew water for her family, my daughter and I found a modern-day carpenter. We sailed on the blue Galilee with two brothers who, like the fisher-apostles of old, haul in their nets squirming with fish. We even met a Good Samaritan, the grizzled leader of a disappearing sect. We found a strong man where the mighty Samson lived, a shepherd boy with a slingshot where David slew Goliath. And we dined in the desert with a sheik who pitched his tents as Abraham did many centuries ago.

Joseph, Mary and the infant Jesus, with their few pitiful belongings, came to Nazareth by donkey; my daughter and I arrived by a rickety taxi, which had already rattled out most of its life in Cleveland.

WHEN THE STREETS became too narrow, we went afoot with our interpreter in search of a carpenter who followed Joseph's humble trade. There remains only one who still uses ancient tools and keeps alive the skills Joseph taught Jesus. He is Raouf Esau Rezek, a placid soul, Arab by ancestry, Christian by faith. His carpentry shop has been handed down from father to son as far back as anyone can remember, a workshop in a dismal cell of stone where even in daylight it is almost too dark for other eyes than Raouf's.

Scorning modern tools, Raouf Esau does not even use nails. With a small axe, he fashions wooden pegs and fits them into holes which he drills with a bow-drill, like the ones Boy Scouts use to make fire by friction. Almost as adept with his feet as with his hands, he uses them to hold the pieces he is boring or fashioning.

Raouf Esau's three sons will not continue the family trade. Two have already found better pay in the machine shops of Tel Aviv. The youngest, 14-year-old Kasan, still helps his father. But he, too, has found a modern job—as an apprentice auto mechanic. So one day, there will be silence in the ancient workshop. Yet the echoes will be there. Echoes that go back to a man called Joseph and a boy called Jesus.

AT THE SEA OF GALILEE, where Christ once walked the waters, we found the Mimoune brothers, Joseph and Samson, carrying on a tradition going back to the days of Jesus. For among the first Apostles were men who fished the same waters: Simon called Peter, and his brother Andrew; James and John, sons of Zebedee, whom Jesus affectionately called the "Sons of Thunder" because of their quick tempers.

Like Peter, Joseph Mimoune, 25, is stern, quiet, dependable. Samson Mimoune, 22, is more like the Apostle Andrew: easy-going, wonderfully gentle, quick to smile. Except for a gasoline motor, the high-prowed, battered skiff of the Mimoune brothers would probably not be strange to the fishermen apostles. The perils, too, are much the same. The Syrian shores, where the best fish shoal in abundance, still must be approached with caution. The danger used to be Syrian arrows; now it is Syrian bullets. More than one fisherman has been shot by trigger-happy Syrian sentries. The Mimoune brothers have had their light shot out and felt the thunk of bullets hitting their boat.

REMEMBER THE STORY of the Good Samaritan? In the days of Jesus, the Samaritans were looked down upon by the Jews. To correct this arrogance, Jesus told his parable. Today only 380 Samaritans, the last of their people, still survive. My daughter Cheri and I found 130 of them living in a tiny settlement, ankle-deep in sand, outside Tel Aviv. The rest live at Neblus, in Jordan, across the barbed wire from Israel.

Yefet Sadaka is leader of the sect in Israel, and most of his people are his kin. Looking more pirate than patriarch, he once had red hair, fiery bristling eyebrows and a fierce red beard. These have faded to a grizzled gray, tinged with pink. But his blue eyes blaze. When I asked him whether anyone in his flock had the reputation for being a particularly good Samaritan, he rasped: "All Samaritans are good!"

Later I learned this indomitable old man himself deserved the title. He had married a Jewish girl, whose family and friends disapproved, snubbed her and made her life miserable. Yet during the Arab-Israeli war, Yefet Sadaka gave sanctuary to Jews who fled to his mountain camp at Neblus. An Arab patrol came to the camp, but Yefet sent them on their way. The Arabs never bothered to search his tent, because they knew of the ancient bad blood with the Jews.

AT ZORAH, the site of Samson's birthplace, my daughter and I looked for a modern-day strong man. We found one at a nearby kibbutz, or collective farm.

Eitan Sokolski, 24, is as powerful of muscle as he is gentle of soul. Almost effortlessly, he tosses a 200-pound bale of hay 15 feet to the top of a haystack. He does much of the heavy work around the kibbutz and teaches the children gymnastics. Fellow workers, of course, call him "Samson."

Eitan fought in the Sinai campaign. His friends say he was a soldier to be feared. Like Samson, the modern strong man had a beard when he went off to war. Like Samson, he also shaved the beard because of a girl: Zwia (which means gazelle) Hada, whom he married 18 months ago. She likes him better without it. But unlike Samson, Eitan has lost none of his strength. Instead of tragedy, he has found happiness.

IN THE ROCK-STREWN VALLEY OF ELAH, where the shepherd boy David slew the Philistine giant Goliath with a stone from his sling, lives another David. He is 16-year-old Nisim Fima, slingshot champion of the Halamed-He kibbutz. Nisim is also a shepherd. Alone, he guarded more than half of the farm's 400 sheep for six months.

There are no Goliaths to fight these days. But with his age-old weapon, Nisim has frightened off a vulture on the wing and a fox on the prowl.

AT LAST my daughter and I came to a rust-brown tent, woven of camel hair, on the baked, bleak Negev desert. Within the tent sat Sheik Awdah Mansour Abou Moa Mar, leader of the Azazmah tribes of Bedouins. Their way of life has scarcely changed since Abraham's time, and they claim to be his direct descendants, although they call him Ibrahim.

The tribe now numbers 2,000 people, owns 1,000 camels, tends 12,000 sheep. The sheik, as much an absolute ruler as Abraham was, has 20 children and nobody knows how many wives. A darkly handsome, imperious man, whose advisers and guards obeyed every snap of his fingers, he was chosen to head the tribe because he was the strongest leader.

He was surprised when I introduced my daughter, fair-haired in blue-jeans. Women-folk don't mix with the men in Bedouin tents, no matter how young. But the traditional courtesy of the desert came first, and my daughter dined with us on steaming mutton, covered with a yellow gravy, served in a common pan.

When we left, Sheik Awdah bowed and, through an interpreter, said: "Abraham was the father of Jews, Christians and Moslems alike. All should be brothers, for all pray to the same God."

Then my daughter and I went out into the desert again. The sun was setting, the sky aflame. Over the Holy Land there was a hush. And in the hush came the echo of a sheik's words . . . "All should be brothers." ■

The Early Christians NEVER SAW THE BIBLE!

For 60 years or more after the death of Christ, the New Testament was only in the process of being written.

It was obviously, therefore, not available for the instruction and conversion of those who wished to be Christians. Indeed, millions of them became members of Christ's Church . . . and thousands died martyrs to their faith . . . before the writings of the New Testament were completed.

There was, in fact, no determination until the fourth century as to which writings were to be accepted as inspired. This was done by the Catholic Church when Pope Damasus, in the year 382, caused the list of inspired Scriptures to be drawn up, and the Council of Carthage 15 years later proclaimed the canon of Sacred Scripture.

But even then there was no mass circulation of the Bible, for all copies had to be made by hand. A general distribution became possible only with the invention of printing by movable type in the fifteenth century.

If Christ had intended a book to be the sole authority for His teaching, would He have allowed centuries to pass . . . and hundreds of millions to die . . . before making it available? If the very souls of men depended upon this book, would He not have worked a miracle of multiplication as He did with the loaves and fishes?

Catholics, of course, share with other Christians a deep reverence for Holy Scripture. And it would be strange indeed if this were not so, for the Catholic Church is the custodian and preserver of the Bible and Christianity's official witness to its inspired authorship. But for Catholics, the rule of faith is as it was for St. Paul: ". . . the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth" (I Timothy, 3:15).

Jesus, as all Christians know, wrote nothing. Nor did He instruct the Apostles to do so. But He did command them to teach, and He gave them divine authority to do so . . . "As the Father has sent me, I also send you" (John 20:21); and "He who hears you, hears me; and he who rejects you, rejects me" (Luke 10:16). And we know from the New Testament itself, that the Apostles ordained successors to carry on their teaching.

Some say that Holy Scripture is clear, complete and the only infallible source of God's truth. But John the Apostle reminds us that if all the things Christ did were to be written, "not even the world itself could hold the books that would have to be written."

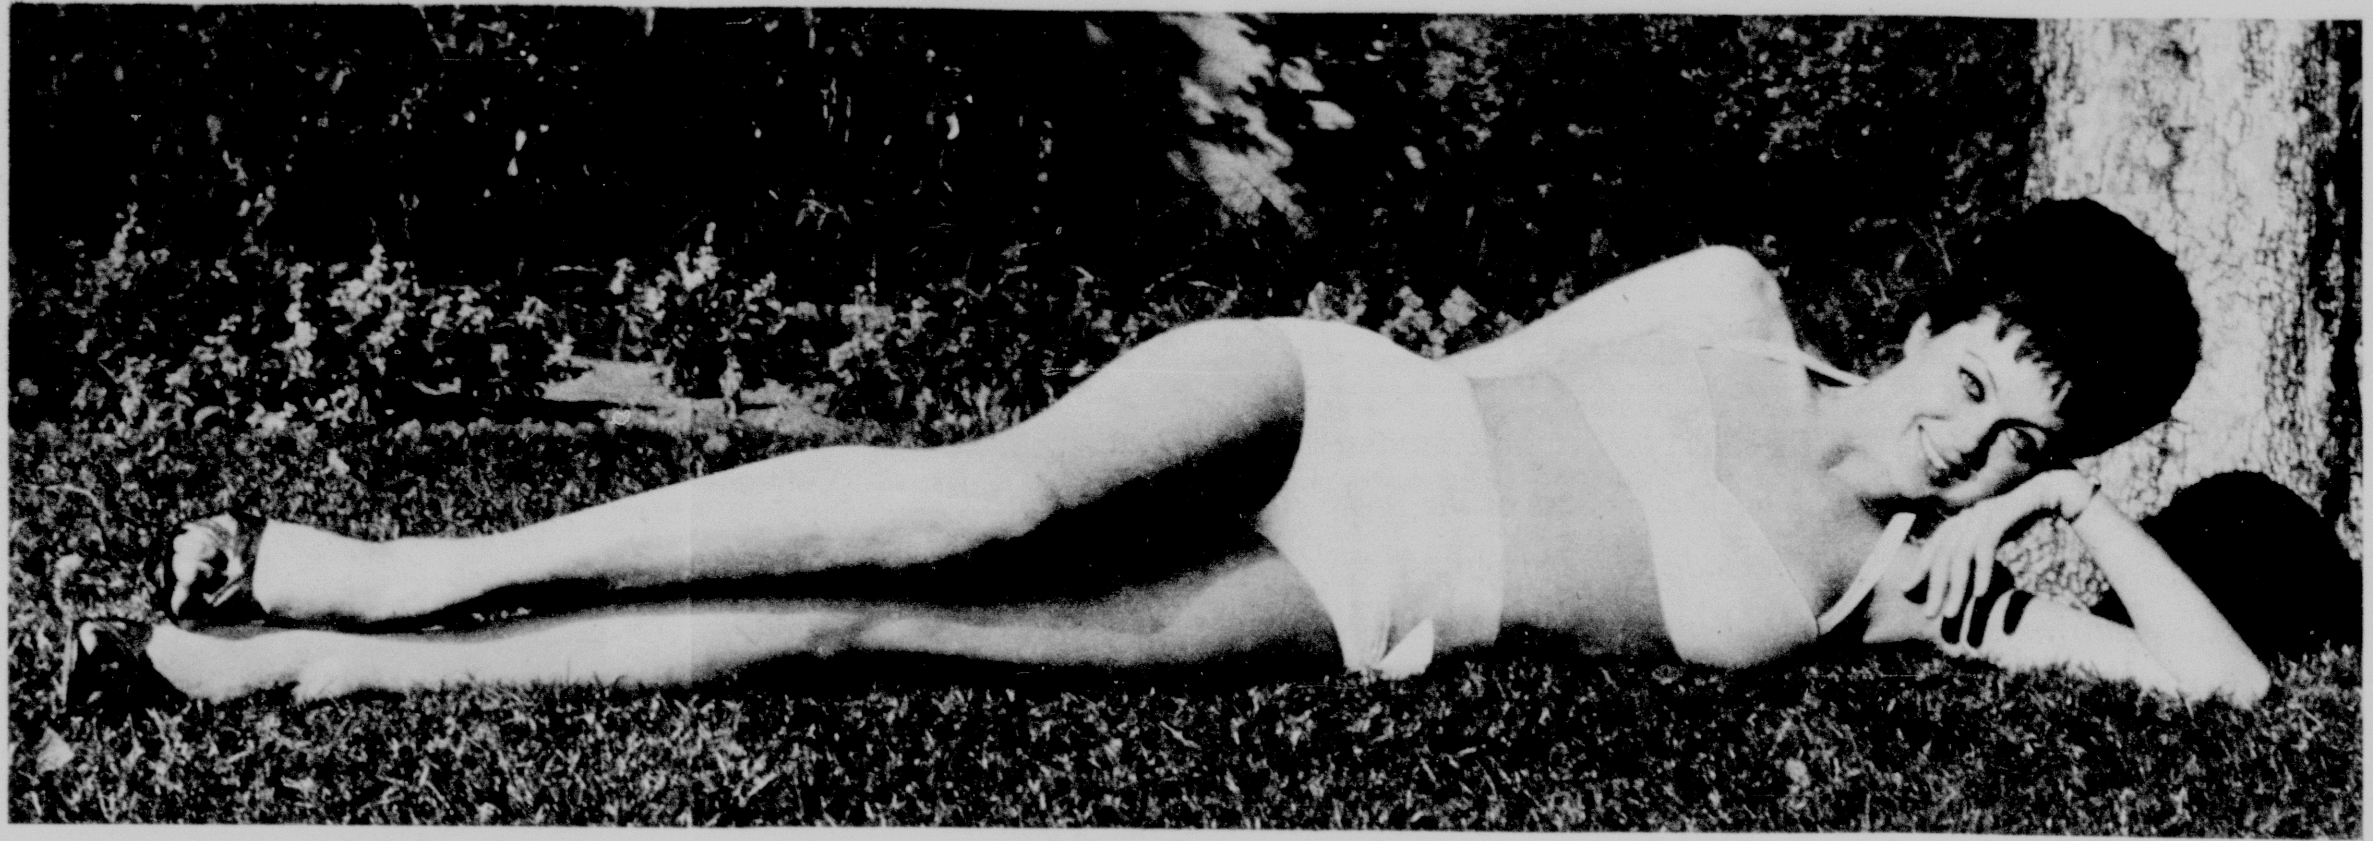
LINDIS GUINNESS

World's tallest showgirl

by LLOYD SHEARER



Relaxing in sun, Lindis Guinness displays proportions that got her Las Vegas job. Her dating problem: she towers over average man.

LAS VEGAS, NEV.

Lindis Chloe Guinness, 24, tallest showgirl in the world at six feet six (with heels), has mixed feelings about her height.

"If I weren't this tall," confesses the English-born, blue-eyed skyscraper, "I wouldn't be earning $175 a week. I shouldn't use the word earning because honestly they just give me the money for nothing. Here at the club I work—it's called The Mint—I just stand tall and let people gape at me. I don't dance. I don't sing. I'm sort of a freak attraction demonstrating no talent whatever.

"In London where I had a job as a shop girl I had to work an entire month for less than I earn here in one week; so on that score I'm grateful for my height. But in terms of the man-woman relationship," Lindis continues, "it's a difficult and trying condition to live with."

Ever since she came to America two years ago as a governess for the children of a Princeton University professor, Lindis has attracted short men.

Little Fellows Fall Hardest

"I don't know why it is exactly," she comments, "but the shorter the man, the more he flips over me. The little fellows, they take one look at me, and straightaway they propose. It was the same at Princeton. The shortest college boys wanted to marry me directly. But it's quite embarrassing, isn't it? I mean a giant of a girl like me trying to dance with a little fellow who's five eight or five nine. They come up to my bust-line. I remember a few weeks ago I was driving with a small fellow beside me. I stopped at a red light, another driver leaned out of his window and said, 'You and your son make a pretty couple, ma'am.' "

Lindis believes that short men like her "because opposites attract and, frankly, there's a psychological reason, too. It's like the little man who wants to fell a giant tree. It serves him as a compensation. But as for me I don't like to be used as a psychological crutch. I want a man to love me for myself, for my character, for my personality, and not merely for my height and measurements (6 ft. 3—42-26-38). I can't seem to find such men in America."

Has Lindis looked?

"Quite," she says, then adds, "When I was growing up in England, Mummy and Daddy ran a boarding school in Buckinghamshire. Daddy taught French, English, and philosophy. Mummy taught music and dancing. I must tell you, Daddy is six feet five, a little taller, and Mummy is at least six feet one. And naturally I knew I was going to grow tall, too. But I must tell you this. I was of average height, only five feet four or five when I was 15. Then suddenly after that I seemed to grow three inches every week. I'm still growing a little each year, and it's shocking.

Tall Tales of Texas

"But the point I did want to make was this. By the time I was 19 I was a full six feet and very shy because of my height, and Daddy used to say—half in truth and half in jest—'Lindis, we're going to have to ship you to Texas where you can find one of those tall Texas millionaires.'

"It so happens," Lindis goes on, "that I did go to Texas. Professor James Buchanan for whom I worked in Princeton—he was offered a position as Dean of Southern Methodist University in Dallas. He accepted, so last year the family moved to Texas, and I went with them to look after their five children—bring them to heel, so to say. And I must tell you that all the propaganda about tall Texas millionaires is simply that—propaganda. I couldn't find any Texan who was six feet six, and the one fellow I did meet who was taller than six feet, he was getting his unemployment insurance. As a matter of fact, my disappointment with Texas men is one of the reasons I left my position in Dallas and came to Los Angeles with my savings of $300."

Lindis Guinness is a well-bred, well-educated young English woman of companionable charm and winning ways. She seems out of place in the world of Las Vegas show girls. Her diction is too perfect, her accent too British, her manner too polite and ladylike, her conversation too honest and forthright.

"Frankly," she says, "this place is a cultural desert. There's nothing to do here to improve one's mind, so I'm taking dancing lessons four afternoons a week. When I was a young girl I wanted to be a ballet dancer, but whoever heard of a ballerina as tall as I am?

"I guess," she says, "if I had great strength of character I'd move on and find my niche in life. But where else and how else am I going to earn $175 a week?

"Before coming here I lived in Los Angeles, and I practically starved. I applied for shop work as a salesgirl, and by the time they took out the taxes, I would be getting only $40 a week, and I couldn't live on that; so I decided to look around for awhile, and I simply starved."

While starving in Los Angeles, Lindis met several men, most of whom used the same opening gambit: "Pardon me, Miss, but could you tell me how tall you are?"

Big Shot Promises

"The worst Americans," she claims, "live in Hollywood. Honestly, you should've heard their lines! Every man I met there claimed to be a big shot in the motion picture business. 'How'd you like to be a star?' one would ask. 'How'd you like to meet Frank Sinatra? He's a close personal friend of mine.' Later when I came to Las Vegas I did meet Sinatra. It was one of his good nights, and he was extremely pleasant. But I spent several months in Hollywood, and I never even got close to a motion picture studio."

Lindis was seriously thinking of returning to domestic work as a governess when one afternoon six months ago she received a phone call from Joe Dale, an agent who books a girlie show into Las Vegas.

Said Dale, "I hear you're very tall, and I need a tall showgirl. How about coming over for an interview?"

Lindis replied, "I've never had any experience as a showgirl." Said Dale, "You don't need any."

Lindis went for the interview and got the job.

"Mr. Moreno, who produces our show, didn't say so, but I knew he was hiring me as some sort of freak, because at the same time he was also looking for the world's shortest showgirl. That's our act — the world's shortest and tallest showgirls."

Did Lindis have any misgivings about becoming a showgirl?

"Not at all," she says. "I think English girls are adventurous by nature. For example, I came to America simply by chance. One afternoon I was walking along Knightsbridge in London and I saw a sign in an agency. It said, 'Domestics wanted for America.' I was fed up with London at the time. I'd been working as a junior in Debenham & Freebody—that's a department store. I did everything, messenger girl, stock girl, everything for relatively little money. So I walked into the Belgravia agency on the spur of the moment and applied, and just then Professor and Mrs. Buchanan from Princeton happened to come into the agency looking for an English governess. They spoke to me about my background, liked it, and signed me for one year.

"My becoming a showgirl was just as simple. One phone call from Mr. Dale—I still don't know how he got my number—and I came to Las Vegas."

Only A Stopping Place

How does Lindis like Las Vegas?

"I consider it a stopgap in a fabulous community," she says. "What I really want in Las Vegas or any place else is a husband who will love me for myself. I am simply tired of taking money under false pretenses. I know it's not cricket to say this, but each week I take my salary my conscience hurts—because I do nothing for it but stand erect. It is, however, excellent experience. I have two sisters younger than myself—both of them will be taller, I should say six four or so without heels—and I would recommend Las Vegas to both of them. The lines men shoot in this place—once she's heard them, a girl can handle any man in creation."■

A new kind of birthday cake

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

Birthday party coming up for dad, brother, husband or beau? Instead of the usual sweet birthday cake, served as dessert, make this savory Appetizer Party Cake and serve it with frosty tomato juice. Add crisp celery hearts, salted nuts and other "nibbles" if you wish. The base of the "cake" is a round loaf of homemade bread, fragrant with onion and herbs, divided into four layers. It's different—and good.

Appetizer Party Cake

1 package yeast, dry or compressed
⅓ cup warm water (110°-115°)
1 tablespoon sugar
1 small can (⅔ cup) evaporated milk
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon fines herbes
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, divided

Dissolve yeast in water according to package directions. Add sugar, evaporated milk, salad oil, parsley flakes, instant minced onion, fines herbes and salt. Stir in 1 cup flour; beat until smooth. Cover; let stand in warm place (80°-85°) 1 hour, until bubbly. Stir in remaining flour. Turn dough on to lightly floured surface; knead until smooth. Place in greased bowl; cover; let rise until double in bulk. Divide dough in half. Roll each half into 9-inch circle; place in 2 greased 9-inch layer cake pans. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven, 375°, for 30 minutes. Remove from pans at once; cool on rack. Split cooled layers and spread three of them respectively with Egg Filling, Chicken Filling, and Ham Filling. Top with fourth layer; frost "cake" with Cream Cheese Frosting. Cut in small wedges to serve.

EGG FILLING: Blend together 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Add 4 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped, and ⅓ cup finely chopped ripe olives; mix well. Makes 1¼ cups.

CHICKEN FILLING: Blend together ¼ cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon soy sauce. Add 1 can (6½ oz.) boned chicken, finely chopped, and ½ cup finely chopped celery; mix well. Makes 1¼ cups.

HAM FILLING: Blend together 2 large cans (4½ oz.) deviled ham spread and ¼ cup pickle relish, well drained. Makes 1¼ cups.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING: Blend 2 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese and 3 tablespoons milk until smooth and fluffy. Makes about 2½ cups.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

WASHINGTON, D. C. John Glenn and the six other astronauts of Project Mercury signed a contract with Time-Life magazines in 1959 which pays them $500,000 for their personal stories. The contract, okayed by the Eisenhower administration, stipulates that the income from anything written by any of the seven is to be divided equally among all of them. The Time-Life money has already been invested by the seven in an apartment housing project in Prince Georges County, Md. A good thing, too -- because the Kennedy administration has now ruled that when their present literary contract expires, the astronauts will not be permitted to sign any similar ones.

HAVANA. Diplomats stationed in foreign embassies here report that Mirta Castro, estranged wife of Cuban dictator Fidel Castro, is heartbroken. Reason: several months ago her son, Fidelito, 14, was spirited away from her, flown to Moscow, enrolled in a Soviet military school. She has no idea when, if ever, he'll return.

NEW YORK. The medical profession here is saying nothing about it, but some 1,500 MDs -- approximately one doctor out of every 12 in New York City -- have been implicated in an insurance claims racket. "We have evidence," says August J. Bardo, Jr., director of the State Education Department's division of professional conduct, "of doctors conspiring with lawyers to submit false claims, exaggerating medical reports, submitting bills for treatment not administered and listing X-rays that were never taken." The impending scandal constitutes another reason why medicine is getting a bad public image.

LONDON. Last year Great Britain passed a Betting and Gaming act which permits gambling in private clubs. The result: gambling clubs are opening here at the rate of 20 a month, and the gangsters are moving in wherever they can. When they see a club making a tidy profit, the hoods step in and demand a cut of the take. If the owner objects, he's threatened with a permanent rearrangement of his facial features. If he agrees, the mob keeps him on as a front, siphons off most of the profits. Moral: gambling always attracts gangsters.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Don't raise your child to be a singer, dancer, musician, actor or actress. A government survey reveals that the field of performing arts is overcrowded, that candidates for these occupations have little hope of making a decent living. For details consult the newest occupational outlook handbook of the Department of Labor.

TOKYO. American-educated Japanese are unhappy in Japanese society. Reason: the Japanese refuse to accept them, regard them as outsiders.

LONDON. The first live TV pictures from England to the U.S. will flash across the Atlantic via satellite sometime in May. After that, London street scenes and interviews with foreign celebrities should become old hat on your TV sets.

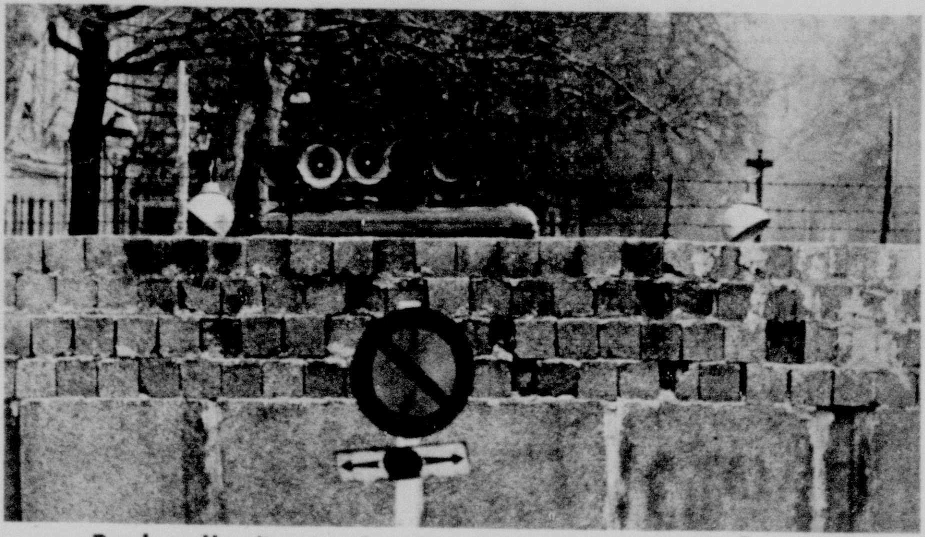
LET'S PLAY 'WALL'

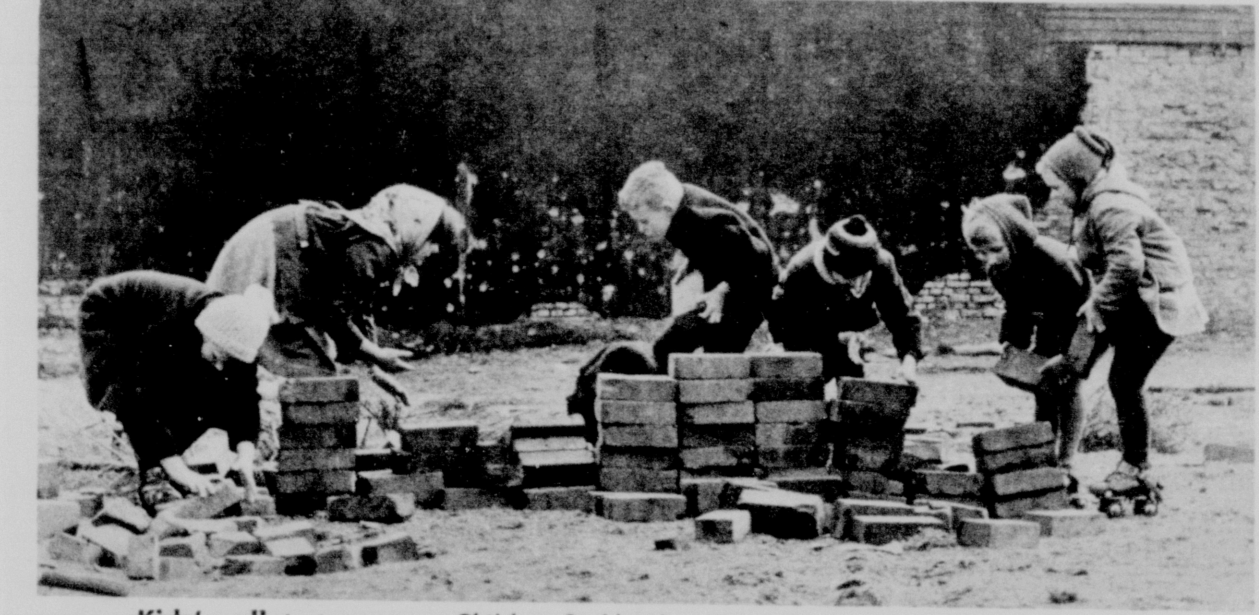


Real wall splits city. Speakers (above) are for propaganda.

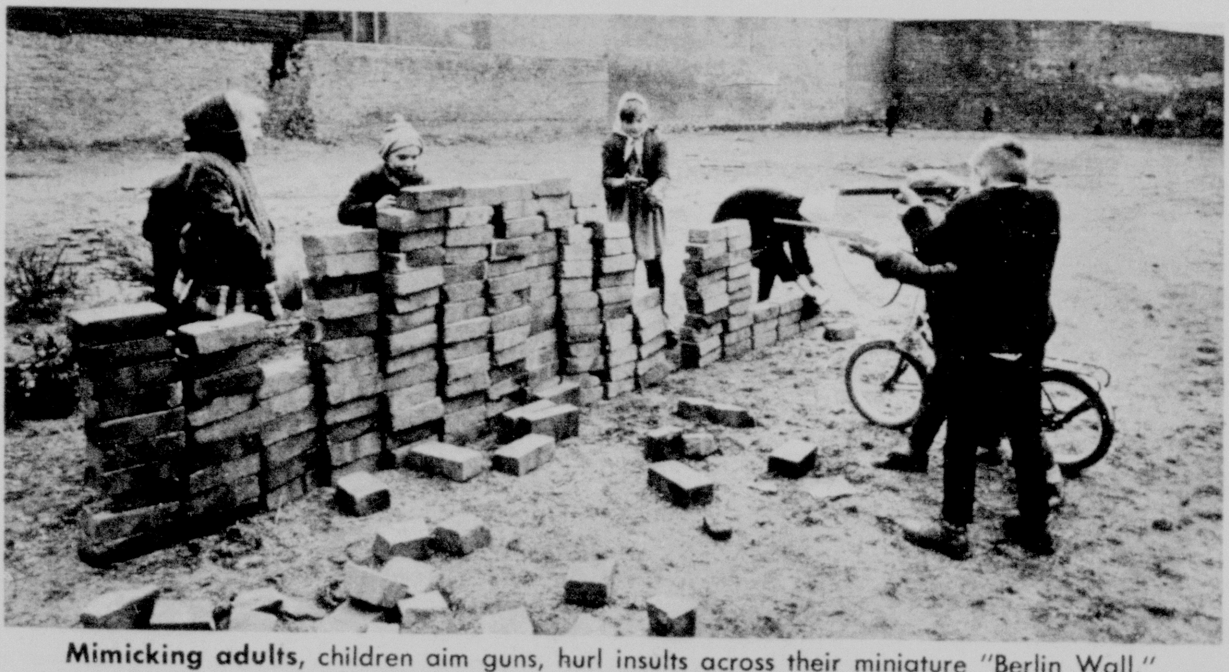
In West Berlin a grim new game (see photos below) is catching on among the children. It's a kind of copycat version of the cold war, inspired by the great concrete-and-barbed-wire wall (above) the Communists built through the city along the zone border.

The kids call their game "Fight Across the Wall." They collect bricks in vacant lots and pile them into a miniature wall. Then, following the example of the adults around them, they stand on opposite sides, waving toy guns and shouting insults.

Parents may find the game chilling, but psychologists say it's natural for children to act out the same tensions that assail their elders. They're only expressing what all Berliners feel about the weird, forbidding barrier that has cut their city in two.

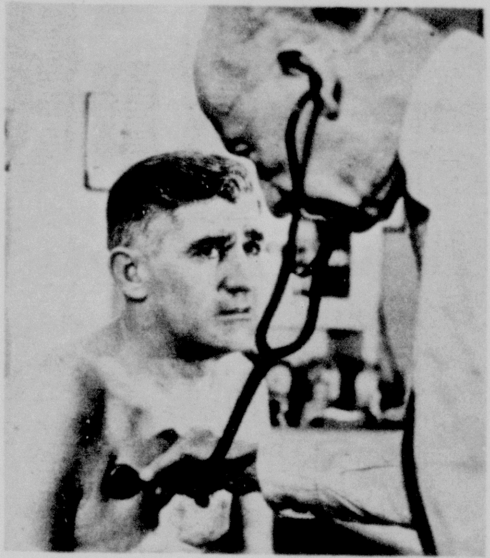


Kids' wall starts to go up. Children find bricks in vacant lot, a World War II bombsite.



Mimicking adults, children aim guns, hurl insults across their miniature "Berlin Wall."

NOW, LIFETIME INSURANCE TO HELP PAY YOUR BIG MEDICAL BILLS!



Here's a new advance in health insurance for individuals and families—New York Life's LIFETIME MAJOR MEDICAL EXPENSE POLICY. This modern protection is guaranteed renewable throughout your life, with no reduction in benefits or benefit period—even after age 65. What's more, no matter how many times you collect benefits you cannot be singled out for a premium increase. Premiums can be increased only for all policyowners in your class.

You can have one of three plans best suited to your income. Your plan will specify sensible deductible and maximum benefit amounts to protect you against the really big bills, at a reasonable premium. You, your wife, and your children can be covered by the same policy. If any covered person requires medical care, your policy will pay 80% of eligible expenses in excess of your deductible amount—up to your policy's maximum benefit—for each separate accident and unrelated illness.

These are only a few of the many valuable features of this outstanding new LIFETIME MAJOR MEDICAL EXPENSE POLICY. Ask your New York Life Agent for more information, or use the coupon below.

Improved Richfield Boron

GUARANTEED

to keep your carburetor clean!

Here is Richfield's

to you:

Improved RICHFIELD BORON gasoline, when used exclusively in your car, will clean out harmful deposits that form in the carburetor and then will keep your carburetor clean and clear of future harmful deposits. This will end the need for costly deposit-caused carburetor "boil-outs." (Removing, cleaning, and reinstalling.)

If, after 2000 miles of exclusive RICHFIELD BORON use, your car should require a carburetor "boil-out" so caused, Richfield will pay the full charges for labor according to the published list available at all Richfield Stations.

Here's all you do to qualify:

1. Fill in the written Guarantee Form, available from all Richfield Dealers, and mail it to Richfield.
2. Start using RICHFIELD BORON exclusively in your car for the next 2000 miles.

These forms will be issued up to September 15, 1962, and no claim will be honored unless received prior to January 1, 1963.

NEVER BEFORE SUCH ASSURANCE OF PERFORMANCE:

Use Improved Richfield Boron in your car for the next 2000 miles. Then if your carburetor should need a "boil-out," to remove deposits, Richfield will pay the total labor costs.

We're so certain of the performance qualities of this improved gasoline, that we are willing to guarantee these benefits to you. Richfield Boron will clean out the deposits your carburetor has been accumulating from stop 'n' go driving. And then it will keep your carburetor clean.

Right from the start this can mean saving as much as $10 to $20 or more in "boil-out" costs—for Richfield Boron is guaranteed to end the need for costly carburetor "boil-outs" due to deposits.

And that's only the beginning of your savings with Richfield Boron. By removing deposits, and keeping your carburetor free of deposits, Richfield Boron helps your car idle smoother, stops stalling in traffic, and increases mileage.

Start today, cleaning your carburetor as you drive. Once cleaned, your carburetor will stay clean with the steady use of Richfield Boron. Drive into a Richfield station today. Start to enjoy the benefits of this performance-proved gasoline.

Relax in bed: Here's a bed (above) that responds to your whims when you touch a button. It raises you up, cradling your back, lifting your knees. Without leaving bed, you can select the right position for reading, lounging, sleeping. The unit is non-electric, moderate in cost. Details: Eclipse Sleep Prods., Dept. PP, 200 Lexington Ave., New York 16, N.Y.

For your car: Now comes a liquid car wash that contains a self-polishing wax and leaves a bright shine on body and trim—but won't smear windows. Electrochemical action prevents the wax from being deposited on glass. $1.25. Du Pont, Dept. PP, Wilmington 98, Del.

Pocket telescope: No longer than a fountain pen, a new 6-power telescope fits neatly in a pocket. And it's calibrated so you can use it to measure golf yardage as well as for other activities requiring long distance vision. $10.95. Franklin Scott, Dept. PP, Farmington, Wash.

Midget outboard: A new kind of outboard boat motor weighs only 24 lbs. yet develops 2.2 h.p. and 35 lbs. of thrust or push. And it can operate in shallow water so it's good for fishing as well as other uses. Its enclosed propeller will not foul in weeds, grass, sand or mud—and makes it safer around swimmers and skiers. $89.50. Schnacke Mfg. Corp., Dept. PP, 1016 E. Columbia St., Evansville 7, Ind.

Multi-purpose floodlight: You can use a new floodlight kit many ways—to light patio, garden, yard, steps, walks, outdoor barbecue, and games as well. The rust-proof aluminum unit has an adjustable swivel and can be fastened to any surface or pegged in the ground. Kit includes detachable ground spike and heavy-duty electric cord. About $4.60. Westinghouse Electric, Dept. PP, Bloomfield, N.J.

When childhood constipation occurs

More mothers use Fletcher's Castoria than any other laxative

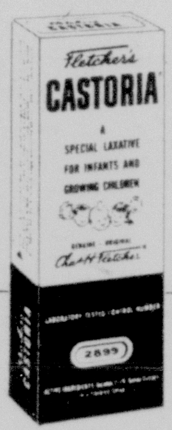
Because

Fletcher's Castoria gives the prompt, yet natural-like relief from temporary constipation that medical authorities agree is best for a child's young system. Its pure extract of Senna is considered one of nature's finest vegetable laxative products.

Fletcher's Castoria is gentle, the prime requisite for a child's laxative. It contains none of the harsh drugs so often found in adult laxatives, drugs that can upset your child's system.

Fletcher's Castoria is liquid, so exact dosage is sure: from drops to teaspoonfuls as needed. Very important, too, Castoria tastes good. So children take it willingly, even lick the spoon.

Fletcher's Castoria is the only nationally-recognized laxative made especially for children of all ages. So why take chances . . . the laxative that's "right" for you can well be "wrong" for your child. Get famous Fletcher's Castoria today.



It takes a child's laxative to fulfill a child's needs

Every day of life means hope

Every added day a leukemia victim lives means added hope that a cure will be found. American Cancer Society funds have helped researchers discover temporary arresters. And develop an effective vaccine for animals. Surely this part of the Society's work alone merits your active support. Fight cancer with a checkup and a check. MY FAVORITE JOKES

by TONY RANDALL

Editor's note: Tony Randall, born in Tulsa, Okla., is a Hollywood comedy star who calls New York his home. You've seen him in many films, including Pillow Talk and Lover Come Back. Recently, Randall finished starring opposite Kim Novak in Boys' Night Out which earned him enough loot to buy a half dozen paintings. Son of an art dealer, Randall has become one of the foremost art collectors in show business. Tony is one of those lucky young men who from an early age have had occupational targets. His was acting. When asked last week what he would want to be, were he not an actor, Randall replied, "Dead." In his early 40s, Tony, unlike most movie stars, is happily married to a nonprofessional. Here are some of his favorite jokes.

The shapely young starlet, wearing a dress designed for maximum exposure, snuggled up to the handsome eligible doctor to whom she had just been introduced. Determined to engage him in conversation, she said, "Oh doctor, I feel a cold coming on. What should I do?"

The doctor looked down at her and smiled. "Just go home," he said quickly, "get dressed, and climb into bed."

Know the difference between a neurotic, a psychotic, and a psychiatrist? The neurotic builds castles in the air. The psychotic lives in them. And the psychiatrist collects the rent.

An old lady who had never flown before glanced out of the plane window. To the passing stewardess she said, "Isn't flying amazing? From this height, people down there look just like ants."

"As a matter of fact," replied the stewardess, "they are ants. We haven't taken off yet."

Safety tip: If your wife wants to drive, don't stand in her way.

After graduating from an exclusive preparatory school, the young man, when he applied for a position as a teacher in the Peace Corps, gave his headmaster as a reference.

Queried as to the young man's suitability, the headmaster wrote: "Mr. Stevens is an outstanding young man. He is the son of Henry Stevens, the philanthropist; the grandson of Peter Stevens, the oil magnate; the cousin of Franklin Stevens, the noted surgeon; and the nephew of Dr. Samuel Stevens, the Pulitzer Prize author."

The Peace Corps wrote back: "Thank you very much for your letter of recommendation concerning Mr. Stevens. We must point out, however, that we are interested in Mr. Stevens for educational work—not for breeding purposes."

Kids these days do many things we never thought of doing. And that's why we didn't do them.

ANECDOTE of the WEEK

Recently two newspapermen interviewed Jack Benny in the lobby of a San Francisco hotel. They asked Jack the question everyone asks: "Are you really as cheap off-stage as you are on-stage?" Benny, who is by nature a generous man, grinned and explained that his stinginess was merely an act which had stood him in good stead for the past 30 years.

The interview over, Benny sauntered to the men's room. On leaving he suddenly sensed that he had dropped his wallet. He returned and searched his pocket for a dime to open the locked pay booth. Since he had no change, the comedian got down on his hands and knees to look beneath the door. Sure enough his wallet lay on the floor inside. Cautiously Benny looked up to make sure no one was watching. Then just as he was about to crawl under the door the two newspapermen who had interviewed him walked in.

Benny, on his knees, looked up in anguish. His face reddened. "Honest," he called out. "You won't believe this, but I didn't have a dime on me, and my wallet's inside . . . and honest, fellas . . . Oh, what the heck!" ■
